- (i) any British or foreign aircraft when such aircraft is in or over the Colony; or
- (ii) any British aircraft registered in the Colony when such aircraft is carrying passengers for hire or reward outside the Colony, any dangerous goods to which this Article applies except with the special permission in writing of the Governor, and subject to any conditions imposed by such special permission :

Provided that the special permission of the Governor shall not be required for the carriage of—

- (a) safety cartridges, so long as, when carried as cargo in an aircraft carrying passengers or goods for hire or reward, such cartridges are packed in substantial tin-lined wooden cases in such a manner as to ensure that there is no undue movement within the package, and
- (b) any article of equipment of the aircraft or any article required for the purposes of the operation, navigation or safety of the aircraft or the safety or well-being of any person or persons on board, so long as, in the case of a British aircraft registered in the Colony, fuel and oil are carried in the fuel and oil tanks of such aircraft or in special stowage approved for the purpose by the Governor and articles of an inflammable nature required in connection with the navigation or safety of the aircraft are of a type approved by the Governor.

(2) Subject as hereinafter in this paragraph provided, every person consigning for carriage by any aircraft any dangerous goods—

- (i) shall mark distinctly on the outside of the package or container containing such goods their nature, weight and quantity;
- (ii) shall give to the carrier of the goods written notice of such nature, weight and quantity and of the name and address of the sender thereof by means of an air consignment note coloured red or bearing the words 'dangerous goods' in prominent red letters; and
- (iii) shall in any case where the special permission in writing of the Governor given under paragraph (1) of this Article is necessary for the carriage, attach such permission to the air consignment note :

Provided that—

- (a) Sub-paragraph (ii) of this paragraph in so far as it requires the air consignment note to be coloured red or to bear the words 'dangerous goods' in prominent red letters shall not apply to the case of the carriage of safety cartridges in accordance with proviso (a) to paragraph (1) of this Article; and
- (b) This paragraph shall not apply to the carriage of equipment or other articles in accordance with proviso (b) to paragraph (1) of this Article.

(3) In cases to which paragraph (2) of this Article applies and not within proviso (a) to that paragraph the carrier shall notify the person in charge of the aircraft of the nature, weight and quantity of the goods at or before the time of sending such goods to be carried or taken on board the aircraft.

(4) In this Article the expression—

'Dangerous goods' means any explosive substance and any other goods (whether explosive or not) which by reason of their nature are liable to endanger the safety of the aircraft or persons on board the aircraft ;
'Safety cartridges' means cartridges for small arms of which the case can be extracted from the small arm after firing and which are so closed as to prevent any explosion in one cartridge being communicated to other cartridges.

(5) The provisions of this Article shall be in addition to and not in derogation of the provisions of Article 19 of this Order."

4. The proviso to paragraph (1) of Article 27 of the principal Order shall be amended by inserting the words "flown by a civilian pilot for the purpose of any test or" after the words "military aircraft".

Amendment of Article 27.

5. In Schedule IV. to the principal Order the following paragraphs shall be substituted for paragraphs 20, 21 and 29, respectively:—

Amendment of Schedule IV.

"20. To require an aircraft to land, the following signals shall be used:—

By day and by night, a series of projectiles discharged at intervals of 10 seconds, each showing on bursting green lights or stars;

In addition, if it is necessary to distinguish amongst several the aircraft which is to land, a continuous white luminous beam shall be directed at that aircraft:

Provided that, when the authority who desires to give the order to land is able to establish radioelectric communication with the aircraft, this order may be given by using the means of communication established."

"21. To warn an aircraft that it is in the vicinity of a prohibited area (including areas flight over which is temporarily prohibited or restricted) and should change its course, the following signals shall be used:—

(a) By day, a series of projectiles discharged at intervals of 10 seconds, each showing on bursting black or white smoke;

(b) By night a series of projectiles discharged at intervals of 10 seconds showing on bursting white lights or stars, or an intermittent white luminous beam directed at the aircraft:

Provided that, when the authority who desires to give the order for the change of course referred to in this paragraph is able to establish radioelectric communication with the aircraft, this order may be given by using the means of communication established."

"29. An aircraft which overtakes another aircraft shall keep out of the way of the overtaken aircraft by altering its own course to the right.

If an aircraft approaches another aircraft from the rear, following a course forming an angle of less than 70° with the plane of symmetry of the latter, that is to say, is in such a position with reference to the other aircraft that at night it would be unable to see either of that aircraft's side lights, the aircraft approaching the other shall consider itself to be an overtaking aircraft, and no subsequent alteration of the relative position of the two aircraft shall make the aircraft which approaches the other a crossing aircraft within the meaning of these rules, or relieve it of the duty of keeping clear of the course of the overtaken aircraft until it is entirely past and clear.

As by day an aircraft which approaches another aircraft from the rear cannot always know with certainty whether it comes within the case provided for in the last preceding sub-paragraph, it should, if in doubt, assume that it is overtaking the other aircraft and alter its own course to the right."
