NOTIFICATIONS UNDER "THE PATENTS ORDINANCE, 1906."

THE following Specifications have been accepted:—

No. 2,718 of January 30, 1934.

Eric Charles Cameron and Robert Kent Fletcher.

Improvements in machinery for the measurement of rice and like cereals.

Abstract.—The invention consists in a partially enclosed container mounted horizontally and partitioned within. As the container is rotated, rice or like cereal is received into the container and issued as a measured quantity. Provision is made for indicating the moment of issue of the measured quantity, preventing the issue of short measure as well as governing the speed of rotation.

There are eight claims and two sheets of drawings.

No. 2,743 of May 7, 1934.

The English Electric Company Limited.

Improvements relating to the withering of tea leaves.

Abstract.—The invention is intended to provide means for giving an even and consistent wither throughout the loft. It consists of a system of progressive reheating of the air by definitely graded steps at intervals as it passes along the loft.

This is obtained by screens which are heated preferably electrically and controlled by hygrostats.

There are seventeen claims and five sheets of drawings.

No. 2,751 of June 7, 1934.

Sydney Hayden.

Improvements in embossed metal pictures.

Abstract.—This invention relates to the production of embossed metal pictures. A sheet of suitable ductile metal is coated on one side with a sensitive emulsion on which the picture to be embossed is printed. The picture on the metal sheet is then developed and the metal sheet embossed. To prevent accidental damage the metal sheet is backed by means of suitable material and the front surface finished off with a suitable coating.

There are ten claims and two sheets of drawings.

No. 2,810 of January 5, 1935.

Hume Steel, Limited.

Improvements in and relating to the art of electric arc welding.

Abstract.—The invention consists in oscillating the work piece as the welding is being done so that the molten metal immediately under the electrode is displaced in a forward direction. The agitation of the molten metal is affected by means of a rocking frame supported on a carriage and oscillated by some suitable means such as a crank linked to the rocking frame and rotated by an electric motor.

There are twenty-one claims and one sheet of drawings.

No. 2,815 of January 17, 1935. (Date applied for under Section 50 of the Ordinance : October 11, 1934.)

John McGavack.

Improvements in or relating to the concentration of latex.

Abstract.—The invention relates to an extension of the process for chemically creaming rubber latex described in Patent No. 2,679 of August 14, 1933. By interrupting the creaming operation at certain specific times it is claimed that the output of any given creaming equipment is increased.

There are fourteen claims and no drawings.

No. 2,816 of January 17, 1935. (Date applied for under Section 50 of the Ordinance : October 11, 1934.)

John McGavack.

Improvements in or relating to the concentration and purification of latex.

Abstract.—According to this invention a cream equivalent to that normally obtained from a multiple creaming operation may be obtained in a much shorter time and by a fewer number of creaming cycles by first considerably reducing the concentration of solids in the latex to be creamed and then creaming the diluted product. In order to accomplish the creaming operation at the low total solids content of the latex it is necessary to use a larger amount of creaming agent than usual.

There are nine claims and no drawings.

No. 2,817 of January 23, 1935. (Date applied for under Section 48 of the Ordinance : February 27, 1931.)

James Morton.

Improvements in the manufacture of fabrics of various kinds by needle action.

Abstract.—The object of this invention is to enable fabrics to be manufactured at a very rapid rate. Threads are formed into chains of thread loops, deflectors act on the threads as they are supplied and deflect them sideways from the hooks to catch and pull them into loop formation. The machine comprises three principal motions :—

- (1) a timed differential movement of the oscillating hook needles and co-operating tongues about a common axis.
- (2) a motion to deflect the threads sideways.
- (3) a helical or screw feed motion to supply the weft threads for incorporation with the chains of threaded loops.

There are twenty-one claims and four sheets of drawings.

No. 2,818 of January 23, 1935. (Date applied for under Section 48 of the Ordinance, March 27, 1931.)

James Morton.

Method of and means for supplying fibrous material for incorporation into fabrics.

Abstract.—The material is passed to the convolutions of rotary screw or equivalent feeding devices so as to pass to-and-fro in lengths between the devices. As the devices rotate they automatically bring the material, fed from a source or sources of supply into substantial parallelism and, at the same time, feed it forward to the place of discharge ready to be incorporated in the fabric being manufactured.

There are fourteen claims and two sheets of drawings.

No. 2,821 of March 1, 1935.

Schering-Kahlbaum Aktiengesellschaft.

Hydrogenation products of follicle Hormones and method of producing same.

Abstract.—The invention provides means whereby hydrogenation products of follicle hormones are obtained by subjecting the follicle hormones to the action of agents which are capable of reducing the keto group of the follicle hormones to the secondary alcohol group.

There are sixteen claims and no drawings.

No. 2,822 of March 1, 1935. (Date applied for under Section 50 of the Ordinance : July 3, 1934.)

John Richard Clayton and the Assam Company, Limited.

Improvements relating to machines for rolling tea leaf. Abstract.—In this invention pneumatic pressure is employed to act upon a piston or plunger located in a cylinder and operatively connected with the usual pressure cap of the machine.

The leaf is cooled by means of expanding the air and introducing it into the container.

There are sixteen claims and two sheets of drawings.

No. 2,824 of March 5, 1935.

Schering-Kahlbaum Aktiengesellschaft.

Oestrogenous products and methods of producing the same.

Abstract.—The invention consists in a method of obtaining oestrogenous products from plants of the genus Butea. The portions of the plant selected are cut, dried, and pulverised, and the residual dry powder is extracted by means of alcohol or other organic solvents.

There are nine claims and no drawings.
