The Kachcheri, N A E ERNST,
Kurunegala, October 30, 1943 Government Agent

Republic of China and His Majesty The King mutually agree that merchant vessels of one High Contracting Party shall be permitted freely to come to ports, places and waters in the territories of the other High Contracting Party which are or may be opened to overseas merchant shipping and that treatment accorded to such vessels in such ports, places and waters shall be no less favourable than that accorded to national vessels and shall be as favourable as that accorded to vessels of any third country. The term "vessels" of a High Contracting Party means all vessels registered under the law of any of the territories of that High Contracting Party to which the Treaty signed this day applies.

(b) His Majesty The King relinquishes all existing treaty rights relating to the special courts in the International Settlements at Shanghai and Amoy.

(c) His Majesty The King relinquishes all existing rights with regard to the employment of foreign pilots in the ports of the territories of the Republic of China.

(d) His Majesty The King relinquishes all existing treaty rights relating to the entry of his naval vessels into the waters of the Republic of China, and the Government of the Republic of China and His Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom shall extend to each other in connexion with the visits of warships of one High Contracting Party to the ports of the other High Contracting Party mutual courtesy in accordance with ordinary international usage.

(e) His Majesty The King relinquishes any right to claim the appointment of a British subject as Inspector-General of the Chinese Customs.

(f) All the courts of His Majesty The King which have hitherto been sitting in the territories of the Republic of China having been closed down in accordance with Article 2 of the Treaty signed this day, the orders, decrees, judgments and other acts of any of His Majesty's courts in China shall be considered as res judicata, and shall when necessary be enforced by the Chinese authorities. Further, any cases pending before any of His Majesty's courts in China at the time of the coming into effect of the Treaty shall, if the plaintiff or petitioner, so desires, be remitted to the appropriate courts of the Government of the Republic of China, which shall proceed to dispose of them as expeditiously as possible and in so doing shall, so far as practicable, apply the law which the court of His Majesty would have applied.

(g) His Majesty The King relinquishes the special rights which his vessels have been accorded with regard to coasting trade and inland navigation in the waters of the Republic of China, and the Government of the Republic of China are prepared to take over any properties of His Majesty's nationals or companies which have been used for the purposes of these trades and which the owners may wish to dispose of, and to pay adequate compensation therefor. The Government of the Republic of China relinquish the special rights which have been accorded to Chinese vessels in respect of navigation on the River Irrawaddy under Article 12 of the Convention signed at London on the 1st March, 1894⁽¹⁾. Should one High Contracting Party accord in any of his territories the right of coasting trade or inland navigation to vessels of any third country, such rights would similarly be accorded to vessels of the other High Contracting Party provided that the latter High Contracting Party permits vessels of the former High Contracting Party to engage in the coasting trade or inland navigation of his territories. Coasting trade and inland navigation are excepted from the requirement of national treatment and are to be regulated according to the laws of each High Contracting Party in relation thereto. It is agreed, however, that vessels of either High Contracting Party shall enjoy within the territories of the other High Contracting Party with respect to coasting trade and inland navigation treatment as favourable as that accorded to vessels of any third country subject to the above mentioned proviso.

2 With reference to the last sentence of Article 5 (i) of the Treaty, the Government of the Republic of China declare that the restriction on the right of alienation of existing rights and titles to real property referred to in that Article will be applied by the Chinese authorities in an equitable manner and that if and when the Chinese Government decline to assent to a proposed transfer, the Chinese Government will, in a spirit of justice and with a view to precluding loss on the part of nationals or companies of His Majesty The King whose interests are affected, undertake, if so requested by the national or company of His Majesty to whom permission to alienate has been refused, to take over the rights and title in question and pay adequate compensation therefor.

3 It is understood that the abolition of the system of treaty ports will not affect existing property rights, and that nationals of each High Contracting Party will enjoy the right to acquire and hold real property throughout the territories of the other High Contracting Party in accordance with the conditions and requirements prescribed in the laws and regulations of that High Contracting Party.

4 It is further agreed that questions which may affect the sovereignty of the Republic of China and which are not covered by the present Treaty or by the preceding provisions of the present note, shall be discussed by representatives of the Government of the Republic of China and His Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom and decided in accordance with generally accepted principles of international law and modern international practice.

Note from Sir Horace James Seymour to Dr Tse Vung Soong,
Chinese Minister for Foreign Affairs

British Embassy

Chungking, January 11, 1943

I HAVE the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your Excellency's letter of to day's date reading as follows —

[As in A]

I have the honour on behalf of His Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom to confirm the understandings reached between us as recorded in the annex to Your Excellency's note, which annex shall be considered as an integral part of the Treaty signed to day and shall be considered as effective upon the date of entrance into force of that Treaty.

I have, &c

H J SEYMOUR

His Excellency Dr Tse Vung Soong, Minister for Foreign Affairs of the Republic of China, Chungking

AGREED MINUTE

1 With reference to paragraph 1 (a) of the annex to the Note from the Chinese Minister for Foreign Affairs to His Majesty's Ambassador in connexion with the Treaty signed to-day, it is understood that both High Contracting Parties reserve the right to close any port to all overseas merchant shipping for reasons of national security.

2 With reference to paragraph 1 (g) of the annex to the Note from the Chinese Minister for Foreign Affairs to His Majesty's Ambassador in connexion with the Treaty signed to-day, His Majesty's Ambassador informed the Chinese Government that trade between India on the one hand and Burma or Ceylon on the other has always been regarded as coasting trade.

Special Apprentices, Hydro-Electric Scheme

APPLICATIONS are invited from Ceylonese youths possessing the necessary qualifications as set out below for training as Special Civil Engineering Apprentices on the Hydro Electric Scheme under construction at Watawala

2 Applications on forms to be obtained from the Secretary to the Committee for Recruitment and Training of Special Apprentices on the Hydro Electric Scheme Public Works Office, Colombo, should be addressed to that officer so as to reach him before 12 noon on November 19, 1943

3 Eligibility for selection under this scheme will be limited to those having any of the following qualifications, provided they are able to produce a certificate from the Director of Medical and Sanitary Services as to their physical fitness when they are called upon to do so

- (a) Candidates who have completed three years training as apprentices under indenture with the P W D, are student members of the Institution of Civil Engineers, are under 26 years of age on the closing date for applications, and are nominated by the D P W
- (b) Candidates who have obtained the degree B Sc (Eng) or its equivalent and are under 26 years of age on the closing date for applications
- (c) Candidates who have completed the Inter Science (Eng) Examination of a British University or are final year students in the Engineering Classes of the Ceylon Technical College, are under 24 years of age on the closing date for applications and are nominated by the Principal, Ceylon Technical College

4 The course of training to be followed by these apprentices will comprise work on the Civil Engineering construction of the Hydro Electric Scheme at Norton Bridge, for a period of one year, and will be drawn up by the Committee for each individual, specifying the periods to be spent by him on each part of the scheme

5 The period of training may be extended for a period not exceeding one year in the case of such apprentices as the Committee, at its discretion, may consider desirable, and in such cases the course of training for each individual will be further stipulated by the Committee

6 (a) Apprentices will be required to enter into an indenture on a form specified by the Committee. This indenture will be between the appropriate Head of Department and the apprentice, in conjunction with his parent or guardian, for a period of one year with provision for extension in accordance with paragraph 5 above, and the apprentice will be under the control of the Resident Engineer of the particular work to which he is appointed. The indenture will be liable to cancellation in the event of misconduct or inefficiency on the part of the apprentice, and the apprentice or the parent or guardian will have no claim whatsoever against the Government for such action, nor will the latter be liable for any explanation.

(b) The appropriate Head of Department shall have the right to terminate the indenture with one month's notice to the apprentice, if for any cause whatsoever construction work on the Hydro Electric Scheme be suspended temporarily or permanently.

7 Apprentices will not be required to pay any premium in consideration of their indentures, nor will they be paid any salary during the term of such indentures.

8. An allowance will be made by Government as a contribution towards the cost of subsistence of these apprentices at a rate of Rs 50 per month.

No medical allowance will be payable by Government.

The conditions of leave and disciplinary regulations now in existence will be observed. The apprentices will be allowed free quarters and a small Mess, but the service will have to be maintained by the apprentices.

9 In the event of the services of any apprentice being used by contractors in a special capacity on works of utility and benefit to the contractors any remuneration that the contractors would be liable to pay will be recovered by Government against the cost of training of the apprentice.

10 Apprentices will not be allowed to apply for any appointments in the Public Service during the first nine months of their apprenticeship and may not normally be released to take up other duties until termination of the apprenticeship period. This should be clearly stated in any application for appointments.

11 Government does not undertake to give employment to apprentices on the completion of their training. The possibility of their securing appointment will depend on the occurrence of vacancies for which they may be eligible and on their successful competition with other candidates on the grounds of qualification and merit.

12 Successful candidates will be required to pass a medical examination and be prepared to take up duties at Norton on January 1, 1944.
