1. Pursuant to notice, Captain Bayley asked "the reason why such large metal is being used in repairs to roads, and inquired if there is any difference in the cost of the metal now being used and of the smaller metal which was formerly laid down; if so, how much per cubic yard."

The Chairman stated that the Superintendent of Works had explained that he had to put great pressure upon the quarry men to increase their output of metal to the utmost, and that a proportion of the metal delivered had in consequence been larger than his standard; that the cost was the same, the explanation being that the large metal is an improper delivery for the standard, which is 2½ inches.
