MINUTE.

An Ordinance to amend the Notaries Ordinance, 1907.

BE it enacted by the Governor of Ceylon, with the advice and consent of the State Council thereof, as follows:—

Short title.

1 This Ordinance may be cited as the Notaries Ordinance, No. of 1933.

Insertion of new section 10A in the principal Ordinance.

2 The following new section 10A is inserted between section 10 and section 11 of the Notaries Ordinance, 1907 (hereinafter referred to as “the principal Ordinance”):—

Number of offices permitted.

10A No notary shall have more than two offices unless permitted by the Registrar-General for special reasons to have a third office which shall be placed in charge of a partner or an assistant who is a notary.

Amendment of section 20 of the principal Ordinance.

3 Section 20 (1) (c) of the principal Ordinance is amended by the addition at the end, of the words “has been convicted three times or oftener for a violation disregard or neglect to observe the provisions of rule No. 24 in section 29; or”.

Insertion of new section 20A in the principal Ordinance.

4 The following new section 20A is inserted between section 20 and section 21 of the principal Ordinance:—

Resignation of office.

20A (1) If a notary applies to the Registrar-General in writing to resign from and to cease to act in the office of notary, the Registrar-General shall forthwith forward the application to the Governor who may accept such resignation as from the date desired by the notary.

(2) When a notary has resigned under this section he shall be entitled to retain his warrant which shall nevertheless be deemed to be cancelled for the purposes of sections 21, 22, 23 and 24.

(3) Notwithstanding such resignation a notary shall continue to remain subject to the provisions of this Ordinance and all rules and regulations contained therein or made thereunder in respect of all things done or omitted by him in the exercise of his functions as notary prior to the resignation.

5 Section 26 (1) of the principal Ordinance is amended (a) by substituting in line 3 for the words "and office" the words "the office", and (b) by inserting in line 4 between the word "practise" and the word "shall" the words "and such particulars concerning the security he has given as he is required to report under section 15".

6 Section 29 of the principal Ordinance is amended as follows:—

Amendment of section 29 of the principal Ordinance.

(a) Rule (14) by the addition at the end, of the words :

"And in the case of a mark he shall besides require such person to affix to the deed or instrument the impression of his left thumb and shall write over such impression at the time and in the manner aforesaid the words 'This is the left thumb impression of A. B.' (here insert the name of the person whose thumb impression it is)."

(c) Rule (29) by the deletion thereof; and

(d) At the end, but immediately before the first proviso, by insertion of the words :

"Provided that where any notary shall act in violation of or shall disregard or neglect to observe the provisions of rule No. 24 the Registrar-General may by a written notice served on him personally or sent by registered post call upon such notary to comply with the requirements of the said rule within such further time as he may specify for such purpose, and any notary who fails to comply with the terms of such notice shall be guilty of an offence and shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees."

7 Section 35 (2) of the principal Ordinance is amended by the deletion in lines 1 and 2, of the words "who are advocates or proctors of the Supreme Court".

Amendment of section 35 of the principal Ordinance.

8 Schedule II Form E of the principal Ordinance is amended by the deletion in lines 30 and 31 of the words "and that the stamps were supplied by _____."

Amendment of Schedule II of the principal Ordinance.

Objects and Reasons.

1. This Bill makes certain amendments in The Notaries Ordinance, 1907.

2. Clause 2 limits the number of offices that a notary may have. This provision is designed to prevent notaries from having a larger number of offices than they are able to control adequately.

3. Clause 3 provides definitely for the number of offences under section 29, rule 24, which should constitute repeated breaches or an aggravated breach of the rule.

Section 20 (1) (c) as it stands is inadequate to check slackness and dishonesty on the part of notaries. It is considered that the amendment suggested would be effective in checking such slackness and dishonesty as the offence is specified and the number of repetitions made definite and provides a method of dealing with the offender summarily.

4. Clause 4 provides for the resignation of office by a notary when he desires to cease to practise. There is at present no provision for this purpose in the Ordinance.

5. Clause 5 introduces an amendment which will require an annual declaration by a notary regarding the security given by him. The existing provision in section 15 does not sufficiently ensure that relevant information regarding the security is promptly brought to the notice of the District Judge.

6. Clause 6 provides principally (a) that a person signing documents with a mark should be made to affix to it his thumb impression as well, and (b) a more expeditious method than is at present available for dealing with notaries who do not forward their duplicates, &c., as required in section 29, rule 24.

7. Clause 7 extends to notaries who are not advocates or proctors the right of retaining documents which is a privilege that is essential if they are to practise in partnership with one another.

8. Clause 8 makes an amendment which supplements that occurring in clause 6 (b). They delete certain words which are no longer of any use because the system of sale of stamps by vendors no longer exists.

PERI SUNDARAM,

Minister for Labour, Industry and Commerce.

Colombo, August 2, 1933.

MINUTE.

The following Draft of a proposed Ordinance is published for general information:—

An Ordinance to amend the Prevention of Crimes Ordinance,
No. 2 of 1926.

BE it enacted by the Governor of Ceylon, with the advice and consent of the State Council thereof, as follows:—

Short title.

1 This Ordinance may be cited as The Prevention of Crimes Amendment Ordinance, No. of 1933.

Amendment of section 18 of the principal Ordinance.

2 Section 18 of The Prevention of Crimes Ordinance, No. 2 of 1926, is amended as follows:—

(a) The section is renumbered as section 18 sub-section (1), by the insertion of the figure “ (1) ” at the beginning ;

(b) At the end of the said sub-section (1) the following is added:—

“ And on such revocation the person whose licence is so revoked may, if at large, be arrested by any peace officer without a warrant and committed by any Police Magistrate to undergo the term of imprisonment or preventive detention to which he shall be liable under section 19 by reason of such revocation.”

(c) After the said sub-section (1) the following new sub-section (2) is added:—

“ (2) Whenever by virtue of sub-section (1) a Police Magistrate commits a person to undergo a term of imprisonment or preventive detention, such Police Magistrate shall forthwith report such committal to the Police Magistrate by whom such person was convicted of the offence under section 16 that led to the revocation of his licence.”

Objects and Reasons.

If a convict, who is at large under a licence issued under the Prevention of Crimes Ordinance, No. 2 of 1926, is convicted of a breach of a condition attached to the licence, he becomes liable to the punishment imposed for that offence and, in addition, the Governor may revoke his licence. When a licence is so revoked the convict becomes liable under section 19 of the Ordinance to serve the portion of his sentence that remained unexpired when his licence was granted.

2. It may happen that the punishment for the breach of a condition attached to the licence terminates before the licence itself is revoked by the Governor ; and in such cases, as there is no authority to detain him, the convict is set at liberty before he can be legally required to serve the unexpired portion of his sentence as required in section 19.

3. The purpose of this Bill is to authorise the arrest of a convict when he is at liberty in the circumstances mentioned in the preceding paragraph.

Register of trade unions.

(2) A certified copy of any entry in the register shall be conclusive proof of the facts specified therein as on the date of such certified copy.

8 (1) Every trade union established before the date of the commencement of this Ordinance shall apply to be registered under this Ordinance within a period of three months reckoned from that date.

Necessity for registration.

(2) Every trade union established after the commencement of this Ordinance shall apply to be registered under this Ordinance within a period of three months reckoned from the date on which it was so established.

(3) The Registrar may, if he thinks fit, from time to time grant an extension of the periods respectively specified in sub-sections (1) and (2), provided that neither of such periods shall, in any particular case, be so extended as to exceed a period of six months in the aggregate.

(4) For the purposes of this Ordinance, a trade union is established on the first date on which any workmen or employers agree to become or to create an association or combination for the furtherance of any one or more of the objects specified in the definition of a trade union in section 2.

(5) For the purpose of prosecuting any trade union which fails to apply for registration in accordance with the provisions of this section, the date of establishment of that trade union shall, in the absence of proof of the date referred to in sub-section (4), be deemed to be—

- (a) the date on which any person is proved to have been accepted or admitted as a member of that trade union; or,
- (b) the date on which any act is proved to have been done by that trade union in furtherance of any one or more of the objects specified in the definition of a trade union in section 2;

and, in a case where proof is available of both the dates referred to in paragraphs (a) and (b), the earlier of such dates shall be deemed so to be the date of the establishment of that trade union.

Application for registration.

9 (1) Every application for registration of a trade union shall be made to the Registrar in the prescribed form and shall be signed by at least seven members of the union, any of whom may be officers thereof.

(2) Uncancelled stamps to the value of five rupees shall be affixed to every such application which shall be accompanied by a copy of the rules of the trade union and a statement of the following particulars, namely:

(3) A trade union established before the commencement of this Ordinance shall deliver to the Registrar, together with its application for registration, a general statement of the assets and liabilities of the trade union prepared in such form and containing such particulars as may be prescribed.

Registration.

10 The Registrar, if he is satisfied that a trade union applying for registration has complied with the provisions of this Ordinance and of the regulations made thereunder and that the objects, rules and constitution of the union do not conflict with any of such provisions and are not unlawful, shall register the trade union in the prescribed manner:

Provided that if any one of the objects of such trade union is unlawful, the registration of the trade union shall be void.

Certificate of registration.

11 The Registrar, on registering a trade union under section 10, shall issue to the trade union a certificate of registration in the prescribed form and that certificate, unless proved to have been cancelled or withdrawn, shall be conclusive evidence for all purposes that the trade union has been duly registered under this Ordinance.

Power of Registrar to call for further particulars.

12 The Registrar may call for further information for the purpose of satisfying himself that any application complies with the provisions of section 9 or that the trade union is entitled to registration under this Ordinance and may refuse to register the trade union until such information is supplied.

Power of Registrar to require alteration of name.

13 If the name under which a trade union is proposed to be registered is identical with that by which any other existing trade union has been registered or, in the opinion of the Registrar, so nearly resembles such name as to be likely to deceive the public or the members of either trade union, the Registrar shall require the persons applying for registration to alter the name of the trade union stated in the application, and shall refuse to register the trade union until such alteration has been made.

Refusal of registration.

14 The Registrar may refuse to register any trade union if he is not satisfied that the trade union has complied with the provisions of this Ordinance or of any regulations made thereunder, or if he is of opinion that any one of the objects or rules, or the constitution of the union is unlawful or conflicts with any such provision.

15 (1) A certificate of registration of a trade union may be withdrawn or cancelled by the Registrar—

Cancellation or withdrawal of registration.

- (a) at the request of the trade union upon its dissolution to be verified in such manner as the Registrar may require ;
- (b) if he is satisfied,
 - (i) that the certificate of registration was obtained by fraud or mistake ;
 - (ii) that any one of the objects or rules of the trade union is unlawful ;
 - (iii) that the constitution of the trade union or of its executive is unlawful ;
 - (iv) that the trade union has wilfully and after notice from the Registrar contravened any provision of this Ordinance or allowed any rule to continue in force which is inconsistent with any such provision, or has rescinded any rule providing for any matter, for which provision is required by section 32 ;
 - (v) that the funds of the trade union are expended in an unlawful manner or on an unlawful object or on an object not authorised by the rules of the union ;
 - (vi) that the trade union has ceased to exist.

(2) Except in a case falling within sub-section (1) (a), not less than two months' previous notice in writing specifying the ground on which it is proposed to withdraw or to cancel its certificate of registration shall be given by the Registrar to a trade union before such certificate is withdrawn or cancelled.

(3) A trade union served with a notice under sub-section (2) may, at any time within a period of two months reckoned from the date of such notice, show cause in writing against the proposal to withdraw or to cancel its certificate of registration, as the case may be ; and, if such cause is shown, the Registrar may hold such enquiry as he may consider necessary in the circumstances.

(4) The Registrar may, after the expiration of the period of two months referred to in sub-section (3), withdraw or cancel the certificate of registration of any trade union which has failed duly to show cause under that sub-section, or which, having so shown cause, has failed to satisfy him that its certificate of registration should not be withdrawn or cancelled, as the case may be.

(5) An order made by the Registrar under this section withdrawing or cancelling the certificate of registration of any trade union shall be dated as of the date on which it was made and shall forthwith be served on the trade union affected thereby.

16 (1) Any person aggrieved by the refusal of the Registrar to register a trade union or by an order made by the Registrar under section 15, may appeal against such refusal or order by filing a petition of appeal in the District Court within a period of thirty days reckoned from the date of such refusal or order.

Appeal to District Court.

(2) Every petition of appeal under sub-section (1) shall—

- (a) name the Registrar as respondent ;
- (b) state the grounds of appeal and the date of the refusal or order against which the appeal is preferred ;
- (c) be signed by the appellant ; and
- (d) be stamped with a stamp of one rupee.

(3) It shall be competent for the District Court in appeal—

- (a) to direct the appellant or the Registrar to furnish further information ;
- (b) to hold an inquiry and to take and record such evidence as it may deem necessary ;
- (c) to allow the appeal and to order the registration of the trade union or to reverse any order made by the Registrar under section 15 ;
- (d) to dismiss the appeal ; or
- (e) to make such order as it shall consider just and to give such directions as it may consider necessary, including directions as to the costs of the appeal and the procedure to be observed at the hearing of the appeal.

(4) Save as is otherwise in this section provided, an appeal to the District Court against a refusal of the Registrar to register a trade union or against an order made by the Registrar under section 15 shall be deemed to be a civil action of the value of one thousand rupees for the purposes of the Stamp Ordinance, 1909, and of the Civil Procedure Code, 1889.

(5) In this section, "District Court", in the case of an appeal against the refusal of the Registrar to register a trade union, means the District Court of Colombo; and, in the case of an appeal against an order made by the Registrar under section 15, means the District Court having local jurisdiction over the place where the registered office of the trade union affected by that order is situated.

Appeal to Supreme Court.

17 An appeal shall lie to the Supreme Court against an order made by a District Court under section 16 and the provisions of the Civil Procedure Code, 1889, shall apply accordingly in all matters relating to or connected with such appeal.

Consequences of failure to register or of cancellation of registration.

18 If any trade union does not apply for registration in due time, or if the registration of any trade union is refused, withdrawn, or cancelled, then—

- (a) the trade union shall be deemed to be an unlawful association and shall cease to enjoy any of the rights, immunities, or privileges of a registered trade union, but without prejudice to any liabilities incurred or to be incurred by the trade union which may be enforced against the union and its assets;
- (b) the trade union shall not, nor shall any of its officers or agents on behalf of the union, take part in any trade dispute or promote, organize or finance any strike or lock-out, or provide pay or other benefits for its members during a strike or lock-out;
- (c) the trade union shall be dissolved and its funds shall be disposed of in accordance with the rules of the union; and
- (d) no person shall, except for the purpose of defending proceedings against the union or dissolving the union and disposing of its funds in accordance with the rules, take any part in its management or organisation, or act or purport to act on behalf of the union or as an officer of the union.

CHAPTER IV.

Rights and liabilities of trade unions.

Disabilities of unregistered union.

19 A trade union shall not enjoy any of the rights, immunities or privileges of a registered trade union until it is registered.

Immunity from civil action in certain cases.

20 No action or other legal proceeding shall be maintainable in any civil court against any registered trade union or any officer or member thereof in respect of any act done in contemplation or in furtherance of a trade dispute to which a member of the trade union is a party on the ground only that such act induces some other person to break a contract of employment, or that it is in interference with the trade, business or employment of some other person or with the right of some other person to dispose of his capital or of his labour as he wills.

Liability in tort.

21 An action against a trade union or against any members or officers thereof on behalf of themselves and all other members of the trade union in respect of any tortious act alleged to have been committed by or on behalf of the trade union, shall not be entertained by any court.

Liability in contract.

22 Every trade union shall be liable on any contract entered into by it or by an agent acting on its behalf: provided that a trade union shall not be so liable on any contract which is void or unenforceable at law.

Objects in restraint of trade not unlawful in case of registered trade union.

23 The objects of a registered trade union shall not, by reason only that they are in restraint of trade be deemed to be unlawful so as to render any member of such trade union liable to criminal prosecution for conspiracy or otherwise or to render void or voidable any agreement or trust.

Proceedings by and against trade unions.

24 (1) A registered trade union may sue and be sued and be prosecuted under its registered name.

(2) An unregistered trade union may be sued and prosecuted under the name by which it has been operating or is generally known.

(3) A trade union whose registration has been cancelled or withdrawn may be sued and prosecuted under the name by which it was registered.

(4) Execution for any money recovered from a trade union in civil proceedings may issue against any property belonging to or held in trust for the trade union other than the benevolent fund of a registered trade union.

(5) Any fine ordered to be paid by a trade union may be recovered by distress and sale of any movable property belonging to or held in trust for the trade union in accordance with the provisions of the Criminal Procedure Code, 1898.

(6) It shall be competent for a registered trade union to file a proxy in any court or in any civil or other judicial proceedings provided that the proxy is signed by at least two of the trustees of that registered trade union.

CHAPTER V.

Constitution.

25 A person under the age of twenty-one, but above the age of sixteen, may be a member of a registered trade union, unless provision be made in the rules thereof to the contrary, and may, subject to the rules of the trade union, enjoy all the rights of a member except as herein provided, and execute all instruments and give all acquittances necessary to be executed or given under the rules, but shall not be a member of the executive or a trustee of a registered trade union.

Membership of minors.

26 (1) Not less than one-half of the total number of the officers of every registered trade union shall be persons actually engaged or employed in an industry or occupation with which the trade union is connected.

Officers of trade union.

(2) The Executive Committee of Labour, Industry and Commerce may, by special or general order published in the Gazette, declare that the provisions of this section shall not apply to any registered trade union or class of registered trade unions specified in the order.

27 Any registered trade union may, with the consent of not less than two-thirds of the total number of its members and subject to the provisions of section 28, change its name.

Change of name.

28 Any two or more registered trade unions may become amalgamated together as one trade union with or without dissolution or division of the funds of such trade unions or either or any of them, provided that the votes of at least one-half of the members of each or every such trade union entitled to vote are recorded, and that at least sixty per centum of the votes recorded are in favour of the proposal.

Amalgamation.

29 (1) Notice in writing shall be given to the Registrar of every change of name and of every amalgamation, signed, in the case of a change of name, by the secretary and by seven members of the trade union changing its name, and, in the case of an amalgamation, by the secretary and by seven members of each and every trade union which is a party thereto.

Notice of change of name or amalgamation.

(2) If the proposed name is identical with that by which any other existing trade union has been registered or, in the opinion of the Registrar, so nearly resembles such name as to be likely to deceive the public or the members of either trade union, the Registrar shall refuse to register the change of name.

(3) Save as is provided in sub-section (2), the Registrar shall, if he is satisfied that the provisions of this Ordinance in respect of change of name have been complied with, register the change of name in the prescribed manner, and the change of name shall have effect from the date of such registration.

(4) If the Registrar is satisfied that the provisions of this Ordinance in respect of amalgamation have been complied with and that the trade union formed thereby is entitled to registration under section 10, he shall register the trade union in the prescribed manner and the amalgamation shall have effect from the date of such registration.

(5) An appeal shall lie to the District Court against a refusal of the Registrar to register either a change of the name of a registered trade union or the amalgamation of any two or more registered trade unions and all the provisions of section 16 shall apply accordingly for the purposes of such an appeal as though the refusal to register a change of name or an amalgamation were a refusal to register a trade union. A further appeal to the Supreme Court shall lie against any order made by the District Court on such appeal and the provisions of section 17 shall apply accordingly.

30 (1) A change in the name of a registered trade union shall not affect any rights or obligations of that trade union or render defective any legal proceeding by or against the trade union, and any legal proceeding which might have been continued or commenced by or against it under its former name may be continued or commenced by or against it under its new name.

Effect of change of name or amalgamation.

(2) An amalgamation of two or more registered trade unions shall not prejudice any right of either or any such trade unions or any right of a creditor of either or any of them.

Registered office.

31 (1) Every registered trade union shall have a registered office to which all communications and notices may be addressed.

(2) Notice of the situation of such registered office, and of any change therein, shall be given to the Registrar and shall be registered by him, and the trade union shall not be deemed to have complied with the provisions of this Ordinance until such notice has been given.

(3) Every trade union which—

(a) operates without having a registered office, or without giving notice of the situation of its registered office as hereinbefore required; or

(b) operates at any place to which its registered office may have been removed, without having given notice of the change in the situation thereof to the Registrar, officers, &c.

33 Notice of all changes of officers or of the title of any officer shall be prominently exhibited in the registered office of every registered trade union, and shall, within seven days after the change, be sent to the Registrar by such trade union together with the prescribed fee, and the Registrar shall thereupon correct the register accordingly.

Notification
of dissolution.

34 When a registered trade union is dissolved, notice of the dissolution signed by seven members and by the secretary of the trade union shall, within fourteen days of the dissolution, be sent to the Registrar and shall be registered by him if he is satisfied that the dissolution has been effected in accordance with the rules of the trade union; and the dissolution shall have effect from the date of such registration.

Trustees.

35 (1) The rules of a trade union shall provide for the appointment or election of trustees and for the filling of vacancies in the office of trustee so that, as far as may be, there shall always be at least three trustees of the union.

(2) Any officer or member of a registered trade union may be a trustee thereof.

CHAPTER VI.

Devolution
of property.

37 Upon any change in the office of the trustee, the property of a registered trade union shall vest in the trustee or trustees for the time being of the union for the same estate and interest as the former trustee had therein, and subject to the same trusts, without any conveyance or assignment.

Purchase or
or buildings.

38 Subject to any provision in its rules, it shall be lawful for a registered trade union to purchase or to take upon lease for the purposes of the union and in the names of its trustees any land not exceeding one acre in extent or any buildings and, subject to any written or other law which may be applicable, to sell, exchange, hypothecate or lease any such land or building which may be so purchased.

CHAPTER VII.

Funds and accounts.

39 The funds of a registered trade union may, subject to the rules thereof and to the provisions of this Ordinance, be applied for any lawful object for which that trade union has been established.

Application of funds.

40 The funds of a registered trade union shall not be applied either directly or indirectly in payment of the whole or part of any fine or penalty imposed upon any person by sentence or order of a court of justice.

Prohibition of payment of fines or penalties.

41 (1) A registered trade union may constitute a separate fund, hereinafter in this Ordinance called "the political fund", from contributions separately levied for or made to that fund, from which payments may be made, for the promotion of the civic and political interests of its members, in furtherance of any of the objects, hereinafter in this Ordinance called "political objects" specified in sub-section (2).

Political objects and political fund.

(2) The political objects referred to in sub-section (1) are:—

- (a) the payment of any expenses incurred either directly or indirectly by a candidate or prospective candidate for election as a member of the State Council or to any public office, before, during, or after the election, in connection with his candidature or election; or,
- (b) the holding of any meeting or the distribution of any literature or documents in support of any such candidate or prospective candidate; or,
- (c) the maintenance of any person who is a member of the State Council or who holds a public office; or,
- (d) the compilation or revision of any register of electors, the registration of electors, or the selection of a candidate for membership of the State Council or for any public office; or,
- (e) the holding of political meetings of any kind, or the distribution of political literature or political documents of any kind.

In this sub-section, "public office" means the office of any member of any Municipal Council, District Council, Local Board, Sanitary Board, Village Committee or any other local authority constituted by or under any written law and which has or may have the power to raise money, either directly or indirectly, by means of the imposition or levy of any tax, rate or fee.

(3) No political fund shall be created by any registered trade union unless a resolution in favour of the creation of a political fund is passed by a majority of the members of the union present and voting at a general meeting specially convened for the purpose. The voting at a general meeting so convened shall be by ballot held in the prescribed manner.

(4) No payment in furtherance of any political object shall be made by any registered trade union except out of the political fund of that union.

(5) No member of a registered trade union shall be liable to contribute to the political fund of that union unless he has signed and delivered at the registered office thereof a notice substantially in the form contained in Part I of the Second Schedule of his willingness to contribute to that fund and has not withdrawn such notice by signing and delivering at the registered office of the union a notice substantially in the form contained in Part II of that Schedule.

(6) A notice under sub-section (5) may be delivered personally or by an agent or servant, and shall be deemed to have been duly delivered if it is sent by registered post addressed to the secretary of the registered trade union at its registered office.

(7) No member shall be compelled or required to make a contribution to the political fund unless he is liable for such contribution.

(8) Where a member of a registered trade union is liable to contribute to the political fund of that union, every demand made to that member for a contribution to the funds of the union shall specify separately the amount, if any, demanded from him as a contribution to the political fund; and every receipt issued to any member of a registered trade union for any contribution made by that member to the funds of that union shall specify separately what sum, if any, out of the total amount of such contribution was received from that member on account of the political fund.

(9) No assets of a trade union, other than the contributions of members liable to contribute to the political fund and voluntary contributions to the political fund received from non-members, shall be credited to the political fund; and no assets of a trade union not forming part of the political fund shall be directly or indirectly applied in furtherance of any political object.

(10) A member of a registered trade union who does not contribute to the political fund thereof shall not be expelled therefrom nor be excluded from any benefits of that trade union nor be placed in any respect either directly or indirectly under any disability or at any disadvantage as compared with other members of that trade union (except in relation to the control or management of the political fund) by reason of his not contributing to that fund; and a contribution to the political fund shall not be made a condition for admission to the trade union.

Injunction
misuse of funds.

42 An injunction restraining any unauthorised or unlawful expenditure of the funds of a registered trade union may be granted on the application of any person having a sufficient interest in the relief sought, or of the Attorney-General.

Treasurer
accounts.

43 (1) Every treasurer of a registered trade union and every other officer thereof who is responsible for the accounts of the union or for the collection, disbursement, custody or control of the funds or moneys thereof, shall, upon resigning or vacating his office and at least once in every year at such time as may be specified by the rules of the union and at any other times at which he may be required to do so by a resolution of the members of the union or by the rules thereof, render to the union and its members a just and true account of all moneys received and paid by him during the period which has elapsed since the date of his assuming office, or if he has previously rendered an account, since the last date upon which he rendered such account, and of the balance remaining in his hands, at the time of rendering such account and of all bonds, securities, or other property of the trade union entrusted to his custody or under his control.

(2) The form of account may be prescribed by regulation.

(3) The account shall be verified by affidavit, and the union shall cause the account to be audited by some fit and proper person approved by the Registrar.

(4) After the account has been audited, the treasurer or other officer referred to in sub-section (1) shall forthwith hand over to the trustees of the union, if required by them to do so, such balance as appears to be due from him, and also, if so required, all bonds, securities, effects, books, papers, and property of the union in his hands or custody, or otherwise under his control.

Annual

44 (1) The secretary of every registered trade union shall furnish annually to the Registrar on or before the prescribed date in each and every year a general statement audited in the prescribed manner, of all receipts and expenditure during the period of twelve months ending on the thirty-first day of March next preceding such prescribed date, and of the assets and liabilities of the trade union as at such thirty-first day of March. The statement shall be prepared in such form and shall comprise such particulars as may be prescribed.

(2) Together with the general statement referred to in sub-section (1), the secretary of each registered trade union shall furnish to the Registrar a copy of all alterations or amendments of rules, and of all new rules, and a list of all changes of officers, made by the union during the period of twelve months preceding the said thirty-first day of March, and a copy of the rules of the trade union in force on that day.

(3) In the case of a registered trade union which was established before the commencement of this Ordinance, it shall be lawful for the Registrar, on application made to him in that behalf, by writing under his hand to substitute the day on which the financial year of that trade union ends for the thirty-first day of March mentioned in sub-sections (1) and (2) and, if necessary, some other date for the date prescribed for the purposes of sub-section (1); and all the provisions of this section shall thereupon apply accordingly in the case of that registered trade union as though the date and the day so substituted were respectively the date referred to in sub-section (1) and the day referred to in sub-sections (1) and (2).

(4) Every member of a registered trade union shall be entitled to receive free of charge a copy of the general statement referred to in sub-section (1) and the secretary of each registered trade union shall deliver a copy of such statement to every member of his union who makes application to him therefor.

(5) Any secretary of a registered trade union who fails to comply with any of the requirements of this section shall be guilty of an offence, and shall, on conviction after summary trial by a Police Magistrate, be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees.

(6) Every person who wilfully makes or orders or causes or procures to be made any false entry in or omission from any general statement, copy or list delivered to the Registrar under sub-sections (1) and (2) shall be guilty of an offence and shall, on conviction after summary trial by a Police Magistrate, be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees.

45 The account books of a registered trade union and a list of the members thereof shall be open to inspection by any officer or member of the trade union at such times as may be provided for in the rules of the trade union.

47 (1) No regulation made under section 46 shall have effect unless it has been approved by the State Council and ratified by the Governor. Notification of such approval and ratification shall be published in the Gazette.

Approval by State Council and ratification by Governor.

(2) Every regulation made by the Executive Committee of Labour, Industry and Commerce shall, upon the publication of a notification of the approval and ratification of that regulation as provided for in sub-section (1), be as valid and effectual as if it were herein enacted.

48 (1) Where, on complaint made by a member of a registered trade union, it is shown to the satisfaction of a Police Magistrate that any officer or member of that union has in his possession or control any property of the union except in accordance with the rules of the union, or has unlawfully expended or withheld any money of the union, the Magistrate shall, if he considers the justice of the case so requires, order such officer or member to deliver all such property to the trustees of the union and to pay to them the money so unlawfully expended or withheld.

Penalty for misuse of money or property of a registered trade union.

(2) A complaint made under sub-section (1) shall not be entertained unless the Police Magistrate is satisfied that the complainant is, on the date of that complaint, a member of the registered trade union in respect of the property of which such complaint is so made.

(3) Any person bound by an order made under sub-section (1) who fails to comply with the terms thereof and the directions given therein within a time to be specified in such order shall be guilty of an offence and shall, on conviction after summary trial by a Police Magistrate, be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees.

(4) An order under sub-section (1) shall not affect or prevent a prosecution of, or civil proceedings against, any such officer or member.

Supplying false information regarding trade unions.

49 Any person who, with intent to deceive, gives to any member of a registered trade union or to any person intending or applying to become a member of such trade union any document purporting to be a copy of the rules of the trade union or of any alterations thereto which he knows, or has reason to believe, is not a correct copy of such rules or alterations as are for the time being in force, or any person who, with the like intent, gives a copy of any rules of an unregistered trade union to any person on the pretence that such rules are the rules of a registered trade union, shall be guilty of an offence and shall on conviction after summary trial by a Police Magistrate be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees or to imprisonment of either description for any period not exceeding three months, or to both such fine and imprisonment.

Failure to submit returns.

50 If default is made on the part of any registered trade union in doing any act, in giving any notice, or in sending any statement, return or other document as required by this Ordinance or by the regulations made thereunder, every officer or other person bound by the rules of the trade union or under the provisions of this Ordinance or the regulations made thereunder to do such act, or to give such notice, or to send such statement, return or document, or, if there is no such officer or person, every member of the executive of that registered trade union shall severally be guilty of an offence and shall on conviction after summary trial by a Police Magistrate be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees.

General penalty.

51 (1) Every person who, and every trade union which, contravenes any provision of this Ordinance or any regulation made thereunder shall be guilty of an offence and shall, on conviction after summary trial by a Police Magistrate, be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees unless some other punishment is provided for such offence by this Ordinance.

(2) Upon conviction of an unregistered trade union under sub-section (1), every person proved to have been a member of the executive of that trade union at any time after the commencement of this Ordinance shall be deemed severally to be guilty of the offence for which the trade union was so convicted and the Police Magistrate shall, after necessary enquiry, declare in his judgment and verdict the name of each person so deemed to be guilty and shall pass sentence upon him according to law.

Limitation of prosecutions.

52 No prosecution shall be instituted under this Ordinance except by, or at the instance of, or with the written consent of, the Attorney-General.

Saving of offences under other written law.

53 The offences and penalties specifically defined and provided in this Ordinance are in addition to and not in substitution of those defined and provided in any other written law.

CHAPTER X.

Objects and Reasons.

1. The object of this Bill is to make provision for the registration and control of trade unions.

2. The greater part of the Bill is derived from corresponding provisions in the Trade Union Act, 1871, (34 & 35 Vict. c. 31), the Trade Union Act (Amendment) Act, 1876, (39 & 40 Vict. c. 22), The Trade Disputes Act, 1906, (6 Edw. 7, c. 47), The Trade Union Act, 1913, (2 & 3 Geo. V. c. 30), The Trade Disputes and Trade Unions Act, 1927, (9 & 10 Geo. 5. c. 46) and The Indian Trade Unions Act, 1926, (Act XVI of 1926) which have been modified, adapted and, in some matters, re-drafted to meet local conditions and requirements.

3. The definition of the word "workman" in Clause 2 has been taken over from the Industrial Disputes (Conciliation) Ordinance, 1931, and has been inserted in order to extend the scope and application of the Bill so as to include all employees working under any employer in any capacity and under any contract, whether express or implied.

4. Chapter II deals with the appointment of a Registrar of Trade Unions and of other officers who may be required for the purposes of the Bill. All officers are declared to be public servants within the meaning of the Ceylon Penal Code and are protected against civil actions in respect of acts bona fide done or omitted to be done in the discharge of their duties.

5. Clause 8 makes it compulsory for all trade unions established either before or after the commencement of the Ordinance to be registered locally; and Clause 9 provides the procedure to be followed by a trade union when applying for registration. The Registrar is given the power to call for further particulars from applicants for registration (Clause 12) and to refuse registration in specified circumstances. A certificate of registration is issued to every trade union which is duly registered. (Clause 11). Clause 15 details the cases in which the Registrar is empowered to cancel or to withdraw a certificate of registration. Clause 16 enables a party aggrieved by a refusal of the Registrar to register a union or by an order of the Registrar cancelling or withdrawing a certificate of registration to appeal in the first instance to the District Court. A further appeal is allowed to the Supreme Court. (Clause 17).

6. The consequences of a failure to register a trade union in due time are set out in Clause 18. A trade union which has not been duly registered becomes an unlawful association and has no authority to take part in any trade dispute. Clause 19 provides that a trade union shall not enjoy any of the rights, immunities or privileges of a registered trade union until it is registered in accordance with the provisions of the Bill.

7. Chapter IV deals with the rights and liabilities of registered trade unions. A registered trade union is protected against an action in tort (Clause 21); but any trade union, including an unregistered union is liable in contract. (Clause 22). In the case of a registered trade union the fact that its objects are in restraint of trade does not render such objects unlawful or expose any member of the union to an action for criminal conspiracy. (Clause 23). Clause 24 enables a registered trade union to sue and to be sued in its own name; but an unregistered trade union has no right to sue though it may be sued and prosecuted under the name by which it operates or by which it is generally known.

8. Chapter V deals with the constitution of trade unions. Minors under the age of 21 but above the age of 16 may become members unless the rules of the trade union otherwise provide. (Clause 25). The "executive" of a trade union is defined to mean the body, by whatever name called, to which the management of the affairs of a registered trade union is entrusted. (Clause 2). Clause 26 provides that not less than one-half of the number of officers of a trade union shall be composed of persons actually engaged or employed in an industry or occupation with which the trade union is connected.

9. Clauses 27 to 30 deal with the amalgamation of trade unions and the procedure for changing the name of a trade union. Every registered trade union has to keep a registered office (Clause 31). A change in the situation of the registered office has to be duly notified and registered.

10. Clause 32 provides that every registered trade union shall make provision in its rules for all the matters specified in the First Schedule. Item 4 of the First Schedule makes it compulsory for every trade union to provide for the appointment, election and removal of a secretary and a treasurer.

This provision has been inserted because the Bill specifically casts certain duties on the treasurer and the secretary and it is therefore essential that there should be a secretary and a treasurer for each registered trade union.

11. Registered trade unions have not been declared to be corporations though they have virtually the status of corporations. Following analogous provisions in the English law, all property belonging to trade unions has been vested in trustees who are empowered to purchase or to lease land or buildings for the purposes of their respective unions.

12. Perhaps the most important provisions of the Bill are those contained in Chapter VII which deals with funds and accounts. The funds of a trade union cannot be applied in paying a fine imposed on a member by a court of justice (Clause 40). Money can be spent on a "political object" only out of a special "political fund" which has to be separately constituted from contributions separately levied for or made to that fund. The principle of "contracting in" introduced by the English Trade Disputes and Trade Unions Act, 1927, has been adhered to. The Second Schedule provides the form on which a member of a trade union may "contract in" by notice delivered at the registered office of the union. Ample safeguards have been introduced for auditing the accounts of trade unions and for securing regular returns of accounts, assets, and expenditure.

13. The Executive Committee of Labour, Industry and Commerce is entrusted with the duty of framing the necessary regulations generally for the purpose of carrying out the principles of the Ordinance and specifically in matters of ancillary procedure. All regulations have to receive the approval of the State Council and must be ratified by the Governor before they become effective.

14. Chapter IX deals with offences and penalties. All offences are declared to be summarily punishable by a Police Magistrate but the enumeration of offences and penalties in the Bill does not exclude the operation of other penal statute law.

15. Clause 55 provides that a trade union shall not be registered under the Joint Stock Companies Ordinance, 1861, the Co-operative Societies Ordinance, 1921, the Societies Ordinance, 1891, or the Registration of Business Names Ordinance, No. 6 of 1918.

16. Clause 56 provides for the service of legal process Service at the registered office of a trade union or on the president, treasurer or secretary thereof is deemed to be good service provided that such service is otherwise in compliance with the requirements of other written law.

regulated or protected under the Village Communities Ordinance, No. 9 of 1924; and from such date the provisions of this Ordinance shall not affect such ferry but its maintenance, regulation and protection, the imposition of tolls in respect thereof and all other matters concerning it shall be governed by the Village Communities Ordinance, No. 9 of 1924.

Objects and Reasons.

Clause 2 of this Bill exempts from tolls those engaged in the repair of Government telegraph and telephone lines on the conditions affecting those engaged on the construction and repair of roads, bridges, &c.

2. Clause 3 authorizes the transfer of ferries to the control of the inhabitants of the subdivision in which the ferry is situated. The right to impose the toll in respect of the ferry and the responsibility for the ferry's maintenance, regulation and protection will after the transfer be governed by the Village Communities Ordinance, No. 9 of 1924.
