DRAFT ORDINANCES.

MINUTE.

The following Draft of a proposed Ordinance is published for general information :—

An Ordinance to consolidate the Law relating to Oaths and Affirmations in Judicial Proceedings and for other purposes.

Preamble.	W HEREAS it is expedient to consolidate the law relating to oaths and affirmations in judicial proceedings and for other purposes : Be it therefore enacted by the Governor of Ceylon, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council thereof, as follows :
Short title. Commencement.	1 This Ordinance may be cited as "The Oaths Ordinance, 189 "; and it shall come into operation at such date as the Governor shall, by Proclamation to be published in the Government Gazette , appoint.
Repeal.	2 From and after the coming into operation of this Ordinance, Ordinance No. 3 of 1842, intituled "For the substitution of Solemn Affirmation in lieu of Oaths in certain cases," shall be repealed.
Saving of certain proceedings.	3 Nothing herein contained applies to proceedings before court martials.
Authority to administer oaths.	4 All courts and persons having by law or consent of parties authority to receive evidence are authorized to administer by themselves, or by an officer empowered by them in this behalf, oaths and affirmations in discharge of the duties or in exercise of the powers conferred upon them respectively by law.
Oaths to be made by witnesses.	5 (1) Subject to the provisions of the next following section, oaths shall be made by the following persons : (a) All witnesses, that is to say, all persons who may be lawfully examined, or give or be required to give evidence by or before any court or person having by law or consent of parties authority to examine such persons, or to receive evidence ; (b) Interpreters of questions put to, and evidence given by, witnesses ; and (c) Jurors.
Exemptions.	(2) Nothing herein contained shall render it necessary to administer to the official interpreter of any court, after he has entered on the execution of the duties of his office, an oath that he will faithfully discharge those duties. 6 Where the person required by law to make an oath— (a) Not being a Christian, is a Buddhist, Hindu, or Muhammadan, or of some other religion according to which oaths are not of binding force ; or (b) Has a conscientious objection to making an oath ; he may, instead of making an oath, make an affirmation.
Forms of oaths and affirmations.	7 All oaths and affirmations made under either of the two last preceding sections shall be administered according to such forms and with such formalities as may be from time to time prescribed by rules made under section 53 of "The Courts Ordinance, 1889," and until such rules are made according to the forms and with the formalities now in use.
Power of court to tender certain oaths.	8 If any party to or witness in any judicial proceeding offers to give evidence on oath or solemn affirmation in any form common amongst, or held binding by, persons of the race or persuasion to which he belongs, and not repugnant to justice or decency, and not purporting to affect any third person, the court may, if it thinks fit, notwithstanding anything hereinbefore contained, cause such oath or affirmation to be tendered him.

Court may ask party or witness whether he will make oath proposed by opposite party.

9 (1) If any party to any judicial proceeding of a civil nature offers to be bound by any such oath or solemn affirmation as is mentioned in the last preceding section, if such oath or affirmation is made by the other party to or by any witness in such proceeding, or if in any judicial proceeding of a criminal nature the accused person desires that any witness for the prosecution shall make any such oath or affirmation, the court may, if it thinks fit, ask such party or witness, or cause him to be asked, whether or not he will make the oath or affirmation.

Administration of oath if accepted.

(2) If such party or witness agrees to make such oath or affirmation, the court may administer it, or, if more convenient, may authorize any person to administer it, and to take the evidence of the person to be sworn or affirmed and return it to the court.

Evidence conclusive against party offering to be bound.

(3) The evidence so given shall, as against the person who offered to be bound as aforesaid, be conclusive proof of the matter stated.

Procedure in case of refusal.

(4) If the party or witness refuse to make such oath or solemn affirmation, he shall not be compelled to make it, but the court shall record as part of the proceedings the nature of the oath or affirmation proposed, the facts that he was asked whether he would make it and that he refused it, together with any reason which he may assign for his refusal.

Proceedings and evidence not to be invalidated by omission of oath or irregularity.

10 No omission to take any oath or make any affirmation, no substitution of any one for any other of them, and no irregularity whatever in the form in which any one of them is administered, shall invalidate any proceeding or render inadmissible any evidence whatever in or in respect of which such omission, substitution, or irregularity, ^{in the} ~~the~~ place, or shall affect the obligation of a witness to state the truth.

Persons giving evidence bound to state the truth.

11 Every person giving evidence on any subject before any court or person hereby authorized to administer oaths and affirmations shall be bound to state the truth on such subject.

Summary punishment for perjury in open court.

12 (1) If any person giving evidence on any subject in open court in any judicial proceeding, whether civil or criminal, gives, in the opinion of the court before which the judicial proceeding is held, false evidence within the meaning of section 190 of "The Ceylon Penal Code," it shall be lawful for the court, if such court be the Supreme Court, summarily to sentence such witness as for a contempt of the court to imprisonment, either simple or rigorous, for any period not exceeding three months, or to fine such witness in any sum not exceeding two hundred rupees, or if such court be an inferior court, to order such witness to pay a fine not exceeding fifty rupees, and in default of payment of such fine to undergo rigorous imprisonment for any period not exceeding two months.

(2) Any person who has undergone any sentence of imprisonment or paid any fine imposed under this section shall not be liable to be punished again for the same offence.

(3) Any person against whom any order is made by any court other than the Supreme Court, under sub-section (1) of this section, may appeal to the Supreme Court, and every such appeal shall be subject to the provisions of section 407 of "The Criminal Procedure Code, 1883."

(4) In lieu of exercising the power given by this section, the court may, if it thinks fit, transmit the record of the judicial proceeding to the Attorney-General to enable him to exercise the powers conferred on him by "The Criminal Procedure Code, 1883," or proceed in manner provided by sub-section (b) of section 149 of the said Code.

(5) Nothing in this section contained shall be construed as derogating from or limiting the powers and jurisdiction of the Supreme Court or the judges thereof.

By His Excellency's command,

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Colombo, September 23, 1895.

E. NOEL WALKER,
Colonial Secretary.
