MUNICIPALITY OF GALLE.

Minutes of Proceedings of a General Meeting of the Municipal Council of Galle, held in the Municipal Office on Saturday, September 15, 1928, at 9 a.m., pursuant to Notice dated September 10, 1928.

Present :—Mr. L. W. C. Schrader, Chairman ; Mr. D. W. Subasinghe ; the Hon. Mr. C. E. de Vos ; Mr. J. E. Perera ; Mr. C. L. Wickramasinghe ; Mr. F. W. Sproule ; Mr. S. H. Dahanayake ; and Dr. T. de Kretser.

1. The Minutes of the General Meeting of August 25, 1928, and the Special Meeting of September 6, 1928, copies thereof having been furnished to each Member, were taken as read and confirmed.

Arising from the Minutes, the Hon. Mr. C. E. de Vos desired to express his thanks to the Chairman and Members of the Council for the vote of congratulation passed at the last meeting.

Mr. S. H. Dahanayake presented a petition from conservancy cooly M. K. Siyadoris, which the Chairman said would be inquired into.

2. The following motion stood in the name of Mr. S. N. Dahanayake :—That this Council, while generally accepting the recommendations of the Donoughmore Commission regarding the reform of the Municipal Councils, do suggest to His Excellency the Governor (a) that the franchise for women should be extended to those over 21 years of age ; (b) that the Galle Municipal area be extended up to and including the Boosa race course on the Colombo side, and to the 76th milestone on the Matara side, and also to include all houses and gardens abutting on any road marking the limits of the Municipal area ; (c) that the Municipal area be divided into ten electoral divisions ; (d) that the work of the Schools Committee of the Municipal area be included as part of the work of the Municipal Council ; (e) that the Council be empowered to make reasonable grants to public libraries ; (f) and that all paddy fields and vegetable gardens, educational institutions, places of worship, and premises occupied by priests who have taken the monastic vow of celibacy be exempted from taxes.

The Hon. Mr. C. E. de Vos raised a point of order, as a Special Committee had been appointed to formulate a scheme for the reform of the constitution, and had not yet made a report.

The Chairman suggested that the motion should be deferred until the Council decide to await, or dispense with, the report of the Special Committee.

Mr. S. H. Dahanayake agreed to defer the motion.

3. Pursuant to notice, Mr. D. W. Subasinghe moved—(1) That the Superintendent of Works be requested to prepare a plan of the proposed road—about 20 feet in width—connecting Morris road and Hirimbura Cross road, and to submit same without delay—if possible, at the next meeting—with a report showing the blocks to be acquired and their extents and claimants. The Hon. Mr. C. E. de Vos seconded.

Mr. F. W. Sproule suggested adding the words “with estimate of cost of acquisition, if any, and construction of a gravel road 20 feet in width” after the word “plan,” and deleting the words “of the proposed road—about 20 feet in width.”

The mover and seconder agreed to the suggestion.

The Chairman stated that when the question was considered by Council in 1925 it was agreed that the residents were to pay the costs of the survey, and the Superintendent was only to point out the trace and supervise the preparation of the plan. He did not think the Superintendent should be required to make the survey at this moment, as he would be engaged over the landing and transporting of pipes for the duplication of the water service.

The mover replied that the cost of the survey should be borne by the Council, and not by the residents. If the Superintendent had no time to do the work Council should employ a surveyor.

Mr. C. L. Wickramasinghe suggested that the words “if possible at the next meeting” should be deleted.

The mover and the seconder agreed to the words being deleted.

The motion as amended was put to the meeting and carried.

(2) That the Superintendent of Works be requested to submit a plan with an estimate for the construction of a small market with three stalls at the Sarenthukade Junction and the Gintota market place for the sale of fish. Mr. J. E. Perera seconded.

Mr. F. W. Sproule moved as an amendment that the question be referred to the Standing Committee on Markets and Sanitation. Mr. C. L. Wickramasinghe seconded.

The amendment was put to the meeting and carried.

4. To consider a petition from the stall holders of the fruit market for extension of the duration of the lease of the stalls in the public markets :—

The Chairman moved—(1) That the market stalls be sold by auction for 1929, with the option of renewing the lease for another year at the same rent. The lessees of stalls in the fruit market and the shops to be given the option of renewing the lease for 1929 at the same rent. (2) That the lease of the trees at the Bataduwa depôt be given to the overseer, C. Wijewardene, for 1929 at Rs. 121. Mr. D. W. Subasinghe seconded.—Carried.

Mr. S. H. Dahanayake moved that the bathing wells at Talbot town be not sold for 1929. Mr. D. W. Subasinghe seconded.

The Chairman ruled that notice of the motion should be given.

Mr. S. H. Dahanayake gave notice of the motion to be made at the next meeting.

5. To consider the Report of the Superintendent of Works on the drains referred to in Mr. S. H. Dahanayake's motion at the meeting held on July 14, 1928 :—

Resolved that (a) the estimate of Rs. 120 for repairing the drain along Templar road and Jail road be approved ; (b) an estimate be called for to deviate the drain from the point B (on the plan) into the drain at the opposite side of the road.

6. To consider the grant of temporary increases of pension to retired officers :—

Mr. C. L. Wickramasinghe moved the continuance of temporary increases of pension to the retired officers to whom it has been paid. Mr. S. H. Dahanayake seconded.—Carried.

NOTIFICATIONS UNDER "THE PATENTS ORDINANCE, 1906."

THE following Specifications have been accepted:—

No. 2,29 of January 30, 1928.

Jadav Prosad Chaliha.

Process of and apparatus for drying and withering of tea in course of manufacture.

Abstract.—A jacketed vacuum vessel is used for the preliminary and final removal of moisture: in this case the jacket is heated with water to between 160 and 200°F. In the fermentation stage the jacket is filled with cooling water, pans of water are placed in the chamber and a small degree of pressure reduction is used.

The claims are:—

1. In the manufacture of tea a process for drying or "firing" which consists in placing the leaf in a chamber at a temperature below 212° Fahr. and in reducing the pressure in said chamber, thereby causing the moisture in the leaf to evaporate more readily and quickly at a lower temperature than when subjected to drying or firing at ordinary atmospheric pressure, characterized by this that the temperature used in the chamber lies between the limits as far as possible of 260° on the upper side and approximately 160° on the lower side, the pressures or vacuum being adjusted to correspond thereto.
2. In the manufacture of tea a process of drying or of "firing" according to claim 1, which consists in placing the leaf in a chamber which is more or less completely hermetically sealed, heating said chamber within the limits specified and in reducing or lowering the air or vapour pressure within said chamber to cause the moisture in the leaf to evaporate or boil off at the temperature selected.
3. In the manufacture of tea a process of drying or firing according to claim 1 or 2, wherein the drying or firing chamber is water jacketed, wholly or in part, through which fluid is circulated at any desired temperature between the limits of 160° and 200° to keep the same as far as possible at a desired even temperature not exceeding the stated maximum.
4. In the manufacture of tea a process according to any of the preceding claims, wherein for the "firing" the temperature of the chamber is limited to one not exceeding 200° Fahr. and preferably is arranged to be about 160° Fahr.
5. In the manufacture of tea a process according to any of the preceding claims, wherein the drying chamber is jacketed more or less completely and water or any fluid is circulated therethrough, said water when such is used being taken from the steam engine and boiler units which may be available, or being the heated water used for cooling a gas or oil engine or the like, or said water or fluid in jacket being purposely heated.
6. A modification in the process according to any of the preceding claims, wherein when the freshly plucked leaf is in too moist a condition or the atmosphere is too cold and humid for the proper and sufficiently rapid withering of the leaf, the said leaf is partially dried to assist the withering by placing it in a chamber suitably heated within the limits stated and treating it as set forth.
7. A process for assisting the withering of the leaf in tea manufacture, which consists in partially drying the leaf by a process according to any of the preceding claims in order to remove excess moisture more rapidly than is possible in ordinary withering sheds and to facilitate and hasten the commencement, or picking up, of the chemical wither.
8. A modification of the process according to claim 1 for the purpose of assisting the fermentation of the leaf, wherein the leaf is placed in a chamber which is left open and which is suitably cooled if necessary, for example by circulating cooling fluid through it or through a jacket partially or wholly surrounding it, in which chamber water is placed in any suitable receptacle and through which chamber the air may be circulated or drawn to produce a cool atmosphere charged with moisture and hence one particularly advantageous to the carrying out of the fermentation.
9. Apparatus for assisting in the drying, firing, withering and in certain conditions for the fermentation of tea leaf in the course of manufacture, comprising a chamber with means for exhausting or reducing the pressure inside said chamber to below the pressure of saturated vapour which corresponds to the temperature inside the chamber.
10. Apparatus according to claim 9, having a jacket, or heating or cooling means, whereby the temperature inside the chamber may be raised or lowered to facilitate the desired operation.

11. Apparatus according to claim 9 or 10, comprising a chamber adapted to resist external pressure, means for introducing tea leaf into said chamber and hermetically closing the said chamber, and means such as a jacket surrounding the greater part of the chamber, wherein heating or cooling fluid may be circulated to control the temperature of the chamber.

12. Apparatus according to claim 9, 10, or 11, a jacket surrounding four of the six sides of the chamber, the opposite end walls being made removable or being in the form of tightly closing doors adapted to close and form hermetically sealed joints with the jacketed sides.

13. Apparatus according to any of the claims 9 to 12, the interior of the chamber being provided with ledges or supports for the reception of shelves or trays with the leaf to be treated thereon, arranged so as to enable the leaf to be conveniently introduced into and extracted from the chamber.

14. Apparatus according to any of the claims 10 to 13, the chamber having cross tubes or pipes having outer surfaces suitably arranged to radiate heat therein for the circulating fluid which controls the temperature inside the chamber.

15. Apparatus according to any of the claims 9 to 14, the chamber being connected by piping to an air pump or the like capable of reducing the pressure within the chamber.

16. Apparatus according to any of the claims 9 to 15, the chamber being provided with trays for the leaf to be treated, and spaces being provided around the edges of, or at the ends of, the trays for the circulation of the vapour or air, thus enabling the reduction of pressure to affect the contents of all the trays.

17. Apparatus according to any of the claims 9 to 16, the jacket being connected by piping to a water circulating system connected to the steam engine or boiler set available, or to the cooling water jacket of a gas or oil engine or the like.

18. An improved process for drying or firing tea leaf in the process of manufacture of tea, or of assisting in the withering of the leaf, or in the fermentation of the leaf in manufacture, arranged, adapted to be carried out or to function substantially as described.

19. Apparatus for assisting in the manufacture of tea by a process according to any of the claims 1 to 7, or according to any of the apparatus claims 8 to 17, constructed, arranged, or adapted to function substantially as described or substantially as described and illustrated.

Improvements in tea feeding and spreading machinery.

Abstract.—At the bottom of the hopper the tea passes into the vertical (adjustable) space between two moving belts or one belt and a vertical fixed face, the lower belt travels round an arc and then upwards at about 30° to the horizontal. The space between the two belts at the bottom is greater than at the start; suitable guides and rollers are provided.

The claims are:—

1. Apparatus for feeding tea leaf or the like, to a drying, withering, sifting, breaking, or other machine, or to an endless conveyor, or onto stationary chargs or racks, comprising essentially a substantially rectangular hopper or feeding space open at the top and bottom and provided with two endless belts, or one endless belt and a stationary which comprise the back and front respectively of said feeding space for the purpose hereinbefore specified.

2. Apparatus for feeding tea leaf or the like according to claim 1, wherein if two moving endless belts are used the distance between the working faces of the belts is slightly increased where the belts pass round in a curve above the distance between the working faces where they are parallel to each other so that the extra friction around the curve may be allowed for.

3. Apparatus for feeding tea leaf according to claim 1 or 2, in which the belt where its working face passes around a curve is guided by wheels, or flanges or grooves to constrain the belt to follow the correct curve.

4. Apparatus for feeding tea leaf, or the like, as claimed in claim 1, in which said stationary front, when such is used, is adapted to be adjusted in a plane parallel to the moving back for the purpose specified.

5. The combination with apparatus according to the previous claims of flicking means to distribute the leaf from the belt to the machine or conveyor being fed and to break up balls in the leaf.

6. Apparatus for feeding tea leaf, or the like, to a drying, withering, sifting, breaking, or other machine, or onto stationary chargs or racks, substantially as hereinbefore described with reference to either Figure 1 or Figure 2 of the accompanying drawings.

Fuel control means.

Abstract.—A device is fitted between the carburetor and the engine. When the engine is shut off the condensed fuel runs down and is trapped in a horizontal tube. This provides a rich mixture for priming the engine in restarting. This tube is connected to a chamber having regulatable means for controlling the moist air which comes from the top of the radiator, the pipe which conveys it being supplied with a moisture trap. A valve in the mixing chamber lets in dry air when the suction becomes too great. Modifications describe means whereby the outflow of moist air can be controlled by the pressure in the exhaust or from the dashboard are described.

The claims are :—

1. Device for controlling the fuel mixture admitted to the intake manifold of an internal combustion engine, including a closed receptacle having an outlet passage adapted to be placed in communication with the intake of the engine intermediate of the carburetor and said intake, said receptacle being provided with an air admitting opening, through which air enters, when the piston perform its suction stroke.
2. Device, as set forth in claim 1, including regulable means for controlling the air admitting opening in said receptacle.
3. Device, as set forth in claim 1, in which the outlet passage of the receptacle is formed to receive the re-run of condensed vapor or fuel from the intake manifold of the engine when the same is stopped, said re-run of condensed vapor or fuel being used as prime charge when the engine again is set in operation.
4. Modified embodiment of the device, as set forth in claims 1 and 2, in which the discharge end of the outlet passage is disposed above the bottom of the receptacle, and in which the air admitting openings is provided with air cleaning means.
5. Modified embodiment of the device, as set forth in claim 1, including adjustable means for controlling the outflow through said outlet passage.
6. Device, as set forth in claim 1, including a vapor admitting line for said receptacle arranged in communication with the overflow pipe of the radiator, so that moist air may enter said closed receptacle and be conveyed into the intake of the engine.
7. Device, as set forth in claims 1 and 6, wherein the vapor admitting line is provided with a trap having a gravity controlled gate for automatically discharging excess moisture from said trap.
8. Device, as set forth in claims 1 and 6, including means, operable when the suction in the receptacle increases beyond a predetermined degree, for admitting air into the receptacle sufficient to prevent such excess pressure becoming effective in the radiator of the engine.
9. Device, as set forth in claims 1 and 5, in which the adjustable means outlet controlling the outflow through said outlet passage is manually operated from a point remote of the engine.
10. Modified embodiment of the device, as set forth in claims 1 and 6, in which the adjustable means for controlling the outflow through said outlet passage is operable by the pressure in the exhaust manifold of the engine, whereby the outlet passage is automatically controlled.
11. Device, as set forth in claims 1 and 3, in which said receptacle is provided with a bored head adapted to be interposed between the carburetor and the intake manifold, and a screen arranged in the bore of the head, whereby the outlet passage of the receptacle terminates on the intake manifold side of said screen;
