"THE POLICE ORDINANCE, 1865."

JULY 26

RULES made by the Governor under section 62 of "The Police Ordinance, 1865."

By His Excellency's command,

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Colombo, July 13, 1928.A. G. M. FLETCHER,
Colonial Secretary.

RULES REFERRED TO.

1. All monies received on account of rewards will be sent to the Inspector-General to be paid into the Police Reward Fund. This order applies equally to rewards granted by private individuals and to half fines granted by Court to the Police Reward Fund.

2. Half fines granted by Court are sent to the Inspector-General by Police Magistrates monthly. If no half fines have been awarded Police Magistrates will send in "Nil" returns. A register will be kept in the Inspector-General's Office in which shall be shown the names of all Police Courts in the Island and the amounts sent each month by each Police Court.

3. Surplus balances, i.e., the amounts remaining over and above those required for the working expenses of the Police Reward Fund shall be invested, and, for this purpose, the under-mentioned Police Departmental Funds shall be merged together, the interest accruing from the investments being divided up proportionately between the three funds:— The Compassionate Fund, the Reward Fund, and the Recreation Fund. For the purposes of investing the surplus balances, the Colonial Treasurer has been appointed a Co-trustee with the Inspector-General.

4. Rewards shall be paid only on vouchers (Police Form 69).

5. Perfected vouchers will be returned to the Inspector-General's Office for file. Once a year all Police Reward Fund accounts in the Inspector-General's Office will be checked by a special audit appointed by Government. The cost of the audit and the allowance to the clerk in the Inspector-General's Office responsible for keeping the Police Reward Fund accounts and for auditing Provincial Reward Fund accounts shall be met from the Police Reward Fund.

6. Rewards from the Police Reward Fund may be paid only to Police Officers of and below the rank of Chief Inspector. Provided that special grants, which primarily benefit subordinate members of the Force, and an annual grant to the "Improvement to Grounds Fund" may be made by the Inspector-General, from the Police Reward Fund for purposes of recreation or for competition, e.g., Drill, Musketry, &c., or for an outing or entertainment for a body of Police who have done good work in connection with special duty and cannot be rewarded individually. A quarterly statement of such special grants shall be sent by the Inspector-General to Government.

7. Rewards may be granted to individual Police Officers for specially good work which falls within one or more of the following points:—

- (a) Specially good work in the detection of an offence while on beat or patrol or special duty.
- (b) Specially good work in the successful investigation of an offence or in obtaining information or finding of property which has led to the successful investigation of an offence or arrest of an absconder.
- (c) Bravery in effecting an arrest or in saving life from drowning.
- (d) Specially good work in preventing a large disturbance or in preserving order in a crowd, e.g., St. Anne's Festival, Esala Perahera, Kandy, &c.
- (e) Specially good work in putting out a fire.
- (f) Special zeal shown in the prevention of serious offences by energetic action in taking up minor offences.
- (g) For successful First Aid. (In this case a copy of the Medical Officer's report must always be attached to the reward form.)
- (h) Special good work which has necessitated an officer working long hours overtime, e.g., searching successfully for a single digit finger print amongst a collection of many thousand finger print slips.

In calculating the amount of reward, the following points will also be taken into consideration:—

- (i.) Whether the officer has been put to any expense, such as paying an informer, hiring a motor car to raid a gaming place, make a search of a distant house and pursue an absconder, &c. (If money is to be paid to an informer the amount to be paid shall be entered as a note on the reward form and on payment an under-receipt will be obtained from the informant.)
- (ii.) Whether he has had to work extra long hours or to walk long distances over difficult country or in bad weather.
- (iii.) Whether he has himself sustained injury or loss.

It should clearly be realized that individual rewards will be given only on account of action falling within one of the above 8 heads. On no account will rewards be granted merely for successful prosecution.

8. The procedure in recommending rewards is as follows:—

- (i.) The Assistant Superintendent of the district or division makes the recommendation on Police Form 69, in duplicate, stating briefly the reason for the reward being recommended (vide paragraph 7 above). If in connection with a Court case, the name of the Court, case number, section of the law, and the result of the case should invariably be given. After entering particulars in his Reward Register he forwards the original to the Superintendent who, if he approves of the recommendation, will counter-sign the reward form, after making any amendments he considers necessary, and forward it to the Inspector-General's Office.
- (ii.) The duplicate reward form will be sent to the Police Station, where the officer is serving, in order that the following particulars may be entered on a list to be kept hung up at the station:—

Name.	Case No.	Amount recommended.	Date of Recommendation.	Date of Payment.

Every man will thereby know in what cases he has been recommended for reward, and any delay in the payment of an outstanding reward will at once be apparent. After the necessary details have been taken the duplicate reward form will be returned to the Assistant Superintendent's Office.

- (iii.) The original reward form, on receipt in the Inspector-General's Office, will be checked with the Reward Register kept by the Strength Branch in the Inspector-General's Office to verify that no reward has previously been paid in the same case. The Inspector-General will then pass order as to the amount of reward to be paid and return the form to the Superintendent for payment.
- (iv.) When recommendations for rewards are made, the total amount recommended on each form, even if only one man is recommended for reward on the form, must be entered in both figures and words before the officer making the recommendations signs the form.
- (v.) Recommendations for rewards for special zeal shown in the prevention of serious offences by energetic action in taking up minor offences should be made once a month only. Cases which have not been disposed of during that month should not be included.
- (vi.) Any number of officers may be included on one reward form, but it should be stated clearly at the foot of the form what each individual officer has done.
- (vii.) No recommendation should be made in connection with any case which has gone before a Court until 10 days after the case has been finally disposed off, as it is undesirable that a reward should be paid when a case is going in appeal.
- (viii.) The following details should be shown in the case of every officer recommended for reward: Rank, Regimental Number, Initials, Name.

9. The procedure in paying rewards is as follows:—

- (i.) An annual advance, from the Reward Fund, will be made by the Inspector-General to every Province, district, and division. A separate account book will be kept in each Provincial or District Police Office for payments from this advance.
- (ii.) On receipt of the original reward form with the Inspector-General's orders, the duplicate copy will be attached to it with a copy of the Inspector-General's order on the back. The Reward Voucher Register will, if necessary, be amended in terms of the Inspector-General's order.
- (iii.) Whenever possible, rewards must be paid personally to the recipients. When this is not possible the money should be sent by Money Order to the officer in charge of the Police Station to make payment. Official Money Orders are not to be used for this purpose; ordinary Money Orders must be obtained, and the commission paid on them must be met from the money advanced to the Superintendent by the Inspector-General for the payment of rewards and a receipted reward form voucher obtained for the amount so expended.
- (iv.) Receipts on reward forms must invariably be supported by the signatures of two witnesses. Receipts by individuals of Rs. 20 and over must be signed over a five-cent stamp.
- (v.) Both the original and the duplicate copy of the reward form will be sent to the Police Station together with the money due. After payment, the original reward form will be returned immediately to the Superintendent's or Assistant Superintendent's Office and the duplicate will be retained at the Police Station.
- (vi.) The reward entry in the Service Register of the recipient of the reward will be made from the duplicate copy of the reward form, or from an extract thereof in the case of an officer who has been transferred since the reward was recommended. The entry in the Service Register must be an exact copy of the entry in the reward form so far as it concerns each individual officer. The Superintendent or Assistant Superintendent will, on his visits to Police Stations, sign entries in Service Registers after comparing them with the duplicate reward forms, which forms will then be returned to his office for file.
- (vii.) Rewards must be paid promptly.
- (viii.) So soon as the Assistant Superintendent or Superintendent has perfected reward vouchers amounting to Rs. 30 or more, he will schedule them and send them through the Headquarter Office of the Province or division to the Inspector-General for renewal of credit. The reward vouchers will be carefully checked by the Superintendent in charge of the Province or division before being forwarded to the Inspector-General, and any subsequent orders regarding the correction of the vouchers will be sent by the Inspector-General through the Superintendent of the Province or division. If no corrections are necessary, a cheque for the amount of the renewal will be sent direct by the Inspector-General to the officer in charge of the Province, district, or division who will send a receipt for the amount direct to the Inspector-General.
- (ix.) Renewals of credit of advances from the Reward Fund will be made as frequently as possible and in any case at least twice a month.
- (x.) As soon as credit has been renewed, the clerk in charge of departmental accounts in the Inspector-General's Office will pass the receipted reward forms to the Strength Clerk who will enter up particulars of the rewards in the Constabulary Registers and return the reward forms to the Recordkeeper for file and subsequent check by audit.
- (xi.) The Reward Voucher Register kept by the Superintendent or Assistant Superintendent, which will be kept in the following form must be regularly inspected to verify whether there has been any undue delay in receiving back a reward form sent to the Inspector-General for sanction, or in receiving back a receipted reward form sent for payment:—

Reward Voucher No.	Inspector-General's No.	Amount. Rs. c.	Regimental No. and Name of Payee.	Brief Statement of Particulars.	Date of forwarding to Inspector-General.	Date of Receipt back from the Inspector-General.	Date of Payment.	Date of Receipt of Perfected Voucher.	Schedule No.

- (xii.) Reward Fund accounts, Reward Voucher Registers, &c., will be inspected by the Superintendent of the Province whenever he inspects District Offices; and Reward Fund accounts in every Provincial Superintendent's Office will be subjected to a detailed inspection by the clerk of the Inspector-General's Office, appointed to audit departmental accounts, whenever the Inspector-General inspects the Province.
 - (xiii.) The payment of rewards will not, in future, be published in "Police Gazette," Part II.
10. All rules and regulations now in force which are inconsistent with these rules are hereby repealed.

Both in the case of full and of restricted permission the matter will be submitted to the King by His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, who shall be under no obligation to consider applications for permission unless the desire of the Head of a Foreign State to confer upon a British subject the Insignia of an Order is notified to him before the Order is conferred, either through the British Diplomatic Representative accredited to the Head of the Foreign State, or through the Diplomatic Representative of the latter at the Court of St. James.

7. When His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs shall have taken the King's pleasure on any such application, and shall have obtained His Majesty's permission for the person in whose favour it has been made to wear the Insignia of a Foreign Order, he shall signify the same to His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Home Department, in order that he may cause a Warrant, if it be a case for the issue of a Warrant as defined in Rule 2 to be prepared for the Royal Sign-Manual.

When such Warrant shall have been signed by the King, a notification thereof shall be inserted in the "Gazette."

Persons in whose favour such Warrants are issued will be required to pay to His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Home Department a stamp duty of 10s.

12. In exceptional cases, when for special reasons it is deemed expedient that the acceptance of the Medal should not be declined, His Majesty will grant restricted permission. BUSINESS.

1. The Company may proceed to carry out the objects for which it is established, and to employ and apply its capital as soon after the registration of the Company as the Directors in their discretion shall think fit ; and if the whole of the shares shall not have been subscribed, applied for, or allotted, as soon as in the judgment of the Directors, a sufficient number of shares shall have been subscribed or applied for.

CAPITAL.

2. The nominal capital of the Company is One hundred thousand Rupees divided into Ten thousand shares of Ten Rupees each.

3. The Directors may with the sanction of a special resolution of the Company reduce the capital or subdivide or consolidate the shares of the Company.

SHARES.

4. The shares, except when otherwise provided, shall be allotted at the discretion of and by the Directors, who may from time to time issue any unissued shares, and may add to such shares such an amount of premium as they consider proper. Provided that such unissued shares, except when otherwise provided shall first be offered by the Directors to the Shareholders as nearly as possible in proportion to the existing shares held by them, and such offer shall be made by writing specifying the number of shares to which the Shareholder is entitled, and limiting a time within which the offer, if not accepted, will be deemed to be declined, and after the expiration of such time, or on the receipt of an intimation from the Shareholder to whom such notice is given that he declines to accept the shares offered, the same shall be disposed of in such manner as the Directors may determine. Provided that the Directors may at their discretion allot such new shares or any portion of them to the vendor or vendors of any lands, property, rights, or privileges being acquired by the Company in payment of the whole or any part of the purchase price of any such lands, property, rights, or privileges, or as remuneration for work done for or services rendered to the Company, and that without offering the shares so allotted to the Shareholders.

5. Article 8 in Table C shall be read as :—Every Shareholder shall be entitled to a certificate or certificates under the common seal of the Company specifying the share or shares held by him and the amount paid thereon.

TRANSFER OF SHARES.

7. Subject to the restrictions contained in these Articles any Shareholder may transfer all or any of his shares by instrument in writing, and the first offer shall be made to the Company.

8. The Directors may, at their own absolute and uncontrolled discretion, decline to register any transfer of shares by a Shareholder who is indebted to the Company or upon whose shares the Company have a lien, or otherwise, or in case of shares not fully paid up, or to any person not approved of by them, and in no case shall a Shareholder or proposed transferee be entitled to require the Directors to state the reason of their refusal to register, but their declinature shall be absolute.

9. The Directors may, by such means as they shall deem expedient, authorize the registration of transferees as Shareholders without the necessity of any meeting of the Directors for that purpose.

10. Article 15 in Table C shall be read as :—Every instrument of transfer must be left at the office of the Company to be registered, accompanied by such evidence as the Directors may reasonably require to prove the title of the transferor, and a fee of cents fifty, or such other sum as the Directors shall from time to time determine, must be paid ; and thereupon the Directors, subject to the powers vested in them, shall register the transferee as a Shareholder and retain the instrument of transfer.

14. Such charge or lien may be made available by a sale of all or any of the shares subject to it, provided that no such sale shall be made except under a resolution of the Directors, and until notice in writing shall have been given to the indebted Shareholder or his executors or administrators, or the assignee or trustee in his bankruptcy, requiring him or them to pay the amount for the time being due to the Company, and default shall have been made for twenty-eight days from such notice in paying the sum thereby required to be paid. 50. Poll.—If a poll be demanded, the same shall be taken in such manner, and at such time and place as the Chairman shall direct, and the result of the poll shall be deemed to be the resolution of the meeting at which the poll was demanded. Extracts from the Minutes of the Special Committee regarding the Maintenance of Private Roads of May 14, 1928:

2. (a) Recommended that as regards streets not maintained by the Council, which have come into existence since the passing of Ordinance No. 19 of 1915, the owners of premises which front, adjoin, or abut upon such streets, or of premises to which access is obtained from the street by means of a lane, passage, or otherwise, shall be compelled to pay in full for the construction of such streets; to the satisfaction of the Council, in accordance with the Ordinance, before the Council take over and maintain such streets. The Municipal Engineer should report annually to the Chairman which of such streets he considers it desirable to deal with under the Ordinance. After the streets have been so made up with such side drains, sewers, lighting, &c., as may be considered necessary, the Council should take over and maintain such streets.

(b) Recommended that as regards streets which were in existence before the passing of Ordinance No. 19 of 1915, but which the Council does not at present maintain, the Council should—as a matter of expediency in the public interest, and since it is not feasible to compel the owners of adjoining properties to make up such roads—gradually take them over, construct, and maintain them. It is suggested that the Council should vote about Rs. 75,000 per annum for the improvement of such roads.

(c) As regards priority, it is considered undesirable to lay down at this stage any definite order in which such streets should be taken up. The Chairman, after consultation with the Municipal Engineer and the Medical Officer of Health, should draw up a list each year of those private streets which are, in his opinion, those which, on their merits and having regard to traffic, health, and all other relevant conditions, should be taken up. His proposals should be included in the Draft Budget to be laid before the Committees and the Council in the usual way.

(d) The Municipal Engineer should, at an early date, make out a list to be kept in his office of all streets not maintained by the Council, which were in existence before the date of passing of Ordinance No. 19 of 1915, with any such information as may be necessary for the purpose of carrying out the policy now recommended. It should be understood that where part of a street was in existence before that date and part came into existence thereafter, only the former part should be made up by the Council, and the latter part should be dealt with as a street which has come into existence since the passing of the Ordinance.

Resolution.

Mr. S. W. R. Dias Bandaranaike moved that the words "which list shall be submitted to the Four Standing Committees for consideration" be added after the words "taken up" in the fifth line of paragraph 2 (c) and that the first word "Their" in the next sentence be substituted for the word "His." Mr. T. G. Jayewardene seconded.—Carried.

Resolved that the recommendations of the Special Committee be adopted, subject to the above amendment.

(2) To consider section 4 of the list of duties of the Assistant Medical Officer of Health (C. W.), with a view to requiring her to attend each Municipal Dispensary once a week, instead of once a fortnight. The Committee having re-considered the question in the light of the further report of the Medical Officer of Health, recommends that, in view of the important work of organizing the Centre to bring it into proper working order, the previous recommendation of this Committee be accepted by the Council, but that the matter be re-considered after six months when it is presumed that the work in the Centre will have been fully organized and when the question of reserving the Dispensary attached to the Child Welfare Centre for women and children only, in place of the Female Dispensary at San Sebastian is to be re-considered, as resolved by Council on March 7, 1928.

ANNEXURE A.

Report of the Special Committee appointed to inquire into the Organization of the Stores.

1. We were appointed by resolution of the Council on October 5, 1927, a Sub-Committee " (later by resolution of Council of November 9 altered to Special Committee); to inquire into the system of work in the stores and to make recommendations for its improvement on the footing of the necessity of there being a receiving storekeeper and an issuing storekeeper." Meetings were held on November 30, 1927, March 6, March 14, and April 3, 1928. We carefully examined the present system of working the stores and considered the suggestion that the stores should be reorganized on the basis of there being separate receiving and issuing storekeepers.

2. In regard to the receipt and issue of stores, the present system is shortly as follows :—

3. Receipt of Stores.—The Storekeeper is responsible for seeing that materials supplied on orders are of the correct quality and quantity, but in cases of doubt he has instructions to apply to the Engineer or other officer concerned for technical advice. The Storekeeper prepares stock receipts for materials delivered to him when he is satisfied as to their correctness. The stock receipt is prepared in triplicate and signed by the Storekeeper. One copy of the stock receipt is handed to the contractor as his authority for obtaining payment; the second copy is initialled by one of the Assistant Storekeepers as to the correctness of the quantity. They automatically take over materials coming into stock at the time the Storekeeper issues the stock receipts. The third copy is sent to the Treasurer's Department for checking with orders, contracts, &c. As regards imported goods a similar procedure is adopted as far as possible.

4. Issue of Materials.—When materials are required, an issue note in triplicate is prepared by the department concerned. One copy is retained by the department, one copy is sent to the Overseer, and one to the Storekeeper, so as to enable him to get the necessary materials ready. On the authority of the issue note the Overseer prepares issue receipts in triplicate. The Overseer retains one copy of the issue receipt and sends two copies of it to the stores, together with the issue note. One copy of the issue receipt is sent to the department concerned for checking with materials received. The other copy is retained by the Municipal Treasurer for accounting purposes. The Assistant Storekeeper concerned issues materials according to the details on the issue receipt after having compared it with his copy of the issue note. The Storekeeper does not himself issue stores although he is responsible for the work of his assistant in issuing them.

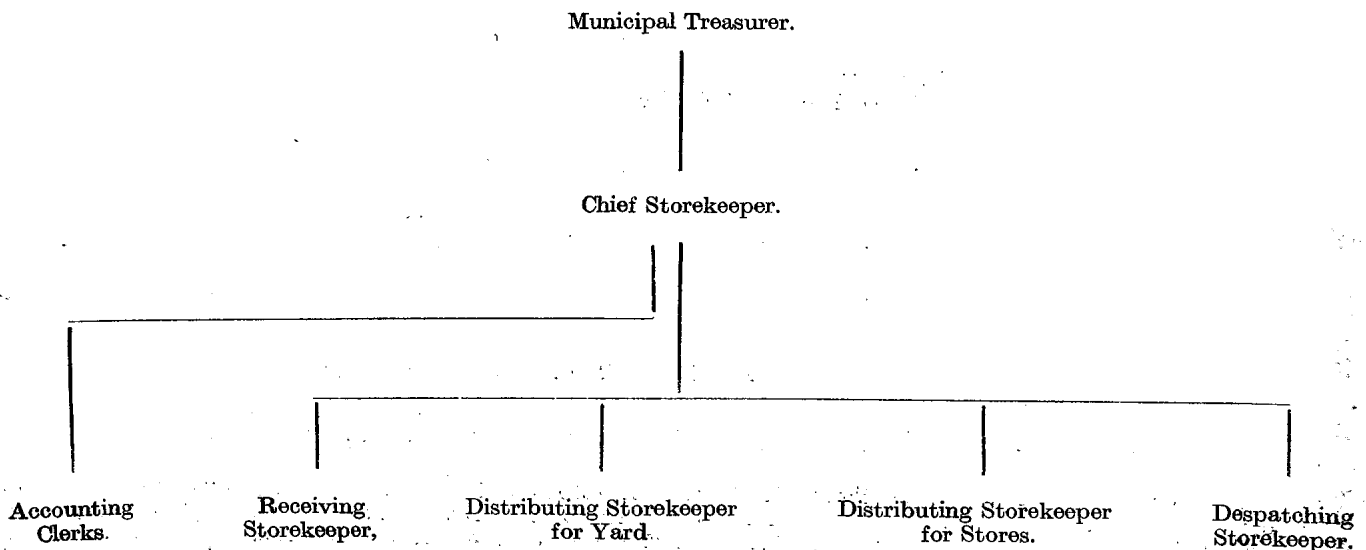

5. It will thus be seen that the principles in operation at present in our stores are the following :—

- (1) One person, the Storekeeper, is responsible for the entire department. He is, therefore, responsible both for the receipt and the issue of stores.
- (2) But the Storekeeper attends personally to the receipt of stores, while an assistant does the work of issuing stores subject to his supervision.

6. These being the principles on which our stores at present operate, we may next consider the suggestion made in our terms of reference, that the stores should be reorganized on the footing of their being a Receiving Storekeeper and an Issuing Storekeeper. The suggestions which were placed before us in this connection may be summarized as follows :—

The Receiving Storekeeper and the Issuing Storekeeper are, in the suggested scheme of reorganization, to be wholly independent of one another. It is this independence which constitutes the essence of the new suggestion. The scheme put before us for consideration entailed that the stores should be placed under a Chief Storekeeper, who would be subject to the control of the Municipal Treasurer, just as the present Storekeeper is. The Chief Storekeeper will have, as his main qualification, a knowledge of accounts. A detailed knowledge of stores, though desirable, is to be a secondary consideration, and is not regarded as necessary. Immediately subordinate to the Chief Storekeeper there are to be the following four officers: one Receiving Storekeeper, two Distributing Storekeepers, and one Despatching Storekeeper. The Distributing Storekeepers will be attached, respectively, to the yard and to the stores. It will be the duty of the Receiving Storekeeper to receive stores, in the first instance, and to issue them to the Distributing Storekeepers. For this purpose the Receiving Storekeeper must keep books showing both the receipts and the issues by him. The Distributing Storekeepers will pass the goods to the Despatching Storekeeper who will issue them to the respective departments. The Distributing Storekeepers will keep a set of books showing the receipt of stores from the Receiving Storekeeper and their issue to the Despatching Storekeeper. The Despatching Storekeeper will keep a further set of books showing the receipt of stores from the Distributing Storekeepers and the issue of stores to the department concerned. There will thus be three sets of books each showing the receipt and issue of stores. These three sets of books ought to agree and will be checked from time to time by accounting clerks who will be under the orders of the Chief Storekeeper, but independent of the Receiving, Distributing, and Despatching Storekeepers.

The system may be diagrammatically represented as follows :—

7. It was understood that this system, or something like it, was in force at the Railway Stores and the suggestion was that the Municipal Stores should, as far as possible, be modelled upon the Railway Stores. Careful inquiries were, therefore, made from the Railway Storekeeper with the following results:—

8. The Railway Store is a very big affair compared with ours which is comparatively small. In the Railway Store for the last financial year—

	Rs.	¢.
The value of the receipts was	11,328,000	0
The value of the issues was	11,200,000	0
The stock in hand at the end of the year was valued at	3,605,000	0

The figures for our store are—

Value of issues	1,088,593	61
Value of receipts	1,117,557	0
Value of stock at the end of the year	497,523	0

The staff of the Railway Store is also correspondingly greater than ours and the system correspondingly more elaborate. The staff at the Railway Stores consists of one Railway Store keeper, two assistants, one coal inspector, 31 storemen, 20 clerks (besides 14 accounts clerks). Our staff consists of one storekeeper, two assistant storekeepers, and one daybook clerk (and nine accounts clerks).

9. Leaving out inessentials, we find that the system employed at the Railway Store is roughly as follows:—

There is an officer called the "Receiving Storeman." He receives the stores, whether local or imported, and distributes them to the different sections. There are eight sections, each under a "Section Storeman." If there is any obvious deficiency, breakage, &c., in the stores as received by the Receiving Storeman, it is his duty to report such, but apart from this, he is not responsible for qualities and quantities. He does not keep any books. He does not take the stores on to the accounts. Practically speaking his function is simply to distribute the stores to the appropriate sections, to unpack, &c.

10. The 8 Section Storemen receive the stores and they sign a receipt as to quantity and quality. An officer called the Chief Storeman countersigns the receipt and issues it to the contractor for payment. It is the Section Storeman who takes the stores on to stock and enters up the stock books. It is also the Section Storeman who issues the goods to the various departments. He obtains receipts from them and enters the issues on the issue side of his stock books. He is thus responsible for both the receipts and issues. He issues the stores to a packing department in the case of outstations and to the counter in the case of local issues.

11. It will thus be seen that it is completely incorrect to say that in the Railway Stores there is a Receiving Storekeeper and an Issuing Storekeeper each of whom is independent of the other. On the contrary, one man, viz., the Section Storeman attends to both receipts and issues. This erroneous idea seems to have arisen because there is an officer misnamed the Receiving Storeman, but as we have already explained above, this Receiving Storeman is not responsible for taking the stores on to the books and is practically only an unpacking and distributing officer. In other words, the system at the Railway Stores is really identical in principle with the system at our stores. In both cases, one officer is responsible for receipts and issues and not two. The only difference is that, owing to the fact that their stores are far larger and more complicated than ours, they have to have a larger staff and the person called the Receiving Storeman to unpack and distribute the goods to the different Section Storekeepers. Such a Receiving Storeman is quite unnecessary in the case of our small stores. There would be little or no work for him to do. A Despatching Storeman is also unnecessary in our stores. In the Railway large quantities of stores have to be sent out to outstations all over the Island, and there must necessarily be an officer responsible for the packing and despatch of such goods. Apparently the suggestion that the Municipal Stores should employ a "Despatching Storekeeper" arose through this, but how totally different the circumstances in the Railway stores are is plain at a glance. A Despatching Storeman in our stores would have no work to do. At present an overseer or his representative comes to the stores and takes the goods. That is all that is necessary. No goods have to be sent to places outside Colombo, as in the Railway Stores, and there is no necessity to have an officer specially attending to despatches.

12. The suggestion of having separate Receiving and Issuing Storekeepers, therefore, does not receive support from the examination of the Railway Stores. Nor, so far as is understood, is any such system in force in the Colonial Storekeeper's Department. It remains to consider, however, whether such a system is to be recommended on its own merits even if it is not in force elsewhere. On this question our opinion is that the system suggested has no special advantage to recommend it, is far too elaborate for our small stores, and would involve considerable increase of staff and expenditure without any corresponding advantage. The suggestion involves that 3 sets of books should be kept where 1 set of books is kept now. Obviously the clerical staff required for keeping the books will have to be very greatly increased. Moreover, since the Receiving Storekeeper is to be alone responsible for the receipt of stores, and since the Chief Storekeeper is to be an accountant rather than a man experienced in stores, it is obvious that the Receiving Storekeeper must himself be an officer at least as highly qualified for judging stores as the present Storekeeper is. The Chief Storekeeper, therefore, must necessarily be a more highly paid type of officer than the present Storekeeper, since he would have to control officers of the status and rank equal to the present Storekeeper. Clearly, therefore, this will involve a considerable increase of expenditure. Nor does there appear to be any advantage in keeping 3 sets of books to record one set of facts.

13. It is further pointed out that a Receiving and an Issuing Storekeeper, independent of each other, one performing only the function of issuing and another only the function of receiving, is in fact an impossibility. For the Receiving Storekeeper has to issue stores to the Issuing Storekeeper or Despatching Storekeepers and the Issuing Storekeeper has to receive stores from the Receiving Storekeeper or Despatching Storekeepers. However the system is arranged, each storekeeper is bound to combine in himself both the functions of receiving and issuing.

14. Moreover, the ultimate responsibility for receipts and issues must obviously lie upon one person, the head of the stores, whether he be called the Storekeeper, the Chief Storekeeper, or by any other name. It is impossible that the responsibility for issuing should be wholly divided from the responsibility for receiving. They must in the last resort meet in one person and it will be seen that, in so far as the proposed principle of having receipts and issues independent of one another is in any way feasible, it is already embodied in our present system. For it is the Storekeeper who receives, whereas an Assistant Storekeeper issues, the Storekeeper being finally responsible for both sides of the system. Further, the Assistant Storekeepers are responsible for seeing that they receive the correct quantities and this constitutes a check upon the Storekeeper. It is neither possible nor desirable to get away in principle from the present system and it is felt that the suggestions which have been made only amount to unnecessarily elaborating the principles which are already in operation. It may be added that the Receiving Storekeeper in the suggested new system would have insufficient work in so far as the Municipal stores are concerned. He would merely receive the stores and instantly hand them over to another officer who would be responsible for them while they were in the stores.

15. One other matter should be mentioned. A point has been made of the suggestion that the staff of accountants under the Chief Storekeeper in the proposed new system would be entirely independent of the Receiving and Issuing Storekeepers. The principle of this system, however, is already in force in our stores. The accounts clerks, who check the accounts of the stores, are not the subordinates of the Storekeeper, but are subject only to the Municipal Treasurer and report direct to him. In this respect our system is in accord with that at the Railway Stores, where the accountant are not under the control of the Railway Storekeeper.

16. The Committee, therefore, considers that the present method of operating the stores is satisfactory and is unable to recommend that the suggested system of independent Receiving and Issuing Storekeepers should be introduced.

MUNICIPALITY OF GALLE.

Minutes of Proceedings of a General Meeting of the Municipal Council of Galle, held in the Municipal Office, on Saturday, June 9, 1928, at 1.15 p.m., pursuant to Notice dated June 1, 1928.

Present :—Mr. L. W. C. Schrader, Chairman; Hon. Mr. H. M. Macan Markar, M.L.C.; Mr. J. E. Perera; Mr. D. I. Durham; Mr. C. L. Wickramasinghe; Mr. F. W. Sproule; and Mr. S. H. Dahanayake.

1. The Minutes of the General Meeting of May 12, 1928, a copy thereof having been furnished to each member, were taken as read and confirmed.

2. Pursuant to notice, Mr. S. H. Dahanayake asked the following questions, and the Chairman replied seriatim :—

(1) Is it the fact that the flesh of goats and cattle other than those slaughtered in the Municipal slaughter-house is exposed for sale in the meat markets of Galle? A.—No report to that effect has been received. To the best of my belief it is not a fact.

(2) If so, what steps the Chairman proposes to take to ensure a pure supply of meat? A.—This question does not arise, but I will cause inquiry.

(3) In reply to my Question No. 11b of May 12, 1928, the Chairman stated—“the supply of meat is considered good and adequate.”

Will the Chairman please state by whom the supply of meat is considered good and adequate? A.—It was so considered by me on the strength of personal inspection, the report of the Medical Officer of Health, and the absence of complaint by consumers.

Before Mr. S. H. Dahanayake asked the next question, Mr. C. L. Wickramasinghe rose to a point of order because it is an expression of opinion. The Chairman agreed that it does state an opinion but he would refer to it in his reply. He allowed the question to be asked.

(4) In reply to my Question No. 11 of May 12, 1928, the Chairman stated—“I am aware that none but the flesh of dead animals is sold in the market: never of the living.” Does the Chairman consider it becoming on his part to indulge in cheap wit and humour of this sort when a question of such vital importance is put to him by a member of this Council? A.—The reply was a plain and truthful answer to the inquiry. The present question expresses opinions, which is out of order.

3. In the absence of Mr. C. E. de Vos, Mr. J. E. Perera moved—That the Council meetings be held not later than 9 A.M. Mr. C. L. Wickramasinghe seconded.

The Chairman, Hon. Mr. H. M. Macan Markar, and Mr. S. H. Dahanayake were in favour of the change. The motion was put to the meeting and carried.

4. Pursuant to notice, Mr. S. H. Dahanayake moved—(1) That it is desirable that a band stand should be erected in the Victoria Park. Mr. D. I. Durham seconded pro forma. He suggested to the mover to withdraw the motion for the present, for consideration at the end of the year in connection with the Budget for 1929. The mover agreed, and with the leave of Council withdrew the motion.

(2) That the General Manager of Railways be requested to repair and extend the retaining wall along the right bank of the Keppu-ela by the side of the railway line, and that he be requested to put a stop to the throwing away of clinkers from the engines into the Keppu-ela.

With the leave of Council the mover amended his motion as follows:—That a report be called for from the Superintendent of Works with regard to the retaining wall along the right bank of the Keppu-ela by the side of the railway line, and the throwing of clinkers from the engines into the Keppu-ela. Mr. C. L. Wickramasinghe seconded.—Carried.

(3) That the application to build stores in premises No. 15A in Talbot Town tendered by Alia Marikar Zainul Abdeen be referred for consideration to the Works Committee of this Council. Hon. Mr. H. M. Macan Markar seconded.

The Chairman opposed the motion. He had decided against the application, and his decision was final on that point. Mr. D. I. Durham spoke against the motion.

With the leave of Council the mover withdrew the motion.

5. In the absence of Mr. C. E. de Vos, Mr. J. E. Perera moved that the steps leading to the ladies' bathing place be repaired, and the Superintendent of Works be requested to prepare an estimate. Mr. C. L. Wickramasinghe seconded.—Carried.

6. To consider the question of opening another bank account with a Colombo bank—The Chairman moved that an account be opened with the Mercantile Bank of India, Colombo. Mr. D. I. Durham seconded.—Carried.

7. Letter No. U. 380/26 of May 29, 1928, from the Hon. the Colonial Secretary, with reference to the nomination of Dr. T. de Kretser as a Councillor of the Municipal Council, Galle, in place of Dr. F. R. Alles—Submitted.

8. To consider tenders for the supply of cast iron pipes for the duplication of the main from Hiyare to Galle—Resolved that the tender of the Stanton Ironworks Company, Limited, be accepted, viz., 600 socket and pigot pipes 9 ft. lengths at £8 6s. 6d. per ton, 850 socket and pigot pipes 12 ft. lengths at £7 19s. per ton, 3,370 turned and bored 12 ft. lengths at £8 2s. 6d. per ton.

Terms.—C.I.F., Galle Harbour, direct shipment in one lot, including risk of breakages, and discharging at Galle Harbour, but excluding all other dues or duties.

The total cost will be approximately £19,488 6s. 11d.

9.—Extracts from the Minutes of the Standing Committee on Municipal Works of May 12, 1928.

NOTIFICATIONS UNDER "THE PATENTS ORDINANCE, 1906."

THE following Specifications have been accepted:—

No. 2,269 of September 26, 1927 (Date applied for under Section 50 of the Ordinance, May 4, 1927).

Percy Vavasour Appleby.

Improvements in machines for the combing or hackling of coco bristle fibres or other like operations.

Abstract.—The fibre is placed transversely upon a rack and is removed the reform by a conveyor, which may comprise ropes or belts or bands. The fibre is carried between two wheels which grip one end of the fibres: while the fibres are thus gripped they are subjected to the action of a comb or rake which moves transversely to the line of travel of the fibre, and therefore in the direction of its length. The fibre then passes on to a second pair of wheels which grips the other end and the fibre is again combed. If necessary these processes may be repeated.

The claims are:—

1. A machine for combing fibres comprising means for conveying the fibres in a direction transverse to the length of the fibres and means for combing the same in the direction of their length, that is, in a direction transverse to the direction of travel of the fibres.
2. A machine for combing fibres comprising a belt, band or rope conveyor travelling longitudinally of the machine and carrying fibres which are laid across said conveyor and one or more laterally moving rakes or combs for combing the fibres in the direction of their length, means being provided for holding the fibre ends during the combing operations.
3. A fibre-combing machine according to Claim 2 in which the fibres are held alternately at one end and then at the other so that the whole length of the fibres may be adequately combed or hackled.
4. A machine for combing fibres according to claim 2 in which the fibres are held between upper and lower wheels arranged to one side of the conveyor, either or both of said wheels being, if desired, provided with a tyre of rubber or other compressible material.
5. A fibre-combing machine according to any of the preceding claims in which the combing device is driven from a crank or eccentric and guided in its movement by a cam.
6. A fibre-combing machine according to the preceding claims having means for facilitating the ejection of the combings from the machine.
7. The combination with a fibre-combing machine as herein claimed of a rack for loading the fibres on to the conveyor.
8. A fibre-combing machine according to Claim 4 in which the upper wheel of a pair of gripping wheels is mounted in a movable bearing and is acted upon by a counterweight.
9. Improved fibre-combing or like machines substantially as described and as illustrated by the accompanying drawings.

1. A digging fork or implement of the kind referred to, in which the crutch or handle at the one end is extended on through the shaft to the other end.
2. A digging fork or implement as in Claim 1 where in the lower end of the extended crutch or handle can project beyond the shaft and can be fixed or detached to a closure member in the socket of the forked or pronged or prong part of the digging fork or implement.
3. A digging fork or implement as in Claims 1 and 2, in which the socket of the forked part of the implement, is constructed with a closure member, or key, or slot or aperture.

Improvements in apparatus for drying tea-leaf and other vegetable produce.

Abstract.—The apparatus consists of a vertical cylindrical casing having an inlet for the drying air near the bottom. Within this rotates a vertical cylinder having a number of radial arms arranged in parallel horizontal planes. These arms carry trays which move over a horizontal track as the inner cylinder rotates. At one point in the circumference there is a gap in the track so that the tray falls into a vertical position and delivers the tea on to the plane below, a guide then catches the tray and turns it into the horizontal position. The gaps are so arranged that the tea passes round the complete circle of each plane in turn.

The claims are :—

1. In apparatus for drying tea-leaf and other vegetable produce comprising an outer stationary cylindrical casing to which heated air is admitted and having a plurality of trays therein which convey the tea-leaf, or other vegetable produce, to be dried by the said heated air, from the upper part of the apparatus to the lower part thereof: arranging the said trays in superimposed series each of which series is revoluble in a horizontal plane within the said outer cylindrical casing, and each tray being adapted to turn in succession to discharge the tea-leaf, or other vegetable produce, thereon onto a tray, or onto a conveyor beneath it.
2. In apparatus in accordance with the preceding claiming clause, an inner casing within the outer stationary casing and having tray supporting means secured thereto arranged in series in superimposed planes, trays pivotally mounted on the said supporting means and means whereby the said inner casing, the series of tray supporting means and the trays mounted thereon are caused to revolve in horizontal planes within the said outer stationary casing.
3. In apparatus in accordance with the preceding claiming clauses 1 and 2; the provision of tracks, secured to the outer stationary casing, with which tracks the outer ends of the trays engage, disengage, and then re-engage during each complete revolution of the said trays, whereby the said trays are first held in position to retain the tea-leaf, or other vegetable produce thereon, then disengage therefrom so that the said trays turn on their supporting means and discharge the tea-leaf, or other vegetable produce, onto a tray, or conveyor, beneath, and finally re-engage with the said tracks so that they are turned back into their original position in readiness to receive a further supply of tea-leaf, or other vegetable produce.
4. In apparatus in accordance with the preceding claiming clauses 1, 2, and 3, the provision of baffles between the respective series of trays adapted to ensure the heated air passing over the whole surface of each of the respective series of trays upwards from the lowermost series before passing to the next series in succession.
5. In apparatus in accordance with the preceding claiming clauses 1, 2, 3, and 4, the provision of a conveyor adapted to convey tea-leaf, or other vegetable produce, from a low level to a high level and deposit the said tea-leaf or other vegetable produce, on to the uppermost series of trays.
6. In apparatus in accordance with the preceding claiming clauses 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5, the combination with a conveyor for delivering the tea-leaf or other vegetable produce, onto the uppermost series of trays, of a rotatable spreader adapted to control the thickness of the supply of tea-leaf, or other vegetable produce being delivered by the said conveyor.
7. In apparatus in accordance with the preceding claiming clauses 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5, the provision of a conveyor adapted to receive the dried tea-leaf, or other vegetable produce, from the lowermost series of trays and convey it from the said apparatus.
8. In apparatus in accordance with the preceding claiming clauses 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, and 7, the provision of means beneath the lowermost series of trays for collecting dust, or other loose particles, and for scraping the collected dust, or other loose particles, into a box, or its equivalent, provided in the base of the apparatus.
9. Apparatus for drying tea-leaf, and other vegetable produce, the said apparatus being constructed, arranged, and adapted to operate substantially as hereinbefore described and illustrated in the accompanying drawings.

Improvements in and relating to coursing apparatus.

Abstract.—The apparatus consists of two sets of rails, one above the other and a carriage moving between them. Two current bearing wires are provided and with suitable contact arms serve to drive the motor of the carriage and to stop and start it. An arm on the carriage carries the quarry and gives it a suitable motion. The carriage is provided with means for releasing the dogs from cages at a suitable time and for moving hurdles. For the former purpose as the carriage passes, it releases clockwork which in turn releases a retaining rod and lets a spring operate to raise the door of the dog cage.

The claims are :—

1. Improved coursing apparatus comprising a rail track consisting of a lower rail and a vertically spaced upper rail, a quarry carriage adapted to be travelled thereon, means for controlling the motion of said carriage, and means projecting from said carriage to carry an imitation quarry.

Improved apparatus for determining the rubber content of latex.

Abstract.—The receiver for the latex rests upon a spring balance which records the weight of the contents by the movement of a pointer over a circular dial. A vertical tube has a water tight trunnion attachment to the bottom of the latex receiver and the volume of latex can be read here by a dip rod or otherwise. This tube can be turned down to empty the vessel. On the other side is a larger vertical tube connected to the bottom of the receiver by a hollow cock which holds a definite amount of latex, on turning the cock this latex is brought to the bottom of the tube where it is diluted with a measured volume of water and the density of the mixture is determined with a special hydrometer. The readings obtained can be converted to ounces of rubber by a series of scales on the dial of the spring balance.

The claims are :—

1. Apparatus comprising a vessel provided with a hollow cock and tube and with another tube swivelled on a trunnion, the said vessel being mounted on a spring balance having a graduated dial and a graduated pointer, as and for the purpose described and illustrated.

2. Apparatus as claimed in the preceding claim in which the said dial is graduated on concentric circles with scales of gallons and pints and ounces, and the said pointer is graduated with numbers, as and for the purpose described and illustrated.

3. Apparatus as claimed in the preceding claims used in conjunction with and including a specially graduated hydrometer and a specially graduated staff, as and for the purpose described and illustrated.

4. Apparatus as claimed in the preceding claims used in the manner and with the procedure described.

Improvements in process of curing cementing materials.

Abstract.—After the excess water has drained away, the surface of the cement is painted with an adherent film which prevents the evaporation of water. The film may be a bituminous film or emulsion or a paint like material of asphalt or asphalt dissolved in a solvent.

The claims are :—

1. The method of preventing evaporation of water from cement concrete during the curing period which consists in applying to the surface of the concrete, after it is laid and before it is set, an adherent film impervious to water.

2. The method set forth in Claim 1 which consists in the use, as the adherent film, of a continuous bituminous film.

3. The method set forth in Claim 1 which consists in the use, as the adherent film, of a water-external-phase bituminous emulsion.

4. The process set forth in Claim 1 which comprises the use, as the adherent film, of a water proof paint-like material.
5. The process set forth in Claim 4 which comprises the use, as the waterproof paint-like material, of an asphaltic material.
6. The process set forth in Claim 5 in which the asphaltic material is prepared by dissolving an asphalt in a solvent.
7. The process set forth in Claim 1 in which the film is applied by spraying.
8. The process set forth in Claim 1 in which the film is applied cold.
9. The method of preventing evaporation of water from cement concrete during the curing period substantially as herein described.

The Anode Rubber Company, Limited.

Method for the production of rubber goods directly from latex.

Abstract.—Permeable or semi-permeable moulds are used.

With hollow moulds water is removed from the inside of the mould and the rubber film by a slight reduction in pressure or by the use of water absorbing substances; coagulants can also be added from inside the moulds.

Solid moulds have their pores filled with the coagulant before dipping into the latex, which is preferably concentrated.

The essential point is that the coagulation is effected from that side of the film which is remote from the latex.

The claims are:—

1. A method for the production of rubber goods directly from latex by means of porous depositing moulds without the use of electrophoretic methods, which is characterized by the feature that the agents promoting the deposition of the rubber from the latex, are applied not directly to the rubber latex but at the side of the porous mould opposite to that which is in contact with the rubber latex.
2. Method as set forth in Claim 1, in which the migration of the water towards the interior of the porous mould, is accelerated by applying at the side of the wall of the depositing moulds, remote from the rubber latex, means adapted to accelerate the evaporation of the water (heating, air circulation or the like).
3. Method as set forth in Claim 1 or 2 which consists in producing an under pressure at the side of the wall of the depositing moulds, remote from the rubber latex, or in the interior of the hollow moulds, if such are used.
4. Method as set forth in Claim 1, in which the migration of the water from the latex towards the interior of the porous dipping mould is promoted by applying water absorbing substances at the side of the wall of the depositing moulds, remote from the rubber latex.
5. Method as set forth in Claim 1, in which substances, whose solutions are adapted to promote the agglomeration of rubber, are applied at the side of the wall of the depositing moulds, remote from the rubber latex.
6. Method as set forth in Claim 1 or 4 in which water absorbing substances whose solutions are adapted to promote the agglomeration of rubber are applied at the side of the wall of the depositing moulds, remote from the rubber latex.
7. Method as set forth in any of the preceding claims, in which conditioning substances intended to be incorporated with the rubber goods, are mixed to the rubber latex.
8. Method as set forth in any of the preceding claims, in which part of the original water content of the natural rubber latex is removed prior to treating same in order to increase the rubber content of the latex above 30 per cent.
9. The method of producing rubber goods directly from latex without the use of electrophoretic methods, substantially as described.
10. Rubber goods whenever produced directly from latex by the method set forth in the preceding claims.
