MINUTE.

The following Draft of a proposed Ordinance is published for general information:—

An Ordinance to amend "The Criminal Procedure Code, 1898."

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend "The Criminal Procedure Code, 1898," in certain particulars: Be it therefore enacted by the Governor of Ceylon, by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council thereof, as follows:

Short title.

- 1 This Ordinance may be cited as "The Criminal Procedure Code (Amendment) Ordinance, No. of 1912."
- 2 The following chapter shall be embodied in the principal Ordinance as chapter XII., in lieu of the chapter substituted for chapter XII. by Ordinance No. 37 of 1908:

CHAPTER XII.

Investigation of Offences.

Information in cognizable cases.

120. (1) Every information relating to the commission of a cognizable offence, if given orally to an officer in charge of a police station, shall be reduced to writing by him or under his direction and be read over to the informant; and every such information, whether given in writing or reduced to writing as aforesaid, shall be signed by the person giving it, and the substance thereof shall be entered in a book to be kept by such officer in such form as the Governor may prescribe in that behalf.

(2) Any officer in charge of a police station may, without any special order in that behalf, investigate any cognizable offence.

Information in non-cognizable cases.

121. (1) When information is given to an officer in charge of a police station of the commission within the limits of such station of a non-cognizable offence, he shall enter in a book to be kept as aforesaid the substance of such information and refer the informant to the Magistrate.

Investigation into non-cognizable cases.

(2) No police officer shall investigate a non-cognizable case without the order of a Magistrate or a Justice of the Peace.

(3) Any police officer receiving such order may exercise the same powers in respect of the investigation (except the power to arrest without warrant), as an officer in charge of a police station may exercise in a cognizable case.

Special powers of police officers in special areas.

122. Notwithstanding anything in the two last preceding sections, the Governor may, by notification in the "Government Gazette," declare that within any area named in the notification officers in charge of police stations shall have power to investigate non-cognizable offences; and in any such case such officer within such area shall have the same powers with regard to the investigation of non-cognizable offences as under this Code he has with regard to cognizable cases.

Procedure where cognizable offence suspected.

123. (1) If, from information received or otherwise, an officer in charge of a police station has reason to suspect the commission of an offence which he is empowered to investigate, he shall forthwith send a report of the same to the Magistrate having jurisdiction in respect of such offence, and shall proceed in person, or shall depute one of his subordinate officers to proceed to the spot, to investigate the facts and circumstances of the case, and to take such measures as may be necessary for the discovery and arrest of the offender.

Provided as follows :

Where local investigation dispensed with.

(a) Where any information as to the commission of any such offence is given against any person by name and the case is not of a serious nature, the officer in charge of a police station need not proceed in person or depute a subordinate officer to make an investigation on the spot ;

Where police officer in charge sees no sufficient ground for investigation.

(b) If it appears to the officer in charge of a police station that there is no sufficient ground for entering on an investigation, he shall not investigate the case.

(2) In each of the cases mentioned in clauses (a) and (b) of the proviso to the last preceding sub-section, the officer in charge of the police station shall state in his said report his reasons for not fully complying with the requirements of that sub-section.

(3) Such Magistrate, on receiving such report, may direct an investigation, or, if he thinks fit, at once proceed, or, subject to the provisions of section 153, depute any Unofficial Police Magistrate to proceed to hold an inquiry, or otherwise to dispose of the case in manner provided in this Code.

Powers of police officer.

124. (1) Any police officer making an investigation under this chapter shall have power—

(a) To require the attendance before him of any person whom he has reason to believe to be acquainted with the circumstances of the case, and if necessary to detain such person till the conclusion of the investigation ;

(b) To examine orally any such person.

(2) Every such person shall be bound to attend as aforesaid and to answer truly all questions relating to the case put to him by such officer, other than questions the answer to which would have a tendency to expose him to a criminal charge or to a penalty or forfeiture.

Statements to police not to be signed or admitted in evidence.

125. (1) Every statement made by any person to a police officer in the course of an investigation under this chapter shall, if taken down in writing, be signed by the person making it, but such writing shall not be used as evidence, except for the following purposes, that is to say :

- (a) To impeach the credit of the person making it ;
- (b) To refresh the memory of the person to whom it was made ;
- (c) To corroborate the evidence of the person making it under section 157 of the Evidence Ordinance ;
- (d) To prove the cause of the death or the circumstances of the transaction which resulted in the death of the person making it under section 32 (1) of the Evidence Ordinance ;
- (e) To prove a charge under section 180 of the Penal Code.

(2) Every criminal court may require the production of any such statement, and may use such statement to aid it in the inquiry or trial, but neither the accused nor his agents shall be entitled to call for any such statement, nor shall he or they be entitled to see it merely because it is referred to by the court.

No inducement to be offered.

126. (1) No police officer shall offer or make, or cause to be offered or made, any inducement, threat, or promise to any accused or suspected person to induce him to make any statement.

(2) But no police officer or other person shall prevent, by any caution or otherwise, any person from making, in the course of any investigation under this chapter, any statement which he may be disposed to make of his own free will.

Search by police officer.

127. (1) Whenever an officer in charge of a police station, or a police officer making an investigation, considers that the production of any document or thing is necessary to the conduct of an investigation into any offence which he is authorized to investigate, and there is reason to believe that a person to whom a summons or order under section 66 has been or might be issued will not or would not produce such document or thing according to the directions of the summons or order, or when such document or thing is not known to be in the possession of any person, such officer may search or cause search to be made for the same in any place within the limits of the station of which he is in charge, or to which he is attached.

(2) Such officer shall, if practicable, conduct the search in person.

(3) If he is unable to conduct the search in person, and there is no other person competent to make the search present at the time, he may require any peace officer to make the search, and he shall deliver to such peace officer an order in writing, specifying the document or thing for which search is to be made, and the place to be searched ; and such peace officer may thereupon search for such thing in such place.

When officer in charge of police station may require another to issue search warrant.

(4) Any officer in charge of a police station may require an officer in charge of another police station, whether in the same or a different district, to cause a search to be made in any place, in any case in which the former officer might cause search to be made within the limits of his own station. Such officer, on being so required, shall proceed according to the provisions of this section, and shall forward the thing found, if any, to the officer at whose request the search was made.

(5) The provisions of this Code as to search warrants shall, so far as may be, apply to a search made under this section.

Remand.

128. (1) Whenever it appears that any investigation under this chapter in any case in which an accused person is in custody cannot be completed within the period of twenty-four hours fixed by section 37, and there are grounds for believing that the accusation or information is well-founded, the officer in charge of the police station shall forthwith transmit to the nearest Magistrate (whether such Magistrate has jurisdiction in the matter or not) a report requesting a remand, and shall at the same time forward the accused to such Magistrate.

(2) The Magistrate to whom an accused person is forwarded under this section may from time to time authorize the detention of the accused in such custody as such Magistrate thinks fit for a term not exceeding fourteen days in the whole.

(3) If the Magistrate considers further detention unnecessary, he may, if he is a Magistrate having jurisdiction in the matter, direct the accused to be released on bail or to be discharged, or, if he has not such jurisdiction, he may order the accused to be forwarded to the Magistrate having jurisdiction in the matter.

(4) A Magistrate authorizing under this section detention in the custody of the police shall record his reasons for so doing.

(5) If such order is given by a Magistrate not having jurisdiction in the matter, he shall forward a copy of his order with his reasons for making it to the Police Magistrate having jurisdiction in the matter.

Release of accused when evidence deficient.

129. If, upon holding an investigation under this chapter, or receiving a report from a subordinate officer to whom he shall have deputed such investigation, it appears to the officer in charge of the police station that there is not sufficient evidence or reasonable ground of suspicion to justify the forwarding of the accused to a Magistrate, such officer shall, if such person is in custody, release him on his executing a bond, with or without sureties, as such officer may direct, to appear, if and when so required before a Magistrate having jurisdiction in the matter.

Case to be sent to Magistrate when evidence is sufficient.

130. (1) If, upon an investigation under this chapter, it appears to the officer in charge of the police station that there is sufficient evidence or reasonable ground as aforesaid, such officer shall forward the accused under custody to the Magistrate having jurisdiction in the matter, or, if the offence is bailable and the accused is able to give security, shall take security from him for his appearance before such Magistrate on a day fixed and for his attendance from day to day before such Magistrate until otherwise directed.

(2) If the officer in charge of a police station forwards an accused person to a Magistrate, or takes security for his appearance before such Magistrate under this section, he shall send to such Magistrate any weapon or other article which it may be necessary to produce before him, and shall require the complainant (if any) and so many of the persons who appear to such officer to be acquainted with the circumstances of the case as he may think necessary to execute a bond to appear before the Magistrate as thereby directed, and prosecute or give evidence (as the case may be) in the matter of the charge against the accused.

Recusant complainant or witness may be forwarded in custody.

Provided that, if any complainant or witness refuses to attend or to execute a bond as directed, the officer in charge of the police station may forward him in custody to the Magistrate, who may detain him in custody until he executes such bond, or until the hearing of the case is completed.

Diary

131. (1) Every police officer making an investigation under this chapter shall day by day enter his proceedings in the investigation in a diary, setting forth the time at which the information reached him, the time at which he began and closed his investigation, the place or places visited by him, and a statement of the circumstances ascertained through his investigation.

(2) Any criminal court may send for the police diaries of a case under inquiry or trial in such court, and may use such diaries, not as evidence in the case, but to aid it in such inquiry or trial. Neither the accused nor his agents shall be entitled to call for such diaries, nor shall he or they be entitled to see them merely because they are referred to by the court; but if they are used by the police officer who made them to refresh his memory, or if the court uses them for the purpose of contradicting such police officer, the provisions of the Evidence Ordinance, sections 145 (2), 161, as the case may be, shall apply.

Report of police officer.

132. (1) Every investigation under this chapter shall be completed without unnecessary delay, and as soon as it is completed the officer in charge of the police station shall forward to the Magistrate having jurisdiction in the matter a report in the prescribed form.

(2) Whenever it appears from a report forwarded under this section that the accused has been released on his bond, the Magistrate shall make such order for the discharge of such bond or otherwise as he thinks fit.

3 The following chapter shall be added to the principal Ordinance immediately after chapter XII.:

CHAPTER XII. A.

By His Excellency's command,

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Colombo, August 3, 1912.

HUGH CLIFFORD,
Colonial Secretary.

Statement of Objects and Reasons.

The object of this Ordinance is to make various incidental amendments in the Criminal Procedure Code.

2. The most important provision is the re-casting of chapter XII, effected by the second clause. This chapter in the Indian Criminal Procedure Code is the chapter which regulates the investigations of offences by the police. It is by this chapter that the daily operations of the police in this matter are strictly governed. At the time of the first "Ceylon Criminal Procedure Code, 1883," Ceylon had only a very limited system of regular police, and it was thought not desirable to include the corresponding chapter of the Indian Code of 1882. In 1896, however, an adapted form of this chapter of the Indian Code was introduced into our Statute Book, not for the guidance of the police, but for the guidance of the "inquirers," first regularly established by the Ordinance for the Suppression of Crime, No. 15 of 1896, and in 1898 was embodied in our Criminal Procedure Code for the same purpose.

3. In the meantime the Ceylon Police Force had been regularly organized on a more extensive basis, and the system of station house officers had been established, and these officers became available for the same class of work that had been done by inquirers. In 1908 accordingly this "Inquirer's Code" was extended to station house officers. The result is that what was originally intended as a guide to police officers is made a guide for inquirers, with incidental effects on police officers.

4. In view of the development of the Ceylon Police Force, and the improvements that have in recent times been introduced into this chapter of the Indian Code in India, it has been thought desirable to restore this chapter to its true purpose, namely, the regulation of the action of the police, and to apply its provisions incidentally to inquirers, with the necessary modifications, in a subsequent chapter.

5. The main principle of the chapter is that (except in special centres where they are under the control of responsible officers, section 122) the police are not to concern themselves with petty offences, but are to confine their investigations to real crime. The Code draws a distinction between offences in which the immediate arrest of the offender without warrant is called for (cognizable offences), and offences in respect of which a warrant must be applied for (non-cognizable offences). A police officer must not take up the investigation of an offence of the latter character without the express authorization of a Magistrate or Justice of the Peace (a term which includes an Assistant Superintendent of Police). Each step of the police officer's investigation is to be reported to the Magistrate and is to be recorded in a diary. He is not bound (as under the present chapter XII.) to take down the statements of the persons he examines in writing. The case may be so simple that he may be able to investigate it rapidly, and take it straight to the Police Court.

6. The operations of inquirers are dealt with in a supplemental chapter, which applies the principles of chapter XII. with certain prescribed modifications. An inquirer unlike a police officer is bound to take down in writing the statements of all persons he examines.

7. Section 4 exempts the Sanitary Inspectors of the Municipality of Colombo from jury service.

8. Section 5 gives the obligation of law to a long standing practice, which is all but universal, but is at present only based upon a circular not included in "General Orders."

9. The object of section 6 is put upon a more regular footing the present system of identification of old offenders by finger prints. It establishes two principles:—

- (a) That the certificate that a man with particular finger prints was convicted of a particular offence must be furnished by a special officer, himself present at the conviction and attached to the court for the purpose;
- (b) That the identification of the finger prints of the criminal whom it is sought to identify with the criminal previously convicted shall be made by a special expert, who is placed in the same position as a Government Analyst.

10. The object of section 7 is to enable the Attorney-General to delegate to the Solicitor-General his powers of entering a nolle prosequi and pardoning an accomplice. This is necessitated by the enlargement of the direct power of the Solicitor-General under the re-organization of the Attorney-General's Department.

MINUTE.

The following Draft of a proposed Ordinance is published for general information:—

An Ordinance to amend "The Indian Coolies Ordinance, 1909."

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend "The Indian Coolies Ordinance, 1909": Be it therefore enacted by the Governor of Ceylon, by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council thereof, as follows:

Short title.

1 This Ordinance may be cited as "The Indian Coolies (Amendment) Ordinance, 1911," and shall be read and construed as one with Ordinance No. 13 of 1889, Ordinance No. 7 of 1890, and "The Indian Coolies Ordinance, 1909."

Substituted definition for the word "labourer."

2 For the definition of the word "labourer," which by section 2 of "The Indian Coolies Ordinance, 1909," was substituted for the definition in section 3 of Ordinance No. 13 of 1889, the following definition shall be substituted:

"Labourer" means any person of the classes commonly known as "Indian coolies" and "Tulicans" employed or seeking to be employed on any estate for the purpose of the industry carried on upon the estate, and, unless the context otherwise requires, includes a kangany and a subordinate kangany.

Provided that nothing in this definition shall preclude a Superintendent from using any labourer employed upon his estate for the purposes of domestic labour.

By His Excellency's command,

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Colombo, August 15, 1912.

HUGH CLIFFORD,
Colonial Secretary.

Statement of Objects and Reasons.

THE object of this Ordinance is to correct a flaw which has been discovered in the definition of "labourer" in "The Indian Coolies Ordinance, 1909."

2. A "labourer" is, according to the definition, a person "whose name is borne on any register. This definition is obviously inapplicable to many of the sections of the Ordinance, and gives an opening to irregularities and frauds. Thus, if an employer employs an Indian cooly without registering him, it is no offence for another employer to engage such a cooly without a discharge ticket. Similarly, the coolies at the Ragama Depot, though not yet registered on any estate, are referred to as "labourers." So also the provisions of section 26 have been rendered impossible of application by this definition. A Magistrate by the section is empowered to issue certificates to "labourers," who, inter alia, have not been employed for thirty-six months. But, inasmuch as estate registers only came into existence after October 1, 1909, and as no person is a "labourer" unless he is entered on a register, labourers who have been unemployed for thirty-six months do not at present exist in Ceylon.

3. The definition has been amended accordingly, and a proviso has been added which will make it clear that an estate labourer does not cease to be a labourer by being detached for domestic service.

Interpretation Act, 1889, section 31.

By His Excellency's command,

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Colombo, August 3, 1912.

HUGH CLIFFORD,
Colonial Secretary.

Statement of Objects and Reasons.

THE primary object of this Ordinance is to provide convenient formulas for designating Members of the Legislative Council in Ordinances, Proclamations, and other public notices. The provision is introduced in accordance with the direction of the Secretary of State, in consequence of the use of such a formula in Ordinance No. 2 of 1911.

2. Advantage has been taken of the opportunity to add a number of useful and convenient new provisions to the Interpretation Ordinance.

3. New section 3 B is taken from the English Interpretation Act.

4. New section 4 is also taken from the English Interpretation Act, and is a more generalized form than our existing section 4, the application of which is limited to the Governor.

5. The object of new section 4 A is to dispense with a formula which now occurs in every amending Ordinance.

6. The object of new section 8 A is to make it clear that where special powers of trying an offence summarily are conferred upon a Magistrate, he shall have power to inflict the full penalty applicable to the offence, unless a contrary intention appears. The clause extends to Ordinances passed during the present session of the Legislature, because in one of these Ordinances (the Public Performances Ordinance, No. 7 of 1912) this intention is not expressed with sufficient clearness, and because other Ordinances have been drafted in anticipation of the passing of this clause.

7. The object of the new sub-section comprised in section 6 is to make it clear that power to appoint an officer includes power to dismiss, suspend, or reinstate him. Attention has been drawn to the necessity of such a provision by certain provisions of the new Excise Ordinance.

8. The object of sections 7 and 8 is to make it clear that power to regulate implies power to license, and also to strengthen the words which give the force of law to rules, &c., duly promulgated.

9. Section 9 aims at shortening the language of Ordinances by the elimination of a formula now generally employed with regard to rule-making powers.

10. New section 11 A makes it clear that any Proclamation, Order, or Notification may be amended, varied, rescinded, or revoked by the authority making it.

11. New section 11 B embodies a provision of the English Interpretation Act, which declares that words and expressions used in subordinate legislation shall have the same meaning as any enactment authorizing such legislation.

The following Draft of a proposed Ordinance is published for general information. This Bill will not be introduced into Council until next year :—

An Ordinance to amend "The Vehicles Ordinance, 1901."

- Preamble. WHEREAS it is expedient to amend "The Vehicles Ordinance, 1901," hereinafter referred to as "the principal Ordinance": Be it therefore enacted by the Governor of Ceylon, by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council thereof, as follows :
- Short title. 1 This Ordinance may be cited for all purposes as "The Vehicles (Amendment) Ordinance, No. of 1912."
- Construction. 2 The principal Ordinance and this Ordinance shall be read and construed as one Ordinance, and may be cited for all purposes as "The Vehicles Ordinances, 1901 and 1912."
- Commencement of Ordinance. 3 This Ordinance shall come into force on such date as the Governor may, by Proclamation in the "Government Gazette," appoint.
- Addition of new sub-section. 4 The following sub-section shall be added to section 38 of the principal Ordinance :
- (2) In the case of carts and horse-drawn vehicles such lights shall be—
- (a) So constructed as to throw a white light in the direction in which the vehicle is proceeding and a red light in the opposite direction ;
- (b) So placed, one on either side of the vehicle, as to show the width of the vehicle ;
- (c) Lighted and kept alight so as to afford adequate means of signalling the movement and position of the vehicle.

By His Excellency's command,

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Colombo, August 9, 1912.

HUGH CLIFFORD,
Colonial Secretary.

Statement of Objects and Reasons.

THE object of this amending Ordinance is to diminish the risk of collisions between motors and vehicles drawn by bullocks or horses when travelling at night.

2. At present a bullock cart is only compelled to carry one light, and this is usually so slung that it is more visible in the rear than in front. A horse-drawn vehicle must carry two lights, but is under no obligation to throw any illumination to the rear, so that such a vehicle is often invisible to an approaching motor.

3. The Ordinance accordingly provides that such vehicles shall carry two lights, each throwing a white light in front and a red light behind.

4. As it is recognized that the Ordinance involves the disturbance of an established custom, and that the change cannot be introduced at short notice, a clause is inserted providing its being brought into operation on a day fixed by the Governor.
