Regulation

The Army Discipline Regulations, 1950 published in Gazette No 10,154 of September 22, 1950 are hereby amended as follows —

- (1) by the re-numbering of regulation 101 as regulation 112,
- (2) by the insertion immediately after regulation 100 of the following new regulations —

“101 A soldier who is undergoing detention in detention barracks shall be guilty of an offence against detention barracks discipline if he—

- (1) fails or refuses to obey any lawful order given by a member of the Provost Section or the Guard Commander or commits a breach of any regulation relating to detention barracks discipline,
- (2) treats with disrespect any member of the Provost Section or the guard,
- (3) refuses to work or wilfully mismanages work, fails to perform his allotted task or is idle, careless or negligent at work,
- (4) is absent without leave from any parade,
- (5) swears, curses, or uses any violent, abusive, insolent, threatening or other improper language,
- (6) is indecent in language, act or gesture,
- (7) without authority, communicates whether by writing, speech, or gesture with any person who is not connected with the administration of the detention barracks,
- (8) sings, whistles or creates any unnecessary noise or disturbance, or gives any unnecessary trouble,
- (9) leaves his room or other appointed location, or his place of work without permission,
- (10) in any way wilfully disfigures or damages any part of the detention barracks or any article to which he may have access,
- (11) commits any nuisance,
- (12) has in his room or possession any article which he is not allowed to have,

- (13) gives to or receives from any other soldier undergoing detention any article whatsoever without leave,
- (14) is inattentive during instruction,
- (15) uses personal violence to a member of the staff or to another soldier undergoing detention,
- (16) escapes or attempts to escape from the detention barracks,
- (17) fails to return to the detention barracks on the termination of the period of leave of absence granted to him, or
- (18) offends in any other way against good order and discipline

102 (1) The commanding officer of the soldier undergoing detention may examine any person touching an offence mentioned in regulation 101 and determine thereupon and punish such offences—

- (a) by close confinement for a period not exceeding three days,
- (b) by forfeiture of remission of sentence for a period not exceeding fourteen days,
- (c) by deprivation of mattress for any period not exceeding three days,
- (d) by the imposition of punishment diet,
- (e) by ordering extra military instruction, or
- (f) by the deprivation of library books

(2) For the purposes of these regulations, the expression “close confinement” means confinement which deprives a soldier undergoing detention—

- (1) of all means of communication with other soldiers undergoing detention, and
  - (2) of the right to go to exercise unless otherwise directed by the Army Medical Officer
- (3) No soldier undergoing detention shall be placed in close confinement or on punishment diet unless the Army Medical Officer has certified that the soldier is in a fit state of health to undergo such punishment

(4) No soldier who has been on punishment diet for a continuous period of three days shall be punished with such diet for a fresh offence until the expiration of an interval of three days during which interval he has been given the ordinary diet of detention barracks

(5) A soldier who has been put on punishment diet shall not be ordered to attend parades or be given any hard labour

(6) Punishment diet shall consist of fourteen ounces of rice, half an ounce of salt, one ounce of sugar and one-sixteenth of an ounce of tea and an unrestricted supply of water

103 (1) No soldier undergoing detention in detention barracks shall be put under mechanical restraint except in cases of violent conduct or grave necessity

(2) All cases requiring the use of mechanical restraint shall be reported forthwith to the commanding officer of the soldier undergoing detention who shall issue an order in writing permitting or disallowing its use

(3) The normal method of mechanical restraint shall be by the use of handcuffs which shall be placed with the hands in front of the body. In extreme cases the commanding officer of the soldier undergoing detention may order that handcuffs be placed with the hands behind the body. Where handcuffs have been ordered to be placed with the hands behind the body, the hands shall be placed in front at meal time and at bed time and replaced thereafter.

(4) No soldier undergoing detention in detention barracks shall be put under mechanical restraint for a period exceeding twenty-four hours without an order in writing from the Commander of the Army.

104 A soldier undergoing detention in detention barracks shall be eligible to earn, by special industry and good conduct, a remission of a portion of his sentence.

105 (1) The number of days of remission which a soldier undergoing detention in detention barracks may earn shall not exceed four days in the case of a soldier sentenced to detention for a period not exceeding twenty-eight days and one-third of the entire sentence of detention in the case of a soldier sentenced to detention for a period exceeding twenty-eight days.

Provided, however, that in no case shall a period or remission granted under this regulation reduce the sentence to less than twenty-four days.

(2) For the purposes of this regulation a fraction of a day shall not be taken into account.

106 Where a sentence of detention has been awarded by a commanding officer or by an officer to whom the commanding officer has delegated his powers under section 41 of the Army Act, the authority empowered to grant the remission referred to in regulations 104 and 105 shall be the commanding officer, in all other cases it shall be the Commander of the Army.

107 A soldier undergoing detention in detention barracks shall be released as soon as he has completed that portion of his sentence which remains after the deduction of the number of days of remission he has earned under these regulations.

108 When a commanding officer or an officer to whom he has delegated his powers under section 41 of the Army Act imposes a sentence of detention such sentence shall begin on the day on which the order was made. When a sentence of detention has been imposed by a court-martial such sentence shall begin on the day on which the President of that court-martial signs the sentence and the proceedings of the court-martial.

109 Leave of absence on compassionate grounds may be granted to a soldier undergoing detention in detention barracks if his commanding officer is satisfied—

- (a) that the conduct of such soldier while serving his sentence of detention has been good, and
- (b) from inquiries made by him, that there is sufficient reason for the grant of such leave. Any one of the following shall be deemed to be a sufficient reason for the grant of such leave—

- (i) death or dangerous illness of a near relative where the presence of the soldier is necessary,
- (ii) damage caused by enemy action to the home of the family of such soldier or to the home of a near relative if the presence of the soldier is necessary,
- (iii) where the presence of the soldier is necessary for the purpose of making domestic arrangements preliminary to or following the birth of a child to his wife, and
- (iv) in circumstances which the commanding officer of the soldier may consider exceptional.

110 (1) A commanding officer of a soldier undergoing detention in detention barracks, who is of the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel may, in the first instance, grant leave on compassionate grounds for a period not exceeding ten days and thereafter extensions of such leave but the aggregate amount of leave so granted shall not exceed twenty-eight days.

(2) Where a commanding officer of a soldier undergoing detention in detention barracks is of the rank of Major or Captain the period of leave of absence on compassionate grounds granted by the commanding officer shall not exceed one hundred and forty-four hours and seventy-two hours respectively.

(3) No commanding officer of a soldier undergoing detention in detention barracks shall grant leave of absence for any period which exceeds the periods specified in paragraphs (1) and (2) of this regulation without the approval of the Commander of the Army.

111 Where a soldier is granted leave of absence on compassionate grounds in accordance with these regulations, the sentence of detention which such soldier is serving shall be deemed to be suspended from the day following the day on which he left the detention barracks on leave up to the day on which he returned to the detention barracks or is taken to custody, both days inclusive.
