The person so appointed shall be deemed to be the manager of the estate in Ceylon of such lunatic appointed under Chapter XXXIX. of the Civil Procedure Code, 1889, and the provisions of that Chapter of that Code shall apply accordingly as though the lunatic had been adjudged by the District Court to be of unsound mind and incapable of managing his affairs.”

Objects and Reasons.

The object of this Bill is to amend the Courts Ordinance, 1889, so as—

- (1) to give effect to suggestions made by the Secretary of State for the amendment of sections 9 and 14 of the Ordinance in regard to the appointment and functions of the Chief Justice and the other Judges of the Supreme Court (Clauses 2 and 3) ;
- (2) to make the Private Secretary to the Chief Justice an officer holding a permanent Government appointment and to remove his post from the category of appointments personal to the Judges of the Supreme Court (Clause 4) ;
- (3) to provide that appeals from the judgments of District Courts in criminal cases should be heard by at least two Judges of the Supreme Court, and not before a single Judge of that Court (Clause 5) ;
- (4) to dispense with the necessity for obtaining an order of the Supreme Court conferring sole testamentary jurisdiction on a District Court in cases where probates and letters of administration granted by British courts outside Ceylon are produced for re-sealing before a District Court under the British Courts Probates (Re-sealing) Ordinance, 1937 (Clause 6) ;
- (5) to empower the Supreme Court to make order conferring jurisdiction on a District Court to appoint a manager for the estate in Ceylon of a lunatic who is resident outside Ceylon (Clause 7) ;
- (6) to substitute for Schedule IV a revised Schedule of ex officio Justices of the Peace (Clause 9) ; and
- (7) to insert a new Schedule of persons entitled by virtue of office to function as Unofficial Police Magistrates (Clauses 8 and 10).

2. Section 9 of the principal Ordinance provides that the Chief Justice and Puisne Justices shall be appointed by Letters Patent issued in pursuance of warrants under the sign manual of His Majesty. The Secretary of State for the Colonies points out that the procedure of appointing judges in pursuance of warrants under the sign manual is inconvenient in several respects and suggests that the law should be amended so as to enable such appointments to be made by Letters Patent issued by the Governor in pursuance of instructions from His Majesty through one of His Principal Secretaries of State.

Clause 2 accordingly repeals section 9 and substitutes a new section which will give effect to the amendment desired by the Secretary of State.

3. Section 14 of the principal Ordinance provides that the acceptance by the Chief Justice or any Puisne Justice of any other office, place of profit or emolument within the Island shall be ipso facto an avoidance of his office of Chief Justice or Puisne Justice, as the case may be. This provision is considered to be both unnecessary and undesirable—unnecessary, because acceptance by a Judge of an office which is inconsistent with his judicial position would, in any event, be misconduct ; and undesirable, first, because it might prevent the legitimate appointment of a Judge to perform duties outside those of his office for which he is to receive fees in addition to his ordinary salary ; and secondly, because it might happen that a Judge was, through an oversight, appointed to such an office notwithstanding the existence of the section in its present form.

Clause 3 of the Bill accordingly repeals section 14 and substitutes a new section, modelled on a draft furnished by the Secretary of State, which prohibits a Judge of the Supreme Court from accepting or performing any other office or place of profit or emolument without the sanction of the Governor. The prohibition will not apply to persons appointed to act as Judges of the Supreme Court.

4. Every Judge of the Supreme Court has a Private Secretary but the duties which fall upon the Chief Justice exclusively and not upon the other Judges give a larger and quite different character to the duties required of his Private Secretary. It has accordingly been decided on the recommendation of the Chief Justice that his Private Secretary should be an officer holding a permanent post under Government so that each Chief Justice may have the benefit of the assistance of a Private Secretary who has acquired the necessary experience and knowledge of routine duties by continuity of service in that office. Clause 4 of the Bill amends section 16 of the principal Ordinance so as to convert the post of Private Secretary to the Chief Justice from a personal and temporary to an official and permanent appointment.

5. Section 41 of the principal Ordinance provides that appeals against the judgments of District Courts in criminal cases may be heard before a single Judge of the Supreme Court though the same section requires appeals from judgments delivered by District Judges in civil cases to be heard by at least two Judges of the Supreme Court.

Clause 5 of the Bill amends section 41 and provides that appeals in criminal cases should, like appeals in civil cases, be heard before at least two Judges of the Supreme Court.

6. Clause 6 of the Bill effects in section 70 of the principal Ordinance an amendment consequential on the enactment of the British Courts Probates (Re-sealing) Ordinance, 1937, under which application can be made direct to a 'competent' District Court for the re-sealing of a probate granted by a British Court outside Ceylon. Under the British and Colonial Probates Ordinance, No. 7 of 1921, which has been repealed by the Ordinance of 1937, an application had to be made to the Supreme Court to confer sole testamentary jurisdiction on a District Court before the latter Court could re-seal in Ceylon a probate granted by a British Court outside Ceylon.

7. The Supreme Court in an order dated October 29, 1935 (in re Ghouse Mohamadu) ruled that section 71 of the Courts Ordinance, 1889, did not empower that Court to authorise a District Court to exercise lunacy jurisdiction in respect of the estate of a lunatic resident outside Ceylon and suggested that the law should be amended so as to enable a District Court to be vested with special jurisdiction in such cases.

Clause 7 of the Bill accordingly amends section 71 of the principal Ordinance so as to enable the Supreme Court to make in respect of the property of a lunatic resident outside Ceylon an order similar to that which it is empowered to make under the existing law in the case of a minor resident outside Ceylon. It has been found necessary, however, to provide that, in the event of a person being appointed by a District Court to take charge of the property of a lunatic, such person will be deemed to be the manager of the estate of the lunatic for the purposes of the application of the provisions of Chapter XXXIX. of the Civil Procedure Code, in regard to the powers and duties of a manager and the right of the Court to supervise and control his administration of that estate. As the order of the Supreme Court can be made only upon proof to the satisfaction of that Court of the lunacy of the person resident abroad, the District Court will be concerned only with the appointment and supervision of the manager of the estate of the lunatic and will not be called upon, as in the case of a lunatic resident in Ceylon, to adjudge the owner of the estate to be a person of unsound mind and incapable of managing his affairs, before it proceeds to appoint a manager for that estate.

8. Clause 8 inserts in the principal Ordinance a new section which provides that the Inspector-General of Police, his Deputies, and the Superintendents and Assistant Superintendents of Police shall, by virtue of their respective offices, be Unofficial Police Magistrates for the whole Island. This amendment will also obviate the necessity for gazetting each Superintendent and Assistant Superintendent as an Unofficial Police Magistrate whenever he is transferred from one district of the Island to another.

9. Clause 9 repeals the list of ex officio Justices of the Peace and substitutes in its place a new list suitably revised to meet the changes effected by the introduction of the new Constitution and resulting from the separation of the duties of the Legal Secretary from those of the Attorney-General. The opportunity has been taken to add to the list the two Deputies of the Inspector-General of Police, and the Registrar and Deputy Registrars of the Supreme Court.

10. Clause 10 adds to the principal Ordinance a new Schedule V which contains a list of those officers who will, under new section 84B, be entitled by virtue of office to function as Unofficial Police Magistrates for the whole Island.
