MEDICAL RESEARCH COUNCIL.*Fellowships and Appointments for Research in Tropical Medicine.

THE Medical Research Council, advised by the Tropical Medical Research Committee which they have recently appointed after consultation with the Colonial Office, announce the following:—

Junior Fellowships.

Three junior fellowships are offered immediately, for award to qualified medical men wishing to receive training with a view to careers in research work in tropical medicine. Preference will be given to candidates who have already had preliminary experience of methods of research in some branch of medical science.

Subject to satisfactory reports, the fellowships will be tenable for three years. The first year will be spent at a School of Tropical Medicine; the second in doing research in the same or some other institution at home; and the third largely in work under direction at some centre in the tropics. The stipend will be at the rates of £300, £400, and £500 per annum in the successive years, with an additional allowance during service abroad and necessary expenses.

The Council have every reason to believe that men who undergo this training will be eligible and well qualified for various appointments, apart from the prospects of further employment under the scheme now announced.

Senior Fellowships.

In three years' time, at least one senior fellowship will be available for candidates who have held the junior fellowships mentioned above. This will be awarded for a further period of three years, carrying stipend at the rate of £600-£750 per annum, with an additional allowance during service abroad and expenses. The time will be spent mainly in research work in the tropics.

The Council are also prepared to consider immediate applications for senior fellowships from candidates who have had adequate experience in research work, whether already specially trained in tropical medicine or not.

Permanent Appointments.

The Council further intend to establish in due course as suitable investigators become available as the result of the fellowships scheme, permanent and pensionable appointments for research work in tropical medicine, including senior posts. Members of this research staff will work partly in the tropics, and partly in institutions at home to which they will be severally attached. The exact terms of service are still undecided, but they will be not less favourable than those which apply to other Government appointments at home or overseas for men of similar professional standing.

Inquiries may be addressed to the Secretary, Tropical Medical Research Committee, 38, Old Queen Street, London, S.W.1, with whom applications should be lodged not later than October 1, 1936.
