Kandy Kachcheri, September 22, 1897.

Locusts.

SIR,—WITH reference to your telegram of the 19th instant I have the honour to send a few of the insects therein referred to.

2. Kobbekaduwa Ratamahatmaya states that they first appeared in the district five or six years ago, and that they eat the leaves of cocoanut, arecanut, and other trees, including tea plants, but they do not attack paddy. They deposit their eggs in the ground.

3. The Assistant Government Agent, Matale, Mr. Saxton, informs me that he has seen specimens several times, the first occasion being about ten or twelve years ago.

4. They are, I understand, not eaten by crows or other birds, as they emit a bitter exudation when attacked. They may be a species of locusts.

I am, &c.,

ALLANSON BAILEY,
Government Agent.

The HONORARY GOVERNMENT ENTOMOLOGIST to the Hon. the COLONIAL SECRETARY.

Eton, Pundalu-oya, October 2, 1897.

SIR,—I HAVE the honour to acknowledge receipt of your communication dated 28th September, with enclosures, re Locusts in the Central Province, together with specimens of the insects for identification.

2. I find that these are examples of the well-known Locust Phymateus punctatus, Fabr. This insect is included in the list of coffee pests described by the late Mr. Nietner in his work on the "Enemies of the Coffee Tree."

3. Mr. Nietner, writing some thirty years ago, mentions having seen cocoon plantations at Negombo infested with these locusts, the cocoon leaves being entirely skeletonized by them. They are also said to have destroyed tobacco plantations at Tangalla. Mr. Nietner at the same time mentions having then been addressed by the Government Agent, Kandy, with reference to injury done by these locusts to the native grain crops in Matale.

4. I understand from paragraph 2 of the enclosure (No. 1,725/1,651Z) that the eggs of the locusts have been observed in the ground. To prevent a recurrence of the attack it is very important that these eggs should be dug up, collected, and destroyed. It is the habit of most gregarious locusts to choose particular patches of ground in which to deposit their eggs, which are enclosed in earthen covered capsules. This habit makes the task of collection easier, but the position of the breeding grounds must be carefully observed.

As the insect in its earlier stages is destitute of wings, it can be prevented from ascending cocoon or other palm trees by encircling the trunks with a broad band of some sticky material such as tar or the milky juice of the jak tree.

I am, &c.,

E. ERNEST GREEN,
Honorary Government Entomologist.
