DRAFT ORDINANCES.

MINUTE.

The following Draft of a proposed Ordinance is published for general information:—

An Ordinance to amend "The Dog Registration Ordinance, 1901."

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend "The Dog Registration Ordinance, 1901": Be it therefore enacted by the Governor of Ceylon, by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council thereof, as follows:

Short title.

1 This Ordinance may be cited as "The Dog Registration (Amendment) Ordinance, No. of 1919."

2 Section 5 of the principal Ordinance is amended by striking out the words "or within the limits of the town of Nuwara Eliya" in lines 8 and 9 thereof and by inserting at the end of the section the following proviso:—

Provided further, that within the limits of the town of Nuwara Eliya the proper authority may charge an annual registration fee not exceeding five rupees.

By His Excellency's command,

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Colombo, October 22, 1919.

GRAEME THOMSON,
Colonial Secretary.

Statement of Objects and Reasons.

COMPLAINTS have been made of the nuisance caused to inhabitants of the town of Nuwara Eliya by the number of dogs whose owners neglect to feed or care for them; these dogs become sickly and mangy, and are specially liable to contract rabies.

The reason for raising the registration fee on dogs is that it is believed that if this is done persons in Nuwara Eliya will not become owners of dogs, unless they are sufficiently interested in them to feed them and look after them properly.

It will be observed that it is not proposed by this amendment to increase the registration fee on dogs elsewhere than in Nuwara Eliya.

Attorney-General's Chambers,
Colombo, October 3, 1919.

H. C. GOLLAN,
Attorney-General.

By His Excellency's command,

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Colombo, November 4, 1919.

GRAEME THOMSON,
Colonial Secretary.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

IT may be of assistance if, before the provisions of the Bill are dealt with, a short description of the more prominent features of the existing educational system is given.

The office of Director of Education, or Director of Public Instruction as it was first called, dates back to the year 1869. This officer was appointed as the result of a recommendation of a Committee of the Legislative Council to the effect that a Department of Public Instruction should be created, and that an officer, to be called the Director of Public Instruction, should be placed at its head.

No special legislation was passed dealing with this new Department, although in the existing Education Ordinances references are made to the Director of Education and to certain powers conferred upon him.

The cost of education, so far as it is borne by Government, is met out of the annual grants made by the Legislative Council, and the expenditure of the Department is controlled in the same way as that of any other Department of the Public Service.

At first there was nobody appointed to assist the Director in the performance of his duties, but in 1896 a Board of Education was created to advise him on such questions connected with the working of the voluntary schools receiving aid from the public revenue as he might wish to take their advice upon.

It is felt that the time has come to re-organize the Department of Education, and this Bill has been prepared with that object.

I.—Department of Education.

Part I. of the Bill contains the provisions which deal with the statutory establishment of the Department, at the head of which is placed the Director of Education (section 3 of the Bill).

The officers of the Department are enumerated in section 4 of the Bill, and in section 5 the principal duties of the Director are laid down.

II.—Board of Education.

Part II. of the Bill deals with the constitution and work of the Board of Education. It is to be composed of not less than sixteen and not more than twenty members nominated by the Governor, of whom the Director and Assistant Director of Education and two Unofficial Members of the Legislative Council are to be four (section 6 of the Bill).

The Director is to be Chairman (section 8), and the duties of the Board are not administrative or executive, but the Governor or Director may refer any matter for their advice.

But the most important function of the Board is the making of the code of regulations, which are to govern the educational system of the Colony, both secondary and elementary. Reference to section 10 of the Bill will at once show the wide terms in which the power to make regulations is given, a power which is, however, controlled by the requirement that all these regulations are to be submitted for the approval of the Legislature.

The terms of section 10 of the Bill have been made purposely wide, because it is not proposed to deal in detail in the Bill with education, but to follow the practice which generally prevails, and embody in the Bill only the necessary powers and a few principles which are to be unvaryingly applied.

It will be observed that section 11 lays it down that it shall be the duty of the Board to advise upon all educational matters referred to them, and confers upon them the power of making recommendations in connection with education even without reference. In this connection attention is called to section 5 (4) of the Bill, which empowers the Board to call on the Director for a report on any matter relative to education in the Colony.

III.—Religion in Schools.

Part III. illustrates the class of principle which is to be unvaryingly applied, and is therefore mentioned in the Bill. By section 13 no applicant is to be refused admission to an assisted school on account of religion, nationality, race, caste, or language; and by section 15 it is provided that attendance at, or abstention from, any religious observance is not to be made a condition of admission to any such school. With a view to enforcing this last provision, section 15 (2) lays down the rule that religious observances are to be practised, and religious instruction to be given at the beginning or end of the school day. Although the giving of religious instruction at a Government school by any teacher is forbidden, a minister of religion authorized by the Director may give religious instruction to children of his particular denomination at approved times.

IV.—Education Districts and Committees.

In addition to establishing a central controlling authority, the Bill in Part IV. thereof provides for Local Committees, which are to assist the central authority in working the educational system. Every Municipal town, and every District Council as defined in the Local Government Bill, which has been published with a view to introduction into the Legislature, is to be an education district; and for each district an Education District Committee is to be created. This Committee is to consist of not less than six or more than nine members, of whom not less than two are to be nominated by the Municipal or District Council within whose administrative limits the particular education district is contained, and the rest by the Governor (sections 17 and 18 of the Bill).

The Chairman is to be annually elected by the members of the Committee from amongst their own numbers (sections 19 and 20 of the Bill).

These Education Committees are to meet once at least in every two months, and the Chairman may at any time summon a meeting; and he is to issue such a summons on the requisition of any three members of the Committee (section 22 of the Bill).

The Education Committee may delegate any specified powers to a Village Committee, and both Education and the Village Committee are required to assist the Director in all matters relating to education in the respective districts or areas (sections 23 and 24 of the Bill).

But, in addition, Education Committees have the following powers conferred on them :—

- (a) For the making of regulations under section 25 of the Bill for the purposes set out in that section ; and
- (b) For the application of moneys at their disposal for the erection, maintenance, and repair of school buildings, playgrounds, &c., used in connection with Government schools primarily ; but with the approval of the Director in connection with assisted schools also.

V.—Estate Schools.

The estate school is the creation of Part V. of "The Rural Schools Ordinance, 1907," and Part V. of the Bill is closely modelled on Part V. of Ordinance No. 8 of 1907. But opportunity has been taken to make certain amendments.

In section 33 of the Bill a prohibition appears against the employment of children between six and ten years of age on estate work ; and by section 34 the duty is thrown upon a parent of causing every one of his children between the ages above mentioned to attend school.

VI.—General Provisions.

Part VI. of the Bill consists largely of machinery, but it may be well to call express attention to sections 38 and 39 of the Bill.

By section 38 all persons who desire to open a school or classes must, one month before doing so, give notice to the Director ; and by section 39 provision is made for the inspection of all schools.

VII.—Finance.

The subject of finance has been left to the last, because on the satisfactory solution of the difficulties in connection with it the success of any educational policy must depend. The amount provided for education must, in the last resort, depend on the financial capacity of the Colony ; but it is well to remember that, if the amount expended is insufficient and educational institutions are starved, a considerable amount of the money actually spent does not produce full results. The existing educational system of the Colony is financed as follows :—

- (i.) By grants expended through the Director.
- (ii.) By the allocation of a proportion of the amount received from the labour tax.
- (iii.) By the amount received in respect of fines imposed for breaches of the Education Ordinances and by-laws made thereunder.

It is considered that the time has come when the cost of education should be wholly paid out of general revenue. There is much to be said for the principle that the money spent on education should be provided out of local taxation, supplemented by a contribution from general revenue ; but its operation here in practice would be that in the poorest parts of the Colony, where progress in education is most largely called for, the amount available for expenditure in education would be least.

The procedure adopted in the Bill is that all public moneys spent on education should come out of the public chest, and that the amount thereof should be placed on the Estimates of the Legislative Council. The education of the people is a matter of general public concern, and the Government has, therefore, decided to ask the Legislative Council to supply the necessary funds to provide and maintain a satisfactory system from public revenue.
