A declaration under the Company's seal contained in or endorsed upon any of the documents mentioned in this Article and subscribed to by two or more of the Directors, or by one Director and the Secretary, to the effect that the Directors have power to borrow the amount which such document may represent, shall be conclusive evidence thereof in all questions between the Company and its creditors, and no such document containing such declaration shall, as regards the creditor, be void on the ground of its being granted in excess of the aforesaid borrowing power, unless it shall be proved that such creditor was aware that it was so granted.

NOTIFICATIONS UNDER "THE PATENTS ORDINANCE, 1906."

THE following specifications have been accepted:—

No. 1,861 of September 16, 1921.

Osman Shaw and William Frederick Roberts.

"Improvements in machines for fluting rollers of rubber washing machines and the like."

Abstract.—The applicants describe an improved machine for cutting helical grooves of contrary direction on a roller (thus forming a diamond pattern). The roller is constantly rotated in one direction, the saddle carrying the cutting tool is on a counter shaft and a helical flute on one hand is cut while the saddle travels in one direction: when this traverse is completed, the countershaft is automatically displaced axially to effect the reversal of its drive, and the saddle then travels in the opposite direction whereby a helical flute of the opposite hand is cut.

The claims are :—

1. A machine for cutting double helical grooves in which the roller rotates constantly in one direction whilst the saddle carrying the tool is traversed at a constant velocity until automatically reversed to cut helical flutes of constant angle and of any desired length, the helical flute of one hand being cut whilst the saddle is travelling in one direction and the helical flute of the other hand whilst the saddle is travelling in the reverse direction.
2. A machine as claimed in claim 1 in which the point of reversal is adjustable.
3. A machine as claimed in claim 1 in which a pair of tool slides are carried on the saddle adapted to be alternately brought into operation.
4. A machine for cutting double helical grooves constructed and arranged to operate substantially as described with reference to the accompanying drawings.

"Improvements in compositions for the manufacture of floor and road paving, roof covering, sheeting, fabrics for clothes and the like purposes."

Abstract.—The applicant states that a material for the purposes stated can be prepared by mixing uncoagulated fresh latex with materials such as chopped or ground hemp, sisel hemp, or coconut fibre, or sawdust, straw and the like, together with a dye if desired, and the mixture then coagulated and rolled.

The claims are :—

1. In compositions for the manufacture of floor and road paving, roof covering, sheeting, fabrics for clothes and the like purposes, fresh raw uncoagulated latex of the rubber or other latex-giving tree as one ingredient, and one or more of the hereinbefore described substances or the like, and an added dye when necessary, as the other ingredient or ingredients substantially in the proportions stated, intimately mixed with the said latex, and with each other when more than one of them is used, after a coagulant has been added to the said fresh raw latex but before coagulation has taken place.
2. In compositions for the manufacture of floor and road paving, roof covering, sheeting, fabrics for clothes and the like purposes, fresh raw uncoagulated latex and one or more of the substances hereinbefore described, and an added dye when required, as claimed in claim 1, intimately mixed and coagulated into a composite mass which is subsequently rolled and dried and trimmed in the hereinbefore described manner and sequence to form sheets or strips of the thickness suitable, for the purpose or purposes described.
3. Sheets or strips produced from a composition in which fresh raw uncoagulated latex of the rubber tree or other latex-giving tree is one ingredient, and one or more of the hereinbefore described substances, and an added dye when required, is the other ingredient or ingredients as claimed in claim 1, by the operations in due sequence of coagulating, rolling, and drying and trimming the composite mass as claimed in claim 2, and subsequently vulcanized if required, for the purpose or purposes described.

"Improvements in or relating to implements for removing portions of the bark of trees."

Abstract.—The applicant describes a form of tapping knife provided with a blade formed with a guard in front of the cutting edge of the blade, and in a different plane to that of the blade thereby regulating the depth of the cut. The outer end of the guard is arranged at an angle less than a right angle to enable a downwardly and inwardly inclined surface to be formed on the bottom wall of the cut.

The claims are :—

1. An implement for removing portions of the bark of trees, comprising a blade formed with a guard in front of or in advance of the cutting edge of the blade, the guard being disposed in a different plane to that of the said cutting edge, for the purpose specified.
2. An implement for removing portions of the bark of trees, comprising a blade constituted of an intermediate part and angular end parts, the intermediate part embodying a cutter portion and a guard disposed in a different plane to that of the cutting edge of the cutter portion, for the purpose specified.
3. An implement for removing portions of the bark of trees, comprising a blade having an intermediate part embodying a cutter portion and a guard disposed in parallel planes, the guard being in front of or in advance of the cutter portion, for the purpose specified.
4. An implement according to claim 1, 2, or 3, wherein the rear edge of the blade is formed with a cutting edge, for the purpose specified.
5. An implement according to any of the preceding claims, wherein the blade is provided with an outer end part disposed at less than a right angle to the guard, for the purpose specified.
6. An implement according to any of the preceding claims, wherein the blade is provided with an outer end part having inwardly inclined or bent front and rear portions, for the purposes set forth.
7. An implement according to any of the preceding claims, wherein the blade is connected with an angularly disposed relatively to a shaft or stem provided with a handle, for the purpose specified.
8. An implement according to claim 7, wherein the blade is detachably connected to the shaft or stem, for the purpose specified.
9. The implement for removing portions of the bark of trees, constructed substantially as herein described with reference to the accompanying drawings, for the purpose specified.
