THE following rules made by the Director of Irrigation for the Batticaloa District of the Eastern Province, under section 56 (3) of "The Irrigation Ordinance, 1906," after consultation with the Government Agent, and which have been approved by the Governor in Executive Council, are published for general information.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Colombo, June 22, 1908.

By His Excellency's command,

HUGH CLIFFORD,
Colonial Secretary.

Rules framed under the Irrigation Ordinance, No. 16 of 1906, for the Batticaloa District of the Eastern Province to be observed by the Proprietors and Cultivators of Irrigable Lands under Major Irrigation Works.

1. The works are in charge of the Director of Irrigation, and the term "Irrigation Engineer" when employed in these rules refers to the Irrigation Officer appointed by him to exercise control over the works.

The term "Superintendent" refers to the Irrigation Headman appointed to supervise the cultivation over a tract or series of tracts of fields. When no Superintendent has been appointed, his duties will be performed by the Irrigation Engineer.

The Vaddai Vidane is the minor Irrigation Headman in charge of a subdivision of the above tracts or series of tracts.

The Adigari is the assistant of the Vaddai Vidane.

2. The Superintendent shall be appointed by the Director of Irrigation. The Vaddai Vidanes shall be appointed by the Director of Irrigation, who, if he considers it desirable, shall request the proprietors to nominate them.

The Adigaris shall be nominated by the Vaddai Vidanes. The nomination must be approved by the Irrigation Engineer, and the Vaddai Vidanes are responsible for the acts of their assistants.

3. The Vaddai Vidanes shall have entire supervision of all works of irrigation and paddy cultivation within their respective divisions, subject to instructions from and the control of the Irrigation Superintendent. They shall enforce the following rules, and bring all breaches of the same before the Irrigation Superintendent in order that prosecutions may be entered. Both Superintendents and Vaddai Vidanes shall be liable for any neglect of duty proved to the satisfaction of the Irrigation Engineer as for a breach of the rules.

4. The Vaddai Vidanes shall be entitled to receive from the cultivators one marakal of paddy for each avanam sown as Vaddai Vidane's share; and when an Adigari has been appointed, one marakal per avanam in addition shall be set apart for Adigari's share; if more than one Adigari has been appointed, this share shall be divided proportionately between them. The whole or any portions of these payments may be withheld if, in the opinion of the Irrigation Engineer, the work has been improperly performed, and he may, if he consider it necessary, cause the amount withheld to be paid to any person who has acted for a Vaddai Vidane or an Adigari.

5. As the season for cultivation approaches, whether it be munmari, kalavelama, or pinmari, a Village Council meeting of the proprietors of lands concerned shall be convened in the manner required by paragraph 22, chapter VI., of Ordinance No. 16 of 1906. The meeting shall be convened and presided over by an Irrigation Officer holding the deputation of the Government Agent as required by paragraph 22, chapter VI., of the Irrigation Ordinance referred to above, and the date of the meeting shall be fixed by him.

6. The meeting convened as in the last paragraph shall—

- (a) Determine the order in which the different vaddais shall be sown.
- (b) Determine the date for the commencement of cultivation and the method of cultivation in each vaddai.
- (c) Determine the kind of paddy to be sown in each vaddai.
- (d) Elect Vaddai Vidanes if required by the Director of Irrigation to do so.
- (e) Determine the place and manner in which black cattle and buffaloes are to be confined during cultivation.

7. Should it not be possible to commence cultivation on the date fixed, the Irrigation Superintendent shall grant such extension as appears to him necessary, and shall decide what portions of the tracts are to be cultivated if the water available is insufficient.

8. The Irrigation Superintendent shall cause the decisions of the meeting under rule 6 or his own decisions under rule 7 to be published by beat of tom-tom or otherwise, and all proprietors shall be bound to commence cultivation on the day fixed.

9. Each proprietor shall deliver to the Vaddai Vidane not later than on the day fixed for the commencement of cultivation a list of the mulleccaran and cultivators to be employed in his field. This list shall be in a form approved by the Irrigation Superintendent, and shall bear the signatures of the proprietor and of the mulleccaran and cultivators or their marks made before two witnesses. From the date of the delivery of the list the mulleccaran and cultivators become liable for all works of cultivation, and in the event of neglect or default without sufficient reason are liable to prosecution. The proprietor must deliver the list to the Vaddai Vidane, or give notice in writing that he does not intend to cultivate before the date fixed for cultivation under rule 6, even if that date should have been extended by the Irrigation Superintendent.

10. The list referred to in rule 9 shall also state how many cattle and buffaloes the proprietor or his lessee intends to retain in the field for the purposes of cultivation, with the name of the person who shall be responsible for their removal at the close of cultivation.

11. The list shall also state the number of black cattle and buffaloes to be disposed of by the proprietor or lessee before the commencement of cultivation in the manner required by rule 6 (e) with the names of the persons who are to watch them. One watcher must be provided for every 25 head of cattle and buffaloes, whether used in cultivation or not, and the watchers must sign the list, and shall be responsible for failure to properly perform their duties like the other cultivators.

12. Should it appear to the Director of Irrigation necessary, he may cause Vaddai Vidanes and Adigaris to be appointed to specially enforce the rules 10 and 11, and shall cause them to be paid from the maintenance vote for the works.

13. Should it be found that any proprietor does not intend to cultivate his share, the Vaddai Vidane shall submit the matter to the Irrigation Superintendent, who may allow such share to be cultivated by any other proprietor or cultivator in the tract. Such other proprietor or cultivator shall not be liable for any payment to the proprietor of the land, but shall be liable for everything required by these rules for the season's cultivation to the same extent as if he were the proprietor of the field thus apportioned to him.

14. No proprietor shall be exempt from contributing everything required by these rules for the season's cultivation if his land shall be uncultivated, unless he has given proper notice under rule 9 or his land shall have been excluded under rule 7. In the event of his becoming liable for any work and failing to perform it, the Irrigation Engineer shall inform the Government Agent in writing of the estimated cost thereof. The Government Agent shall advance the sum necessary from the Irrigation Fine Fund if he has a sufficient balance, and shall proceed to recover the amount, together with costs and fines, as provided in Irrigation Ordinance, No. 16 of 1906.

15. All channels shall be cleared by the cultivators in proportion to the respective shares of the proprietors.

16. Trees or jungle likely to occasion damage by giving cover to birds or wild animals shall be removed by the cultivators of the land whereon they may be growing.

17. Paths between cultivated places shall be kept open by the cultivators according to the limits prescribed by ancient custom and in proportion to their respective shares.

18. The periods during which water shall be issued to the different vaddais shall be fixed by the Irrigation Superintendent, and the distribution of the water within the vaddai shall be regulated by the Vaddai Vidane. During the period in which his vaddai is entitled to receive water, the Vaddai Vidane thereof may cause any dam which impedes the flow of water thereto to be cut, and any channel which is depriving it of water to be closed. Excepting during that period, he may interfere with no dam or channel outside his vaddai.

19. If any person shall wilfully prevent water from flowing to the field below his own, or shall obstruct the flow of surplus water from the field on a higher level, or shall in any other way interfere with the general distribution of water, the Vaddai Vidane shall proceed to the spot with witnesses and open the gaps or remove the obstruction himself, and no person shall issue, distribute, cut off, divert, or use the water in any manner except in accordance with his instructions.

20. The fence round the whole vaddai shall be measured by the Vaddai Vidane within three days of sowing being completed, and by him apportioned to the cultivators of each proprietor in proportion to the extent of the proprietor's field without regard to whether the fence adjoins his field or not. If fresh sticks are required the Vaddai Vidane shall inform the Irrigation Superintendent, who will obtain a license for him to have them cut.

21. The cultivators shall finish the fence, which shall be of stakes, within the time fixed by the Vaddai Vidane, and each cultivator shall construct a watch hut in the centre of the portion of the fence erected by him. The cultivators shall keep both fence and watch hut in repair, and shall keep regular watch in accordance with the orders of the Vaddai Vidane.

22. The mullecarans shall accompany the Vaddai Vidane or his Adigari with lights on their rounds at night until such time as the Vaddai Vidane considers this no longer necessary.

23. Should any portion of any tract ripen before the rest from any cause, the cultivators thereof shall be allowed to reap and store their crop, but shall continue to watch the field and preserve the fence until the crops of the remainder of the vaddai have been reaped and stored. Should any portion of a tract not ripen until after the reaping of the crops sown in accordance with the decision in rule 6 (c) either on account of default in sowing in proper time or because of the sowing of a different kind of paddy, the cultivators of the other portion of the tract shall not be bound to continue preserving the fence and watching the field until that portion of the tract ripens.

24. After the reaping is over the Vaddai Vidane shall order the removal of the fence, and shall cause the fence sticks to be heaped by the cultivators in such places as he may direct. No one shall remove fence sticks without the consent of the Vaddai Vidane.

25. The threshing-floor shall be cleared and fenced with a strong fence of stakes by the joint labour of all the cultivators. The paddy shall be stacked there, and the cultivators shall take their turn in watching the stacks.

26. No paddy shall be removed from the threshing-floor at the termination of the harvest until the shares due to the Headmen under rule 4 and the wages due to all persons engaged in the harvest and the hire of cattle have been paid.

27. Village tanks, dams, minor channels, water-courses, or other minor works shall be repaired or improved by the proprietors, whenever the Irrigation Engineer shall consider it necessary. The work to be performed by each proprietor shall be in proportion to the extent of land dependent on the work in question held by him.

28. Should any new channel be required either outside or inside any field, it shall be constructed by the proprietors interested in proportion to their holdings as in rule 24. The channel will be set out and pegs put in under the orders of the Irrigation Engineer. All proprietors must grant way leave for such channels, even though their land may not be benefited thereby.

29. No new tank, dam, channel, or other work shall be constructed without the consent of the Irrigation Engineer. If new tanks or dams are necessary he will order their construction, and determine by whom they are to be made.

30. Should any proprietor fail to perform the work required under rules 27, 28, and 29 within the time fixed by the Irrigation Engineer, it shall be done, and the cost of doing it, together with costs and fines, recovered as provided in rule 14.

31. No person shall in any way alter or injure any ridge or boundary between two fields in the same tract. On information that such alteration or injury has been effected, the Vaddai Vidane shall proceed to the spot with witnesses and restore the boundary to its original state. Such restoration can only be done within eight days of the commission of the offence.

32. The owners and cultivators of all land which may have been or may hereafter be bought from the Crown or from others shall become liable to the provisions of these rules, and shall be entitled to secure water from any of the channels which may be most advantageous to their land so soon as it shall be declared irrigable and included in the specification of land irrigable from the work. Such owners and cultivators shall in all respects enjoy the privileges and rights that belong to the owners and cultivators of the lands already irrigable.

33. A Village Council may be convened as in paragraph 5 whenever the Irrigation Engineer considers it desirable to obtain the advice or assistance of the proprietors in any matter concerning the cultivation.

34. These rules are to be enforced by the Irrigation Engineer and such other Irrigation Officers and Headmen as may from time to time be appointed, and breaches of the rules are punishable as provided in the Irrigation Ordinance, No. 16 of 1906.

35. All previous rules are cancelled.
