MINUTE.

The following Draft of a proposed Ordinance is published for general information :—

An Ordinance to amend the Youthful Offenders Ordinance, 1886, so as to provide for the Establishment of Industrial Institutions.

BE it enacted by the Governor of Ceylon, by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council thereof, as follows :

1. This Ordinance may be cited as the Youthful Offenders (Industrial Institutions) Ordinance, No. of 19, and shall come into operation on such date as the Governor shall by proclamation in the " Government Gazette " appoint.

2. The following sections shall be added to the principal Ordinance :

52. (1) For the purpose of this Ordinance, the Governor in Executive Council may—

- (a) Establish or certify industrial institutions, that is to say, places in which young offenders, whilst detained, may be given such industrial training and other instructions and be subjected to such disciplinary and moral influences as will conduce to their reformation and the prevention of crime ;
- (b) Constitute visiting committees for the purpose of such institutions ;
- (c) Make regulations for the rule and management of such institutions and for the constitution of their visiting committees, and for the classification, treatment, employment, and control of persons sent to such institutions in pursuance of this Ordinance, and for the temporary detention of persons so sent and of persons whose cases are awaiting consideration.

Short title and commencement.

Addition of new sections to the principal Ordinance. Establishment of industrial institutions.

(2) Subject to any adaptations, alterations, and exceptions made by such regulations, the Prisons Ordinance, 1887 (including the penal provisions thereof), and the rules made thereunder shall apply in the case of every institution as if it were a prison.

Power of court to pass sentence of detention in industrial institution.

53. Where a male person is convicted before any criminal court, of an offence punishable with fine or imprisonment, and it appears to the court—

- (a) That the person is not less than sixteen nor more than twenty-one years of age ;
- (b) By reason of his criminal habits or tendencies or association with persons of bad character, it is expedient that he should be subject to detention for such term and under such instruction and discipline as appear most conducive to his reformation and the repression of crime ;

it shall be lawful for the court, in lieu of passing a sentence of fine or imprisonment, to pass a sentence of detention under penal discipline in an industrial institution established or certified under this Ordinance for a term of not less than one nor more than three years :

Provided that no such sentence shall be passed if the same is objected to by the parent or guardian of the offender, and provided that before passing such sentence the court shall consider any report or representations which may be made to it, by or on behalf of the visiting committee of such institution, as to the suitability of the case for treatment in the institution, and shall be satisfied that the character, state of health, and mental condition of the offender and the other circumstances of the case are such that the offender is likely to profit by such instruction and discipline as aforesaid.

Application to inmates of reformatory or certified industrial school.

54. Where a male youthful offender sentenced to detention in a reformatory or a certified industrial school shall escape from such school or commit any other offence against the law of the Colony, which would subject him either to imprisonment or to any further detention in any such school, the court may, subject to the proviso contained in the preceding section, if he is within the limits of age within which persons may be detained in an industrial institution, in lieu of sentencing him to imprisonment or to such further detention in such reformatory or industrial school, sentence him to be detained in an industrial institution for a term not less than one year or more than three years, and in every such case the sentence shall supersede the sentence of detention in the reformatory or industrial school.

Power to transfer from prison or reformatory or industrial school to industrial institution.

55. The Governor may, subject to the proviso contained in section 53, if satisfied that a male person undergoing imprisonment or detention in a reformatory or certified industrial school in consequence of a sentence passed either before or after the commencement of this Ordinance, being within the limits of age within which persons may be detained in an industrial institution, might with advantage be detained in such an institution, authorize his transfer from the prison or from the reformatory or industrial school in which he is detained to an industrial institution there to serve the whole or any part of the unexpired residue of his sentence, and whilst detained in, or placed out on licence from, such an institution, this Ordinance shall apply to him as if he had been originally sentenced to detention in an industrial institution.

Power to release on licence.

56. (1) The Governor may at any time after the expiration of six months from the commencement of the term of detention, if satisfied that there is a reasonable probability that the offender will abstain from crime and lead a useful and industrial life, by licence permit him to be discharged from the industrial institution on condition that he be placed under the supervision or authority of any committee or person named in the licence and approved by the Governor, who may be willing to take charge of the case.

(2) A licence under this section shall be in force until the term for which the offender shall be sentenced to detention has expired, unless sooner revoked or forfeited.

(3) A licence under this section may be revoked at any time, and where a licence has been revoked the person to whom the licence related shall return to the industrial institution, and if he fails to do so he may be apprehended without warrant and taken to the institution.

(4) If a person absent from an industrial institution under such a licence escapes from the supervision of the committee or person in whose charge he is placed, or commits any breach of the conditions contained in the licence, he shall be considered thereby to have forfeited his licence.

(5) A Police Magistrate having jurisdiction in the place where the industrial institution from which a person has been placed out on licence is situate, or where such a person is found, may on information that the licence has been forfeited under this section issue a warrant for his apprehension, and he shall, on apprehension, be brought before a Police Magistrate who, if satisfied that the licence has been forfeited, may order him to be remitted to the industrial institution, and may commit him to any prison within the jurisdiction of the court until he can conveniently be removed to the institution.

(6) The time during which a person is absent from an industrial institution under such a licence shall be treated as part of the time of his detention in the institution :

Provided that where that person fails to return to the institution on the licence being forfeited or revoked, the time which elapses after his failure so to return shall be excluded from the time during which he is to be detained in the institution.

(7) A licence under this section shall be in such form and under such conditions as may be authorized by the Governor.

57. (1) Every person sentenced to detention in an industrial institution shall, on the expiration of the term of his sentence, remain for a further period of six months under the supervision of a visiting committee.

Supervision
after expiration of term of sentence.

(2) A visiting committee may grant to any person under their supervision a licence in accordance with the last foregoing section, and may revoke any such licence and recall the person to an industrial institution, and any person so recalled may be detained in an industrial institution for a period not exceeding three months, and may at any time be again placed out on licence :

Provided that a person shall not be so recalled unless the visiting committee are of opinion that the recall is necessary for his protection, and they shall again place him out on licence as soon as possible and at latest within three months after the recall, and that a person so recalled shall not in any case be detained after the expiration of the said period of six months.

(3) A licence granted to a person before the expiration of his sentence of detention in an industrial institution shall, on his becoming liable to be under supervision in accordance with this section, continue in force after the expiration of that term, and may be revoked in manner provided by the last foregoing section.

(4) The Governor may at any time order that a person under supervision under this section shall cease to be under such supervision.

58. Where a person detained in an industrial institution is reported to the Governor by the visiting committee for such institution to be incorrigible, or to be exercising a bad influence on the other inmates of the institution, the Governor may commute the unexpired residue of the term of detention to such term of imprisonment of either description, as the Governor may determine, but in no case exceeding such unexpired residue.

Transfer of incorrigibles,
&c., to prison.

By His Excellency's command,
Colonial Secretary's Office, E. B. ALEXANDER,
Colombo, September 20, 1925. Acting Colonial Secretary.

Statement of Objects and Reasons.

THE authorities of the Salvation Army having approached the Government for financial assistance in founding a reformatory for youths on land which has been gifted to them for the purpose, the matter was placed before the Finance Committee for the consideration of a proposed vote. The Finance Committee postponed final consideration till legislation was prepared making it lawful to commit youths to such a reformatory "only with the consent of their parents and guardians."

2. This Bill, which is based upon Part I. of the Prévention of Crime Act, 1908, and which adds certain new sections to the Youthful Offenders Ordinance, 1886, has been designed to meet the requirements indicated.

3. The industrial institutions contemplated in this Bill are institutions in which young offenders may be given such industrial training and other instructions and be subjected to such disciplinary and moral influences as will conduce to their reformation and the prevention of crime.

4. Section 52 authorizes the Governor in Executive Council to establish or certify industrial institutions and to constitute visiting committees for the purpose of such institutions. It also authorizes the Governor in Executive Council to make regulations for the management of the institutions.

5. Under the Youthful Offenders Ordinance, 1886, the term "youthful offender" is limited to a person above the age of seven and under the age of sixteen years. Section 53 of this Bill enables a court in lieu of passing a sentence of fine or imprisonment on a male offender, who is not less than sixteen nor more than twenty-one years of age, to pass a sentence of detention in an industrial institution for a term not less than one year nor more than three years; provided that no such sentence shall be passed if the same is objected to by the parent or guardian of the offender.

6. Provision has been made for the transfer of offenders from a prison or reformatory or certified industrial school (within the meaning of the principal Ordinance) to an industrial institution.

7. Other provisions relate to release on licence and supervision after the expiration of sentences. They are self-explanatory and require no pointed comments.

THE object of this Bill is to give effect to certain alterations in the principal Ordinance recommended by the Public Service Mutual Provident Association and which are deemed to be necessary to its continued success.

The new provisions in sections 1, 3, and 5 of the principal Ordinance are intended to enable the Governor to appoint an officer other than the Assistant Controller of Revenue, should occasion arise, to be one of the officers of the association. Provision is also made for the remuneration of the President for his services subject to a maximum rate of Rs. 200 per mensem.

3. As the present arrangements under which the part-time services of the Chief Clerks of the Colonial Secretary's Office and Audit Office are obtained in the capacities of Secretary and Treasurer is inadequate and unsatisfactory, section 5 of this Bill provides for the selection by the committee of management of an officer of the Public Service with the approval of Government to act in the joint office of Secretary and Treasurer.

4. The other changes embodied in the Bill are not of importance. They are changes in organization which experience has shown to be desirable.
