PARKE, DAVIS & COMPANY.

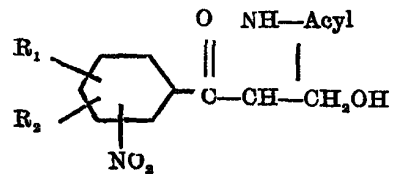

"Improvements in and relating to the production of Ketonic Amino alcohol compounds"

Abstract.—The nature of the invention can be ascertained from claims 1, 2 and 3 which read as follows:—

1. Process which comprises condensing a compound of formula, with formaldehyde in the presence of an alkaline condensation catalyst to obtain a ketonic compound of formula, where R<sub>1</sub> and R<sub>2</sub> are the same or different and represent hydrogen, halogen, lower alkyl or lower alkoxy radicals.

2. Process according to claim 1, wherein the condensation is carried out in the presence of a solvent

3. Process according to claims 1 and 2, wherein the condensation is carried out in water, a lower aliphatic alcohol or in a mixture of the same

There are 7 examples and 13 claims.

No. 4,071 of December 5, 1953. (Registration of British Patent No 688,109 of February 15, 1949)

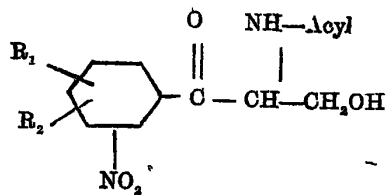

PARKE, DAVIS & COMPANY.

"Process for the manufacture of amino diols"

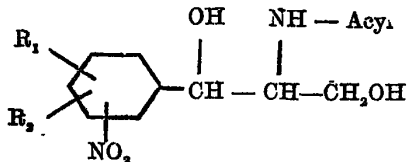

Abstract.—The nature of the invention can be ascertained from claims 1 and 2 which read as follows:—

1 Process which comprises reducing a compound of formula with an oxidizable aluminium alkoxide in an organic solvent to obtain a (dl)-acylamino diol of formula where  $R_1$  and  $R_2$  are the same or different and represent hydrogen, halogen, lower alkyl or lower alkoxy radicals.

2. Process according to claim 1, wherein the reduction is effected in a lower aliphatic alcohol which corresponds to the alkyl radical present in the oxidizable aluminium alkoxide

There are 7 examples and 19 claims

Registrar of Patents.

NOTICE

THE following specifications have been accepted.—

No. 4,061 of October 29, 1953

JAMES LEE NOCK & PAINTER BROTHERS LIMITED

"Improvements in pole and like structures for the support of electric transmission lines and other purposes"

Abstract—This invention relates to openwork poles or like structures

The nature of the invention can be ascertained from claims 1, 2 and 3 which read as follows:—

1. An openwork metal pole or like structure for use in vertical position, comprising a plurality of legs each embodying two or more tubular main members connected each to another at space points along the same by horizontal cross members, the legs being connected to one another by braces extending between said cross members.

2. An openwork metal pole or like structure according to claim 1, wherein the cross members are secured to the main members of the legs by welding or clamping.

3. An openwork metal pole or like structure according to claim 2, wherein the cross members are bevelled or recessed at the ends to form spaces between such ends and the adjacent main members for reception of weld metal.

There are 12 claims and 8 sheets of drawings

No. 4,062 of October 29, 1953

BELLROCK GYPSUM INDUSTRIES LIMITED.

"Improvements in and relating to building units"

Abstract.—This invention relates to prefabricated building units.

The invention pertains to prefabricated panels for building purposes comprising a plaster facing at one side of the panel, cell forming walls integral with and projecting from the plaster of said facing, a keying formation on said walls and a second plaster facing at the opposite side of the panel wherein the rims of the cell forming walls are embedded to an extent to include said keying formation whereby the second facing is mechanically bonded to the cell walling

The invention further consists in a method of moulding the panels.

There are 13 claims and 4 sheets of drawings.

No. 4,064 of November 7, 1953 (Convention application under Section 48, claiming priority date, March 31, 1953)

AMERICAN FLANGE & MANUFACTURING CO. INC

"Capsels for container closure"

Abstract.—This invention relates to capsels for container closures.

According to the invention capsels are formed with continuous score lines and these score lines, and the cap so scored, are provided with internal gaskets by flowing the gasket material into the caps. The gasket material in a sufficiently fluid state is used to enable it to flow into and fill the score lines where the gasket crosses them. By this means it is claimed that while leakage is prevented, the ease of removal provided by continuous scores is in no way interfered with

There are 10 claims and 2 sheets of drawings.

THE following specifications have been accepted:—

No. 4,065 of November 9, 1953

JOHN GERARD RUSSELL.

"Process of printing"

Abstract.—The nature of the invention can be ascertained from claim 1 which reads as follows:—

1. An improvement in processes of printing comprising a flat surface employed upon an even gelatine hectograph surface to cover parts thereof and allow desired areas of the hectograph surface to remain exposed so that each of a multiple number of successively employed impression-receiving sheets may be touched to the exposed areas of the hectograph surface and subsequently pulled away therefrom in an action wherein the hectograph surface adheres onto each of the impression-receiving sheets at areas of each sheet where the exposed grounds of the hectograph surface are caused to be touched into adhesion with the impression-receiving sheets, the hectograph surface having colour previously produced therein by repeated absorptions of hectograph ink into hectograph surface areas co-extensive with the exposed grounds of the hectograph surface.

There are 4 claims

No. 4,066 of November 17, 1953

MARTINIANO FLORO.

" Board forming machine. "

Abstract.—This invention relates to machines for forming boards such as wall board. The nature of the invention can be ascertained from claim 1 which reads as follows:—

1. A board forming machine comprising a horizontally disposed and rotatable cylindrical drum, means for heating the drum, a multiple of cylindrical rollers arranged circumferentially around the major lateral surface of the drum, a material conveying means comprising a continuous metal belt conveyor and a co-operating endless belt both holding the material to be formed into boards between them, said belts with sandwiched material being adapted to move between the drum and the cylindrical rollers.

There are 10 claims and 2 sheets of drawings

No. 4,067 of November 18, 1953 (Convention application under Section 48, claiming priority date, November 20, 1952)
