1. In these rules, the term "resthouse" includes the land attached to the resthouse and all the buildings thereon.

2. (i.) A consolidated fee at the rate set out in the schedule hereto shall be paid by every person using or occupying any part of the resthouse: Provided that children under 12 years of age shall be charged only half the aforesaid rates, and that no fee shall be charged in respect of the following :—

- (a) an infant in arms ;
- (b) a servant who is in attendance on a visitor at the resthouse and sleeps within the resthouse ;
- (c) the chauffeur of any car garaged in the resthouse premises, if he sleeps in the car or in the garage.

(ii.) Every person who during his occupation of the resthouse uses any part thereof as an office or place of business shall pay in respect of such use a special charge of 50 cents for each hour or any outstanding fraction of an hour in addition to the consolidated fee referred to above.

3. Every visitor shall, on his admission to the resthouse, legibly write his correct name and address in the resthouse visitors' book and until this is done a visitor shall not be entitled to use the resthouse and shall not be supplied with refreshments.

4. (i.) No person shall occupy any part of the resthouse for a period longer than three consecutive days without the special permission in writing of the Chairman of the Urban District Council.

(ii.) Every occupier of the resthouse who has not obtained permission under paragraph (i.) shall on the expiration of the period of three days forthwith leave the resthouse.

5. No charges other than those payable to the Urban District Council shall be entered in the resthouse books by a visitor.

6. Resthouse fees and charges shall be paid in cash on demand and in default of such payment the resthouse-keeper shall be entitled to refuse further supplies.

7. The resthouse-keeper shall not be bound to comply with any telegram requesting meals to be prepared unless the name and address of the sender are set out in the telegram.

8. No bed, sofa, or couch in the resthouse shall be used for the purpose of sleeping unless a sheet is spread thereon.

9. The value of all articles damaged or broken by any visitor or his servant shall be paid by that visitor in accordance with the scale of charges appearing on the resthouse notice board.

10. (i.) Any complaint which a visitor may have to make about the resthouse or resthouse-keeper shall be noted in the complaint book.

(ii.) It shall be the duty of the resthouse-keeper to produce the complaint book when called upon so to do.

(iii.) No remarks or complaints shall be written in the book in which resthouse charges are entered.

11. (i.) Except with the written permission of the Chairman, the resthouse or any part thereof shall not be used for the purposes of any lunch, dinner, garden party or other reception or farewell function which is organized by or on behalf of any person or body of persons, and for which special arrangements have to be made in the resthouse.

(ii.) The grant of the written permission under paragraph (i.) shall be subject to the payment of such special fees, and the permission shall be subject to such conditions, as may be determined by the Council either generally or in the special circumstances of each case.

Provided that any member of the Ceylon Defence Force who leaves a motor car or motor cycle in the resthouse garage while on military duty shall not be liable to pay any consolidated fee during the period of such duty, but any such car may be removed by the resthouse-keeper from the garage if necessary to make room for the vehicle of a visitor paying occupation fees.

14. (i.) Any person who desires to book any accommodation in advance may do so on giving at least three clear days' notice.

(ii.) The notice referred to in paragraph (i.) shall be accompanied by a remittance of Rs. 7.50, which will be credited to that person's account if the accommodation is taken as arranged.

(iii.) The remittance shall be forfeited if the accommodation is not taken as arranged : Provided that such remittance may be refunded (less Money Order commission) at the discretion of the Chairman of the Urban District Council, if in his opinion sufficient notice of the cancellation of the booking has been given ; but in no case shall any refund be made if the Council was deprived of revenue which would otherwise have accrued to it but for the fact that that accommodation had been previously booked.

(iv.) A notice accompanied by a remittance under paragraphs (i.) and (ii.) from any person will entitle that person to the use of the accommodation booked in preference to any other person who has not similarly booked accommodation in advance.

15. (i.) No person occupying any part of the resthouse shall use that or any other part thereof for any immoral purpose.

Manufacture and application of glycol and polyglycol ethers of isocyclic hydroxyl-compounds.

Abstract.—The invention relates to the manufacture of glycol ethers and polyglycol ethers by the combination of an isocyclic hydroxyl-compound substituted in the nucleus by at least one hydrocarbon or acyl radical containing at least four carbon atoms, with an L^{α} -alkylene oxide or a corresponding halogen hydrin.

Polyglycol ethers may also be manufactured by causing a previously formed polyglycol ether chain to react with the substituted isocyclic compound thus: the alkali salt of the hydroxyl compound is made to react with a halogen hydrin, the resulting mono-glycol ether is converted into a halogen-alkyl-ether and the latter is made to react with a polyglycol ether in the presence of a caustic alkali.

The substituted iso-cyclic hydroxyl compound may be prepared by the action of an olefine or a mixture of olefines on an aromatic hydroxyl compound. The mixture of olefines may be obtained either by dehydrating a mixture of primary alcohols having about 4–8 carbon atoms produced by the catalytic reduction of carbon monoxide, or by the catalytic polymerisation of an olefine of low molecular weight.

The new polyglycol ethers are oily to wax-like products. They are partly insoluble in water and form fairly stable emulsions with it. The properties of the ethers can be varied by causing the hydroxyl group contained in them to react with a reactive compound.

The new products have capillary active properties and can be used as wetting, softening, dispersing, emulsifying, washing, and cleaning agents. They may be used either alone or in admixture with other textile assistants such as water-soluble aromatic, hydroaromatic or aliphatic compounds containing an ionogenic group.

There are sixteen examples, eight claims and no drawings.

Process for treating etherial oils with the aid of extracting agents.

Abstract.—The invention relates to a process for extracting, purifying and concentrating natural etherial oils, by the use of two solvents or mixtures of two solvents flowing counter-currently to each other; the two solvents not being completely miscible under the extracting conditions in the presence of the oil.

One of these solvents is a polar solvent which is a preferential solvent for the non-hydrocarbon constituents of the oil. The second of these solvents consists entirely of non polar substances such as hydrocarbons. Preferably the boiling points or the boiling ranges of the two solvents or solvent mixtures are below that of the oil to be treated; since most etherial oils are destroyed by heat this would be an advantage as the solvents can be distilled off at the lower temperatures.

Among the first class of solvents may be grouped liquid ammonia, liquid sulphur dioxide, and organic compounds containing one or more of the following radicals: $-\equiv\text{COH}$ (including primary, secondary and tertiary alcohols), $-\text{CO}$, $-\text{C}(\text{OH})\cdot\text{O}\cdot\text{C}\equiv$, $-\text{NH}_2$, $-\text{NH}$, $\equiv\text{N}$ and COOR (when R is an aliphatic or aromatic radical).

The temperature and pressure conditions under which the process is carried out and the relative concentrations of the solvents and the oil are so chosen that two liquid phases are formed. The constituents of the initial oil get distributed over the two liquid phases in different ratios. The liquid phases are withdrawn at spaced points in the extraction zone and the dissolved constituents obtained from them by distillation, rectification, &c.

Any usual type of apparatus for effecting the counter-current contact of liquids may be employed. The initial oil may be introduced into the apparatus either at the ends or at an intermediate point in the extraction zone. The extraction may be carried out as a single process or as a multiple process applying the countercurrent principle.

The crosscurrent principle may also be employed, i.e., washing with fresh quantities of one solvent solutions containing constituents of the oil dissolved in the second solvent. The extracts obtained may then be mixed and then repeatedly washed with the second solvent and so on.

There are seven examples, nineteen claims and one sheet of drawings.

An improved process to turn out pure white smokeless dried copra.

Abstract.—The inventor describes a drying plant for producing smokeless copra in which a drying chamber is used situated directly above the combustion chamber. The drying chamber has a floor made of two galvanised iron sheets with a 3 in. cover of sand in between. A system of hot air pipes is laid on this floor; these pipes are in communication with the combustion chamber beneath and with the chimney. There is also a damper connecting the combustion chamber directly to the main chimney which is to be closed as soon as the fuel has partly burned down. Three adjustable outlet ventilators are placed on the top of the drying chamber. In addition, two adjustable wind funnels are arranged so as to deflect any prevailing wind and to discharge the fresh air just over the heated platform. In this way the thermosiphonic action of the heated air is assisted by the blown air from the wind funnels. The inventor claims that by this arrangement an even temperature is attained in the chamber without the aid of a fan or other auxiliary apparatus.

There are six claims and one sheet of drawings.
