The decision of such Judges when unanimous, or of the majority of them in case of any difference of opinion, or, if the case is heard by all the six Judges, the decision of the Chief Justice and any two other Judges in the event of their opinions being opposed to that of the other three Judges, or, if the case is heard by four Judges, the decision of the Chief Justice and any other Judge in the event of their opinions being opposed to that of the other two Judges, shall in all cases be deemed and taken to be the judgment of the Supreme Court.

By His Excellency's command,

E. B. ALEXANDER,

Colonial Secretary's Office, Acting Colonial Secretary.
Colombo, October 31, 1926.

Statement of Objects and Reasons.

SECTION 2 of this Ordinance amends section 8 of the Courts Ordinance, No. 1 of 1889, so as to enable a sixth Judge of the Supreme Court to be appointed.

2. Section 3 of this Ordinance amends section 54 A of the Courts Ordinance so that a " full court " will consist of six, five, or four Judges as may be ordered by the Chief Justice. The object of this provision is to obviate, where possible, the inconvenience to the public caused by taking a Judge away from assizes to attend a full court.
