Such application shall be obtained from and shall be addressed to the Passport Officer, Chief Secretary's Office, Colombo.

6. A competent authority in Ceylon may require such evidence as is necessary, either in the form of a declaration or otherwise, to satisfy himself of the national status of any applicant for a passport.

8. A competent authority in Ceylon may, in his discretion, withdraw a passport issued or renewed in Ceylon, or cancel any endorsement made by a competent authority in Ceylon on a passport, after due notice has been given to the holder of such passport. The holder of such passport shall surrender such passport to a competent authority within a period of 14 days from the date on which a written order in that behalf signed by a competent authority is received by him.

9. Where it appears to a competent authority inadvisable to issue or renew a passport, such authority may, in his discretion, issue an Emergency Certificate in place of a passport. Such Emergency Certificate shall for the purposes of these regulations, be deemed to be a passport for the specified journey.

10. A passport shall be valid only for the countries named thereon, but may be endorsed by a competent authority for additional countries. The possession of a passport shall not exempt the holder of the passport from compliance with any provisions relating to immigration in force in any country named or endorsed thereon, or from the necessity of obtaining a visa where such visa is required by the law of any such country.

11. (1) The particulars relating to a wife intending to travel with her husband may be included on the husband's passport, if a request to that effect is made by such wife and husband in their application under regulation 5.

12. Every Indian ordinarily resident in India and leaving Ceylon for any destination other than India, and not falling within the exempted classes specified in paragraph (c) or paragraph (d) of regulation 2, shall possess a valid passport issued to him in India under the regulations for the time being in force in India allowing him to leave India for such destination. No passport shall be issued to such person in Ceylon.

13. (1) A passport shall not, unless it is renewed, be available for more than five years from the date of issue.

(2) A competent authority in Ceylon may, in his discretion, renew a passport from the date of its expiration for such period not exceeding five years as the holder of that passport may desire.

(3) The validity of a passport shall in no case be extended by renewal beyond ten years from its original date of issue.

(4) Where the holder of a passport wishes to travel after the expiration of such period of ten years or where, at any time, such holder wishes to travel to any State for which a visa is required and no more space is available on such passport for such visa, the holder shall make application for a new passport in the manner provided in regulation 5.

If for any reason the tenderer is unable to employ only Ceylonese labour for the work, he shall state in his tender the maximum percentage of non-Ceylonese labour which he proposes to employ on the work. The Head of Department will give preference, other things being equal, to the tenderer who undertakes to employ only Ceylonese labour and failing that to the tenderer who specifies the lowest percentage of non-Ceylonese labour which he proposes to employ for the work, and will normally reject the tenders of tenderers who specify a percentage of non-Ceylonese labour which he proposes to employ for the work which appears to the Head of Department to be unnecessarily high.

The employment of Ceylonese labour only to carry out the work tendered for or the employment of a definite percentage only of non-Ceylonese labour for such work will be made a condition of the contract, and the failure on the part of the successful tenderer to fulfil this condition will be treated as a breach of the terms of the contract and will render the contractor liable to have the contract cancelled, and in addition to pay a penalty of 85 cents a day for each non-Ceylonese labourer employed by him on work or for each non-Ceylonese labourer employed by him over and above the percentage of non-Ceylonese labour which he is permitted to employ on the work in terms of his contract. The word "Ceylonese" shall mean and include all persons born in Ceylon and no others.

10. Further particulars may be obtained, and detailed specification inspected, on application to the Salt Superintendent, Puttalam.

NOTIFICATIONS UNDER "THE PATENTS ORDINANCE, 1906."

THE following amended Specification has been accepted:—

No. 3,043 of July 4, 1938 (Post-dated to October 4, 1938).

Lewis Arthur Godakanda.

"Process and means for treating light timber."

Abstract.—Treatment of light timber which is characterized by heating and steaming it in a limited volume of steam and air. According to the inventor, the apparatus for treatment consists of a "Process Chamber" which is provided with pressure and temperature gauges and an outlet valve. This chamber is connected by means of a large and short air duct to an air heating chamber. Steam can be introduced when necessary to the top of the process chamber by means of a pipe connected to a boiler.

The process consists in stacking the process chamber with the planks edgewise in such a manner that there is sufficient room for free circulation between the planks. The air-tight doors are then closed, and heat is supplied to the air heating chamber whose inlet side is closed so that the air heating chamber and process chamber enclose a volume to which air from outside has no access. The temperature is maintained at 150°F and the pressure at 75 to 150 lb. per square foot for a period of three hours; this is accomplished by adjusting the fuel and regulating the outlet valve. At the end of the period the temperature is raised to 210°F. If it is found that steam is not freely issuing from the outlet valve, more steam is introduced from the boiler till the process chamber is filled with steam. The heating is continued for another three hours, and then the chamber is allowed to cool.

The inventor states that by his process the timber is strengthened, and made odourless.

There are 5 claims and 2 sheets of drawings.

"Improvements in flat roofing tiles."

Abstract.—The invention relates to improvements in flat tiles, characterized in having—

- (a) A longitudinal channel the outer wall of which is sloped at an angle of 60° to the horizontal, and a rib on the opposite side shaped to fit.
- (b) A central rib on the tile with a smooth instead of a corrugated surface so that the flow of water into the main channels is facilitated.
- (c) A ridge on the lower edge of the central rib.
- (d) Two uninterrupted depressions at the top edge of the tile for collecting rain spray, with suitable drainage outlets.
- (e) Two flaps projecting from the underside of the tile to fit into the depressions; these flaps are shaped so as to fit over the seam in the lower row of tiles.

There are 7 claims and 4 sheets of drawings.

No. 3,059 of November 14, 1938.

P. K. Nair.

"The improvement on the interlocking groove on the Mangalore Pattern Tiles, namely, the Square Groove interlocking arrangement."

Abstract.—This is a modification of existing patterns of Mangalore tile which consists in making the longitudinal edges square instead of round, and allowing sufficient play in the grooves (about  $\frac{1}{8}$  of an inch) for easy fitting.

The inventor states that the square grip prevents the tile being displaced easily by burglars or by wind; the clearances in the grooves permits water to flow easily down the slope.

There are 2 claims and 2 sheets of drawings.

Registrar of Patents.
