24. Not bound to state Reason.—In no case shall a Shareholder or proposed transferee be entitled to require the Directors to state the reason of their refusal to register, but their declination shall be absolute.

25. Registration of Transfer.—Every instrument of transfer must be left at the office of the Company to be registered, accompanied by such evidence as the Directors may reasonably require to prove the title of the transferrer, and a fee of one rupee or such other sum as the Directors shall from time to time determine, must be paid, and thereupon the Directors, subject to the powers vested in them by Articles 23, 24, and 26, shall register the transferee as a Shareholder and retain the instrument of transfer.

26. The Directors may, by such means as they shall deem expedient, authorise the registration of transferees as shareholders without the necessity of any meeting of the Directors for that purpose.

27. Directors not bound to inquire as to validity of Transfer.—In no case shall the Directors be bound to inquire into the validity, legal effect, or genuineness of any instrument of transfer produced by a person claiming a transfer of any share in accordance with these Articles, and whether they abstain from so inquiring, or do so inquire and are misled, the transferor shall have no claim whatsoever upon the Company in respect of the share, except for the dividends previously declared in respect thereof, but only, if at all, upon the transferee.

28. Transfer Books when to be closed.—The transfer books may be closed during the fourteen days immediately preceding each Ordinary General Meeting, including the first General Meeting; also, when a dividend is declared, for the three next days ensuing the meeting.

30. Registration of Persons entitled to the Shares otherwise than by Transfer.—Any guardian of any infant Shareholder, or any committee of a lunatic Shareholder, or any person becoming entitled to shares in consequence of the death, bankruptcy, or liquidation of any Shareholder, or the marriage of any female Shareholder, or in any other way than by transfer, shall, upon securing such evidence that he sustains the character in respect of which he proposes to act under this clause, or of his title as the Company think sufficient, be forthwith entitled, subject to the provisions herein contained, to be registered as a Shareholder in respect of such shares, or may, subject to the regulations as to transfers hereinbefore contained, transfer the same to some other person.

31. Failing such registration Shares may be sold by the Company.—If any person who shall become entitled to be registered in respect of any share under clause 30 shall not from any cause whatever within twelve calendar months after the event, on the happening of which his title shall accrue, be registered in respect of such share, or if in the case of the death of any Shareholder no person shall, within twelve calendar months after such death, be registered as a Shareholder in respect of the shares of such deceased Shareholder, the Company may sell such shares either by public auction or private contract and give a receipt for the purchase money, and the purchaser shall be entitled to be registered in respect of such shares, and shall not be bound to inquire whether the events have happened which entitled the Company to sell the same, and the net proceeds of such sale, after deducting all expenses and all moneys in respect of which the Company is entitled to a lien on the shares so sold, shall be paid to the person entitled thereto.

SHARES (SURRENDER AND FORFEITURE).

32. The Directors may accept surrender of Shares.—The Directors may accept, in the name and for the benefit of the Company, and upon such terms and conditions as may be agreed, a surrender of the shares of the Shareholders who may be desirous of retiring from the Company.

33. If Call or Instalment be not paid notice to be given to Shareholder.—If any Shareholder fail to pay any call or instalment on or before the day appointed for the payment of the same, the Directors may, at any time thereafter during such time as the call or instalment remains unpaid, serve a notice on such Shareholder requiring him to pay the same, together with any interest that may have accrued, and all expenses that may have been incurred by the Company by reason of such non-payment.

Terms of Notice.—The notice shall name a day (not being less than one month from the date of the notice) and a place or places at which such call or instalment and such interest and expenses as aforesaid are to be paid. The notice shall also state that in the event of non-payment at or before the time and at the place appointed, the shares in respect of which the call was made or instalment is payable will be liable to be forfeited.

In default of Payment Shares to be Forfeited.—If the requisition of such notice as aforesaid be not complied with, every or any share or shares in respect of which such notice has been given may at any time thereafter before payment of calls or instalments, interest, and expenses due in respect thereof be declared forfeited by a resolution of the Board to that effect.

Shareholder still liable to pay Money owing at the time of Forfeiture.—Any Shareholder whose shares have been so declared forfeited shall, notwithstanding, be liable to pay, and shall forthwith pay to the Company all calls, instalments, interest, and expenses owing upon or in respect of such shares at the time of the forfeiture, together with interest thereon from the time of forfeiture until payment at nine per cent. per annum, and the Directors may enforce the payment thereof if they think fit.

34. Surrendered or forfeited Shares to be Property of Company and may be sold, &c.—Every share surrendered or so declared forfeited shall be deemed to be the property of the Company, and may be sold, re-allotted, or otherwise disposed of upon such terms and in such manner as the Board shall think fit.

35. Effect of Surrender or Forfeiture.—The surrender or forfeiture of a share shall involve the extinction of all interest in and also of all claims and demands against the Company in respect of the share and the proceeds thereof, and all other rights incident to the share, except only such of those rights (if any) as by these presents are expressly saved.

36. Certificate of Surrender or Forfeiture.—A certificate in writing under the hands of two of the Directors and of the Secretary, that a share has been duly surrendered or forfeited, stating the time when it was surrendered or forfeited, shall be conclusive evidence of the facts therein stated as against all persons who would have been entitled to the share but for such surrender or forfeiture, and such certificate and the receipt of the Company for the price of such share shall constitute a good title to such share, and a certificate of proprietorship shall be delivered to any person who may purchase the same from the Company, and thereupon such purchaser shall be deemed the holder of such share, discharged from all calls due prior to such purchase, and he shall not be bound to see to the application of the purchase money, nor shall his title to such share be affected by any irregularity in the proceedings in reference to such forfeiture or sale.

Forfeiture may be remitted.—The Directors may in their discretion remit or annul the forfeiture of any share within six months from the date thereof upon the payment of all moneys due to the Company from the late holder or holders of such share or shares, and all expenses incurred in relation to such forfeiture, together with such further sum of money by way of redemption money, for the deficit, as they shall think fit, not being less than nine per cent. on the amount of the sums wherein default in payment had been made, but no share bona fide sold or re-allotted or otherwise disposed of under article 34 hereof shall be redeemable after sale or disposal.

37. Company's Lien on Shares.—The Company shall have a first charge or paramount lien upon all the shares of any holder or joint-holders for all moneys for the time being due to the Company by such holder, or by all or any of such joint-holders respectively, either in respect of such shares or of other shares held by such holder or joint-holders or otherwise, and whether due from any such holder individually or jointly with others, including all calls resolutions for which shall have been passed by the Directors, although the times appointed for the payment thereof shall have not arrived; and where any share is held by more persons than one, the Company shall be entitled to the said charge or lien in respect of any money due to the Company from any such person. And the Directors may decline to register any transfer of shares subject to such charge or lien.

38. Lien how made available.—Such charge or lien may be made available by a sale of all or any of the shares subject to it, provided that no such sale shall be made except under a resolution of the Directors, and until notice in writing shall have been given to the indebted Shareholder or his executors, or administrators, or the assignee or trustee in his bankruptcy requiring him or them to pay the amount for the time being due to the Company, and default shall have been made for twenty-eight days from such notice in paying the sum thereby required to be paid. Should the Shareholder over whose share the lien exists be in England or elsewhere abroad, sixty days' notice shall be allowed him.

39. Proceeds how applied.—The net proceeds of any such sale shall be applied in or towards satisfaction of such debts, liabilities, or engagements, and the residue (if any) paid to such Shareholder or his representatives.

40. Certificate of sale.—A certificate in writing under the hands of two of the Directors and of the Secretary that the power of sale given by clause 38 has arisen, and is exercisable by the Company under these presents, shall be conclusive evidence of the facts therein stated.

41. Transfer on Sale how executed.—Upon any such sale two of the Directors may execute a transfer of such share to the purchaser thereof, and such transfer with the certificate last aforesaid shall confer on the purchaser a complete title to such shares.

42. Directors may make Calls.—The Directors may from time to time make such calls as they think fit upon the holders of registered shares in respect of moneys unpaid thereon, and not by the conditions of allotment made payable at fixed times, and each Shareholder shall pay the amount of every call so made on him to the persons and at the times and places appointed by the Directors, provided that two months' notice at least shall be given to the Shareholders of the time and place appointed for payment of each call. If any Shareholder fail to pay any call due from him on the day appointed for payment thereof, he shall be liable to pay interest for the same at the rate of nine per cent per annum from the day appointed for the payment thereof to the time of actual payment.

43. Calls; time when made.—A call shall be deemed to have been made at the time when the resolution authorising the call was passed at a Board meeting of the Directors.

44. Extension of time for payment of Call—The Directors shall have power in their absolute discretion to give time to any one or more Shareholder or Shareholders, exclusive of the others, for payment of any call or part thereof on such terms as the Directors may determine. But no Shareholder shall be entitled to any such extension except as a matter of grace or favour.

45. Payments in anticipation of Calls at Interest.—The Directors may at their discretion receive from any Shareholder willing to advance the same, and upon such terms as they think fit, all or any part of the amount of his shares beyond the sum actually called up; and upon the moneys so paid in advance, or upon so much thereof from time to time, and at any time thereafter as exceeds the amount of the calls then made upon and due in respect of the shares on account of which such advances are made, the Board may pay or allow interest at such rate as the Shareholders and the Directors may agree upon, not exceeding however six per cent. per annum.

BORROWING POWERS.

46. Power to Borrow.—The Directors shall have power to borrow money for the purposes of the Company, and for this purpose to grant bonds, promissory notes, bills, debentures, interest warrants, bonds for cash credit, trust deeds, or other documents, to issue letters of credit, and to grant mortgages or other deeds of security over all or any of the Company's lands, property, estate, and assets. Provided that nothing herein contained shall be held to prevent the Directors procuring from time to time, in the usual course of business, such temporary advances on the produce in hand or in the future to be obtained from the Company's estate or estates as they may find necessary or expedient for the purpose of defraying the expenses of working the said estate or estates, or of extending buildings, machinery, or plantations, or otherwise. Provided also that before the Directors execute any mortgage or issue any debentures they shall obtain the sanction of the Company in General Meeting, whether ordinary or Extraordinary. A declaration under the Company's seal contained in or endorsed upon any of the documents mentioned in this Article, and subscribed by two or more of the Directors, to the effect that the Directors have power to borrow the amount which such document may represent, shall be conclusive evidence thereof in all questions between the Company and its Directors; and no such document containing such declaration shall, as regards the creditors, be void on the ground of its being granted in excess of the aforesaid borrowing power, unless it be proved that such creditor was aware that it was so granted.

47. Assignment of Security.—Every debenture or other instrument issued by the Company for securing the payment of money may be so framed that the moneys thereby secured shall be assignable free from any equities between the Company and the person to whom the same may be issued.

49. Subsequent General Meetings.—Subsequent General Meetings shall be held once in every year at such time and place as may be prescribed by the Company in General Meeting, and if no time or place is prescribed, at such time and place as may be determined by the Directors.

50. Ordinary and Extraordinary General Meetings.—The General Meetings mentioned in the last preceding clause shall be called Ordinary General Meetings; all other meetings of the Company shall be called Extraordinary General Meetings.

51. Extraordinary General Meeting.—The Directors may, whenever they think fit, call an Extraordinary General Meeting, and the Directors shall do so upon a requisition made in writing by not less than one-eighth of the number of Shareholders holding not less than one-eighth of the issued capital, and entitled to vote.

52. Requisition to state object of Meeting; if Directors fail to call Meeting, Shareholders may do so.—Any requisition so made shall express the object of the meeting proposed to be called, shall be addressed to the Directors, and shall be sent to the registered office of the Company. Upon the receipt of such requisition the Directors shall forthwith proceed to convene an Extraordinary General Meeting to be held at such time and place as they shall determine. If they do not proceed to convene the same within seven days from the delivery of the requisition, the requisitionists may themselves convene an Extraordinary General Meeting to be held at such place and at such time as the Shareholders convening the meeting may themselves fix.

53. Seven days' notice of Meeting to be given.—Seven days' notice at least of every General Meeting, Ordinary or Extraordinary, and by whomsoever convened, specifying the place, day, hour of meeting, and the object and business of the meeting, shall be given to the Shareholders entitled to be present at such meeting in manner hereinafter mentioned, but an accidental omission to give such notice to any Shareholder shall not invalidate the proceedings at any General Meeting.

54. Business requiring and not requiring any Notification.—Every Ordinary General Meeting shall be competent, without special notice having been given of the purposes for which it is convened, or of the business to be transacted thereat, to receive and discuss any report and any accounts presented thereto by the Directors, and to pass resolutions, in approval or disapproval thereof, and to declare dividends, and to elect Directors and Auditors retiring in rotation, and to fix the remuneration of the Auditors; and shall also be competent to enter upon, discuss, and transact any business whatsoever of which special mention shall have been given in the notice or notices upon which the meeting was convened.

55. Notice of other business to be given.—With the exceptions mentioned in the foregoing Articles as to the business which may be transacted at Ordinary General Meetings without notice, no General Meeting, Ordinary or Extraordinary, shall be competent to enter upon, discuss, or transact any business which has not been specially mentioned in the notice or notices upon which it was convened.

56. Quorum.—No business shall be transacted at any General Meeting except the declaration of a dividend recommended by a report of the Directors of election or a Chairman, unless there shall be present at the commencement of the business five or more Shareholders entitled to vote.

57. If Quorum not Present.—If at the expiration of half an hour from the time appointed for the meeting the required number of Shareholders shall not be present at the meeting, the meeting, if convened by or upon the requisition of Shareholders, shall be dissolved, but in any other case it shall stand adjourned to the same day in the next week at the same time and place; and if at such adjourned meeting a quorum is not present, those Shareholders who are present shall be a quorum, and may transact the business for which the meeting was called.

58. Chairman of Directors or a Director to be Chairman of General Meeting: in case of their absence or refusal a Shareholder may act.—The Chairman (if any) of the Directors shall be entitled to take the chair at every General Meeting, whether Ordinary or Extraordinary, or if there be no Chairman, or if at any meeting he shall not be present within fifteen minutes after the time appointed for holding such meeting, or if he shall refuse to take the chair, the Shareholders shall choose another Director as Chairman; and if no Directors be present, or if all the Directors present decline to take the chair, then the Shareholders present shall choose one of their number to be a Chairman.

61. Minutes of General Meeting.—Minutes of the proceedings of every General Meeting, whether Ordinary or Extraordinary, shall be entered in a book to be kept for that purpose, and shall when so entered be signed as soon as practicable by the Chairman of the same meeting, or by the Chairman of the succeeding meeting, and the same when so entered and signed shall be evidence of all such proceedings, and of the proper election of the Chairman.

VOTING AT MEETINGS.

62. Votes.—At any meeting every resolution shall be decided by the votes of the Shareholders present in person or by proxy, and in case there shall be an equality of votes, the Chairman at such meeting shall be entitled to give a casting vote in addition to the vote to which he may be entitled as a Shareholder, and unless a poll be immediately demanded by some Member present and entitled to vote, a declaration by the Chairman that a resolution has been carried, and an entry to that effect in the Minute Book of the Company, shall be sufficient evidence of the fact without proof of the number of votes recorded in favour of or against such resolution.

63. Poll.—If a poll be duly demanded, the same shall be taken in such manner and at such time and place as the Chairman shall direct, and the result of the poll shall be deemed to be the resolution of the meeting at which the poll was demanded. The demand of a poll shall not prevent the continuance of a meeting for the transaction of business other than the question on which a poll has been demanded.

64. Poll how taken.—If at any meeting a poll be demanded by some Shareholder present at the meeting and entitled to vote, the meeting shall, if necessary, be adjourned, and the poll shall be taken at such time and in such manner as the Chairman shall direct, and in such case every Shareholder shall have the number of votes to which he may be entitled as hereinafter provided; and in case at any such poll there shall be an equality of votes, the Chairman of the meeting at which such poll shall have been demanded shall be entitled to a casting vote in addition to any votes to which he may be entitled as a Shareholder and proxy, and the result of such poll shall be deemed to be the resolution of the Company in such meeting.

75. No Shareholder to be prevented from voting by being personally interested in result.—No Shareholder shall be prevented from voting by reason of his being personally interested in the result of the voting.

76. Shareholder should be registered for three months previous to Meeting before he can vote.—Every Shareholder not disqualified by the preceding Articles, who has been duly registered for three months previous to the General Meeting, shall be entitled to be present and to speak and vote at all meetings.

89. If election not made, retiring Directors to continue until next Meeting.—If at any meeting at which an election of a Director ought to take place the place of the retiring Director is not filled up, the retiring Director may continue in office until the first Ordinary Meeting in the next year, and so on from meeting to meeting until his place is filled up, unless it shall be determined at such meeting to reduce the number of Directors.

SCHEDULE.

Regulation for ascertaining the Tonnage of Ships conveying Goods Coastwise.

Measure the length of the vessel from the afterpart of stem to the forepart of sternpost at a point level with the upper edge of the upper strake of outside plank; then, if the length is 50 feet or under, divide it into four equal parts, or if above 50 feet into six equal parts; and at each of the divisions take the depth from a line stretched across the upper edge of upper strake or gunwale to the ceiling or bottom plank on top of the frames amidships. Divide each depth into four equal parts, and at each of the three points of division take the horizontal breadth from lining plank on one side to lining plank on the other, also the horizontal breadth at the upper and lower points of the depth; number the upper breadth 1, and so on, down to the lowest breadth, which would be 5; multiply the second and fourth breadth by 4, and the third by 2; add these products together, and to the sum add the first breadth and the fifth; multiply the quantity thus obtained by one-third of the common interval between the breadths, and the product shall be deemed the transverse area.

Having thus ascertained the transverse area at each point of division of the length of the vessel, proceed to ascertain the tonnage in the following manner. Number the areas successively 1, 2, 3, &c., No. 1 being at the extreme limit of the length at the bow and the last number at the extreme limit of the length at the stern; then, whether the length be divided into four or six parts, multiply the second and every even numbered area by 4, and the third and every odd numbered area (except the first and last) by 2; add these products together, and to the sum add the first and last if they yield anything. Multiply the quantity thus obtained by one-third of the common interval between the areas, and the product will be the cubical contents of the internal space under the upper edge of the upper strake or gunwale; divide this product by 100, and the quotient shall be deemed the tonnage of the vessel.

Notification.

IT is hereby notified for general information that HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR has been pleased to order that the regulation for ascertaining the tonnage of ships conveying goods coastwise, made and appointed by his Proclamation issued and published in the Government Gazette of this day's date, shall be applied for ascertaining the burthen of boats licensed under section 23 of the Ordinance No. 6 of 1865.

GOVERNMENT NOTIFICATIONS.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR has been pleased to direct that the following extract from "The Kew Bulletin" for June, 1893, on the subject of Weicher's Fibre Extracting Machine, together with an extract from "The Ceylon Almanac" for 1853 relative to Fibre Producing Plants, be published for general information.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Colombo, September 18, 1893.

By His Excellency's command,
J. A. SWETTENHAM,
Acting Colonial Secretary.

Extract from "The Kew Bulletin" No. 78 of June, 1893.

CCCXIII.—Weicher's Fibre Extracting Machine.

THIS fibre extracting machine is constructed by J. J. Weicher, 10², Liberty street, New York. It is now on trial in this country under Mr. Weicher's supervision at the Carlton Works, Printing House Yard, Hackney Road, London, N.E. The chief interest at the present moment attached to fibre machines is based on their capability to clean leaves of the Sisal Hemp plant so largely planted at the Bahamas and elsewhere. This brief report is therefore almost entirely confined to the treatment of leaves of this sort.

Recently, accompanied by Sir Alfred Moloney, Governor of British Honduras, I accepted an invitation to see the Weicher machine at work on Agave leaves obtained from the Riviera. The leaves were those of Agave americana. They had been cut about a fortnight, and hence they were not in the best possible condition for being experimented upon.

The Machine.—The machine consists of a drum fitted with beaters, and a feeding table mounted on an iron frame about 14½ feet long and 2½ feet wide. The whole structure is of iron, fitted with beaters composed of a mixture of copper, aluminium, and iron, attached to the drum where it comes in contact with the juice of the leaves. The general principle of the machine is similar to the "Gratte" in use in Mauritius, and the "Raspador" of Yucatan. The leaves, as in these machines, are presented endwise, and are cleaned by the beaters attached to the drum. About one half of each leaf is cleaned at one time. It is necessary to change the position of the leaf before the other half can be cleaned. There is, however, no reverse action, and in this respect the Weicher machine possesses an advantage over other machines of the same type.

The Feed Table.—The feed table consists of an endless band composed of flat iron laths fastened across two iron chains. The band is fitted with iron clamps for holding the leaves in position and presenting them to the beaters in such a position that at first about one half of their length is cleaned. After this the leaf is carried continuously back on the underside of the band, and brought out so that it can be seized by the operator and its position changed. When it is next presented to the beaters, the uncleaned part is treated and the whole of the fibre is then carried out and removed from the machine. The feed table is therefore automatic, and it will carry at one time about four or five leaves. These may be any length up to about eight feet, and the quickness of the cleaning depends very much upon the activity and aptness of the operators.

Serving the Machine.—For regular working a man and two boys are required. The man and one boy attend to the feeding and the changing of the leaves, while the other boy takes out the cleaned fibre and hangs it up to dry.

The Trial.—The machine was worked recently at intervals for about an hour. It readily cleaned Agave leaves of various sizes, some only half an inch thick and others between two and three inches thick. There is an arrangement of levers to allow for yielding in case of very thick leaves, and the machine was not clogged or stopped during any portion of the trial. This is an important consideration. The quality of the fibre produced was on the whole good. There was but little waste, and none of the strands was damaged or broken. The samples cleaned are now at Kew. Nothing has been done to them since they left the machine.

Washing the Fibre.—Where there is an abundant supply of fresh water, an arrangement could be made whereby the fibre might be washed while passing under the beaters. This, however, is not an essential part of the cleaning. It may be adopted or not according to local circumstances.

Particulars of the Machine.—The following particulars were obtained from Mr. Weicher. "The total weight is 3,100 pounds (avoirdupois). The space occupied by the machine with feed table extended is 14½ ft. long by 2½ ft. wide. The power required is 10-horse power giving 500 revolutions per minute. The inventor has worked the machine in Yucatan for a period extending over nearly three months. One machine is still in Yucatan.

Yield of Fibre.—Mr. Weicher claims it will treat 10 to 12 tons of green leaves in a day of 10 hours. Allowing the leaves to yield 3 per cent. of fibre (in a prepared dry condition), this would be at the rate of 672 pounds per day as the lowest return, with a possible return (at 4 per cent.) of 896 pounds per day. As far as could be judged from the recent trial these returns are not improbable. It is, however, impossible to offer a definite opinion on the subject. The actual capacity of the machine can only be determined by continuous working on a Sisal hemp plantation, and with operators who have become thoroughly accustomed to it. In a Report on the Sisal Hemp Industry of Yucatan prepared for the Government of the Bahamas by Captain C. Jerome Stuart [Kew Bulletin, 1892, p. 275], it is stated that the Weicher machine "requires 12 horse-power engine and the services of three men. Capacity, 2,500 lb. dry fibre per day of 10 hours." Mr. Weicher judiciously disclaims all responsibility for the capacity here given. He prefers to indicate it by saying that the machine will treat at the rate of 10 to 12 tons of green leaves per day. The actual yield in dry fibre will therefore depend upon the quality of the leaves. Mr. Weicher hopes to obtain as high as 5 per cent. of dry fibre from good leaves, and he thus estimates the outturn per day of 10 hours at 1,120 to 1,340 lb. These figures, it is needless to add, are given entirely on his authority. For comparison from actual working it may be mentioned that the Yucatan Raspador (with two men) acting on leaves of Sisal hemp will clean about 400 pounds of dry fibre per day. On the other hand, the Mauritius machine (also with two men) acting on leaves of the Green Aloe (Furcraea gigantea) will turn out only about 214 pounds of dry fibre per day. The difference in these returns may be due to the different qualities of the leaves, but it is evident that, so far, neither of these machines working on a commercial scale is able to turn out more than 400 pounds of dry fibre per day.

The conjectural figures given by Mr. Weicher require therefore to be received with due reserve until the performances of the machine have been fully tested.

Summary.—I may add that I have seen most fibre machines that have been brought forward and tested during the last 12 years. I am not yet in a position to say that any machine has fulfilled all the conditions necessary in cleaning Sisal hemp fibre. The whole of the Mauritius hemp (from Furcraea gigantea) exported from that island is cleaned by the Gratte, locally made and costing about 30*l.* [Kew Bulletin, 1890, p. 98.] This has to be fed with one or two leaves at a time, and there is considerable waste. There is also some risk to the workpeople, who have to hold the leaves in their hands while they are being cleaned. The Yucatan fibre is chiefly, if not entirely, cleaned by the rough contrivance known as the Raspador, also locally made [Kew Bulletin, 1892, p. 37, with woodcut]. The working of this is slow and wasteful, but with very cheap labour the industry is apparently very remunerative when prices are high. There is probably little or no inducement, owing to cheap labour, to introduce improvements in fibre cleaning in Yucatan. In the Bahamas the circumstances are entirely different, and a satisfactory machine is indispensable. The various machines that have hitherto sought to supplant the Gratte and Raspador, such as the "Death machine," the "Barracough machine," and others, have all turned out better qualities of fibre, it is true, but the total yield has been small and disappointing. In fact, taking into account the great efforts made to introduce and popularise these machines, their extended use on a commercial scale has made little or no progress of late years. The Weicher machine possesses distinct merit, and it is more promising than any (so far as I have observed) with an automatic feed table. It may be said against it that it is somewhat heavy and intricate, and its price (not yet fixed) must be higher than either the Gratte or Raspador. It deserves, however, to be tried under suitable circumstances, and those interested in the fibre industry of the Bahamas, for instance, cannot do better than carefully test it on the spot. The inventor would then have an opportunity of showing its capabilities in the presence of an unlimited supply of leaves. It is impossible to do more in this country than form an approximate idea of its merits. It may be added that it is claimed for the machine that it will clean the leaves of Bow-string hemp (Sansevieria), Banana (Musa sapientum), and possibly also pineapple and Ranie. None of these, unfortunately, were available at the recent trial.

Plants producing Vegetable Fibre.

Sansevieria reynanica, the Maha Neyande of the Singhalese, produces a very strong fibre, and is much used by the natives as a cordage plant.

From experiments made in India it appears "that it was not equal in strength to the Europe or Manilla hemp, but that it seemed to take hot tar as well as the latter, and would answer the like purposes generally as those for which the Europe or Manilla cordage is used." In India it has been manufactured into cloth, with threads woven by the hand of fishermen.

2. The fibre of Sanseivera guineensis is long, white, and strong, and may be applied to the manufacture of cloth, besides cordage, for which it is commonly used by the natives. By proper cultivation I think it may be rendered less wiry.* The natives separate the fibre by scraping the succulent leaves on the edge of a mammothie, by which rude process a great deal of the fibre is destroyed; the other mode consists in macerating, which spoils the fibre, rendering it of a dark colour and less strong.

This plant appears to me to be naturalised in Ceylon from Africa, its native country, and hence the confusion between it and the S. zeylanica, the Neyande of the Singhalese and the Marool of the Tamils. In fact the former cannot have any native name from the circumstance of its being an exotic, but from the resemblance the plants bear to one another they have improperly been called by the same native names.

It is found especially near salt water marshes in the District of Putlam. It will be known that in other instances when an exotic has the same external appearances with an indigenous plant, they only add the word Rata (foreign) to the name of the native plant, to coin a name for the foreigner. Thus the Datura stramonium is called Rata attana from the Attana Datura fastuosa.

3. The next specimen of fibre is produced from a malvaceous plant resembling the Rosella, and called Hibiscus cannabinus, the Ambalpala of the Singhalese and the Pullichekere of the Tamils, so called from their possessing a slight degree of acidity. The fibre is of an excellent quality. The seeds of this plant are sown, for a mixed crop, with Coraccan (Eleusine coracana) in the Four and Seven Corles. The plants are cut down for the fibre after it has blossomed, the people not being aware that plants cut down before the flowers or fruit appear give the strongest fibre. It is an annual, slightly armed, leaves palmate. The fibre from this plant is separated by first steeping the sticks, tied together in bundles, for seven days, and then beating it out from the bark.

4. Another kind is the well-known Hemp (Crotalaria juncea) collected from the Chilaw District. At a place called Topu near Negombo, and in the Galle and Matara Districts, a fibre of a much better quality may be obtained. I have seen quantities of it exported to the Coast from Calpentyne. In Ceylon it is chiefly used for making fishing nets.

5. A large apocynous climber, Ichnocarpus, sp., called in Singhalese Garande Wel, yields a remarkably strong and durable fibre, though somewhat short, owing to the internodes being near one another. It is a very milky plant.

6. From the bark of the young shoots of the Calotropis gigantea (Sing. Waragah, Tamil Arekky maram) a strong silky flax is obtained. This is an annual plant.

7. The American Aloe, Agave americana, has been naturalised here, and is, I believe, commonly used for hedges. In Mexico, the products of this plant are applied to many useful purposes. The roots and leaves afford very durable and strong fibre or flax, which is separated by bruising and steeping them in water. Paper is also made from the fibres of the leaves. The juice of the leaves, after evaporation, is used as soap; and a vinous beverage is also made from it.

8. The fibre of the Pine apple leaves, Bromelia anana, is very strong and silky.

9. The fibres of the Musa trogloditarum, from which the Manilla rope is manufactured, is a variety of this species, called in Singhalese Atte Nawari Kesal.

10. The Sack tree of Ceylon is called in Singhalese Rhete Gaha. It is a very remarkable forest tree growing in the Districts of Badulla and Ouvah. By an ingenious though simple process the natives prepare from the bark of this tree materials for very strong and elastic sacks for carrying paddy, &c. The trees selected for the purpose are from $\frac{3}{4}$ to 1 foot in diameter. Larger ones, sometimes measuring as much as $4\frac{1}{2}$ feet and more in diameter, are not so suitable. The natives know by experience how to avoid aged trunks, which can be thus scientifically accounted for. In exogenous trees, by the increase of the stem from within outwards, the bark diminishes in thickness by exfoliation, or dies away and opens in fissures, &c., and is consequently not available for sack making. When a tree has been fixed upon, the stem is cut down and divided into junks of the size required, and these having been firmly placed in the ground, the bark is well beaten with a stone or club until the parenchymatous parts, or what is commonly called the corticle, comes off, leaving the liber or inner bark attached to the wood, which is then entirely separated from it by simply drawing it out with the hand. The bark thus obtained is of a fibrous structure, remarkably tough, presenting the appearance of a woven fabric like that of a stocking. This is next sewn into sacks and filled with sand, and dried in the sun to expand. These sacks, I have been assured by a native Kandyan, are so durable as to last 10 or 12 years. They are generally kept hung in the smoke until required for use. Another mode of separating the inner bark is by a process nearly similar, only the tree is not felled, but incisions are made in the stem, one above and one below, a space being left between according to the size that may be wanted. After the part of the bark to be removed has been well beaten as before, two lateral incisions are made, and the fibrous or inner bark is removed in long strips and sewn together into sacks. Thus, the important physiological function of the bark itself is still performed uninterruptedly by horizontal communications, that is, by means of what is called medullary rays or silver grain, extending from the centre of the stem into the bark.

This tree is interesting in regard to its vegetable structure, affording an instance of the useful purposes to which the liber or endophlæum may be applied; while its botanical characters involve the consideration of the affinity existing between two Natural Orders, namely, Artocarpeæ and Urticeæ. Its habit is that of an Artocarpeæ; but in some of its features it is allied to the Urticeæ. Indeed it is at first sight like the Upas tree. Can it be a species of Antiaris?

In Western India, a tree of a similar kind is found; but ours is of a different species, and it is proposed to name it Antiaris tenacissima, from the strength and durability of its fibre.

I much regret that my endeavours to obtain flowering specimens have hitherto been unsuccessful. I can only therefore state its botanical characters in general terms.

* "The fibre you have kindly sent me is a beautiful article, and if it could be dressed in some way to make it less wiry, it might prove valuable for the manufacture of cloth, &c. G. H. K. T.," in letter to the writer.

A very lofty tree attaining to the height of 100 feet, and of slow growth. Root above ground at the base of the stem. Stem, straight, terete. Branches ascending, lateral, and crowned at the top, abounding in milky juice. Leaves oblong, acuminate, covered with a brownish down below, scabrous above like the leaf of a fig, articulated, alternate, most entire, with a little tendency to become crenulate, or coriaceous, 4 to 6½ inches in length from base to apex, and 1¾ to 2¾ inches in breadth. Petiole very short, ¼ of an inch. Stipules deciduous. Inflorescence not seen. Fruit, a drupe, in size and shape like a marble. Seed, one. The pericarp is greedily devoured by bats; they never touch the seed.*

A species of Urtica, according to Moon's Catalogue U. verrucosa, M., and a species of Abelmoschus produce strong fibre of great length, likely to prove useful. These plants and the fibre they yield require further examination.

* According to Dr. Nimmo of Bombay, the species he has described belongs to a new genus of Artocarpæ, which is called by him Lepurandra, and the species, L. saacidora, N. It is also stated by him that "the nuts are intensely bitter, and contain an azotized principle, which may prove an active medicinal agent. N." The nuts of the Ceylon species are also bitter.
