K. VAITHIANATHAN,
Permanent Secretary,

Ministry of Defence and External Affairs

Colombo, March 10, 1950

REGULATIONS

1. These regulations may be cited as the Soldiers Service Regulations, 1950.

Enlistment and Re-engagement

2. Save as hereinafter provided, the period of original enlistment of a soldier is twelve years of which he shall serve the first five years in the Regular Force and the remaining seven years in the Reserve unless otherwise ordered by the Commander of the Army

3. A soldier may, before the expiry of the period of his original enlistment, be re-engaged for a further period of military service not exceeding twenty years.

4. (1) An extension of service in the Regular Force beyond the period of five years referred to in regulation 2 or a re-engagement for a further period beyond the period of original enlistment referred to in regulation 3 may be allowed to a soldier who—

- (a) is efficient, well-behaved and recommended by his commanding officer, and
- (b) who has passed a medical test to the satisfaction of the Commander of the Army.

(2) The number of soldiers who will be allowed to extend their services in the Regular Force beyond the period of five years or to re-engage for a further period beyond the period of original enlistment shall depend on the number of vacancies as determined by the Minister of Defence.

(3) Subject to the preceding provisions of this regulation—

- (a) every soldier below the rank of sergeant (other than a soldier referred to in sub-paragraph (b)) may be permitted to extend his service if he is serving his final year of service in the Regular Force; and
- (b) every soldier selected for a course of instruction overseas who has not the requisite unexpired service in the Regular Force may be permitted to extend his service, if he is not serving his final year of service in the Regular Force, and there are no other suitable soldiers available with the requisite unexpired service in that Force

5. Every soldier who is allowed an extension of service in the Regular Force beyond the period of five years or who is re-engaged for a further period beyond the period of his original enlistment, shall be liable to be transferred from his corps to any other corps, if the transfer is deemed necessary in the interests of the army.

6. As soon as may be after the commencement of any year, the Commander of the Army shall notify the Officer in charge of Records the number of soldiers (other than Warrant Officers, Class I), who may, during the current year, be allowed to extend their services in the Regular Force beyond the original period of five years referred to in regulation 2.

7. No soldier shall be allowed to extend his service in the Regular Force if he has begun a vocational training course

8. A soldier, who has service reckonable for pension in respect of a former engagement and who has accordingly not less than twenty-two years' service at the expiration of his current engagement, shall not be permitted to extend his service in the Regular Force or be re-engaged in such Force except in accordance with the provisions of regulations 16 and 17

9. (1) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in the preceding regulations, the Permanent Secretary in consultation with the Commander of the Army may extend the period of service of any soldier in the Regular Force beyond the original period of five years referred to in regulation 2.

(2) Where a soldier has been granted an extension of service in the Regular Force under paragraph (1), he shall be liable to be retained in the Regular Force for a further period not exceeding twelve months.

(3) A soldier, by reason of the provisions of paragraph (1) or paragraph (2) of this regulation, shall not be able to extend his period of original enlistment beyond twelve years

10. Every soldier who has extended his service in the Regular Force so as to complete twelve years in such Force or whose original enlistment was for a period of twelve years in that Force may, if he satisfies the requirements of regulation 4 (1) be re-engaged, in the circumstances and subject to the conditions specified in Table A, set out in the Schedule hereto, for a further period of service in the Force, so, however, that his total period of service shall not exceed thirty-two years from the date of his original enlistment

11. No soldier who has begun a vocational training course shall be re-engaged for a further period of service in the Regular Force.

Provided that the Permanent Secretary may, in such exceptional circumstances as he may deem fit, re-engage such soldier in the Force.

12. A soldier who has completed the first ten years of his period of re-engagement is liable to be retained in the Regular Force for a further period not exceeding twelve months.

13. Where a medical officer approved by the Commander of the Army is of opinion that a soldier is physically unfit for re-engagement, a medical board, consisting of such person or persons as may be appointed in that behalf by the Commander of the Army, may be summoned to decide whether that is the case

14. The Officer in charge of Records may allow, in accordance with the provisions of regulations 15, 16 and 17, any soldier approved by him to continue in service up to the maximum allowed for re-engagement in regulation 3

15 (1) The Officer in charge of Records may permit a Warrant Officer, Class I, in the tenth year of the period of his re-engagement to continue in service for the purpose of enabling him to complete five years' service as such Warrant Officer, if he is satisfied—

- (a) that there are no supernumerary Warrant Officers, Class I, in such Warrant Officer's corps awaiting absorption;
- (b) that such Warrant Officer's retention is desirable in the interests of the service; and
- (c) that he has passed a medical test to the satisfaction of the Commander of the Army

(2) Where there are supernumerary Warrant Officers, Class I, in the corps awaiting absorption, a Warrant Officer, Class I, may be permitted to continue in service, for the purpose specified in paragraph (1), at the discretion of the Permanent Secretary.

16. A Warrant Officer, Class I, may be permitted to continue in service, as such Warrant Officer beyond any period permitted under regulation 15, for periods of one year at a time, at the discretion of the Officer in charge of Records, if he is satisfied—

- (a) that there are no supernumerary Warrant Officers, Class I, in such officer's corps awaiting absorption;
- (b) that such Warrant Officer's retention is desirable in the interests of the service; and
- (c) that he has passed a medical test to the satisfaction of the Commander of the Army

17. The Officer in charge of Records may permit a soldier (other than a Warrant Officer, Class I), in the tenth year of his period of re-engagement to continue in service for periods of one year at a time if he is satisfied—

- (a) that there is no surplus in his corps among persons of the same or next higher rank;
- (b) that such soldier's retention is desirable in the interests of the Army; and
- (c) that he has passed a medical test to the satisfaction of the Commander of the Army

Provided, however, that the period of continuance permitted under the preceding provisions of this regulation to a soldier in extra-regimental employment including a permanent staff instructor of the Volunteer Force) shall not exceed the unexpired portion of that employment.

18. A soldier who has been allowed to continue beyond twenty-two years of service may apply for his discharge after giving his commanding officer three months' notice or such other notice as may be permitted by the commanding officer.

Reckoning former service and restoration of forfeited service.

19. (1) The service of any soldier forfeited under the provisions of section 15 (2) of the Act may be restored—

- (b) on his completion of a period of three years' service, without an adverse entry in his regimental conduct sheet.

(2) The three years referred to in clause (b) of paragraph (1) shall be reckoned from such date specified hereunder as the Officer in charge of Records may consider as appropriate to the case, that is to say, from the date of the termination of the detention or imprisonment or from the date of the order dispensing with trial or from the date of the commission of the last offence.

20 The period of service restored shall be—

- (a) in the case of desertion, the period of service from the date of enlistment to the date of desertion, together with the period of service from the date the deserter was brought back to the army to the day immediately preceding the date of his conviction by a court-martial or the date of the order dispensing with his trial, as the case may be;
- (b) in the case of fraudulent enlistment, the period of service between the date of the last fraudulent enlistment and the date of conviction or the date of the order dispensing with trial, as the case may be.

Provided that, where service has been forfeited on account of desertion on more than one occasion, the period of service to be restored shall be the period of service between the last two desertions.

21. Where the forfeited service of a soldier cannot be restored under regulation 19, such service may be restored—

- (a) if the Minister is satisfied that the soldier has performed good and faithful service or that the soldier merits the restoration of his forfeited service for some reason which in his opinion is good and adequate; or
- (b) if the soldier has been recommended by court-martial for the restoration of his forfeited service.

22. (1) A member of the Regular Reserve who enlists in the Regular Force, by wilfully making a false answer to any question (such enlistment being hereinafter referred to as "improper enlistment"), may be punished under section 122 of the Act, but shall not, by reason of such improper enlistment, forfeit any part of his service.

(2) If a member of the Regular Reserve referred to in paragraph (1) is, after investigation or trial, sent back to such Reserve, his service shall be reckoned according to the terms of the attestation paper signed by him on his original enlistment.

(3) If a member of the Regular Reserve referred to in paragraph (1) is, after investigation or trial, retained in the Regular Force, his service shall be reckoned according to the terms of the attestation paper signed by him at the time of such improper enlistment; and any period of service prior to such improper enlistment shall not be reckoned as qualifying service for purposes of pension, unless the Minister otherwise directs.

(a) as regards clauses (b) and (c) of paragraph (1), the Commander of the Army may, having regard to the nature of the offence committed by the soldier and the sentence imposed on him, authorise the award of "exemplary character", if the Commander of the Army is of opinion that his subsequent military conduct merits such an award; and

(b) as regards clause (d) of paragraph (1), every occasion his conduct sheets are destroyed, every period of two years during which he has not incurred an adverse entry in his company conduct sheet, and every promotion to the rank of sergeant or any higher rank, shall have the effect of annulling either twenty-eight days of any previous sentence or sentences of detention or any one dispensation of trial; and every promotion to the rank of sergeant or any higher rank shall have the effect of annulling any one reduction to a lower grade or rank by a sentence of a court-martial.

(2) For the purpose of annulment of a period of detention under the proviso to paragraph (1), the period to be annulled shall be the earliest period of detention of the soldier.

(3) For the purposes of this regulation, the expressions, "sentenced to" and "sentence" shall refer to the actual sentence which remains after any mitigation, remission (including remissions for good conduct while under sentence) or commutation has been made. As soon as a sentence of detention, or a dispensation of trial, or a reduction has been wholly annulled under the proviso to paragraph (1), it shall cease to be a disqualification in respect of an award of "exemplary character".

106. Subject to the provisions of regulation 105, the commanding officer of the soldier's unit shall be the sole judge of the question as to whether such soldier should be awarded the assessment of exemplary for military conduct, and even when the soldier is not ineligible for such an award under regulation 105, its grant shall be discretionary and not obligatory, and shall be reserved for soldiers whose conduct has reached a high standard of excellence.

107. (1) Where a soldier's military conduct deserves to be assessed as exemplary, but he is disqualified to receive that award by reason of his not having served the minimum period of three years, his military conduct shall be assessed as being very good and the following words shall be inserted in his certificate of service after the words "Very good":—

'Qualified by his conduct, to have received an award of "exemplary" for military conduct, but ineligible because he has not completed three years' service.'

(2) The award of very good for military conduct shall not be withheld from a soldier on the grounds that he has not had sufficient service to merit such award. For the purposes of such award, two years' service may be considered necessary. In cases, however, where a soldier has a period of less than two years' service but otherwise merits such award, his certificate of service shall testify that his military conduct has been very good during that period.

108. Where an assessment of military conduct more favourable than fair cannot be awarded, the reasons for such an assessment shall be briefly recorded.

109. Where a soldier is specifically mentioned in despatches published in the Gazette, an entry to that effect shall be made in the soldier's certificate of service in the space reserved for entries relating to the soldier's character.

110. No duplicate of a certificate of service shall be issued to any soldier:

Provided, however, that the Officer in charge of Records may, if he is satisfied upon affidavit that a soldier has lost his certificate of service due to circumstances beyond his control, issue a duplicate of the certificate to such soldier.

111. Where a soldier who has lost his certificate of service applies for civil employment, the Officer in charge of Records may, at the request of the soldier's prospective employer and with the written consent of the soldier, furnish such employer such information relating to the soldier's conduct as may be in his possession.

112. (1) When it comes to notice that a certificate of service has been tampered with, either by the addition of or erasures of entries, or in any other manner the certificate would be endorsed as follows:—

- (a) on page one, the endorsement shall be "This certificate has been tampered with.";
- (b) on the page which has been tampered with, the endorsement shall be "The information on this page has been tampered with."; and
- (c) where practicable some indication should be made of the inaccuracy of the certificate, that is to say, if the assessment of military conduct has been altered from "Bad" to "Good", the endorsement shall be "The entry against military conduct should read 'Bad'."

(2) Endorsements made under paragraph (1) shall be signed by the Officer in charge of Records.

The Regular Reserve

113. The strength of the Regular Reserve shall be notified from time to time in the Army Orders.

114. Every member of the Regular Reserve is liable to be called out for training for a period of twelve days or to perform twenty drills each year:

Provided, however, that no such member shall be required to attend any training or drill during his first year of service in the Regular Reserve.

115. (1) Every member of the Regular Reserve called out for service in the Regular Force, shall be appointed to a corps and posted to a unit in that corps by the competent military authority.

(2) The competent military authority may, within three months of such appointment, transfer such member to any other corps of the Regular Force.

(3) In this regulation "competent military authority" means—

- (a) for the purpose of an appointment to a corps, the Officer in charge of Records; and
- (b) for the purpose of transfer, the Recruiting Officer

116. Convictions by civil courts incurred by members of the Regular Reserve shall be recorded or caused to be recorded by the Officer in charge of Records

117. Where it is decided to discharge or reduce in rank a member of the Regular Reserve by reason of a conviction by a civil court, the Officer in charge of Records shall secure a certified copy of the judgment.

118. The documents relating to members of the Regular Reserve shall be maintained by the Officer in charge of Records in the same manner as the documents of soldiers in the Regular Force.

119. (1) The Officer in charge of Records shall send a monthly return to the Commander of the Army on or before the seventh day of each month, showing the strength of the Regular Reserve as at midnight on the last day of the preceding month, the increases and decreases which have taken place in each section of the Reserve in that month, the number of members of the Reserve allowed permission to proceed abroad, and the number allowed permission to reside abroad during that month.

(2) The Officer in charge of Records shall send to the Permanent Secretary a return of the particulars referred to in paragraph (1) in respect of each period of twelve months ending on the thirtieth day of September

120. (1) Mobilization of the Regular Reserve shall be either general or partial.

(2) A general mobilization of the Regular Reserve shall be notified—

- (a) by the exhibition at all important towns of posters stating the date and time when, and the place where, members of the Reserve shall report for duty; and

- (b) by the service of individual notices stating the date and time when, and the place where, the recipient of each notice shall report for duty.

121. The individual notice referred to in regulation 120 may be served personally, sent by post, or left at the soldier's last known place of residence.

122. Where a member of the Regular Reserve is required for training, a notice to that effect shall be sent by post to the registered address of such member, and he shall, upon receipt of such notice, attend for training at the date, time and place specified in the notice.

123. Where a member of the Regular Reserve, who has been awarded an assessment of military conduct not less than "Good", is convicted by a civil court, he shall be reported to the Permanent Secretary in order that his name may be removed from the register of civil employment.

124. (1) No member of the Regular Reserve shall sell or pledge or otherwise dispose of any military decorations awarded to him

(2) No member of the Regular Reserve shall pledge or deposit his identity certificate as a security for any debt.

125. No member of the Regular Reserve shall make any alterations or erasures or otherwise tamper with any official military documents in his possession or allow any other person to make any alteration or erasures or otherwise tamper with any such document.

126. Where a member of the Regular Reserve who has improperly enlisted in the Regular Force is sent back to the Reserve without trial within three months of such improper enlistment, he shall refund the cost of the kit he has obtained thereby.

127. (1) No member of the Regular Reserve shall leave or attempt to leave Ceylon or become a seaman, without the prior permission of the Officer in charge of Records.

(2) The Officer in charge of Records may grant permission for periods not exceeding one year at a time to any member of the Regular Reserve to leave Ceylon or to become a seaman.

(3) The permission granted under paragraph (2) shall not entitle any member of the Regular Reserve to join the Ceylon Navy or any reserve thereof

128. It shall be the duty of every member of the Regular Reserve who has been granted permission to become a seaman to report himself to the Officer in charge of Records immediately after the expiry of his term of service as seaman, and in all cases where the period of leave exceeds six months, to notify the Officer in charge of Records, through the captain or the master of the ship, at the end of the period the probable date of his return.

129. No member of the Regular Reserve who has become a seaman shall, unless his term of service in the Reserve is completed earlier, be struck off the Reserve until a period of one year has elapsed from the date of the expiry of his term of service as a seaman.

130. Where a member of the Regular Reserve, who has been at sea and who has failed to report to the Officer in charge of Records as required by regulation 128, finally presents himself before such officer, he shall decide whether such member shall be considered as an absentee without leave.

131. If a member of the Regular Reserve who has been called out on active service or for military training fails, without reasonable excuse, to present himself for such service or training at the time and place at which he is required to attend, the officer before whom he should have presented himself shall, at the expiration of fourteen days from the date on which such member should have presented himself, fill in and sign a certificate certifying to the fact of such non-attendance and send such certificate to the Officer in charge of Records who shall make an entry relating to the fact in the appropriate document. When an entry has been so made, the name of such member shall be struck off from the strength of the Reserve and his name shall be advertised in the Police Gazette. An entry in the Police Gazette shall be conclusive proof of his non-attendance.

132. Where a member of the Regular Reserve, who has been struck off the strength of the Reserve under regulation 131, presents himself for service or training, he shall be taken back to the strength of the Reserve with effect from the date on which he so presents himself, if his period of enlistment has not expired. If the name of such member has been advertised in the Police Gazette, a notification shall be published in the said Gazette to the effect that he has presented himself and has been taken back.

133. It shall be the duty of every member of the Regular Reserve—

- (a) to notify any change of address to the Officer in charge of Records; and
- (b) to forward a copy of his marriage certificate immediately after his marriage and also a copy of the birth certificate of every child, within a reasonable period of the birth of such child.

134. Promotions of members of the Regular Reserve who have been called out for active service shall depend on the number of vacancies in their respective corps and on their former rank and service in the Regular Force.

135. Every member of the Regular Reserve, while he is on active service or on military training, shall be entitled to receive such pay and allowances as may be specified in the Army Pay Code:

Provided, however, that no such member shall be entitled to any pay or allowance for any period during which he is an inmate of a mental hospital.

136. Every member of the Regular Reserve called out on active service or for training or called up for medical examination shall be entitled to a railway warrant for the journey wherever a train service is available; but where no train service is available he shall be entitled to receive an amount equivalent to his cost of travelling by the cheapest mode of conveyance:

Provided, however, that no such member shall be entitled to any travelling expenses incurred in connection with any medical examination that may be held when he has made application to rejoin the Regular Force.

137. Where a member of the Regular Reserve has served a period of imprisonment, by reason of a conviction by a civil court, such period shall not be forfeited, but shall be taken into account for reckoning his period of enlistment.

138. A member of the Regular Reserve shall not be permitted to rejoin the Regular Force, unless he has been called out on active service or unless he has been specially authorised in that behalf by the Commander of the Army.

139. A member of the Regular Reserve who rejoins the Regular Force shall do so in the rank of private or in some equivalent rank.

140. No member of the Regular Reserve shall be required to attend in person for the purpose of being discharged from the Reserve.

141. Where a member of the Regular Reserve is to be discharged, the Army Paymaster shall not, earlier than seven days from the date on which that member is to be discharged, by written request, call upon that member to deliver to him within a reasonable time the following certificates, that is to say, his identity certificate, his certificate of service, and any other certificate that may have been issued to him in the course of his service in the army:

Provided, however, that, where that member is abroad at or about the time he is to be discharged, the Army Paymaster shall within such period as may be fixed for the purpose by the Commander of the Army call upon that member to deliver the aforesaid certificates.

142. The Army Paymaster shall, upon his receipt of the certificates referred to in regulation 141, transmit those certificates (other than the certificate of service or any character certificates) to the Officer in charge of Records to be filed, and shall return the certificate of service and the character certificates to the member of the Regular Reserve who is to be discharged.

143. (1) Subject to the provisions of paragraph (2), where a member of the Regular Reserve is to be discharged, the commanding officer of his unit shall issue to him a certificate of discharge in such form as may be specified for the purpose by the Commander of the Army.

(2) Where a member of the Regular Reserve is undergoing a period of imprisonment at the time of his discharge, the certificate of discharge may be sent to the officer in charge of the prison at which he is undergoing his period of imprisonment, to be delivered to him upon his release from prison.

144. A certificate of discharge shall in no case be issued to a member of the Regular Reserve who is absent without leave at the time of his discharge, but if such member presents himself at any time thereafter, the question whether a discharge certificate should be issued to him shall be referred to the Permanent Secretary.

145. (1) The various causes of discharge from the Regular Reserve, the competent officers to authorise and confirm such discharge, and the special instructions regarding the cause of the discharge in each case shall be those specified in Table I set out in the Schedule hereto. The words in italics in Column I. shall be used for recording the cause of the discharge.

(2) A discharge from the Regular Reserve shall be complete when it has been confirmed by the appropriate competent officer.

146. The documents of a member of the Regular Reserve, who is discharged as being medically unfit or who has a claim to a service pension, shall be sent to the Permanent Secretary.

In all such cases, the question of retention or discharge will be referred, together with the man's documents, through the usual channels to the Permanent Secretary. Where, however, the disability clearly originated after enlistment, the soldier will be discharged under item (xi) (a), unless found “ unfit for any form of army service”, in which case he will be admitted to hospital and discharged under item (xi) (b). | (vi) (a) On compassionate grounds | O. C. | O. C. | Officer i/c Records | (a) Subject to the exigencies of the service, a discharge under this item will not be refused, except as provided below or under special Ministry instructions. A discharge under this item may be granted to a re-engaged soldier who has completed at least 12 years' service (b) A discharge under this item may be granted to a soldier at his own request during his first period of engagement, only when the application discloses the existence of extreme compassionate grounds and urgency. If the compassionate grounds are such as to warrant service in the Regular Reserve, conversion of the soldier's service with Regular Force at his own request, should be considered in place of discharge, provided that he has completed 2 years' service in the Regular Force (c) Before authorizing discharge or transfer to the Regular Reserve on compassionate grounds, the competent officer to authorize will satisfy himself as to the good faith of the application, the destitute condition of the parents or other near relatives to be supported and the soldier's prospects of obtaining suitable employment. Regard will also be had to the conduct of the soldier while in the service. The dominant factor to be taken into account in authorizing discharge on compassionate grounds is that the circumstances on which the application is based must have arisen since the enlistment, extension of service or re-engagement of the soldier. In the case of a soldier who is under 21 years of age and who has married since enlistment, and whose wife applies for his discharge on compassionate grounds, the Commander of the Army will only authorize release if he is satisfied that the soldier, by remaining in the service, will be unable to support his wife and family (if any) or make suitable arrangements for their support. In forming a judgment, the size of the family, the wife's earning capacity and the possibility of her being boarded and lodged with parents, other relatives or friends should be taken into account (d) Applications for discharge on compassionate grounds under this item will be made on special form. |
| (b) To take up civil employment | Commander of the Army | O. C. | Officer i/c Records | (a) Applies to a soldier who is within three months of the termination of his first period of engagement and for whom the employment cannot be held open (b) Only a soldier of good character may be granted this privilege, and the authorizing officer must be satisfied that the employment is genuine and likely to be permanent and that the strength of the unit permits the discharge of the soldier (c) The application for discharge will be made on special form |
| On conviction for offence committed before enlistment | | | | |
| (vi) Having been convicted by a civil court, during his service, of an offence committed before enlistment | Commander of the Army | O. C. | Officer i/c Records | The application for discharge will be made on special form, on which full details of the case will be recorded, and to which the conduct sheets and copies of civil convictions will be attached The application will be made and the discharge, if authorized, carried out as soon as possible after the case has been dealt with by the civil court The certificate of service will be sent to the officer in charge of the prison in which the soldier is confined, and the discharge confirmed from the date of despatch |

Where, therefore, a soldier has been convicted of a civil offence by the Supreme Court or the District Court and his retention in the service is not deemed desirable, consideration will be given to the possibility of discharge under item (xiii) (a), without gratuity (iii) Where a soldier is discharged solely on account of a conviction by the Magistrate's Court or a Rural Court in Ceylon for an offence committed during his service or on conviction for any offence whilst serving overseas, the discharge should be carried out under item (ix) (a), or, if he is sentenced to rigorous imprisonment, under item (viii) (b) (iv) The procedure for carrying out discharge will be as in item (vii) above |
