The following Draft of a proposed Ordinance is published for general information:—

An Ordinance for Establishing an Incorporated Law Society in Ceylon.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient for the maintenance of correct and uniform practice and discipline amongst the members of the profession of proctors practising as such or as notaries or in both capacities in this Colony to establish and incorporate a Society for the promotion of the said object: Be it therefore enacted by the Governor of Ceylon, by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council thereof, as follows:

Short title and commencement.

1 This Ordinance may be cited as "The Ceylon Incorporated Law Society Ordinance, 1911," and it shall come into operation at such time as the Governor shall, by Proclamation in the "Government Gazette," appoint.

Incorporation of and authority conferred on the Law Society of Ceylon.

2 A Society consisting of a President, a Vice-President, a Council, and members shall be established in Ceylon composed of proctors duly authorized to practise as such, and shall be a body politic and corporate by the name of "The Law Society of Ceylon," and by such name shall have perpetual succession, and shall adopt and have a common seal, and shall be capable both of purchasing and holding property, movable and immovable, and of selling, mortgaging, transferring, leasing, or otherwise disposing of any such property, and of suing and being sued in its corporate capacity, and of doing all other matters and things incidental or appertaining to a body politic. Provided that it shall not be lawful for the said Society to sell, mortgage, transfer, lease, or otherwise dispose of any immovable property, to which it may become entitled, without the approbation and concurrence of at least two-thirds of the members present at a general meeting.

Constitution of the Council of the Society.

3 The Council of the said Society, including the President and the Vice-President, shall consist of nine members, and, except in the case of the first Council constituted by this Ordinance, five of such members shall be nominated by the Attorney-General, and the rest elected as hereinafter provided for. The first President of the Society shall be Villiers Alexander Julius, and the first Vice-President shall be elected by the Council constituted by this Ordinance, the President having a casting vote in the case of an equality of votes, and the following persons, to wit, Hector van Cuylenburg, John Ellenson Richard Pereira, Arthur William Alvis, Peter Daniel Anthonisz Mack, William Arnold Speldewinde de Vos, John Alfred Perera, Leslie William Frederick de Saram, and Sydney Julius, shall, in addition to the President aforesaid, be the first members of the Council of the Society. It shall and may be lawful for the President to receive and consider applications from proctors desirous of becoming members, and for a majority of the members of the said Council present at a meeting to be convened by the President, after three weeks' notice, to agree or refuse to enrol the applicants as members of the Society. Provided, however, that such refusal shall not debar a rejected candidate from again applying to be enrolled or from being enrolled as a member of the Society after the first general meeting hereinafter mentioned. Provided also that the President shall cause true and proper minutes of the proceedings at such meetings to be recorded in a book kept for the purpose, including the names of all persons enrolled as well as those refused. So soon as convenient after there shall have been enrolled in the manner aforesaid members sufficient to make up the number of the members of the Society, including the President, Vice-President, and the Council aforesaid, to twenty, it shall be the duty of the President, by notice in the "Government Gazette" and in at least one of the local newspapers of not less than six weeks, to convene a general meeting of all the members aforesaid for the purpose of electing four members, who, together with the five to be nominated by the Attorney-General, shall constitute a new Council in the place of the Council appointed by this Ordinance. And as soon as may be after the formation of the new Council aforesaid, the said Council shall proceed to the election from among its members of a new President and Vice-President, it being expressly provided that the existing President, Vice-President, and Council shall remain in office and exercise all their functions until the final election and appointment of the new President, Vice-President, and Council, whereupon their appointments shall cease, and thereafter every constitution of a new Council and every election by such new Council of a President and Vice-President shall take place in exactly the same manner and after the same notice as is by this section determined for the constitution of the first new Council and the election of President and Vice-President. At any meeting it shall be competent for members residing more than twenty-five miles from the place where the meeting is held to vote by proxy, but no person residing within twenty-five miles of such place shall be allowed to vote by proxy. No person not being a proctor practising in Colombo shall have the privilege of being a member of the Council.

Minute book to be kept.

Election of President and Vice-President.

Members of the Council to be proctors practising in Colombo.

At least ten members of the Society shall be required to form a quorum at any meeting of the Society.

members as aforesaid to form, together with five to be nominated by the Attorney-General, a new Council in the place of the one previously constituted. On the formation of a new Council, the members of the old Council, including its President and Vice-President, shall go out of office, and the new Council shall appoint a President and a Vice-President as hereinbefore provided for. 7 In case any member of the said Council shall die or resign or be absent from the Colony for the space of six months, or be absent from six consecutive meetings of the Council, his office shall become vacant. All vacancies occurring under the provisions of this section shall be filled by election at a duly convened meeting of the Society or nomination by the Attorney-General, according as the vacancy is caused by the death, resignation, absence, or default of an elected or nominated member, and any member so elected or nominated to fill any such vacancy shall hold office until the expiration of the term during which the person in whose place he shall have been appointed would have been entitled to hold office.

Duration of office of President, &c.

8 The President and Vice-President shall respectively continue in office until the constitution of a new Council, unless prior thereto he die, resign, or cease to be a member of the Council, or be absent from the Colony for the space of six months, in any of which cases his office shall become vacant, and another member of the Council shall be elected in his room and stead, who shall continue in office until the expiration of the term during which his predecessor would have been entitled to continue in office.

9 The said Council shall have power from time to time at their meetings, to be held at the times and places to be directed by the by-laws of the Society, to appoint and elect in the manner directed by such by-laws such persons as they shall think fit, being proctors practising within the Colony, or being persons who shall have so practised and shall have voluntarily retired from such practise (not being barristers or advocates), to be members of the Society.

Who shall cease to be members.

10 In case any member of the Society shall in consequence of the order of any court of competent jurisdiction be rendered incapable by reason of malpractice or other professional misconduct of practising in the courts of justice of this Colony or any of them, such person shall forthwith cease to be a member of the Society.

Powers of the Council.

11 Subject and without prejudice to the powers hereinafter vested in the general meetings of the Society, the Council shall be and act in all matters as the accredited agents and representatives of the Society, and shall have the sole and entire management of the Society and of the income and property thereof for the uses, purposes, and benefit of the Society, and shall have the sole and exclusive right of nominating and appointing a Secretary, Treasurer, Librarian, and such other officers, clerks, attendants, and servants as they may deem necessary or useful to the Society, and of removing them if they shall think fit, and shall prescribe their respective duties. And it shall and may be lawful for the Council or any three or more of its members to assemble and meet together as often as they shall think fit until the passing of the by-laws of the Society, and from and after the passing of such by-laws, at such times and places as shall be directed by the said by-laws, and from time to time, to do all such acts as shall appear to them or the majority of the Council then present necessary or fitting to be done in order to carry into full operation and effect the object and purposes of the Society. Provided always that the same be not inconsistent with or repugnant to this Ordinance or any existing by-law, Ordinance, or regulation made, ordered, or agreed upon at any special general meeting of the Society, or the laws and Ordinances of this Colony.

By-laws.	12 At any general meeting it shall and may be lawful for the members of the Society or such of them as shall be then present to ordain and make such and so many by-laws, rules, and orders as to them or the major part of them shall seem necessary, convenient, and proper for the good government of the Society, and of the members and affairs thereof, and for regulating the times and places at which meetings of the Council shall be held, and for convening the ordinary or any special meetings of the members, and for establishing, maintaining, and regulating the use of a law library, and for the collection of subscriptions from members to defray the expenses of the Society and for the application of moneys so collected, and generally for carrying out the objects for which the Society is founded, with reasonable penalties and fines, to be contained in such by-laws on the offenders for non-performance of or disobedience to the same, and the by-laws, rules, orders, penalties, and fines, or any of them, from time to time, to alter, change, or annul as the said general meeting shall think requisite. Provided that all such by-laws, rules, orders, penalties, and fines shall be reasonable, and not repugnant or contrary to the laws of this Colony, and provided that they are approved by the Attorney-General for the time being. In the event of the neglect or omission on the part of the Society to pass the necessary by-laws, rules, or orders for the purposes aforesaid and for those hereinafter mentioned, of which fact the decision of the Attorney-General on representation made to him by the President shall be final, it shall be lawful for the Council to meet and pass such by-laws, rules, or orders, and by-laws, rules, and orders so passed when approved by the Attorney-General shall be as valid and effectual as those passed by the Society and approved by the Attorney-General.
When first general meeting is to be held.	13 A general meeting of the members of the Society shall be held within three calendar months after the election of the first President, Vice-President, and Council, or as soon thereafter as may be practicable, for the making and ordaining of by-laws, rules, and orders for the government of the Society; and an annual meeting shall thereafter be held in Colombo in the month of June in every year, or as soon thereafter as conveniently may be, for the said purposes and for other purposes of the Society, and other meetings shall be held from time to time as occasion shall require. All meetings other than the annual general meetings of the members of the Society shall be held at such times and places as shall be determined by the majority of the members of the Society present in person or by proxy at meetings held for the purpose of deciding when and where such meetings shall be held. Provided that members not present shall have the right to vote by proxy on the question of the time when, and the place where, such meetings shall be held.
Annual meeting.
Who to preside at general meetings of the Society.	14 At all general meetings the President of the Society, if he shall be present, and if not, then the Vice-President, and in the absence of the President and Vice-President, then some one of the members of the Council to be chosen by the Council, and in the absence of the President, Vice-President, and all the members of the Council, then some member of the Society to be chosen at the meeting, shall preside as Chairman. And at all meetings of the Society and the Council the President or other Chairman shall, on all questions, in the event of an equality of votes, have a casting vote, in addition to his original vote.
President or other Chairman to have a casting vote.
Notice of application to admit, suspend, &c., proctors to be given to Council.	15 Due notice shall be given to the Council of the Society by the Supreme Court of all applications to it to admit, suspend, or strike off the roll any proctor, and the Society shall be entitled to appear and be heard either in opposition to or in support of any such application, anything in Ordinance No. 1 of 1889, intituled "The Courts Ordinance, 1889," to the contrary notwithstanding.
Proceedings in regard to any member of Society suspected of misconduct.	16 If it shall appear to the Council or be represented to them by a requisition in writing signed by two or more members of the Society that there is reason to suppose that any member of the Society has been guilty of conduct which in the absence of satisfactory explanation would render him unfit to remain a member of the Society, the Council shall send to such member a statement in writing of the conduct imputed to him, and shall appoint a special meeting of the Council for the consideration of the subject. At least fifteen days' notice of such meeting shall be given to such member in order that he may be present and be heard if he shall think fit. If at such meeting or any adjournment thereof the Council shall be of opinion that such member ought to be excluded from the Society, they shall state their opinion thereon in the form of a report to be laid before a special general meeting of the Society, and such member shall be liable on the order and resolution of the majority of such meeting to be excluded from the Society, and immediately upon such order or resolution being passed he shall cease to be a member thereof. But no order shall be made at any such meeting for the exclusion of any member unless ten members at least shall be present at the time appointed for the chair to be taken at such meeting or within half an hour afterwards. But it shall be competent to call another meeting to consider the same question of the expulsion of such member.

In case of proctors who are not members of the Society.

17 If the Council shall become cognizant of any professional or alleged professional misconduct of any proctor in his capacity as such or of that of a notary, whether such proctor be a member of the Law Society or not, after due examination into the circumstances, and in case there is in their opinion or in the opinion of a majority of them a prima facie case against such proctor, it shall be incumbent on the President, on behalf of the said Society, to bring the circumstances to the notice of the Supreme Court by application thereto for the striking off the rolls or other punishment of the accused party, of which due notice shall be given to him, and the members of such Council, in the bona fide execution of their duty and discretion herein, shall not be liable to any action or suit for damages for defamation of character, libel, or any other cause at the hands of any party against whom any such application shall have been unsuccessfully made.

The Society to continue as such although the number of members be less than twenty.

18 After the election of members and the formation of a Council under section 3 to take the place of the first Council constituted by this Ordinance the Society shall continue to exercise all rights and privileges and to perform all duties and functions prescribed by this Ordinance, and be to all intents and purposes the body corporate, intituled "The Law Society of Ceylon," created by this Ordinance, although the number of its members become at any time less than twenty.

By His Excellency's command,

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Colombo, March 15, 1911.

HUGH CLIFFORD,
Colonial Secretary.

Statement of Objects and Reasons.

THE object of this Ordinance is the establishment of an Incorporated Law Society for the purpose of protecting the interests of that branch of the legal profession that is composed of proctors, and for the enforcement of discipline among them, and the observance by them of the rules of professional etiquette.

2. The Ordinance provides for a Council consisting of nine members, including the President, for the purpose of enrolling members for the formation of the Society. After the Society is so formed, a Council to act as its accredited agents and representatives will be triennially appointed composed of members, of whom some will be elected by the Society and the others nominated by the Attorney-General.

3. The Society is given the right of perpetual succession, and the power to hold property, to appear in Court in its corporate capacity, and to do all other things necessary to serve the purposes for which it is constituted.

4. It is also given the power to make such by-laws as may be necessary for its good government, and for regulating its meetings, for the collection of subscriptions to defray all expenses, and generally for carrying out the objects for which it is founded.

5. The powers of the Council will be found defined in section 11.

6. Provision is also made to enable the Council to be heard in opposition to, or in support of, applications to the Supreme Court for the admission, suspension, or the striking off the rolls of proctors, and to deal with cases of professional misconduct.

7. The membership of the Council is confined to proctors practising in Colombo, because it is deemed that the fact of any members residing at a distance from the place where the meetings of the Council will be ordinarily held will hamper it in the transaction of business, and otherwise cause inconvenience.
