DRAFT ORDINANCES.

MINUTE.

The following Draft of a proposed Ordinance is published for general information :—

An Ordinance to declare the Rights of Mortgagees in certain Cases.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to declare the rights of mortgagees under mortgages to secure future, contingent, or floating liabilities : Be it therefore declared and enacted by the Governor of Ceylon, by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council thereof, as follows :

Short title.

1 This Ordinance may be cited as "The Mortgage Ordinance, No. of 1918."

Effect of mortgages to secure future, &c., liability as against subsequent registered mortgages, &c.

2 (1) In the following cases, that is to say :

- (a) Where a mortgage of immovable property is given to secure future advances (whether with or without any previous advances or other liability) ;
- (b) Where such a mortgage is given to secure the floating balance from time to time due upon any account ;
- (c) Where such a mortgage is given to secure a contingent liability arising out of a particular relationship (not being a liability of the nature of those referred to in either of the last two preceding paragraphs) ;

such mortgage shall be effective to the full extent of the charge intended to be created thereby as against any person claiming under any subsequent mortgage or transfer, notwithstanding that no money may have been actually due at the date of such subsequent mortgage or transfer in respect of the liability intended to be secured, and irrespective of the actual amount so due on such date.

(2) Provided that in any case in which, after the commencement of this Ordinance, any mortgage is executed of the character in paragraph (a) or paragraph (b) of the last preceding sub-section mentioned, and notice in writing is served upon the mortgagee of any advance made or of any sum due under any subsequently executed mortgage or of any subsequent transfer, such first-mentioned mortgage shall only be effective as against any person claiming under such subsequent mortgage or transfer for the purpose of securing any advance made or sum due (together with all interest due or to become due in respect thereof) up to the date of the receipt of such notice.

(3) For the purposes of this section the expression "transfer" includes any instrument creating any interest in immovable property.

(4) Nothing herein contained shall be deemed to affect the mutual rights of the parties in the case of K. P. S. T. Sithambaram Chetty, of Sea street, Colombo, v. Bentotage David Fernando and Bentotage Bastian Fernando, both of Wellawatta, D. C. Colombo, case No. 46,630, or in any other case in which the decision of the Supreme Court in the said case shall have been followed prior to the commencement of this Ordinance, but, subject to the provisions of sub-section (2) hereof, this Ordinance shall apply to all mortgages or transfers whether executed before or after the commencement of this Ordinance.

Priorities of law of registration unaffected.

3 Nothing contained in this Ordinance shall be deemed to affect the priorities attaching to instruments as the result of registration under the law for the time being regulating the registration of instruments affecting immovable property.

By His Excellency's command,

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Colombo, March 18, 1918.

R. E. STUBBS,
Colonial Secretary.

Statement of Objects and Reasons.

THE object of this Ordinance is to deal with the situation created by the judgment of the Supreme Court in the case of K. P. S. T. Sithambaram Chetty, of Sea street, Colombo, v. Bentotage David Fernando and Bentotage Bastian Fernando, both of Wellawatta, D. C. Colombo, case No. 46,630, decided on March 5, 1918. That case in effect decided that a mortgagor, who has mortgaged his land to secure future advances, is free to mortgage it again, or to sell it altogether, subject only to such amount as may be due on the original mortgage at the date of the second mortgage or sale, and that any further advances made by the original mortgagee are postponed to any advances made by the subsequent mortgagee, and do not affect the subsequent purchaser, even though the original mortgagee at the time when he made the advances had no notice of such subsequent mortgage or sale.

2. While it is recognized that the legal principles of this decision are unimpeachable, there is, nevertheless, a unanimous feeling that the decision is not in accordance with the law as hitherto understood in commercial and legal circles, and, in view of what appears to have been a universal misapprehension of the law, it is thought desirable that immediate steps should be taken to declare the law on this point in the sense in which it has been hitherto understood.

3. The transactions affected by the decision fall under three heads, namely :—

- (a) Mortgages given to secure future advances ;
- (b) Mortgages given to secure the floating balance on current accounts ;
- (c) Mortgages given to secure contingent liabilities, such as those incurred by shroffs, or such as those which are covered by the ordinary fidelity bond.

4. With regard to future transactions, it is felt that mortgages of class (c) should be effective as against any subsequent mortgage or transfer to the full extent of the charge intended to be created thereby. A difficulty arises, however, with regard to mortgages of classes (a) and (b). It appears that both under the Roman-Dutch law and under the English law a mortgagor, who has already mortgaged his property to secure future advances or future debts, is free to deal with his property by making a further mortgage of it or transferring it altogether, subject to any advances that may have been actually made, or to any sum that may be actually due under the prior mortgage. In English law equity has required that this right shall be subject to notice having been duly given to the first mortgagee. The policy of the English law has been to insist that the mortgagor shall not be bound to the mortgagee to any extent beyond what is necessary to secure the mortgagee in respect of any money which he has actually advanced, or which may be actually due to him. It is felt that in any legislation on the subject with regard to future transactions this equitable principle should be observed. The effect of the Ordinance, therefore, so far as it relates to such transactions, is to put the law of the Colony on the same footing as the law of England.

5. In view of the considerations explained in paragraph 2, the Ordinance is retrospective. Its effect may be summed up as follows. With regard to mortgages to secure future advances or liabilities, the law as to future transactions is put upon the same footing as the law of England, and as to past transactions on the same footing as that previously understood; with regard to mortgages to secure contingent liabilities, both as to past and as to future transactions, the law is put upon the same footing as that previously understood.
