CHAS. BATUWANTUDAWA,
Minister for Local Administration.

Colombo, February 13, 1934.

RULES.

Rules relating to the Election of Members of Village Committees.

1. (1) It shall be lawful for the Government Agent to depute any officer of Government other than a Chief Headman to conduct any election held under the provisions of these rules.

(2) In these rules the expression “presiding officer” shall mean the Government Agent conducting an election or any officer deputed by him for the purpose, as aforesaid.

2. It shall be the duty of the Government Agent—

(1) to appoint one or more convenient places within each subdivision for the meeting of the inhabitants of the various wards thereof for the purpose of electing members; and

(2) to provide at each of the places so appointed such facilities as he may consider necessary for enabling voters to place ballot-papers in the ballot-boxes without being observed by any person.

3. (1) No person shall be permitted to vote at, or take any part in, any meeting held under these rules, who is not a duly qualified inhabitant of the ward for which the election is held.

(2) The presiding officer shall have power to inquire into and decide every question arising in the course of any meeting as to the identity or the qualifications of any person nominated as a candidate, or proposing or seconding the name of any candidate, or claiming the right to vote; and the decision of the presiding officer in any such matter shall, for all the purposes of that election and for those purposes only, be final and conclusive.

4. The candidate for election shall be nominated orally, each name being formally proposed and seconded by two duly qualified inhabitants of the ward.

5. The name of every candidate so nominated if he consents, whether orally or in writing, to stand for election, shall be recorded by the presiding officer together with the names of the proposer and the seconder.

6. If there is only one candidate whose name is so recorded, the presiding officer shall declare that candidate duly elected.

7. If there are two or more candidates whose names are so recorded, the presiding officer shall—

(2) cause a notice to be posted up in a conspicuous position setting out the names of the candidates and the respective colours or combinations of colours allotted to them; and

(3) display the empty ballot-boxes to the meeting, and so place the boxes in any convenient room, enclosure, or the like, as to render it impossible for any person to observe any voter placing his ballot-paper in any of the boxes.

8. On the completion of the aforesaid arrangements or of such others as he may consider necessary, the presiding officer shall declare the poll open and proceed to issue to each qualified inhabitant presenting himself as a voter, a ballot-paper bearing on its back the official mark previously selected by the presiding officer for the purpose of authenticating the ballot-papers.

9. (1) The voter shall thereupon place the ballot-paper without undue delay in the box bearing the colour or combination of colours allotted to the candidate of his choice.

(2) Where any voter is unable, through any physical incapacity or for any other reason to distinguish a ballot-box of any particular colour, it shall be lawful for the presiding officer to give him such explanation or such assistance as may be necessary to enable the voter to place his ballot-paper in the box allotted to the candidate of his choice; but in so doing the presiding officer shall not say anything or do any act which is capable of being construed by the voter as advice or direction to vote for any particular candidate.

10. When all the duly qualified inhabitants present at the meeting have been given an opportunity to record their votes, the presiding officer shall—

(2) open the ballot-boxes in the presence of the candidates and count or cause to be counted the ballot-papers in the respective boxes of the candidates.

(2) Where the same number of authentic ballot-papers is found in the boxes of two or more candidates, the matter shall be decided by the presiding officer by causing lots to be drawn in his presence in such manner as he may in his discretion specify, and the candidate on whom such lot falls shall be declared duly elected.

12. The presiding officer may take all such steps as may be necessary for the identification of voters and for the orderly conduct of the elections, and may, for the purpose of preventing undue delay in the recording of votes or the secretion, removal, or misuse of ballot-papers or any tampering with the boxes, at any time enter the room, enclosure, or place where the ballot-boxes are kept.
