Sri Lanka will continue to engage constructively with the UN - Minister

Sri Lanka will continue to engage constructively with the UN and its agencies in the same spirit of cooperation that have stood for over six decades despite the UN Human Rights Council (UNHRC) adopting a resolution on Sri Lanka, Foreign Minister Dinesh Gunewardena told Parliament yesterday.

He said however the Resolution against Sri Lanka was pushed forward at the behest of a few countries, representing one part of the world without the consent of Sri Lanka. "It is therefore unhelpful and divisive. There is no moral right to interfere into affairs of a sovereign country in this manner," he added.

The minister emphasised that no country has a greater interest in bringing about reconciliation among its peoples than Sri Lanka - a point that has repeatedly

SLBFE spending for migrant workers in quarantine

The Sri Lanka Bureau of Foreign Employment (SLBFE) will cover all expenses related to quarantine facilities, other medical, and food and transport facilities of migrant workers returning home due to the COVID-19 situation.

These facilities will only be available for migrant workers who have duly registered with the

SLBFE prior to departure. Recently Labour Minister Nimal Siripala de Silva instructed the SLBFE to formulate a system and find suitable private hotels and resorts to provide free quarantine facilities which is an essential factor in the expeditious repatriation of migrant workers due to the epidemic situation. Petition calling for national policy to protect elephants re-fixed for argument

LAKMAL SOORIYAGODA

A writ petition filed seeking an order in the Nature of the Writ of Mandamus directing the environmental authorities to formulate a National Policy on the protection of elephants, including steps to minimize attacks on humans was yesterday re-fixed for argument by Court of Appeal.

The Court of Appeal two-judge-bench comprising Justice (President) Arjuna Obeyesekere and Justice Mayadunne Corea re-fixed the matter for argument on July 20.

The Court was informed that the respondents have filed objections against the petition.

The petitioner Hemantha Withanage, the Executive Director of the Centre for Environmental Justice filed this petition naming the Environment and Wildlife Resources Minister, the Inspector General of Police, Director General of Wildlife and Attorney General as respondents.

The petitioner further sought an order directing the respondents to act collectively in order to formulate a proper mechanism to protect all elephants acting under and in terms of the sections of the Fauna and Flora Protection Ordinance as well as under the Forest Ordinance.

The petitioner states that the Asian elephant (Elephas maximus), also called Asiatic elephant, is the only living species of the genus Elephas and is distributed throughout the Indian subcontinent and Southeast Asia. Sri Lankan elephants (Elephas maximus), which is a subspecies of the Asian elephant is the most iconic animal in Sri Lanka and occupies an important place in the local culture and eco system.

According to the first national survey of Sri Lanka's wild elephants held in 2011, it was estimated that the elephant population is approximately 5,879 wild elephants including 122 tuskers and 1,107 calves. However, Elephant experts question the survey methodology and states that this figure is an exaggeration.

Petitioner states that according to the Wild Life Department in 2018 alone, 319 elephants and almost 100 people were killed in such encounters. Sixty-four of those deaths were caused by explosive devices hidden in fodder bait, known as "hakkapatas". Fifty-three elephants died of gunshot injuries.

The last four years have seen at least 21 cases of elephant poisoning deaths for which perpetrators had not been found.

a moderate course of action with regards to the resolution on Sri Lanka during the recent UNHRC session, it still worked hard to propagate and support the rights of the Tamil people in this country during the recently concluded forum.

He was responding to questions by a group of journalists about India's stance on the recent UNHRC resolution on Sri Lanka.

Sampanthan said India was committed to finding a political solution to Sri Lanka's ethnic problem, adding that although India had abstained from voting this time, it had influenced UNHRC delegates to pressure the Sri Lankan government to hold provincial council elections at the earliest.

He said India has always stated that a lasting and long-term solution to the problem of the Tamil people in Sri Lanka is needed and that they are working hard to achieve it.

been emphasized during proceedings of the Human Rights Council. He also said that Sri Lanka considers the draft resolution to be unwarranted, unjustified and in violation of the relevant Articles of the United Nations Charter, in particular Article 2(7) and relevant Sections of the United Nations Resolution 60/251 that provides for the mandate of the Human Rights Council. "For the above reasons, this Resolution against Sri Lanka is illegal".

He said the Government remains committed to protect those who have made immeasurable sacrifices to neutralize terrorism, protect the territorial integrity of the country and to regain for all people in Sri Lanka the most cherished of all rights, right to life.

"Despite the vote of this Resolution against Sri Lanka, Sri Lanka will pursue its domestic mechanisms aimed at bringing about reconciliation and a lasting peace," he added.

Accordingly, classes for up to 15 students should be held every day of the week. Students should be divided into two groups of 16 to 30 and classes should be held one week apart. Classes with more than 30 students should be divided into three groups and classes should be held on an equal number of days. Relevant guidelines have been published on the official website of the Education Ministry (www.moe.gov.lk).

The school term for the first term will end on April 9 and the resumption for the second term will take place on April 19.

The SLBFE has informed the minister it has selected 10 privately owned tourist hotels and resorts with the approval of the National COVID-19 Prevention Task Force to set up such quarantine centers.

These 10 hotels can accommodate five hundred and seventy one people (571) at a time.

Hotel fees, food and all other facilities will be provided by the SLBFE. The SLBFE spends Rs. 4,500 per day to keep one person in such quarantine centers and Rs.18 million a week to provide these facilities for a full group. A returning worker will be kept in a center for one week.

Obeyesekere (President) and Justice Mayadunne Corea, notices were issued on respondents returnable for May 17.

The Court of Appeal made this order pursuant to a writ petition filed by the Chief Prelate of Panchi Sigiriya Rajamaha Viharaya in Digamadulla Bambarane Saddhathissa Thera.

The Thera said the first respondent Dr. Thilak Rajapakse was declared elected as a Member of Parliament from the Digamadulla district representing Sri Lanka Podujana Peramuna (SLPP) following the General Election held on August 5, 2020.

The petitioner stated that he exercised his vote at the General Election as an elector of Digamadulla district presuming that all candidates contesting the said election were duly qualified to be elected MP from the Digamadulla electoral district.

The petitioner said he subsequently became aware that Dr. Thilak Rajapakse is a staff grade officer of the public service having served in the capacity of a medical doctor attached to the office of the Medical Officer of Health in Digamadulla.

The petitioner alleged that the first respondent at the time of signing his nomination paper and the holding of Parliamentary Election was a staff grade public officer. As such the respondent had contested the General Election and had been elected as a MP contrary to the laws.

The petitioner further stated that Dr. Rajapakse is disqualified from being elected as a Member of Parliament in terms of Article 91 of the Constitution.

The petitioner said Dr. Rajapakse being elected and continuing to hold office as a MP is ultra vires (beyond the powers) the Constitution and the Parliamentary Election Act.

President's Counsel Faiz Mustapha with Counsel Hafeel Farisz appeared for the petitioner.

too will be available in Sri Lanka shortly. He made this observation at a media conference held in this regard at the Ministry. Both local and international media on Wednesday (24) reported that the Oxford AstraZeneca vaccine, manufactured by the Serum Institute of India (SII) in Pune, India, under the brand name Covishield has been temporarily stopped from being exported outside India.

Commenting on these media reports the State Minister said that India has reportedly put a temporary hold on all major exports of the vaccine made by the SII, the world's largest vaccine manufacturer, to meet the domestic demand as infections had increased there.

But the SII has not yet officially informed this decision to Sri Lanka, he said.

"The question for many is whether the people who took the first dose in Sri Lanka will be able to take the second dose, or whether there will be any problem. We have received a total of 1.46 million doses of the Oxford AstraZeneca vaccine so far. The first 500,000 doses were received as a grant from the Government of India under its Vaccine Maitri programme. The second consignment of 500,000 doses was purchased by the Government of Sri Lanka. We received another 264,000 doses under the World Health Organization (WHO) COVAX facility. In this manner Sri Lanka has received 1,264,000 doses of the AstraZeneca vaccine so far".

He said as of Wednesday evening, 856,000 individuals have been inoculated with the first dose of the vaccine. Currently, 400,000 doses of vaccines remain in stores. He said Sri Lanka is expecting another consignment of 500,000 doses of Coronavirus vaccines which had already been ordered from India.

Prof. Jayasumana noted there will not be any issue regarding the administration of the second dose, due to the remaining COVID vaccines and the consignment expected to arrive in the island.

"We will be able to administer the second dose till May this year using the doses remaining in our stores. Therefore, there will be no problem until May end. Also, we are in discussion with India and have been unofficially informed that steps will be taken to provide another 500,000 doses of the AstraZeneca vaccines to Sri Lanka. Therefore, those who have already received the first dose of the vaccine will have no problem getting the second one".

He said the National Drug Regulatory Authority (NMRA) has approved the import of the Chinese-made Sinopharm vaccine to Sri Lanka. "Accordingly, we are confident that Sri Lanka will receive 600,000 doses of the vaccine within a week as a gift. The Chinese Embassy in Colombo has already informed of this move," he said.

"The Cabinet of Ministers has also approved the decision of the Health Ministry to purchase seven million doses of the Sputnik V vaccine. But Sri Lanka will not get this seven million at once, but rather in installments. They have informed us that the Russian manufacturing company (Gamaleya/Russian Direct Investment Fund) will confirm to us in the next two days what the methodology is and what the schedule is," he added. Sinopharm and Sputnik V vaccines have been approved in around 40 countries so far. AstraZeneca is also close to gaining approval in the US, the only major market where it is absent so far.

Most Ven. Kotugoda Dhammawasa Mahanayake Thera ERUDITE PRELATE WHO LEFT LASTING LEGACY - PRESIDENT

Chief Prelate of the Amarapura Sect Ven. Aggamaha Panditha Kotugoda Dhammawasa Mahanayake Thera always sought to propagate social well-being, prosperity, unity and well-being of the people, President Gotabaya Rajapaksa said yesterday.

He was speaking at the final rites ceremony of the Mahanayake Thera held with full State Honours at Independence Square, Colombo yesterday afternoon.

The President said that the late Mahanayake Thera had rendered yeoman service to the country and the Nation and was known to not only the local Buddhist devotees, but also to the entire Buddhist world.

The President said that the late Mahanayake Thera had exceptional oratory skills and his sermons were admired by all followers both in Sri Lanka and in overseas countries.

Prime Minister Mahinda Rajapaksa's message was read out by Minister Chamal Rajapaksa. It said the Chief Prelate's demise had taken from our midst, one of the most erudite monks, who was well known for his Dhamma sermons and immense service to the Sasana.

Opposition Leader Sajith Premadasa said that the Chief Prelate's demise was an immense loss to the country and to the Buddha Sasana. The late Mahanayake Thera always offered advice and guidance to the country's leaders and raised his voice at crucial junctures for the country. He was the very epitome of discipline as an erudite Bhikku who propagated Buddhism throughout the world. Several members of the Maha Sangha, Colombo Archbishop Malcolm Cardinal Ranjith and several other lay leaders also spoke.

Late Supreme Prelate of Amarapura Sect, Dharmapala

Wanshalankara, Saddarma Keerthi, Sri Tripitaka Vageeshwara, Prawachana Keerthi Sri Sasana Sobana Sri Sumangala Vidyawathasa, Most Venerable Agga Maha Panditha Mahopadaya Kotugoda Dhammawasa Thera passed away on March 22 at the age of 88 while receiving treatment at a private hospital in Colombo.

The Government declared yesterday as a National Day of Mourning in view of the final rites of the late Chief Prelate.

The final rites were held in the presence of the Maha Sangha, religious leaders of other faiths, international dignitaries, Ministers and other Parliamentarians, public officials and devotees.

The remains of the Mahanayake Thera placed at the Dharmaparamaya Temple in Mount Lavinia where the Thera was the Chief Incumbent was brought to the Independence Square in a vehicle procession.

THE RELEVANCE OF PHILIP GUNAWARDENA'S SOCIAL NATIONALISM

SUGESWARA SENADHIRA

Philip Gunawardena was a born leader who instinctively understood the hopes and aspirations of the people, a man close to the heartbeat of the nation. Today (26) is the 49th death anniversary of Philip Gunawardena, who earned the sobriquet 'Lion of Boralugoda'.

Although Philip was known as the 'Father of Marxism in Ceylon' in his radical days when he launched the Lanka Sama Samaja Party (LSSP) together with N.M. Perera, Colvin R. de Silva and other pioneers of the Left movement, he realized soon that the foreign doctrine will have to be transformed to meet the people's aspirations. Hence, he launched the new vision of 'National Socialism' loosely translated as 'Jathika Samajavadaya'.

As a Trotskyite, Philip focused his vision of Trotskyism blending it with Nationalism, rather than totally devoting his vision to Marxist theories. The new-found 'Social Nationalism' could easily blend with S.W.R.D. Bandaranaike's middle path and the new pancha maha balawegaya of the Buddhist clergy, indigenous physicians, teachers, peasants and labourers brought the new-found Mahajana Eksath Peramuna (MEP) to power in 1956 defeating the pro-West ruling party, the United National Party (UNP).

As eminent administrator and academic-turned politician Dr. Sarath Amunugama said, on Socialism itself Philip had a different perspective from the red-shirted comrade shouting himself hoarse on May Day: "You talk of Socialism. You cannot socialise poverty. You can only socialise plenty. And if people cannot work, if they cannot produce, you cannot have Socialism." This was probably an admission to the government of the day which was claiming to be Socialist.

Philip was largely instrumental in disseminating the idea of Socialism in Sri Lanka. He did so in his unique way by de-Europeanizing Socialist thought and by connecting it to the wellsprings of indigenous culture and investing it with local resonances. He was able to speak in the cultural idiom of the people regarding issues that mattered most to them. Looking back on his efforts, one has to conclude that this was indeed the correct strategy, Dr. Amunugama said. The idea of social justice was at the heart of it. Philip valued equality not as an end point but rather the point of departure for social transformation.

Professor A.V.D.S. Indraratne, the prominent economist, taking a look at Philip's achievements, stated that he brought Marxism to the rural peasants through his Jathika Samajavadaya.

Speaking in the course of the Budget debate on October 11, 1960, Philip, then a member of the Opposition, said, "In our country with its accent on political illiteracy, there is the danger of a class struggle between the ignorant and the educated. The modern world is a complex world; its technological problems need a cultivated understanding. The fact that new ideas and learning mostly come to our country through a foreign language creates new barriers between the educated elite and the unsophisticated people. The new ideas and learning do not naturally seep down, fail to become a part of the heritage and the consciousness of the people and they remain a monopoly of the new Nationalisation of modern knowledge which is the sine qua non of effective democracy and Socialism in our country."

The student of politics gleans from these speeches not only what agitated the Left and the Nationalists at different times, but also the stance taken on those issues at those times by the other side – the lackeys of imperialism, Dr. Amunugama, referring to Philip's speeches, said.

The capitalist exploiters and the de-nationalised decadent 'thuppahis' in Philip's own colourful choice of vocabulary. And what he will get will not be just a rambling of petty slogans and cheap invective – although the language and the style will be never dull – but well-crafted. Political, economic and social analysis supported by a wealth of facts, coming from a highly intelligent, well-read and acutely observant master of the trade.

Philip Gunawardena belonged to an age of giants that included the likes of S.W.R.D. Bandaranaike, N.M. Perera, Dudley Senanayake, G.G. Ponnambalam, Colvin R. de Silva, Pieter Keuneman, J.R. Jayewardene and latterly, Felix Dias Bandaranaike. Each of them left their distinct mark in the annals of our Legislature. Philip's was among the brightest of the lot, Dr. Amunugama opined.

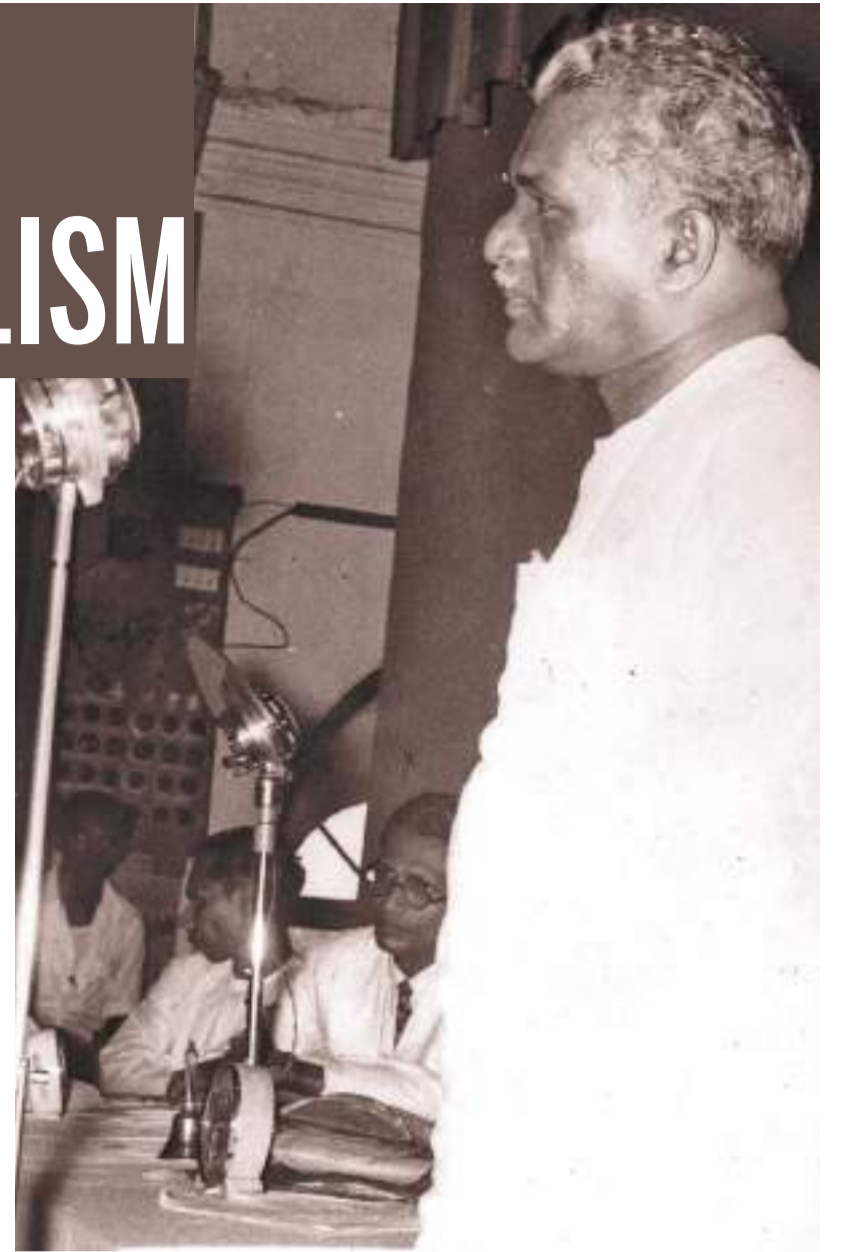

At the launch of Philip's Parliamentary speeches, many analysts commented that the speeches reflected the multi-faceted personality. Here, Philip the thinker, the modernist and the percipient observer of the social scene clearly comes out. Going beyond the classic Marxian perception of classes based on the ownership of economic assets, he saw the growing emergence of a different class struggle. A class struggle between different sets of haves and have-nots, that is to say, the haves and have-nots of modern knowledge. Was it not this lack of understanding of the modern technological world and its dynamics that the tragedy of such a knowledge not becoming "part of the heritage and the consciousness of the people" that was at least partly responsible for the youth rebellions of a later date taking the form they did? Philip seems to have been prescient. He was far from being a slave to moth-eaten texts – a favourite phrase of his, a dig aimed at his erstwhile Marxist colleagues.

The relevance of Philip's vision is evident from the fact that Philip was a modernist, and was acutely conscious of the fact that the path to progress in Sri Lanka lay through modern technology and not through a mere change of property relations through violent revolution or otherwise.

Philip's foresight is evident from the 21st Century's vision encapsulated in 'Vistas of Prosperity and Splendour,' which outlines President Gotabaya Rajapaksa's vision: "The 21st Century is known as the knowledge-centric century. In order to remain competitive globally, it is imperative that technology be integrated with every sector of the economy, be it agriculture, industry or the service sector. It is imperative that we invest strategically in new technologies and integrate such innovations with our education system, and economy. In order to enhance the quality of life of our people, we must launch a massive social transformation and create a Culture of Technological Innovation."

While Philip stressed the importance of modern knowledge and technology he did not belittle the value of culture. During the course of a speech, he said: "A Spanish proverb says that there is a constant quarrel between beauty and chastity. Let there not be a similar quarrel between socialism and culture. The socialist is an heir to the varied cultures of the past; to abandon the heritage is to make socialism as unreal as the shell grit sea."

"The future belongs to the trained and the technocrats, not to the foreman," Philip once said in Parliament. At the same time he stressed the importance and dignity of labour. "A world to the middle classes – the educated and enlightened sections of our population. Your developing hostility to the working people is not only shortsighted but self-destructive. May I respectfully appeal Mr. Speaker, to the middle classes to stop turning the single beads of irritation into a rosary of despair."

The relevance of Philip's vision can be encapsulated in another segment of his speech. "The growing divorce between words and their meaning is a major tragedy of our times. Socialism, Democracy, Peace, Freedom are used in a manner that makes them not only meaningless but topsy-turvy. The fluidity in the meaning of words creates crisis in communication. Words instead of clarifying and crystallising thoughts confuse it. Today counterfeiters have seized the temple of Saraswathi. As false coins bring about the breakdown of an economy and society, so counterfeiters in language destroy popular confidence. Dull indifference is the only response when not the goblet alone but the grapes are without wine."

Boralugoda Lion

An epitome of truthfulness and integrity

K.K.S. PERERA

Today, a grateful public irrespective of political differences would join in commemorating the 49th death anniversary of a true patriot of Sri Lanka, who has gone down in the annals of the nation's history as a man with an analytical mind and innovative vision who was loved by the people.

Don Jacolis Rupasinghe Gunawardena, (Boralugoda Ralahamy) and Dona Liyanora Gunasekara, the well-known family in Boralugoda in Seetawaka were blessed with 10 children. Don Philip Rupasinghe Gunawardena, was born on January 11, 1901, as the third in the family. Little Philip had his primary education at a village school and later attended Prince of Wales College, Ananda College and University College, Colombo. He was only 20 when father sent him to the University of Illinois in the USA where he read Economics; he did his second degree at the University of Wisconsin. Finally, he obtained a doctorate in Agricultural Economics from Columbia University in New York.

Philip's agility in glowing oratory and writing skills outclassed contemporary politicians. As a trade unionist in the UK, he engaged in journalism before he met Drs. N.M. Perera, Colvin R. de Silva, S.A. Wickramasinghe and Leslie Gunawardena and sowed the seeds that became the Sri Lankan Marxism movement in 1930s. Philip acquired radical ideas during his stay in the US and UK where he joined the Anti-Imperialist League and made a considerable input by involving in the struggles in the 1920s, along with rebellious students like Jayaprakash Narayan, Jawaharlal Nehru, Krishna Menon and Jomo Kenyatta, all future world leaders, to mention a few.

Several national leaders were arrested under the guise of restraining Sinhala-Muslim riots in 1915. The motive was to suppress a possible anti-British movement out of the disturbances and also use the opportunity to eliminate regional leaders. Under ruthless Governor Robert Chalmers, a few selected heroes were executed by firing squads following a court martial under martial law. Philip was a 14-year-old schoolboy when his father became one such brave man earmarked for exe-cutation. The young Lion of Boralugoda, accompanied his mother in a horse carriage, went straight into Queen's House and presented a petition to the Governor, and got his father released. Philip repeated his heroism during his struggles in Europe by undertaking an extremely risky task.

The Spanish revolutionary movement became very active during this time. Spanish rebels needed someone's help in delivering some secret documents, for which none of the rebellion youth came forward. This Herculean task was undertaken by the lion-hearted Philip who was in his early twenties. The youth who acquired Boralugoda ancestry's Panthera leo genes, equipped with fluency in Spanish and French, volunteered to meet the challenge and cross the Pyrenees, the natural border between Spain and France that separates the two countries, risking the security checks. Our hero crossed the hill on foot, which stood 3,400 metres at the peak, carrying the bundle of secret documents for the Spanish comrades.

Philip who returned in 1932, played a significant role in forming the Lanka Sama Samaja Party (LSSP) along with his Marxist friends N.M., Colvin and the rest whom he had met in England. The new party (the oldest surviving), contested the State Council Election in 1936. Philip and N.M. were elected to the Avissawella and Ruwanwella seats, where Philip defeated the Speaker, Forester Obeyesekere, one of the most powerful men in the island at the time.

Convinced by Philip, the LSSP accepted in principle that the administration of the country should be in swabasha, Sinhala and Tamil; he followed this in 1936 by introducing a motion in the State Council advocating that the work in police courts and Municipal courts should be conducted in the vernacular.

As a staunch supporter of Marxist/Trotskyite ideology though, who professed that social development should stand on the scientific lines of Marx, he was not a blind follower of ideology unlike his contemporaries. Known as the 'Father of Socialism' for his introduction of the earliest Marxist/Trotskyite ideals to Sri Lanka, he always maintained strong relations with local cultural roots, which often led to clashes with the rest of his colleagues in the party. In fact he disagreed with LSSP frontliners in categorizing all bourgeoisies as capitalist with whom they should not have any connection. Philip carefully separated the Nationalistic segments of the rich from Comprador Bourgeois; which ultimately led to his joining Bandaranaike in 1956. Those who opposed his move, N.M., Colvin and others followed his footsteps eight years later by entering a coalition with Sirimavo Bandaranaike, the widow of S.W.R.D. The social and cultural facts and the importance of a realistic approach in local politics, perhaps, they learned from Philip Gunawardena. Philip, unlike his colleagues appealed to nationalistic emotions: the fiery Marxist who valued local culture turned his characteristic style, bordering on demagoguery, said: "We swear by our national conquerors, our heritage and our literature. We are proud of King Raja Sinha, who kept the Portuguese at bay for a quarter of a century, and of Puran Appu who attempted to free the Ceylonese from the repression of British Imperialism. Yes we are proud of our national heroes."

Philip who hated injustice and fought back to establish justice and fairness at all times was elected to the first Parliament to represent Avissawella with a huge majority of over 22,000 votes, but soon he was overthrown mainly due to his involvement in a workers' strike in 1947 held at South Western Omnibus Company, Ratmalana. The government filed action in courts, and he was deprived of civic rights for seven years where he lost his Parliamentary seat as a consequence.

Kusumasiri Gunawardene, his beloved wife and party activist, handed over nominations to contest the vacant seat, but no one dared contest even from the newly formed UNP. Kusuma, as she was affectionately known holds an unbreakable record in the history of legislation, that she became the first woman

MP to address the House in Sinhala; she achieved it on July 24, 1948. Philip and Kusuma were the happy parents of Indika, Dinesh, Prasanna, Githanjana and Lakmali.

Philip rejected political dogma and believed that social development should be based on scientific lines: care and concern towards the depressed, the oppressed and underprivileged majority. He had one vision for over four decades of his political life which he successfully executed, ignoring race, religion or caste divisions, for him everyone was a human being.

PADDY LANDS ACT

One of the main accomplishments of Philip Gunawardena, as Minister of Food, Agriculture and Cooperatives in the Bandaranaike government was the Paddy Lands Act, or more famously known as Kumburu Panatha in 1958. The tenant farmer (anda goviya) who was required to part with half the crop to the landowner after toiling in the fields was given security of possession, plus three-fourths of the harvest, which obviously the landowner class hated. There was hatred from an influential section in the Cabinet as well. However, a diluted Bill got through the Legislature making an enormous social change. The reactionary forces, however, ensured Philip's exit from the Government before he could introduce further proposals in favour of the downtrodden masses.

GUARANTEED PRICE FOR PADDY

Speaking in the House amidst interruptions and heckling from both sides on his introduction of a guaranteed price for paddy he said, "Farmer loses the money before he goes home. I like to help him save at least a portion of what he has realized from his crop for the next cultivation season. ...Somehow or other we must stop this annual drain of Rs. 260 million that is sent out of the country for purchase of rice.

If there is a government contract going, one finds Buddhakkita and his agents hovering about like hungry jackals....the political life of this country should be cleansed of these people. We were elected to serve the poor people of this country and we are not going to be intimidated or bullied by anybody however great he may be.

So far as I am concerned, I serve this government because I feel that I can translate into action some of the things for which I have been working for 20 or 30 years and as long as I am permitted to do that I will continue" (Hansard, May 6, 1958).

"In the years to come, when lesser mortals like us have played their evanescent part and vanished into limbo of the forgotten, a grateful socialist of Ceylon will remember Philip Gunawardena with pride and place him on the worthy pedestal due to him. History will no doubt accord him his rightful place in the political life in the country." – Dr. N.M. Perera.

Philip Rupasinghe Gunawardena, a political colossus, a great statesman, the fieriest Leftist that ever lived in Sri Lanka, ending an illustrious political career, passed away at the age of 71 on March 26, 1972, leaving to his sons the continuation of the progressive tasks that he undertook: Minister Dinesh Gunawardena who did his father proud by carrying forward his legacy, is committed to the task with a true Lion's roar as proved in the Geneva sessions for the Motherland.

Governors, District Secretaries responsible for regional development - President

Officials should understand Government policy and actively participate in development

President Gotabaya Rajapaksa said that the Governors and the District Secretaries should lead regional development.

It is the objective of the Government to see that the people from the villages reap the benefits of development expeditiously. He says this process could not be delayed under any circumstance and the responsibility of supervising and overseeing all regional development activities will be vested in the Governors and the District Secretaries.

The President was having a discussion with the Governors and the District Secretaries at the Presidential Secretariat on Wednesday.

Although provisions have been allocated for some projects, they have not been implemented yet. Some have been postponed. However, the Government is paying interest for the loans obtained for these projects. The citizens see them and criticise the Government and the officials. President Rajapaksa said that the needs of the people and what the people expect from the Government should be realised in expediting development proposals. The President said that all projects, which have been already funded but remained inactive and the projects, which have come to a halt should commence immediately.

Laws enacted to deal with wrong doers should not be used to victimise an entire population. To implement the necessary laws to arrest fraudsters and crooked businessmen, the officials should go to the village and identify the true issues of the people. President Rajapaksa said that those officials who do not go to the village, meet the people and understand their real plight first hand could misinterpret law abiding people as culprits. He highlighted the importance of not restricting themselves to circulars and acting in accordance with the Government policy when meeting the needs of the people.

"When a public issue is placed before officials, they should not try to dodge it with another issue or an excuse. When people raise their issues, a theoretical approach might not be the way to resolve it. Do not use theories to ignore the issue and slide away." The President said.

People's issues should not be allowed to pass down from generation to generation. President Rajapaksa said that the Government has planned the development strategies for the well-being of the public and has prioritised a number of other spheres including helping people live happily and environmental development.

Land utilisation in rural areas is irregular. It is important to educate the villagers and guide them to use their home gardens for agricultural purposes. Expansion of community forestation projects can address a number of environmental issues. The President instructed the officials to pay attention to that aspect. The District Secretaries said that the environmental destruction that some people and the media outlets shout about does not occur at the district level in reality and it's only a media show. The President said that he expects to meet with the Governors and the District Secretaries every month to evaluate the progress of rural development projects and issues that may arise.

Secretary to the President Dr. P.B. Jayasundera and Principal Adviser to the President Lalith Weeratunga were present.

Elderly woman claims indecent exposure by driver

LAKMAL SOORIYAGODA

Thalangama police has filed a charge sheet in Kaduwela Magistrate's Court against a driver over an allegation of indecently exposing himself to an elderly woman while he was slowly driving the vehicle.

The complainant claimed that the driver had exposed himself to her and that she had been humiliated by the incident.

The defence, however, alleged that the driver of the vehicle had slowed down to ask the elderly woman, directions to a place.

The woman had made a complaint to the police who investigated the matter and she had claimed that she has a photograph of the vehicle and its registration number.

However, the complainant did not see the driver when he was summoned by the Police for inquiry. She commented that she looks similar to the suspect who had done the crime. The driver was represented by Senior Counsel Ian Fernando.

The police had filed a charge sheet against the driver under section 345 of the Penal Code for sexual harassment.

According to the section unwelcome sexual advances by words or action used by a person in authority, in a working place or any other place, should constitute the offence of sexual harassment.

'SLTB contract employees with more than five-years service will be made permanent'

Steps will be taken to make permanent Sri Lanka Transport Board (SLTB) employees who are working on contract basis more than five years, Transport State Minister Dilum Amunugama said.

He was speaking at the Ministerial Consultative Committee on Transport in Parliament on March 23.

The State Minister said that the relevant examination will be held in May to fill the long standing vacancies of Driving Instructors. He said that the Ministry is taking steps to use the sub depots throughout the country only as bus parking and main depots to carry out the relevant administrative activities. In this way, the Ministry can make bus transport a systematic and efficient service, the State Minister said.

MPs highlighted the importance of representing an official of the Ministry in the meetings of the Local Government Traffic Committee to make decisions on the handling of urban traffic. It will help the Ministry make important decisions on handling urban traffic and preventing irregularities, they said.

The State Minister said that qualified persons will be recruited to fill the vacancies of drivers and conductors through low-income earners.

The Consultative Committee suggested that a programme should be initiated to educate drivers in government institutions about the high-tech devices available in modern vehicles. The MPs were of the view that due to the ignorance of the drivers, the condition of modern vehicles could be destroyed soon.

MPs highlighted the difficulties encountered in booking train tickets online and the State Minister directed the officials to look into the matter and take immediate action.

The need to appoint a Parliamentary Select Committee to make necessary recommendations to minimise road accidents was discussed at the meeting and the Ministry is discussing a special driving licence for bus drivers, the State Minister further said. Transport Minister Gamini Lokuge, State Minister Dilum Amunugama, MPs Chandima Weerakkody, Rishad Bathiudeen, Ashok Abeysinghe, S. Gajendran, Kulasingham

Dileepan, Ali Sabri Rahim, Samanpriya Herath, Upul Mahendra Rajapaksa, Shantha Bandara, Sudath Manjula, Madura Vithanage, H. Nandasena, Faizal Cassim, Akila ELLAWALA, Kokila Gunawardena, Dr. Upul Galappaththi and a group of officials from the Ministry were present.

Surakimu Ganga will preserve country's water sources - Minister Amaraweera

The Surakimu Ganga (Let's protect rivers) initiative launched under the patronage of President Gotabaya Rajapaksa will conserve all water springs, catchment areas and waterfalls in the country, Environment Minister Mahinda Amaraweera yesterday said in Parliament.

Minister Amaraweera was responding to a reference in Parliament that none of the 547 waterfalls in the country have been legally recognised in gazettes.

Minister Mahinda Amaraweera was responding to Samagi Jana Balawegaya (SJB) MP Buddhika Pathirana.

Minister Amaraweera said that the district and divisional level Environmental Protection Units established under the Surakimu

Ganga project will monitor the conservation activities of these waterfalls as a part of this project.

The Speaker of the House requested the Environment Minister to intervene in cleaning the polluted Diyawanna Lake. Speaker Mahinda Yapa Abeywardena said that it has been revealed that several other activities have polluted Diyawanna waters. "We request to take the Diyawanna lake under the Surakimu Ganga project and take swift measures to clean it," the Speaker urged.

Minister Amaraweera said that special voluntary groups including public officers will be set up under the Surakimu Ganga project to safeguard the environment at rural and divisional levels.

Opposition acts as if Easter Sunday attacks occurred under present Government - Minister Prasanna

The Opposition Leader and the Opposition members act in a manner that the Easter Sunday attacks took place under this Government and all Presidential Commissions, Parliamentary Committees and the Oversight Committee were appointed under this Government to investigate the same attacks, Tourism Minister Prasanna Ranatunga said in Parliament yesterday.

He was participating in the debate on the report on the Easter Sunday attacks of the Presidential Investigation Commission.

He said that the committees were appointed under the former Good Government. Aftermath of such a terrorist activity like in 1971, 88/89 and the LTTE terrorism, the associated persons were rehabilitated in the country, but the Good Governance Government did not do so. He said that then government members protected their Muslim members.

He added that the people had a notion that the then government members were involved in this heinous crime. "The report said that despite prior information by the intelligence, the Government kept silent allowing the terrorist attack. He queried as to what Opposition Leader Sajith Premadasa, as a Minister and the Deputy Leader of the United National Party (UNP) did in connection with them.

Lord JESUS, by faith in Your merits, I now take Your precious blood and sprinkle it over myself and my family right from the crown of my head to the very soles of my feet. I claim total and complete protection for my life and my family. Lord JESUS, keep me free today from evil, sin, temptation, Satan's attacks and afflictions, fear of darkness, fear of man, sickness, diseases, doubts, anger, all calamities and from all that is not of Thy Kingdom. Fill me Lord JESUS with the gift of Your Holy SPIRIT and grant me the gift of wisdom, knowledge, understanding and discernment so that I will live today in Your glory by doing that which is right.

I Praise You, Jesus
I Thank You, Jesus
I Love You, Jesus
I Adore You, Jesus

Holy Spirit, You who makes me see everything, and shows me the way to reach my ideals, You who gives me the divine gift to forgive and forget the wrong that is done to me, and You who are in all instances of my life with me. I, in this short dialogue want to thank You for everything and affirm once more that I never want to be separated from You, no matter how great the material desire may be.

I want to be with You and my loved ones in Your Perpetual Glory.

(MENTION YOUR REQUEST)

Thank You, Holy Spirit, for Your love towards me and my loved ones.

No need of Geneva if we've violated HRs - Minister Vasudeva

We have a Supreme Court that goes into the Human Rights violations, therefore, we don't need a Council in Geneva to declare that we have violated human rights, Minister Vasudeva Nanayakara said.

He was responding to Opposition Leader Sajith Premadasa in Parliament yesterday.

"I don't see why the Opposition Leader should go along with those elements who have been campaigning against us regarding Human Rights violations while domestically in their countries they have violated Human Rights in a worse manner. But they are your friends. Therefore, you have to turn a blind-eye on these issues," he said.

He said there is a political background to the Easter Sunday attacks. "Therefore, a political investigation needs to be conducted as simply investigating who exploded the bombs and who was behind this attack is not enough. We will have to look into what the motives and reasons. It is true that Zaharan built an Islam violent movement. His aim was to spread Islam in the country and eventually, transform this country into an Islamic State, the Minister said.

ASP transferred for different reasons - Minister Dr. Weerasekera

The ASP in charge of the Wennappuwa Crimes Prevention Unit was transferred for different reasons and an inquiry is underway, Public Security Minister Rear Admiral Dr. Sarath Weerasekera said.

He was responding to Samagi Jana Balawegaya (SJB) MP Hector Appuhamy in Parliament yesterday citing news reports that the Wennappuwa Crimes

Prevention Branch had been dismantled and the ASP transferred.

Minister Dr. Weerasekera said that this was incorrect. He said that two constables from the branch had requested transfers and they had been granted the opportunity.

"I stopped the transfers because it was interpreted in a different manner. As the subject Minister, I praise all the police officers who perform their duties properly and encourage them," he said.

Analysts could find clues about master brains behind Easter Sunday attacks - MP Gevindu

Anybody who analyses the benefits of the series of attacks by Saharan could have a clue as to who would be the master brain behind the Easter Sunday attacks, which took place during the Good Governance Government led by the United National Party (UNP), Parliamentarian Gevindu Kumarathunga yesterday said. He said that the UNP had a notorious history of using 83 Black July and the 88/89 Insurgency to remain in power. He said that in the Easter Sunday attacks, many propaganda rallies and elections were delayed, which caused the UNP defeat.

He was participating in the debate on the report on the Easter Sunday attacks of the Presidential Investigation Commission. He said that two moving facts are revealed with any kind of investigation into the Easter Sunday attacks. "One is the brutality of the Islam Wahabism and the other is the negligence from the top to the bottom of the political leadership and the related officials," he said.

He said that it should be investigated if the Easter Sunday attacks were planned by forces that expect the end of the moral civilization in the country. He said that it is highly questionable if those blasts were of Saharan's bombs or the constitutional trap bombs set by the 19th Amendment to the Constitution.

He asked whether those Saharan's Islamic extremist bombs would be blasted if there were no foreign imperialist inimical forces and those constitutional traps.

He said that at a time when former President Maithripala Sirisena and Prime Minister Ranil Wickremesinghe could not run the government, Mahinda Rajapaksa dissolved Parliament on the mandate of the Provincial Council Election results in 2018 to fulfill the aspirations of the people.

National Policy on preschool education formulated - State Minister Nishantha

A National Policy on Preschool Education has been formulated and the draft has already been handed over to Education Minister Prof. G.L. Peiris, State Minister Piyal Nishantha said in Parliament yesterday.

Women and Child Development, Pre-Schools and Primary Education, School Infrastructure and Education Service State Minister Piyal Nishantha said the country lacks a National Policy to regularise the pre-school sector, which had been informal for a long time and that a policy has been formulated by a committee of experts.

State Minister Nishantha said that preschools islandwide will be opened on March 29 with the approval of the Director General of Health Services. The Government will provide the necessary equipment such as sinks, basins and thermometers to maintain and monitor the health of pre-school children in 17 districts, the State Minister said.

Forty two shops at Arcade already closed down - State Minister Nalaka

Urban Development, Coast Conservation, Waste Disposal and Community Cleanliness State Minister Nalaka Godahe said that of 42 shops at the Arcade, 11 have already closed down and the monthly revenue had plunged from Rs. 10 million to Rs. 8.9 million.

The State Minister was responding to Janatha Vimukthi Peramuna (JVP) Leader Anura Kumara Dissanayake's statement on Wednesday over the leasing of the Arcade Independence Square in Colombo to a private company,

"During the 2010-2014 when the Rajapaksa Government was in power, many dilapidated buildings in the Colombo city were renovated and put to use. The Arcade was also one such project of 42 shops. Initially, this was managed by the Urban Development Authority (UDA).

Bond Scam case: Bail decision today

DILSHAN THARAKA

The Colombo High Court Trial-at-Bar will deliver its judgment today, regarding releasing eight accused including former Finance Minister Ravi Karunayake on bail or remanding them until the end of the trial in connection with the case related to the frauds that took place at the third bond auction held on March 31, 2016.

When the case was taken up before the Colombo High Court Trial-at-Bar bench comprising High Court Judges Amal Ranaraja, Namal Balalle and Aditya Patabedige, it was announced that the judgment will be delivered today.

When the case was taken up yesterday, former Finance Minister Ravi Karunayake, Jeffrey Joseph Aloysius, Arjun Aloysius and Kasun Palisena, Ranjan Hulugalle, Muthuraja Surendra and Indika Saman Kumara who were imprisoned in another bond scam case, were produced before the Court.

The Deputy Solicitor General

Haripriya Jayasundara explained to the Court that the prosecution was opposed to granting bail to the accused after handing over the information sheet containing the indictment to the accused.

The Deputy Solicitor General stated that the accused have been charged under Section 450 (6) of the Public Property Act and the Criminal Procedure Code for misappropriation of Rs. 15 billion worth of public property Treasury bonds. Accordingly, the Deputy Solicitor General sought from the Court not to grant bail to the accused on the basis of the nature of the offense committed, the possibility of the accused evading court and causing public disturbance. The Deputy Solicitor General pointed out that the public outcry over the wrongdoings committed by the accused themselves in the bond auctions was immense and that there was a reasonable suspicion that they were obstructing the proceedings from the outset.

The Senior Deputy Solicitor General also sought from the Court to remand the accused without granting bail on the grounds that they may have evaded Court and may have influenced the witnesses.

The Senior Deputy Solicitor General sought from the Court to remand the accused until the end of the trial as all the charges have been filed against the accused under the Public Property Act and conspiracy charges.

President's Counsels Faiz Musthapha, Shavindra Fernando, Gamini Marapana, Naveen Marapana and Attorney-at-Law Jeevantha Jayathilleke appeared for the defence.

The President's Counsels sought from the Court to release the accused on bail on any condition and their clients have not evaded court so far and will not do so in the future.

The indictments were filed against ten accused in the Colombo High Court by the Attorney General. They are; Perpetual Treasuries Private Ltd, former Finance Minister Ravi Karunayake, CBSL former Governor Arjuna Mahendran, Perpetual Treasuries Limited (PTL) beneficiary owner Arjun Aloysius, PTL Chief dealer Kasun Palisena, Chairman of PTL Jeffrey Joseph Aloysius, Chitta Ranjan Hulugalle, Muthuraja Surendran, Ajahn Gardiye Panchihewa, Badugoda Hewa Indika Saman Kumara.

H.Sri Nissanka KC, a founder of the SLFP

uncontested member of Colombo from the Wellawatte area.

As the fragrant flowers get withered soon, the good and great people's lives are short. He was not able to see the people's great victory of 1956 as he breathed his last casting his eyes on the Buddha Statues at his 'Yamuna Sadaham Ashramaya'.

- JAGATH JANAKANTHA GUNETTI, Secretary, Nissanka Foundation.

During the period under the British administration, it had been a daily habit of the high and rich families to visit Galle Face Green in the evenings to ride their horses as an exercise and entertainment for them and their friends.

To mention a few of them are D. S. Senanayake, Sir John Kotalawala and S.W.R.D.Bandaranaike.

Among them was also H. Sri Nissanka who was riding his brown energetic horse at excessive speed across the Galle Face Green.

After seeing this, the British Jail Superintendent Major Wilton became alarmed and furious and blocked the way of Mr. Nissanka and questioned in a threatening voice "who gave you the permission to ride your horse fast on this ground?" On hearing this Mr. Nissanka became more furious and nervous and he pointed his forefinger towards Mr. Wilton and said in a vehement, impetuous way: "I do not need anybody's permission to ride my horse in my motherland at any speed I want and if you are not satisfied with this, it's best for you to jump into the ocean, which is just nearby and run away." (people of this category are very rare today).

He was a partner in the rebellion against the imperialism from his early childhood and a true patriot whose motto was "my country before me".

Herbert Sri Nissanka Mendis was born on January 17 in 1898 at "Garumuni Walawwa" in Balapitiya. He had his primary education at Ananda College Colombo and entered Royal College for his higher education.

King's Counsel H.Sri Nissanka is the real pioneer who formed the giant tree called the Sri Lanka Freedom Party (SLFP). With a mind nourished in Buddhism and "making the Social Democracy" the theme he prepared the Constitution for a party that can approach the village talk.

He proposed the name for the party as "Sri Lanka Nidahas" by using his initials "Sir, N" and suggested the symbol as 'hand' and colour 'Blue' to his best friend at the Oxford University Mr. Bandaranaike. He also asked Mr. Bandaranaike to go forward with the combined five great forces namely: Priests, Physicians, Teachers, Farmers and Workers.

His dedication towards the motherland and the Party and services rendered without thinking about his personal benefits and privileges is not known now a days and some of the SLFP members too are unaware of this dedication.

It is a sorry state of affairs. His diaries show worthy evidence of significant memories regarding the commencement of the party. The table and chairs used at the conference to discuss the party and the pen which used to sign the Constitution can be seen preserved at his residence "Yamuna".

It is the duty of the relevant officials to preserve all these articles for the coming generations.

Nissanka Diweris Mendis, who was a silent scholar and Madam Anoma Wickramaratne Soysa were the portents of Mr. H. Sri Nissanka.

Dorothy, Harriet and Charlotte were his sisters. His loving wife was Muriel Nissanka. They had two daughters named Yamuna and Geetha and a son named Ranjith. Prof. Randiv Nissanka Karunaratne and Dr. Avanthi Nissanka Karunaratne, Ranjan Abeysekera and Devika Wickramaratne were his grandchildren. From his childhood he showed energetic leadership qualities and joined the Oxford University to study law where he met Mr. S.W.R.D. Bandaranaike who followed a law course.

Both of them became very trusted confidantes Mr. Nissanka very often discussed with his loyal friend Mr. Bandaranaike. The topics connected with realism in Buddhism and the values of Sinhala culture and after completing his studies in law he came back to Sri Lanka in 1924 and started his law career.

During the decades of 1930s-1940s he became prominent as a criminal lawyer.

He was an erudite orator, keen logician and a pleasant personality, so his fame spread throughout the island. He was proficient in Sinhala, English, Pali, Sanskrit, Burmese and Hindi languages and showed extra talents using his linguistic powers. Many ethnic conflicts and religious issues during his period were settled by his able interferences. He excelled as an author by publishing books like Ape Lanka Eganlantha Ithihasaya Lanka Dandaneethiya and Salgala Pudabimma and also served as an editor of Heladiva and Sanka Nadaya Newspapers.

He was also a born artist.

He was elected to the first Parliament in Sri Lanka from the Kurunegala electorate. Also he was selected an

01. Implementation of a research project to breed finned fish and fresh water giant shrimps in Sri Lankan reservoirs.

Fresh water giant shrimps farming within Sri Lanka has been identified as a promising trade with a higher potential to be developed and ensure benefits to the rural fisher community. It has been identified appropriate to conduct a scientific research since, the young shrimps are not scientifically released to the fresh water resources. Accordingly, the Cabinet of Ministers granted approval to the resolution submitted by the Education Ministry for implementing the said research project in conjunction with the Wayamba University, the Ruhuna University, the Jaffna University, the National Aquaculture Development Authority of Sri Lanka (NAQDA), National Aquatic Resources Research and Development Agency (NARA) and University of James Cook of Australia as well as entering into a research agreement among the applicable institutions.

02. Obtaining assistance from broadcasting services for the continuous implementation of learning-teaching process within the education system amidst the COVID-19 pandemic circumstances.

"Guru Gedara" Educational programmes are telecast across "Channel Eye" and "Nethra" channel, covering the subjects of the school students from grades 3 to 13, to continue educational activities of schoolchildren under the COVID-19 pandemic circumstances. Accordingly, it has been observed of utilizing broadcasting channels for those areas where telecasting of education programmes does not have coverage. An extended number of students gain the opportunity to listen to the educational programmes when the educational programmes are broadcast across broadcasting channels since not only via the broadcasting channels but those educational programmes can be listened using mobile phones too. The Cabinet of Ministers approved the proposal submitted by the Education Minister to broadcast such Educational programmes across national broadcasting channels and regional broadcasting channels under the Sri Lanka Broadcasting Corporation (SLBC).

03. Establishment of youth entrepreneurship development fund.

The main obstacle confronted by youth who enter the business world as fresh entrepreneurs is the lack of financial resources for investing in their enterprises whereas those already engaged in the businesses too encounter various issues in finding required financial resources. Therefore, the young entrepreneurs confront with numerous hardships due to the attempts by them via informal methodologies. The government's policy framework 'Vistas of Prosperity and Splendour' proposes to inaugurate a youth development fund and a lottery to promote the fund. Accordingly, the Cabinet of Ministers approved the resolution furnished by the Minister of Youth and Sports for initiate the said fund across a Parliamentary act, and to direct the Legal Draftsman to prepare a draft bill for the purpose.

04. Declaration of National Sports Day

The Cabinet of Ministers on July 10, 2014 decided to declare April 6 every year as the National Sports Day of Sri Lanka. However, the importance of the day is not much recognized by the citizens due to the festive psychosis followed by the preparation of the New Year. Since athletes as well as the entire community should be made aware of sports while a love for sports should be developed across declaration of a sports day, various groups related to the sports arena have pointed out the requirement of declaration of a respective appropriate day as the National Sports Day. Taking this into account, the Cabinet of Ministers approved the proposal submitted by the Minister of Youth and Sports for the declaration of July 31 on which Mr. Duncan White won the silver medal for 400 metre hurdles to recognize Sri Lanka globally at a Summer Olympic festival as the National Sports Day.

5. Proposed Assets Utilization Reforms Commission Bill

As mentioned in the Budget Speech 2021, immediate action should be taken for ensuring the maximum utilization of under-utilized assets including the lands for the betterment of the nation and the national economic development. It has become a pioneer requirement to introduce an appropriate methodology for utilizing state ventures with assets including the government lands rendered on long time lease but is underutilized, condominium properties delayed of construction activities due to various reasons and underutilized lands. Accordingly, the Cabinet of Ministers approved the proposal submitted by the President for the establishment of an institution as Assets Utilization Reformation Commission and providing legitimate powers required for that institution to take necessary measures for productively utilize the identified under - utilized assets as well as to direct the Legal Draftsman to prepare the draft bill of the Assets Utilization Reformation Commission including the necessary provisions.

6. Submission of regulations issued under the Import and Export Control Act No. 1 of 1969 for parliamentary approval.

The Gazette Notification No. 2214/56 issued on 11.02.2021 under the Import and Export Control Act No. 1 of 1969 allows the importation of suspended ceramic products on 180 day loan basis and the importation of sarees other than batik and handloom garments and textiles on 90 day loan basis. The Cabinet of Ministers approved proposal presented by the Hon. Prime Minister in his capacity as Minister of Finance to table the said gazette notification in the parliament for approval in terms of Section 20 of the said Act.

07. Amendment of the key regulations relating to local government bodies

The legal draftsman has drafted bills to update the Municipal Council Ordinance, the Urban Council Ordinance and the Pradeshiya Sabha Act, which are the major local government ordinances that were enacted decades ago. The Attorney General has pointed out several amendments that need to be made in those bills. The Cabinet of Ministers approved the proposal presented by Hon. Minister of Public Services, Provincial Councils and Local Government to amend the bills including those amendments and to take measures to seek opinions of the Provincial Councils in line with the provisions of Article 154 G of the 13th Amendment to the Constitution.

08. Submission of the regulations made under Section 34 (1) of the Convention against Doping in Sports Act No. 33 of 2013 to the Parliament.

Regulations made under Section 34 (1) of the Convention against Doping in Sports Act No. 33 of 2013 have been published in Extraordinary Gazette Notification No.2216/4 dated 23.02.2021. The cabinet of Ministers approved the proposal presented by the Youth and Sports Minister to table the said gazette Notification in the parliament for approval.

09. Purchase of seven million 'Sputnik V' vaccines.

The Health Ministry has scheduled to vaccinate 14 million Sri Lankans against the COVID-19 virus. As a first step, the Ministry is taking measures to vaccinate 5 million people. The National Medicine Regulatory Authority has approved the emergency use of the Russian made "Sputnik V" vaccine in Sri Lanka. Accordingly the Cabinet of Ministers approved the proposal presented by the Health Minister to purchase 7 million "Sputnik V" vaccines for USD 69.65 million upon the recommendation of Cabinet Appointed Negotiation Committee.

10. Proposed Special Goods and Services Tax (GST) Act

The need to introduce a Special Goods and Services Tax Act to make tax collection more efficient has been proposed in the 2021 Budget Proposals. Under the provisions of the proposed new Act, it is expected to simplify the goods and services tax related to liquor, cigarettes, vehicles, and communications and betting. Accordingly the Cabinet of Ministers approved the proposal presented by the Prime Minister in his capacity as the Finance Minister to instruct the Legal Draftsman to prepare the Goods and Services Tax Bill.

11. International Promotion Drive to attract Foreign Direct Investments to Sri Lanka.

Although foreign direct investment has been a decisive driving force in economic development, the drive of attracting foreign direct investment has weakened over the past few years due to the failure to identify strategies that can directly target potential investors. Sri Lanka and its competitive countries have taken steps previously to attract immense foreign direct investments. However, the amount that Sri Lanka was acquired in 2019 was only US Dollars 1.5 Billion. Therefore, it has been recognized the need to implement a well-designed combination and centralized marketing and coordination strategies to demonstrate the attractiveness of Sri Lanka as a most suitable host country for investment. The Cabinet of Ministers approved the proposal tabled by the Prime Minister as Finance Minister to take the necessary steps to obtain the service of a leading international consulting firm which contributes to the promotion of foreign direct investment.

12. The Colombo Port City Economic Commission Bill

The approval to establish a special economic zone known as the Port City was given at the cabinet meeting held on January 4, 2021. As per the Colombo Port City Economic Commission Bill has been drafted by the legal draftsman to provide the necessary legal provisions for the said commission. The Cabinet of Ministers approved the proposal made by His Excellency President to take necessary steps to publish the relevant bill on the government gazette and submit the bill to the parliament.

13. Establishing the Anuradhapura Pharmaceutical Manufacturing Zone.

It has been planned to establish the Anuradhapura Pharmaceutical Manufacturing zone in Oyamadura where was the 'Deyata Kirula' held under the local businessmen and investors encouraging programme with a view to provide high quality pharmaceuticals at a low price for the people by manufacturing all pharmaceuticals in Sri Lanka which could manufacture according to the International Standards. A committee of experts has selected 24 investors by inviting project proposals from qualified local investors who are interested. The investors are expected to invest approximately Rs.28,200 Million in the project. Accordingly, the land plots will be leased to selected local investors for a period of 35 years with a released period for the first five years. The proposal tabled by the Minister of health, to implement the manufacturing of pharmaceuticals in the proposed pharmaceutical manufacturing zone, supplying and regulate as a strategic project under the State Ministry, was approved by the Cabinet of Ministers.

14. Day of national mourning for the late Chief Prelate of Amarapura Sect, Most Ven. Kotugoda Dharmawasa Thera.

The Cabinet of Ministers approved the proposal tabled by the President to declare a day of national mourning on March 25 of 2021, the day of conducting the final rites of the late Supreme Prelate of Amarapura Sect, Dharmapala Wanshalankara, Saddharma Keerthi, Sri Thripitaka Vageeswara, Prawachana Keerthi Sri Sasana Sobana Sri Sumangala Vidyawathasa, Most Ven. A rightful demand

A request by the Government Medical Officers' Association (GMOA) that the retirement age for Government doctors be raised from the present 61 years to 63 ought to be considered seriously given the acute shortage of doctors and other medical staff particularly in rural hospitals. According to GMOA Secretary Dr. Shenal Fernando, they are faced with a difficult situation in running Government hospitals due to the severe shortage of doctors.

This is to be expected since the last evaluation of doctor vacancies in rural hospitals was made as far back as 2012, while it was 2018 with the rest of the hospitals. Although this year it was estimated that 900 medical students who had completed their internships would join the Government service, only 720 had actually done so. He said if the doctors' retirement age could be increased from 61 years to 63 they would be able to increase the present strength of doctors in the country from 17,000 to at least 20,000. The GMOA wants their request to be placed before the Cabinet for approval.

The GMOA Secretary also said that steps should be taken to recruit doctors who qualify abroad, while taking measures to prevent local doctors from taking flight. Of course better incentives should be granted if we are to retain not only doctors but also other professionals. Not just in terms of monetary incentives but also by creating a proper climate devoid of social, political and economic turmoil.

Ironically, it is the GMOA, which now wants doctors brought even from abroad to meet the doctor shortage, which aggressively campaigned for banning the SAITM, which was providing internships for Lankan medical students. Its complaint was that the SAITM had dropped the bar in its recruitment of students to be trained as doctors at the institute and the final product would pose a risk. However, the GMOA now has no issue about recruiting doctors who qualify abroad. What guarantee is there that these doctors who qualify abroad are the genuine article who did not receive their qualifications from half-baked institutions overseas?

However, the GMOA proposal for extending the retirement age of doctors should be considered favourably by the authorities if for no other reason than the current COVID-19 emergency. Supreme Court Judges' retirement age had been extended from 60 years to 65. This no doubt is due to having taken into account the important role played by Judicial officers and the stature of Judges who are naturally considered a cut above the rest in the public service. Are members of the medical profession any lesser in stature? Doctors, too, we feel, should be treated on par for they play a similar if not bigger role in a noble profession involving the healing of the sick. Hasn't the retirement age of public servants already been raised from 55 to 60 years? What is to stop the Government from adding three more years to the compulsory retirement age of doctors?

The best years of a Government doctor could well be in his post-retirement at 60, after he or she attains that stage of maturity and experience that adds an edge to professional skills. It will be a pity to see doctors bow out from Government service due chiefly to the intervention of age. We say this because we have seen and heard of ample instances of the feats achieved by doctors in the private sector well past the retirement age of Government medical practitioners. In fact there ought not to be a retirement age per se for government doctors and it is incomprehensible that Government doctors should plead for something so obvious. Certainly the age rule for members of the medical profession should have been rectified long ago, perhaps at the time Judges were accorded this privilege.

True, this could open the floodgates and others in important fields in the State sector could make similar demands. We know how nurses are quick to pounce on any privileges granted to doctors and go on strike making matching demands. But, as already mentioned, doctors should be considered as a special breed and the appreciation and accolades the members of the medical profession received for their signal role in grappling with the Coronavirus pandemic should be reason enough for their demands to be granted – of course whilst not forgetting the thankless service performed by the nursing staff and all other health workers.

Be that as it may, the shortage of doctors should be dealt with as a priority measure. There is no knowing as to how long the Coronavirus pandemic will be in our midst and it is the duty of the authorities to muster as much medical staff as it is possible to see through the crisis. The importance of retaining the services of the full complement of the country's doctors and medical staff could not have come at a more critical time. The pandemic has, no doubt, brought to the fore the medical professional as at no time before in recent history and hence the need for attaching due recognition to the doctor's role.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

The medical profession may be considered a special mission, a devotion. - Ewa Kopacz

UNHRC Resolution 'An unwarranted, unjustified interference in the sovereign affairs of Sri Lanka'

Foreign Minister Dinesh Gunawardena

The text of the speech made by Foreign Minister Dinesh Gunawardena in Parliament yesterday:

"The United Nations Human Rights Council in Geneva adopted by a vote, the draft Resolution titled 'Promoting reconciliation, accountability, and human rights in Sri Lanka' (A/HRC/46/L.1/Rev.1) tabled by a 'Core Group' of countries, on March 22, 2021 during its 46th Session. Out of the 47 Members of the Council, 22 countries voted in favour, 11 voted against and 14 abstained. It is implicit from the voting result that the majority of the Council did not support this Resolution.

At this meeting, Sri Lanka, as the country concerned, reiterated its position on this Resolution against the country, and the politically motivated process behind it, as has been briefed to the Human Rights Council before, including through my statement at the High-Level Segment of the 43rd Session, in February last year. Sri Lanka rejected this Resolution which had no consensus and requested the Members of the Human Rights Council to reject this Resolution by a vote.

Sri Lanka considers the draft resolution to be unwarranted, unjustified and in violation of the relevant Articles of the United Nations Charter, in particular Article 2(7) and relevant Sections of the United Nations Resolution 60/251 that provides for the mandate of the Human Rights Council. For the above reasons, this Resolution against Sri Lanka is illegal.

The very first sentence of the Resolution states: "Guided by the purpose and principles of the Charter of the United Nations...". Having said so, the Resolution goes on to violate Article 2(7) of the Charter which states: "Nothing contained in the present Charter shall authorize the United Nations to intervene in matters which are essentially within the domestic jurisdiction of any state...".

This intervention denies a state the right enshrined in the Charter and other UN instruments in respect of the right of its Peoples to choose its system of governance, developing the institutions to govern itself, and developing arrangements to meet national challenges such as the COVID-19 pandemic in keeping with its civilizational values within provisions of the Constitution.

Acting beyond the Mandate granted to the UNHRC by UN Resolution 60/251 and recognize the importance of preserving evidence. Instead, to promote and protect Human Rights; to make recommendations relating to human rights violations; and be guided by "universality, impartiality, objectivity and non-selectivity".

To address accountability through a Domestic Mechanism and address violations of International Humanitarian Law, and derogated International Human Rights laws within the context of International Laws acceptable to the Community of Nations.

This Resolution against Sri Lanka is pushed forward at the behest of a few countries, representing one part of the world without the consent of Sri Lanka. It is therefore unhelpful and divisive. There is no moral right to interfere into affairs of a sovereign country in this manner.

No country has a greater interest in bringing about reconciliation among its peoples than Sri Lanka - a point that has repeatedly been emphasized during proceedings of the Human Rights Council.

The list of co-sponsors of the resolution amply demonstrates the divisive nature of such "country-specific" initiatives and it is clear from the result of the vote that there is no consensus within the Council on this resolution.

The resolution adopted on March 23 is intrusive of the sovereignty of the people of Sri Lanka and the core values of the UN Charter. It will have an adverse effect on the ongoing efforts to maintain peace, reconciliation and economic development in the country. It will lead to polarization of Sri Lankan society, contrary to the insistence of its proponents that it will bring about reconciliation.

Sri Lanka categorically rejects the unprecedented proposal in this resolution to expand the role of the OHCHR. This sets a dangerous precedent and will have wide-ranging implications for all countries. The Council cannot assume tasks not assigned to it by the UN General Assembly in resolution 60/251 or subsequent resolutions.

This Resolution is based on the rejected report by the UN High Commissioner for Human Rights on Sri Lanka presented to the 46th Session of the HRC which violates the principles of sovereign equality of all states and non-interference in internal affairs. The Government of Sri Lanka has rejected this Report pointing out that, among other things, it is one-sided and exceeds the mandate of the UN Human Rights Council. It contains sweeping recommendations, unsubstantiated and unwarranted comments of essentially political nature which no self-respecting sovereign country can accept. It has been compiled within months after the formation of a new Government in Sri Lanka, without any field visit, while the whole world was grappling with the ongoing global pandemic.

A well-orchestrated propaganda campaign was launched against Sri Lanka ahead of the 46th Session of the Human Rights Council. This campaign was carried out with extensive focus on Sri Lanka while reports pertaining to the situations in over 10 other countries were presented at the 46th Session of the HRC. The synchronized content of the propaganda against Sri Lanka and the exploitation of the OHCHR mechanisms in doing so, demonstrated a clear case of a pre-meditated endeavour.

I wish to recall that last year I have briefed this House of the reasons which led to the withdrawal from the co-sponsorship of the HRC Resolution 40/1 and its preceding Resolutions 34/1 and 30/1, which was announced at the 43rd Session of the Human Rights Council in February last year. It is unfortunate that the unconstitutional action of co-sponsorship of a resolution against Sri Lanka by the previous Government brought to a halt the comprehensive post-conflict development process which included a domestic reconciliatory process.

This new Resolution in an unwarranted manner seeks to interfere in all matters that are domestic affairs of a sovereign country. We questioned the members of the UN whether Sri Lanka represents a case warranting the immediate attention of the Human Rights Council. Sri Lanka has only defeated a secessionist terrorist campaign, and acted within its legal rights to defend its territorial integrity.

Sri Lanka regrets that this Resolution seeks to create a perception of discrimination and marginalization of its people which is far from the truth. Issues affecting the people of Sri Lanka are common to all people irrespective of their ethnicity or religion. The Government is determined to achieve its main targets to improve the lives of the poor despite these distractions.

'No country has a greater interest in bringing about reconciliation among its peoples than Sri Lanka - a point that has repeatedly been emphasized during proceedings of the Human Rights Council.'

'The Government of Sri Lanka has rejected this Report pointing out that, among other things, it is one-sided and exceeds the mandate of the UN Human Rights Council.'

'The Government remains committed to protect those who have made immeasurable sacrifices to neutralize terrorism, protect the territorial integrity of the country and to regain for all people in Sri Lanka the most cherished of all rights, right to life.'

UNHRC Chief Michelle Bachelet

No sovereign government is bound to work according to external prescriptions but be guided by the democratic aspirations of its own people. Sri Lanka has a well-established, time-honored legal system which is capable of ensuring dispensation of justice according to the Constitution of Sri Lanka.

The Government remains committed to protect those who have made immeasurable sacrifices to neutralize terrorism, protect the territorial integrity of the country and to regain for all people in Sri Lanka the most cherished of all rights, right to life.

It is regrettable that the proponents of the Resolution seek to create an ambiguous mechanism with funds of millions of USD at a time of severe financial constraints faced by the UN. We call upon the proponents of this Resolution to divest the money allocated for the implementation this unprecedented proposal to improve the lives of the people affected by the conflict. This huge amount of funds is sufficient to build thousands of houses in the areas affected by the conflict, possibly to vaccinate the population of the entire Jaffna peninsula against the Covid19, or to provide to a whole Province, drinking water.

I made the position of the Government on this politically motivated process on the country clear, and undertook deliverable commitments in keeping with Sri Lanka's domestic and international obligations, at the 43rd Session of the UN Human Rights Council. The Council has been well briefed on all measures taken and the progress made under challenging circumstances amidst a global pandemic within the relatively short period of time since then. We have provided detailed updates to the OHCHR in December 2020 as well as in January 2021 on the progress of implementation of commitments that Sri Lanka had undertaken such as continuity of the existing mechanisms, appointment of a special commission of inquiry headed by a Supreme court judge, achieving the SDGs, progress made in returning lands, demining and creating new avenues of livelihoods.

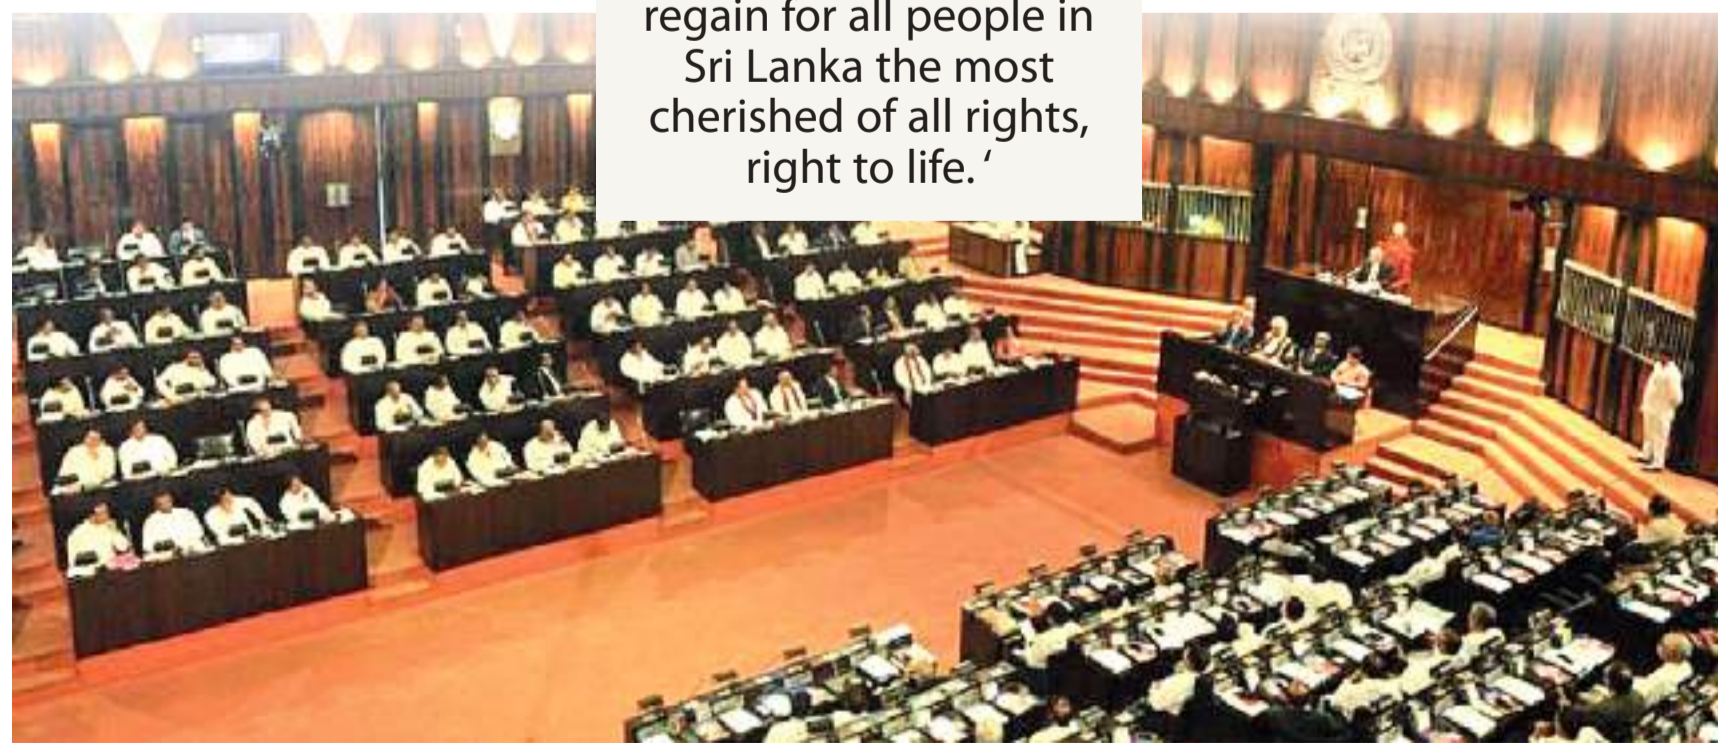

Reasons for this political campaign against Sri Lanka may vary from their domestic electoral compulsions to geopolitical interests. It is regrettable that countries with vested interests seek to achieve their political and strategic ambitions either through political destabilization or economic deprivation of the less influential countries of the global South, using the Human Rights Council as a tool.

We are aware that some of the countries which stood by Sri Lanka at this vote withstood immense pressure on them in doing so. We thank all countries who braved such adversity to reject the Resolution.

We are also mindful that some of Sri Lanka's sincere friends were constrained to abstain. We thank them also for sharing with us their principled stands, and remaining neutral. In this context, Sri Lanka is of the view that this vote provided an opportunity for the member countries of the United Nations to reassess whether the Human Rights Council is keeping with its guiding principles or not.

Despite the vote of this Resolution against Sri Lanka, Sri Lanka will pursue its domestic mechanisms aimed at bringing about reconciliation and a lasting peace.

As stated earlier, Sri Lanka will continue to engage constructively with the UN and its agencies in the same spirit of cooperation that have stood for over six decades for the betterment of its people, including through the achievement of Sustainable Development Goals, in keeping with domestic priorities and policies as well as international obligations and undertakings."

N. SATHIYA MOORTHY

As expected, the UNHRC has voted against Sri Lanka on a resolution moved by the Core Group, headed by the UK and which included Germany and Canada. But, it has technically given Colombo time till September 2023 to make amends for past laxity and/or adamancy. Again, as expected, India abstained from voting, despite the prime movers amending their 'Zero Draft' to include the Indian reference to the 13th Amendment to the Sri Lankan Constitution, facilitated by New Delhi in 1987, but which has been followed only in the breach.

It should come as a satisfaction for Sri Lanka, as the results showed only 22 of the 47 members voted for the resolution, followed by 14 abstentions, including India and Indonesia, amongst others. Then came the 'nay' votes, adding up to 11. If the resolution won, it owed to technical reasons as 14 abstentions reduced the valid votes to 33 (47-14), and 17 became the half-way mark. With 47 votes, it would have been at least four votes short, but then that's how the cookie crumbles.

Western-bloc nations have voted on expected lines. Latin America did not stand by the traditionally left-leaning Third World nation from South Asia, as Colombo had thought. It owed this to the personality of UNHRC chief, Michelle Bachelet, President of Chile from 2006-10, who continued in active politics before taking up the current assignment in 2018. Bachelet wields clout in the region. The UNHRC statement, on which the resolution is based, stands in her name.

The Rajapaksa regime's more recent targeting of the nation's Muslims on the burial/cremation of COVID-19 victims despite a WHO advisory that the COVID dead could be buried, and threat of a burqa-ban were both ill-timed. This resulted in the Islamic bloc not voting together. Bahrain and Indonesia abstained. Obviously, Sri Lanka allowing the burial of COVID dead and clarifying that the burqa ban was only a proposal were too little, too late. However, Colombo receiving Pakistan Premier Imran Khan and Prime Minister Mahinda Rajapaksa travelling to Bangladesh did ensure that those two Muslim nations voted in favour of Sri Lanka, and against the resolution.

The voting figure demonstrates that the West – now with 'non-member' US lending a shoulder after Joe Biden became American President – has shown the China-Russia-Pakistan combo its place in the international arena. As is known, the UNHRC is not the UN Security Council (UNSC), where, alone, the China-Russia veto matters. Yet, Sri Lanka has traditionally counted on a veto-member, whether it was the US during the Cold War years or the China-Russia duo since, depending on the ideological orientation of the party and leadership in power. Though it is too early and at times far-fetched, the resolution-movers still would have the option to go to the UN General Assembly (UNGA), if and when necessary. It would then be a rare occasion.

Going by the wording of the current resolution, in the interim, Sri Lanka has time till September next year, to re-evaluate the domestic approach of the incumbent Government under President Gotabaya Rajapaksa and Prime Minister Mahinda Rajapaksa, his brother and war-time President (2005-15). On the external front, Colombo also has time to re-evaluate its over-dependence on China – and to a lesser extent, Russia – at the UNHRC, where it has not worked, and not just once.

Given their equations with the West, and India to a lesser extent, the ruling Rajapaksa need to analyse and acknowledge the existing reality and evolve their future strategies accordingly. The Rajapaksa have lost three resolutions in a row, from 2012-14 – and with the traditional Indian support too. Against this, the predecessor Government of Prime Minister Ranil Wickremesinghe (2014-19) managed to stave off UNHRC opprobrium by co-sponsoring a resolution with the West. However, the Government initiated only cosmetic changes without taking up the substantive clauses – but the West did not question the then rulers about what looked like wanton laxity and delay.

Shorn of the details, and the 'powerful message' that it entails, the vote (on March 23) has also actually given Sri Lanka time till the 51st session of the UNHRC, in September 2023, preceded by a written report at the 49th session in September 2022. That is the kind of time that the Wickremesinghe Government, too, got through the 2018 resolution. The current regime of President Rajapaksa, commencing November 2019, enjoyed at least half the reprieve. By giving Sri Lanka a long rope again, the international body seems to want to play fair by political rivals in the country, who replaced each other at the helm.

Going by the text on which the vote was taken, the "resolution requests the Office of the High Commissioner for Human Rights (OHCHR) to enhance its monitoring and reporting on the situation of human rights in Sri Lanka, including on progress in rec-conciliation and accountability, and to present an oral update to the Human Rights Council at its forty-eighth session, as well as a written update at its forty-ninth session, and a comprehensive report that includes further options for advancing accountability, at its fifty-first session, both to be discussed in the context of an interactive dialogue."

By the same token, the "resolution also encourages the Office of the High Commissioner and relevant special procedure mandate holders to provide, in consultation with and with the concurrence of the Government of Sri Lanka, advice and technical assistance on implementing the above-mentioned steps." All this does not automatically mean that Colombo may be changing tact and track in the coming months to be able to appeal to the West's sensitivities.

These sensitivities are driven as much by the 'China angle' as by allegations of war crimes and human rights violations. Also, independent of the Tamil Diaspora influence and their vote overseas, there is a huge human rights constituency across the Western hemisphere. Sri Lanka is yet to understand the full import of West Europe's sentiments on human rights, flowing from their experiences during the Second World War era.

A touch-and-go vote would have pressured New Delhi to choose between its Sri Lankan neighbour and its post-Cold War Western allies. This is so despite the fact that India had outlined its approach at the High-level Dialogue on the 'Zero Draft' or the first draft, presented at the commencement of the session on February 22. Participating in the High-Segment Dialogue on the original draft, India's Permanent Representative, Indra Mani Pandey, referred to Rights chief Bachelet's opening remarks and report that raised "important concerns" and aspirations of Tamils contributions to Sri Lanka's unity and integrity.

"The assessment of the High Commissioner regarding developments nearly 12 years from the end of the conflict raises important concerns," Pandey had said, and also introduced the first reference to power-devolution for the Sri Lankan Tamils, through the 13th Amendment to the Sri Lankan Constitution. As may be recalled, 13-A flows from the Indo-Sri Lanka Accord of 1987, but then most of its provisions have remained only on paper, despite successive changes in the political power structure in Colombo.

Both President Gotabaya Rajapaksa and Prime Minister Mahinda Rajapaksa were in constant touch with Indian Prime Minister Narendra Modi over the past several weeks. Yet, India denied any firm commitment after Sri Lanka's Foreign Secretary Admiral Prof. Jayanath Colombage claimed that India had promised support. PM Modi was under domestic pressure, too, from Southern Tamil Nadu, where assembly polls are due on April 6. Both the Opposition DMK and alliance-partner PMK have publicly urged him to vote against Sri Lanka, at times going beyond what the Core Group wanted.

Otherwise, barring rare occasions as in 2012-13 on Sri Lanka, New Delhi has invariably not taken sides with country-specific resolutions of the kind in the past. Even on Sri Lanka, after the first two votes, India abstained in 2014. From 2015 until now, 'consensus resolutions' ensured that there was no vote.

Neighbourhood First

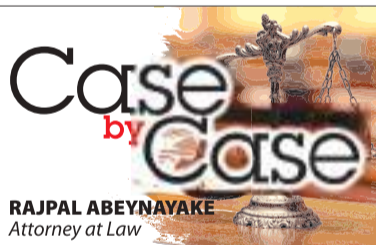

The Sri Lankan hurt now about India's abstention would take time to be touched and felt. But bilateral ties may have already nosedived prior to this, following the Colombo-torpedoed tri-nation 'ECT deal' (Eastern Container Terminal), also involving Japan. In this case, even if India had voted for the resolution, Sri Lanka would not have made it. Incidentally, Japan, too, abstained from voting.

If, however, the West amended the zero draft to include reference to amendment 13-A, it was only to ensure that India, the 'regional power', too, signed up on their side. By abstaining still, India has taken an independent stand. Yet, in terms of PM Modi's 'Neighbourhood First' policy, New Delhi stands apart from two of the three voting members from among the total eight SAARC nations. Alongside India, Nepal abstained, while Bangladesh and Pakistan voted against the resolution.

India ceases to be voting member through the next two years, when Sri Lanka will continue to come up before the UNHRC. Yet, with President Biden's US declaring its desire to re-join the Council after predecessor Donald Trump had walked out in a huff, New Delhi could still have greater leverage, behind-the-scenes, to help Colombo, if the latter is so desirous and also be accommodative on the domestic front.

A quick interpretation of the Biden administration's early signals to New Delhi might entail the US coming to accept South Asia as the 'traditional sphere of Indian influence', as the erstwhile Soviet Union had accepted and acted upon in matters of regional importance and concern. Of course, the US too may have to do more to overcome New Delhi's unreported reservations. Washington's September 2020 'Framework Agreement for Defence and Security Relationship' with Maldives being the latest occasion when the US worked behind India's back, as if the Cold War was not over. (Observer Research Foundation)

It should come as a satisfaction for Sri Lanka, as the results showed only 22 of the 47 members voted for the resolution, followed by 14 abstentions, including India and Indonesia, amongst others. Then came the 'nay' votes, adding up to 11.

Even a Rolls Royce registered in your name may not be yours

A wife of a deceased person filed testamentary proceedings and one item she claimed was a Rolls Royce car. However, it was not registered in her husband's name and she filed action in the District Court claiming it as part of her husband's estate, nevertheless.

However, her mother-in-law's children and their spouses vigorously contested her suit in the District Court stating the Rolls Royce belonged to their deceased mother, and should therefore be their property as her legitimate heirs. The case ended up in the Court of Appeal after the DC judge awarded ownership of the car to the defendants, i.e. those who claimed the car belonged to their mother (Rodrigo v. Balasuriya and Others - SLR - 49, Vol 3 of 2002 [2002] LKCA 27; (2002) 3 Sri LR 49 (February 22, 2002))

The Court of Appeal summed up key aspects of the case this way, in their judgement: "The position of the defendants-respondents was that whenever Roslyn Rodrigo purchased any property it was purchased in the name of Lal and therefore whatever that was purchased in his name was purchased in trust for the mother. However, this was not established. When Roslyn Rodrigo had two sons, Lal and Chitral along with four sisters it is difficult to understand as to why she would have purchased articles only in Lal's name. However, the so called trust was not put in issue. Thereby, the defendants-respondents have conceded that legal title to the vehicle was with Lal Rodrigo."

The Court of Appeal judges took a different view to that of the DC on the entire matter: "It is relevant to observe that the defendants-respondents were not in a position to dispute Lal Rodrigo's legal title to the vehicle and the fact that they never disputed his possession of the car during his lifetime and the fact that they waited till he died to claim legal title to the vehicle, are factors which indicate that their claim to the vehicle was an afterthought."

It transpired that when the mother died, the children never listed the Rolls Royce as a claim from her estate in the testamentary case they filed.

One Paranawithana — a son-in-law of the deceased — who was a joint administrator in Roslyn Rodrigo (the mother's) testamentary case, in his evidence stated that he did not take steps to have the Rolls Royce included in the inventory in that case, stating that it had no value.

The Court of Appeal smelt a rat, and observed in judgement: "However, it is interesting to note that on a perusal of the said inventory (P8) the following items too had been included. The furniture of the house valued at Rs. 500, compensation of Rs. 30 payable by the Urban Council and Rs. 129/78 as medical expenses. Therefore, Paranawithane's explanation that the Rolls Royce was not included in the inventory as it had no value cannot be accepted."

However, the DC had held with the defendants for the simple reason that the car was registered in the name of the deceased lady, the mother, Roslyn Rodrigo — whose children therefore claimed the Rolls as her heirs.

In the case of Samarasinghe v. Wijedasa at 4, Schneider, AJ. stated: "A person whose name is registered as owner of a motor vehicle is deemed to be the owner of that vehicle only for the purposes of that registration, that is, to render him liable to all those duties, which the law cast upon the owner of a motor vehicle. That registration is by no means conclusive as to the real ownership of the motor vehicle."

Citing the above, Court of Appeal held inter alia: it has been held that registration is not conclusive proof of ownership; it is necessary to consider the effect of registration.

Eventually the higher Court held the car belonged to the deceased son and should therefore devolve upon his death to the plaintiff appellant, the wife of the deceased's son.

The car had been purchased during World War II and the son Lal Rodrigo was the registered owner of Austin Car bearing No. X 7089 and due to the petrol rationing scheme in place during the period of World War II he apparently did not get the Rolls Royce registered in his name, which explained why it was registered in the name of his mother.

Court of Appeal observed in judgement: "Lal Rodrigo bought the vehicle in 1943. The third defendant-respondent in her evidence conceded that there was a petrol rationing scheme during the period of war which ended in 1944."

The higher Court cited an entire litany of reasons the car belonged to the deceased Lal Rodrigo, and not the mother: "Lal Rodrigo used the Rolls Royce car till 1964 and entered the car and drove the car himself at numerous Vintage car rallies that were held. In 1998 Roslyn Rodrigo died and her property was administered in the District Court of Panadura, in case No. 907/Testamentary and in the inventory relating to her property which was filed marked and produced P8 the car was not included, as it belonged to Lal Rodrigo."

For all of the reasons above, the Court of Appeal held that the Rolls Royce belonged to the son and not the mother, picking a gigantic hole in the very basic reasoning of the learned District Judge that the car belonged to the party under whose name it was registered, with the Registrar of Motor Vehicles.

In a case involving vehicle ownership in a different context, the Court of Appeal decided that the mere fact that a lorry was claimed to be owned by an appellant in a revision application in High Court, did not qualify her to successfully claim it when it had been confiscated under the Animals Act, for the illegal transportation of animals. (CA (PHC) APNNo: 122/15.)

When the purported owner of the vehicle filed in revision in the High Court, the Court held she is not entitled to claim the confiscated vehicle.

Being aggrieved by that order, a revision application was filed in the Court of Appeal. The petitioner claimed that the confiscation order was made after the death of the previous registered owner.

The Court of Appeal held that decided cases indicated that a person who claimed a confiscated vehicle had to adduce the proof that he or she had done their utmost to ensure that the vehicle was not used for an illegal purpose by the user it was confiscated from, and that the vehicle was used for that purpose without their knowledge. In the case under review however, the plaintiff had not been in possession of the vehicle at the time it was confiscated, and therefore she couldn't have exercised such due diligence even if she normally would have desired to.

The appellant had claimed that she had bought the vehicle not knowing that it had been confiscated, and that she was now paying an expensive lease on it and moreover it was Registered under her name. Court held however that she had no remedy challenging the confiscation; if she wanted the vehicle, she had to litigate in a civil suit on different grounds. The mere fact that she owned the vehicle on paper did not qualify her to claim for it in revision following a criminal prosecution, even though she claimed she didn't know it had been a confiscated vehicle when she bought it.

RUKIE EHELIYAGODA

A tribute on her 95th birthday

Ammie, you are never far from thought and ever near in love. It's love that fills each thought of you every day and especially today, that blossoms into the most beautiful and incredibly happy memories. You passionately loved God and the Holy Spirit was your best friend. Your steadfast faith and trust in God was the shining beacon that enriched my life every step of the way. An elegant soul with sterling qualities, you possessed a heart of gold, devoid of malice.

You had the ability to sense the sadness and needs of people and your heart would open up spontaneously in magnanimous proportions to ease their burdens with empathy, compassion and financial support, in silence, sans any fanfare. Ammie, you were blessed with an incredibly happy disposition, bubbly and cheerful; a charming and gracious personality with a kind face that touched many souls. You were a dependable, faithful and trusted friend to your constantly widening circle of friends who sought your counsel and enjoyed your company even as your smile lit up a dark moment in the warm glow of your home. I miss your smiling face, childlike delight and enthusiastic participation more keenly at family gatherings where you always reigned as the live wire, singing melodiously and dancing. You and Thathie made a dashing couple that turned heads whilst tripping the light fantastic. Ever the stylish lady, one could always look forward to seeing you impeccably and elegantly dressed, showcasing the exquisite taste in saris. Ageless, exuberant, unique and imbued with an exceptional generosity of loving, you were always found in my corner with guidance, encouragement and endless sacrifices. I hold you closely within my heart And there you will remain Until the joyous day arrives When we will meet again. Your daughter, CHARMAINE EHELIYAGODA MADURASINGHE

APPRECIATIONS

MANIK FERNANDOPULLE

A family man at heart

This is for Mangala to reminisce fond memories of the most lovable person who kept their family bound with joy. This is clearly meant for her to go down memory lane, refreshing the experience and excitement that illumined her life – not to feel sad, but to be happy instead that there was a great person to be admired throughout life. According to Christianity, the Lord gives and the Lord takes away. On March 6, 2010, Manik, the beloved husband of Mangala and ever-loving dad of Rikshan and Rukshila, passed away to be with the Lord, at the age of 54, after a day's illness.

give them the best life ever, guiding her through all times. He provided them with two palatial abodes, one in Negombo and the other at Dehiwala. Living focused on family needs was a good quality in him to be appreciated. He was a devoted husband and an affectionate dad to his son and daughter, who are doing well in life with the best academic achievements. They were very fortunate to be brought up by Manik who provided them with everything. It was just the best form of parenting. The two mothers were always there to enjoy with him. They often fondly recall his sincerity and affection and the happy moments spent with him – I wish long life for them.

This is a tribute to Manik who was loved and honoured so much by us and so many others and who will always be remembered as one who honestly served Sri Lanka in various capacities. Besides his family, he is very much alive in the hearts of those who knew him.

Manik received a foundation in primary education at Maris Stella College, a well-renowned school in his native place. He had his secondary education at St. Joseph's College, Colombo, one of the prestigious Catholic colleges in the city. He was a good student who excelled in studies and sports. Manik was determined to excel in studies accomplishing many milestones in school, bringing joy to his parents. His capabilities were beyond the norm.

Manik led an active life. He was a prominent Rotarian and an active member of St. Joseph's College OBU, Negombo branch. He was always there in the forefront helping them to organize events. He was also a very religious person – a good friend of every Parish Priest, as he was involved in regular church activities. It would be no exaggeration to state that he would have been the first to grieve over the deeply saddening event, the Easter Sunday carnage. He would have been one of the participants to bring joy to the sick and suffering. He was such a kind-hearted, duty conscious, noble person with excellent qualities. This deeply moving tribute is for Mangala to recall fond memories and live happily, forgetting all worries. May his soul rest in peace.

He was a Chemical Engineer by profession. After a successful school career, he studied for his Engineering degree in India. A few years after his return to Sri Lanka, he joined Colombo University for his Masters in Business Administration (MBA). His erudite knowledge and understanding was wonderful. This is indeed testimony and a reflection of the calibre of Manik, a truly loving person. The very thought of him still remains an inspiration. His professional career was truly a unique achievement.

This is about a person who led him to victory. Let me put it this way. In 1984, he married Mangala, an enchanting and smart girl with charming innocence, warm and well-mannered. She was always the happiest when within the family. There was love, care and warmth, making the family special, with their two children Rikshan and Rukshila, who were the very image of their father. They had the honour of having a multi-talented father. Family meant the world to Manik. His heart was at home.

In all his milestones, it was Mangala who stood by him, in success and failure. She had the privilege of sharing his proud achievements. Mangala has seen him working tirelessly, day in and day out, to

LUCIAN NATHAN EMMANUEL

A teacher par excellence

A pall of sadness overwhelmed the many students of varying vintage on hearing the sad news that their beloved teacher had passed away days after his 90th birthday in January 2021. He was also my teacher and good friend.

Mr. Emmanuel had his education at St. Benedict's College, Colombo, and became a teacher thereafter at the same institution, imparting his knowledge with enthusiasm to the students who came under his purview. He leaves behind his loving son Adrian Vimalan, daughter-in-law Darshini and grandchildren Clara, and Jerome.

Countless memories raced through my mind no sooner I heard the news of Mr. Emmanuel's demise including the last telephone call I had with him which swiftly echoed in my inner self. In hindsight, Mr. Emmanuel was a well-respected and accomplished teacher who will be remembered as a veritable icon who left an indelible mark on all his students.

Decades have passed since the days we were in his class but the manner of his greeting us has not faded in our collective memories. The warm and comforting environment Mr. Emmanuel created for all of us will forever remain as a tribute to his outgoing personality. There is no tapering off when recollections of our teacher come back on the wave of memory harking to the classroom, the hall, the quadrangle, and our township of Kotahena. We always recall memories of our childhood and student days and Mr. Emmanuel was an integral part of our reminiscences for he was a teacher par excellence. It behoves us to celebrate Mr. Emmanuel's life as we remember him with filial gratitude in the days ahead.

Students who listened with rapt attention trying to imbibe all that was said. He had the innate ability of making every lesson incredibly interesting and profoundly important to all of us in the classroom. Those of us who may have slouched, snoozed, yawned, or even daydreamed in class acquired an unexpected second wind no sooner Mr. Emmanuel crossed the threshold to his classroom when we would sit up straight. We listened to our teacher with studious attention as he imparted his knowledge on Geometry, Economics, Elements of Commerce and General Science with ease. We had great respect for our teacher and he too reciprocated cementing the teacher-student relationship.

Mr. Emmanuel strove relentlessly to impart his knowledge to the students who came under his tutelage with efficiency and discernible understanding with a combination of gentleness and firmness. The manner of his teaching earned the respect of his stu-

It was during one of his classes that he told us of his hunting expedition and the encounter with a lion and a tiger on either side of him with a solitary bullet left in his rifle. He claimed that by using his pocket-knife, sticking it to the ground and shooting its blade, he was able to cut the bullet in two directing each half simultaneously and killing both, the lion, and the tiger. I am sure some of you, his students, will recall this story.

In journeying down memory lane, I recall Mr. Emmanuel, an incredibly good swimmer participating each year in the famous Annual two-mile swim held at Mount Lavinia as a member of the Fishtail Aquatic Club at Mutwal, Colombo 15. I also remember him travelling to College in those yesteryears astride his new Gilera motorbike and proudly displaying it in and around his neighbourhood. I left College at the end of 1960 and immigrated to Canada in 1965. I met Mr. Emmanuel, much to my surprise, here, in Toronto on September 15, 1990 to be precise. It was the day when the past pupils, with most of them having been his students held their inaugural meeting at St. Maria Goretti Church in Scarborough, Ontario, paving the way for the formation of our Alumni Association. Mr. Emmanuel was unanimously elected Founder President of what is known today as St. Benedict's College Alumni Association, Canada, and served his term of two years. He also served as Vice Patron in subsequent years and continued to be a member all his life.

Mr. Emmanuel immigrated to Canada in August of 1990 to join his son, Adrian Vimalan, who had immigrated to Canada a few years earlier. Soon after settling down in the country of his domicile Mr. Emmanuel was successful in securing a Teacher's Certificate in Ontario and found employment on a part time basis in the Metro Toronto Catholic Schools Board where he served for five years prior to seeking retirement. He had been a teacher in Nigeria for four years and was selected as an examiner for Economics on the West African Examination Council Board in the country. Mr. Emmanuel also served a stint as a visiting lecturer at Aquinas College in Colombo.

I had the privilege of meeting him a couple of times at his residence in Scarborough and at the numerous functions organized by the Alumni Association and informal parties by his former students where he would always join in the sing-along and never failed to go solo with his fine rendition of 'South Of The Border, a timeless favourite.

We will all have our individual memories and it is best to focus on the good times we enjoyed under his tutelage and pray for his family. We were fortunate to have had Mr. Emmanuel in our lives and though he is no longer in our midst, we will always remember him. May he rest in peace.

Centering Equity: A Vision for Global Health in 2021

SHUBHA NAGESH and SARA ROTENBERG

The year 2020 will be remembered as the year that changed the world, as COVID-19 spared no country, no community, and no person. As the pandemic continues in 2021, there is recognition that some groups are impacted more than others, not just by the virus itself, but also by the socio-economic and access inequities exacerbated by global shutdowns. Globally, countries, and organisations are seeking to build back better and address inequities.

India exemplifies the challenges and inequities so many in low- and middle-income countries faced during the pandemic. India's poor have been hit the hardest in everything from the disease itself to the economic and social impacts of national lockdowns.

and homes. Public and private health-care facilities tried to support COVID-19 patients, but reports questioning the accessibility and equity of the services for the poor. Economically, experts expect that millions of people in India will become impoverished due to the pandemic.

Scores of migrants walked hundreds of kilometres to their villages, exemplifying how people in the informal sector lost their jobs, livelihood,

For global health more broadly, the pandemic has threatened to drive back progress made in recent decades and highlighted how we neglected calls for health systems strengthening in recent years. Yet, we see opportunities and calls to 'build back better', the global health community must first ask itself "What is wrong with Global Health?" so we avoid these systemic issues and build a more inclusive world.

The reality is that many things went wrong within global health prior to 2020. To date, we have seen certain groups forgotten in the global health space. For instance, only 0.5 percent of international development funding goes towards disability-inclusive programs. Even less of this goes directly to global health, despite the fact that people with disabilities make up 15 percent of the world's population. COVID-19 has amplified the omission of disabled people.

For example, India's COVID-19 tracker, Aarogya Setu App, public health guidance, and testing sites have remained inaccessible for disabled people. In lockdowns, disabled people also had difficulties accessing essential food, information, medicines, and supplies.

We suggest three ways to address access inequalities in Global Health: Underrepresented and marginalized groups need better, authentic representation. Global health organizations must continually ask themselves who is not represented or reached in their programs, and actively take steps to fix it. Involving advocates and activists from the very beginning will include the needs of at-risk populations and enhancing acceptance, inclusion and belonging. Global health needs better, timely, factual, and accessible communication. Creating accessible and acceptable communication strategies and messages that are deployed to reach even the most remote areas is key to ensuring global health connects everyone.

Act in solidarity. Governments, civil society, and international organisations need to come together to distribute resources proportionately to need. Distributive justice can ensure greater security for all—whether that is for health, income, employment—which ultimately impacts our collective ability to weather catastrophes, like pandemics.

COVID-19 has been a pivotal moment and offers a unique opportunity to build back a better, more equitable, healthier world. However, without an explicit focus on inequity, we risk leaving out those who global health has forgotten, despite our moral obligation and duty to protect.

In 2020, we showed that anything is possible with political will, dedicated funding, and global action. In 2021, we need a paradigm shift in our approach to global health so that it captures those who most need it. We must apply what we have learned from collective action for COVID-19 to the greatest challenges facing our society: inequity. By addressing this, we ensure that global health is truly accessible to all. (IPS)

IMBL crossed: Navy nabs 54 Indians, five vessels

One of the Indian vessels.

Navy personnel seized five Indian fishing vessels along with 54 Indians, while they were fishing in Sri Lanka's seas recently.

The Northern Naval Command also nabbed a large Indian fishing vessel along with 14 personnel about three nautical miles off Kovilan, Jaffna. The vessel with a 75-feet long and 22-feet wide steel hull powered with an engine of 280 hp. The Navy personnel also held 1,030 kg of fish and fishing gear during the raid.

The North Central Naval Command, meanwhile, held two more vessels with 20 personnel for trawling in Sri Lankan waters about seven nautical miles off Pesalai, Mannar and five nautical miles off the Iranativu Island along with fishing gear.

The Eastern Naval Command seized two vessels with 20 personnel along with accessories about 7.5 and 8.5 nautical miles off Mullaitivu. The two vessels had trespassed on Sri Lankan waters about 62 nautical miles after crossing the International Boundary Line (IMBL). Meanwhile the Indian High Commission issuing a statement said the HC has been informed about the apprehension of 54 fishermen and five boats from India by the Sri Lanka Navy on the night of March 24.

"We reiterate that issues associated with Indian fishermen are to be dealt in a humanitarian manner. Providing immediate consular access and emergency supplies to apprehended fishermen are of prime importance. We are working with the Government of Sri Lanka for expeditiously securing consular access for these fishermen.

Bilateral mechanisms are in place to comprehensively address all matters related to fisheries. It may be recalled that the fourth meeting of the Secretary-level JWG was held on December 30 last year through virtual mode.

Follow-up measures on the basis of discussions, which took place during the meeting need to be taken forward quickly," the Indian HC said.

Japan honours late Prof Ambassador Dammika Disanayake

Prof. Dammika Ganganath Disanayake

Ambassador of Japan to Sri Lanka Sugiyama Akira on behalf of Japan's Foreign Affairs Minister Motegi Toshimitsu presented the 'Certificate of Appreciation' to Saroja Dissanayake, spouse of the late Ambassador Prof. Dammika Ganganath Disanayake, former Ambassador of Sri Lanka to Japan, in recognition of his contribution to promoting friendship and mutual understanding between Japan and Sri Lanka. The ceremony to confer the certificate was held on March 18 at the Ambassador's official residence in Colombo.

The late Ambassador Prof. Disanayake's association with Japan took firm roots since he read for his postgraduate and doctoral degrees at the Tokai University, Japan in early 90s. He served as Ambassador of Sri Lanka to Japan from 2015 to 2019.

As an enthusiast in mass communications and a Sinhala linguist, Ambassador Prof. Disanayake served in several capacities at distinguished universities and institutes in Sri Lanka and Japan. During his tenure as Ambassador of Sri Lanka to Japan, Ambassador Prof. Disanayake, with his fluent and impeccable Japanese, made outstanding contribution to promoting bilateral relations between Japan and Sri Lanka. The highlight of his achievements during his tenure was realising successful Presidential visits to Japan three times. His creative and heart-warming writing in Pami Wala-lu gained popularity among the Sri Lankan and the Japanese readership, and earned him many accolades for his contribution to bridge the cultures of the two friendly countries. The Foreign Affairs Ministry of Japan owes a great deal to the late Ambassador for his kind guidance for Japanese diplomats aspiring to be Sinhala specialists.

Saroja Dissanayake deeply appreciated the Government and People of Japan for this kind gesture and recalled fond memories of her late husband's close interaction with the people of Japan and his devotion to furthering the exchanges between Japan and Sri Lanka.

Message from Hon. Prime Minister

I am pleased to send this message to signify the grand Awards Ceremony of the "CNCI Achiever Awards 2020" for Industrial Excellence, which has been organized by the Ceylon National Chamber of Industries (CNCI), the pioneering Industry Chamber in Sri Lanka. Also I am happy to note that they are holding this popular event for the 19th consecutive year.

The current environment, especially the period starting from the 2nd quarter of 2019 is not much conducive for the entire industrial sector. Many of the companies have been held up with serious business issues due to various reasons enforced by the Easter Sunday carnage followed the COVID-19 pandemic. The government is striving in extending every possible measure to revive the local industries within the government's economic capabilities in order to remain them in their respective businesses and to stabilize the job security of the employees, which could, otherwise, have been a tremendous social issue. I am happy to note that many of the Sri Lankan private sector organizations have performed extremely well during these crucial periods facing the challenges in an exemplary manner. We have learned lessons from our immediate past as to how we should challenge the challenges and win the barriers.

The industrial development and growth of any state is very important in terms of its significant contribution to the GDP in addition to its direct and indirect positive impact to the general public by employment generation. We should encourage our Sri Lankan industrialists for their growth, innovativeness, creativity and for expansions in penetrating into new markets. It has been observed that during the isolated periods with the Covid-19 impact many of our entrepreneurs have found niche markets which can be developed in time to come. Also I must especially mention that all these award winners have participated at this Achiever Award completion while passing such a period with a lot of challenges, difficulties and restrictions. In the circumstances, the recognition and reward by means of an award of this nature is commendable and a source of inspiration to the local industrialists in both manufacturing and service sectors.

The Government has taken several steps to encourage the local industrialists, especially those in the rural areas representing the micro, small and medium sectors. The Government has extended funds for working capital requirements even during this critical period, expertise and all other infrastructural facilities to determine their stability.

I am happy to note the efforts taken by the Ceylon National Chamber of Industries to recognize the deserving industrialists for their achievements through which, they realize their stands in the industry, they get themselves educated of the areas to be improved and more importantly, they are motivated to widen their boundaries.

We appreciate the Chamber CNCI for these efforts in creating understanding and promoting industrial and ethnic harmony among all sectors and my special thanks to the Chamber CNCI for organizing such a colourful event to encourage our industrialists. I congratulate Award Winners and all who participated in the Achiever Awards competition and wish them all for their future success.

Mahinda Rajapaksa
Hon. Prime Minister - Democratic Socialist Republic of Sri Lanka

Message from Chairman - CNCI

I am pleased to send this message on the occasion of the CNCI Achiever Awards 2020, which has been organized by the Ceylon National Chamber of Industries (CNCI) for the 19th consecutive year.

The main objective of initiating this awards scheme by the CNCI is to recognize and reward the industrialists to encourage them who reach their desired goals and objectives thereby generating wealth to contribute to the national economy challenging all the barriers and hardships.

Industrial development is a critical component that drives economic growth in any state. It creates employment facilitating an improved quality of life. By creating value through starting and running industries, they enjoy the increase of nation's wealth. Earning valuable foreign exchange that is vital for the country to import of necessary goods and services, extending CSR benefits to the society and community development projects are all considered as significant features to a country through industrial development. This is the timely requirement of Sri Lanka as well.

The selection criteria of the Achiever Awards Applications have been designed to encourage the applicant companies to undertake social causes of good public endeavors, actualize sustainability, social justice and environmental responsibility. After all, the biggest contribution or the underlying theme that runs through all these contributions is their innate ability to innovate that ensures speedy and efficient development of the nation and our economy.

As a National Chamber purely for industries in the country, I consider it a duty of the Chamber to identify, recognize and reward the industrialists for their operational excellence which will encourage and guide them to reach the stars.

I congratulate all the Award Winners as well as all the participants and wish them success in all their future endeavours.

Eng. Ruwan Edirisinghe
Chairman, The Ceylon National Chamber of Industries

Message from Chairman - Steering Committee 2020

The long awaited annual Industrial Excellence Award ceremony "CNCI Achiever of Industrial Excellence Award - 2020" will take centre stage this evening for the 19th year. We are overwhelmed of our ability to conduct this event, even though it was delayed due to the worldwide pandemic. As Project Chairman, for the third consecutive year, I am humbled to pen this message, for this flagship event organized by the Ceylon National Chamber of Industries - CNCI, Sri Lanka.

The principal objective of this prestigious event is to recognize and reward industrialists in Sri Lanka in the Manufacturing and Service sector for having outperformed in their respective areas of business. Being the pioneering Industrial Chamber in the country, with a history of over 60 years and in keeping with our Vision of being the "Guiding Force of the Industries in Sri Lanka" all competitors are compelled to achieve very high standards, when participating in these awards. Most industrialists who enter this competition, be it from Micro Level to the Extra Large Category, are made aware of how they could be competitive globally, but fulfilling the requirements requested for. In addition, it is a learning experience, which reminds all industrialists of their obligations towards Mother Nature, Corporate Social Responsibility and the Differently Aabled.

The Achiever Awards Competition has been one of the sought after events in the industrial sector calendar, due to its very strict criteria and evaluation processes, culminating with site visits of the shortlisted winners. These processes and criteria of evaluation is annually upgraded and improved, keeping it in line with the present day industrial and service standards, thus enabling all competitors to be amongst the elite in the industry. It is very heartening to note that Industries in the Extra Large Category have shown a great interest, with a record number of applications being received this year too. Similarly, this competition is equally popular amongst the MSME sector, where they make every effort in fulfilling the requirements of the application. This has obligated them to improve their processes and business modules. It is very encouraging and should be placed on record that some applicants who had initially participated under Small and Micro categories have over the years graduated reaching greater heights and are now in competition with the Medium or Large categories.

While congratulating all winners on your achievements, we thank you for your patience due to the delay in having this event, which was beyond our control and we encourage all industrialists both in the manufacturing and service sectors to participate in this competition, which is a stepping stone and learning curve to improve your industries.

In conclusion, I on behalf of the Ceylon National Chamber of Industries thank our sponsors, for without your partnership this awards ceremony would not have been a reality. The Health Authorities, for having granted us conditional approval to stage this ceremony. We record with much appreciation the services of the External Panel of Judges headed by Professor Kapila Perera and his dynamic team, our Internal Panel of Judges led by Pradeep Kahawalage together with his very committed team and the auditors T R Associates. I also acknowledge and appreciate the assistance and encouragement extended by the Chairman, CNCI, Ruwan Edirisinghe and members of the management and Executive Council of the CNCI. Last but not least, for the excellent services of the Secretary General - CNCI Abeyratne Muthugala and his team, and all those who assisted us in numerous ways to make this event a reality.

Chairman, Steering Committee
CNCI Achiever Awards 2020

Message from Hon. Minister of Industries – Chief Guest

I am pleased to send this message on the occasion of the CNCI Achiever Awards - 2020 event organized by the Ceylon National Chamber of Industries (CNCI) to recognize and reward a well deserving group of industrialists in the country, who immensely contribute to our National Economy as well as to the social wellbeing.

I wish to extend my appreciation to the Chairman and the Management of CNCI for organizing this event which will undoubtedly encourage the industrialists to arm with greater confidence and commitment to achievement. I also congratulate all the contestants for their participation to become the "Achiever" of Business Excellence, which amply demonstrates their confidence in entrepreneurship.

The industrial sector in Sri Lanka had to undergo a range of difficulties during the last few years which were aggravated with the Easter Sunday Attack in 2019 and then the COVID 19 impact in April 2020. I believe that many of the Sri Lankan industries have the capacity to cater to the demands of the Sri Lankan Market, but this has not been uncovered until recent past to facilitate them with the desired background. The Government has taken several steps for the protection and development of local industries. The imports of certain products have been banned which could be produced in the country. CESS will be imposed on certain products to protect farmers, local manufacturers and industrialists.

Under the recently launched 'Made in Sri Lanka' brand campaign, several programmes have been lined up which aims to assist the micro, small, and medium-scale entrepreneurs crafting local products. We also strive in identifying the longstanding issues of their inability to have a foothold in the local market and push their products to the global market. Promotion of "Made in Sri Lanka" brand essentially needs a perceived and balanced combination of skills and ethics. The Achievers' Awards competition organized by the Ceylon National Chamber of Industries plays a great role with paving avenues for the industrial and other business community in their calibre to expand their boundaries, understand the areas to be improved and finally to enjoy recognition that gives a meaning to their efforts.

I congratulate all the contestants, winners, participants at the event, Chairman and the organizing committee of the CNCI Achievers' Awards 2020 for success in all their future endeavours.

Wimal Weerawansa
Hon. Minister of Industries

Lakshman Silva
Director/Chief Executive Officer, DFCC Bank PLC

Message from Chairman - Panel of Judges

I am pleased to send this message on the occasion of the CNCI - Achiever Awards Ceremony for the year 2020. I understand that this is the 19th occasion that the competition is being organized by the Ceylon National Chamber of Industries (CNCI). First, I would like to extend my personal appreciation to the CNCI for their continued efforts being taken to recognize and reward the local industrialists with the prime objective of encouraging them for the development of the industrial sector in the country. The application and evaluation processes of the Achiever Awards competition have been designed in a manner to update the local industrialists in all categories to update with efficient and a competitive performance by introducing them with the most important performance indicators. The economic growth of any country with the development of its industrial sector is considered a well-sustained growth that can transform an economy. Industrial growth and economic growth go hand in hand. Economies thrive when an industry is growing because a growth in the industry brings about more jobs, more money, and more opportunity. Industrial growth is often linked with higher wages. The growth of production through industrial development generates more money and more services for the economy leading to higher income and more labour productivity. The standard of living increases when industry increases. These opportunities can transform an area and inspire endless amounts of growth.

The winning companies have demonstrated a high degree of excellence relative to the resources at their disposal. The applications from the small and micro categories were very encouraging, especially in view of the fact that they have lesser opportunities to participate in competitions of this nature. The awards criteria take into account most of the key factors of performance and look into compliance with statutory requirements and good corporate citizen obligations. Therefore CNCI can proudly claim to have made a positive influence on the way that these organizations are managed.

I congratulate all the winners today in all categories and recommend to those who did not win this time to try again in the next year by improving their all-round operational processes in the organizations.

Pathum Nissanka turns Lanka's latest batting sensation

CHRIS DHAMBARAGE

The dream of every up and coming promising cricketer is to score a century for his country at the highest level. And to achieve that feat on his Test debut while performing away from home is even more significant.

This is exactly what Pathum Nissanka did on Wednesday, in Antigua as he rewrote Sri Lanka's cricketing history on the fourth day of the opening Test against the West Indies.

The iconic Sir Vivian Richards Stadium was the venue for another master-class innings as the 22-year-old elegant right-hander hit a magnificent 103 runs from 252 deliveries inclusive of six boundaries.

It was a fantastic innings of temperament and patients from the former schoolboy of Isipathana College as he joined a select band of Sri Lankan cricketers who have scored a Test hundred on debut.

His performance was even more significant considering the fact that it was 20 years ago that Sri Lanka produced a centurion on debut when Thilan Samaraweera scored an unbeaten 103 against India at the SSC Grounds in Maitland Place.

Landmark innings

There are more reasons for Nissanka to celebrate this landmark innings as he became the first Sri Lankan batsman to score a Test hundred on debut while performing away from home.

Wicket-keeper batsman Brendon Kuruppu (1987), Romesh Kaluwitharana (1992) and Samaraweera all scored their Test centuries on debut in Colombo.

But Nissanka was able to perform something different and it came when the team is struggling as he made a determined effort to revive Sri Lanka's fading Test cricket with a memorable century.

It was not long ago that he came in for high praise from Sri Lanka's Head Coach Mickey Arthur who described Nissanka as an all-format cricketer.

And not surprisingly he was able to make his Twenty20 (T20) debut and One Day International (ODI) debut in the same tour, which could be another piece of milestone for this young batting prodigy.

However, it turned out to be a baptism of fire for Nissanka as he had the bitter experience of ending up in the losing side in both T20Is and ODIs.

But those defeats only made him much stronger and determined to succeed as he decided to display his true potential in the longest format of the game against a pace heavy West Indies attack.

Consistent run-getter

Nissanka of course has been a consistent run-getter at domestic level in all three formats and his First-Class average of 67.54 is one of the best among the current Test cricketers.

Despite all those laurels under his name, Nissanka still remained a newcomer to Test cricket and his limited experience at the highest level was clear when he was dismissed for a 12-ball nine runs in the first innings.

But he was keen to get some runs under his belt very soon and he picked up the correct time and the bowlers to construct a career-building innings while batting under tremendous pressure.

No doubt, there were few anxious moments and a couple of edges went past his bat but Nissanka clearly showed that he has the real courage and the determination to play a long innings for Sri Lanka.

For more than five hours he kept the West Indies bowlers guessing all the time with a solid defence and collected his runs in a calculated manner with a less amount of risk.

Pathum Nissanka of Sri Lanka celebrates his century during day 4 of the 1st Test between West Indies and Sri Lanka at Vivian Richards Cricket Stadium in North Sound, Antigua and Barbuda, on March 24.

Riza Mubarak

Mubarak was an excellent full back and place kicker

ALTHAF NAWAZ

The full back in rugby plays a vital role with his safe collections and booming kicks to touch to relieve pressure often joins the three quarter line to form the overlap and is also most often the place kicker piling on the points for his team. Riza Mubarak is one of the prominent players who contributed immensely to the success of the teams he represented at school, clubs and at International level bringing honour and fame for them.

The lanky Riza is in his 40's and his father Mohamed Mubarak Jainudeen is a youth football player who was mostly based overseas. His mother is Sithy Pathima Reyah, a housewife. He completed his school career with Isipathana College, Colombo from the primary to higher studies. His father used to take him to witness football matches during his vacation in Sri Lanka. As a result, Riza was inspired to engage in sports, especially handling the oval shaped ball at Isipathana. In 2005, he embarked on his charismatic rugby career enrolling at the junior team under the watchful eyes of legendary player Hisham

Abdeen, who illustrated the basics of the game and laying a solid foundation for his long rugby career. Due to his liking for football he had the kicking skills and moving fast as a nippy player, Riza opted to occupy the full back's berth as a rugby player. He learnt his basics and kicking techniques with the rugby ball from Thushara Bandara and D.P. Udayasiri. He played for College first XV from 2005 to 2007 after competing in all age groups commencing from under-13.

During his tenure with the senior team they went on to win several tournaments while being a dominant force in the school's rugby arena. While playing for school, he was selected to don the Sri Lanka under-19 jersey in 2007 under Sanath Martis as coach. He played under Ashan de Costa and Damith Udayanga's captaincy as a player in the senior team at Isipathana. He played along with Sajitha Saranga, Dinusha Chaturanga, Srinath Sooriyabandara, Niroshan Fernando and Vishwamithra Jayasinghe. In 2007, at the Kandy International Schools Sevens, Isipathana became champs where Riza was a member of that side and went on to crush Kingswood 33-17 in the final.

He was also part of the team which beat St. Anthony's, Kandy by 74-0 at the 2006, Thurstan Invitation Sevens Tournament coached by Bimal Perera.

This exposure enabled him to join CR and FC right after school in 2008, on an invitation extended by Jehan CanagaRetna, and subsequently got an employment opportunity with MAS Holdings. While playing for CR he was selected to play for the National team in 2008, right after the club season and was the most outstanding player. He also played for Navy, Havelocks and rejoined his old club CR before his retirement from the game. In 2010, he was offered a scholarship to play in Western Province Rugby Academy in Cape town, South Africa. This was possible mainly due to the combined efforts of Jehan CanagaRetna, Dilroy Fernando and the coaches there were Darwie Snyman and Norman Laker.

His accomplished career with the National team was from 2008 to 2016, where he was adjudged the 'Most Valuable Player' of the Five Nations Asian Rugby Tournament in 2013. Due to his accurate place kicking, he surged ahead to become the highest point scorer in the Five Nations Asian Rugby Tournament held in 2009, 2012, 2013 and 2015 respectively. In 2014, he was the highest point scorer of the IRB sanctioned 'Serendib Cup.'

He wants to recall his memory, when he made his school debut in rugby against Trinity which they won 6-5, after a nail biting finish. He was instrumental in converting two penalties. Trinity had played that game brimming with confidence after winning the 'Bradby' and Isipathana were reeling in the 'B' division at that time. He was also influenced by some of his friends, who motivated him to pursue rugby and special mention has to be made of Shaad Hamid for making him fall in love with Isipathana Rugby.

He would like to thank his coaches, for putting up an unstinted effort to mould him as a profound player, without them he wouldn't have reached this level.

They are namely Hisham Abdeen, Thushara Bandara, Udayasiri, Bimal Perera, Sanath Martis, Ronny Ibrahim, Tavitha Thulagesi (Laga), John Carrington, Darwie and Norman, Bilal Yusuf, Grant Dwyer, Phil Greening, Ravin Duplessis, Ben Gollings, Johanne Taylor and Phil Pretorius. He also likes to extend his gratitude to few others who played a pivotal role to assist him in various ways during his school days, Gazzaly from Expo Lanka, Ifham Mahboob, Hassan Singhawansa, and Chaaminda Gallage.

He has completed a World Rugby Level-3 coaching in XV-a-side in 2020 and migrated to Canada. He holds a MBA from Anglia Ruskin University in 2016. He is married to former Royal and CH player Iqbal Hassan's daughter Mariam and is blessed with a child.

Deneth Lanka a talented cricketer

UPANANDA JAYASUNDERA
Kandy Sports Special Corr.

Deneth Lanka, a fine all-round cricketer of Dharmaraja College, Kandy who was a student of the school from Grade One to Grade Thirteen started playing cricket when he was studying at Grade Six Class and his cricket coach was Gaminie Debahapuwa, former Air-Force Cricketer. When playing Junior Cricket, he showed his talent and he was appointed as the Captain of the Under 17 Cricket team and he led the Dharmaraja team up-to Quarter Final stage. He played for the school First XI Cricket team as an off-spinner and right hand batsman and scored 550 Runs and bagged 64 wickets in 2010. In the following year in 2011 he scored 650 runs and claimed 75 wickets and in 2012 he scored 725 runs and claimed 890 wickets. In 2013/14 cricket season Deneth Lanka scored 879 runs including two centuries against St. Sylvester's College, Kandy and Mahinda College, Galle and bagged 92 wickets as the Captain of the team.

Apart from that he led the side to victory in the 'Big Match' and Limited Over Match against Kingswood College from 2011 to 2013. He won School Colours and in his final year received the highest Award of 'Dagoba' for Cricket in the year 2014. When he was playing for the Under 15 and Under 19 teams he was selected to Sri Lanka Schools Squad and under his captaincy in 2014 Dharmaraja College became Champions of the Central Province Schools tournament.

While playing School Cricket he represented Kandy Cricket Club in the Division One Cricket tournament and represented Moors Cricket Club in the Under 25 - Limited Over Cricket Tournament and scored three half centuries.

In 2016/17 Season he played in the Fifty over Cricket tournament and scored 50 against Old Thomians and Customs. In 2017 he played for Seville Cricket Club of Melbourne, Australia for Five months, and claimed 34 wickets in five matches. In 2018 he represented the premier League T/20 representing the Ports Authority Cricket team.

At present he has signed up with Kalutara CC under the captaincy of Gihan Rupasinghe and his intention is to represent Sri Lanka either in Test, limited over or T/20 cricket. He is thankful to School Cricket Coaches Gaminie Debahapuwa and Senaka Dissanayake for the support they gave him to become a talented cricketer.

Sirimavo Bandaranaike Vidyalaya OVEP champions

Sirimavo Bandaranaike Vidyalaya, Colombo were crowned champions of the Olympic Values Educational Program (OVEP). The awards presentation was held at 'Hemasiri Fernando Auditorium', National Olympic Council premises yesterday. The first runner-up was Hillwood College, Kandy, while third place went to Chundikuli Girls' School Jaffna.

Speaking on the occasion, Secretary-General, National Olympic Committee, Maxwell de Silva, highlighted that all contestants were brilliant and delved upon a lot of subjects that touched the mundane lives of people.

Yet, he emphasized, the most important factor is living by what you preach, and that goes on to make a person larger than life.

This is a global educational tool that has been created by the International Olympic Committee (IOC) to promote educational themes; such as the joy of effort, fair play, respect for others, the pursuit of excellence and balanced life of body, will and mind. Children learn values through their exposure to the larger world. At some point,

The Captains of the winning teams of the OVEP debater competition with the NOC SL executive committee and organizers. Perera, Programme Director, NOCSL they may tend to forget them. So, how can we inculcate values into someone's life and influence them to use those values in their day-to-day life.

With this in mind, the National Olympic Committee of Sri Lanka inaugurated the OVEP Debater in 2017 as a pilot project targeting students in the Colombo and Kandy regions. In 2020, we were determined to launch the OVEP Debater 2020 in a living virtual landscape in several provinces, despite unprecedented challenges due to the COVID-19 pandemic. The OVEP Debater team 2020 extended their tremendous support to a successful event. It was because of their teamwork and dedication, the OVEP Debater 2020 reached different Provinces in the country. To summarise, the concept of OVEP is global. It covers everyone's desire to lead a better and fulfilling life.

In another presentation held during the same session, NOC gave away prizes for the speech competition conducted by the Women's Committee on the topic "Make sports a safe zone".

First place went to a young lass from Kuliyapitiya - W.A. Kalshini Dulmitha of Holy Angels Girl's College; second place went to a medical student from Jayawardenapura University Ayesha Sachintha Abeywardena; third place was taken by Ramya Sivamumar, while joint fourth place went to brothers S.M.Y. Mohamed Hazari and Omar Hazari of Royal College. (AN)

Moody vows to take SL to top of ICC Rankings

ALTHAF NAWAZ

Director of Cricket Tom Moody yesterday vowed to take Sri Lanka to the top end of the International Cricket Council (ICC) Team Rankings in all formats of the game.

The former Australian Test player made these observations during his maiden media conference since being hired last month by Sri Lanka Cricket (SLC), at the Taj Samudra Hotel in Colombo.

"With good people involved in the process we can take Sri Lanka cricket to the top end of the ICC Rankings in all formats of the game," he stressed.

"It is not so much the players or the players but it's the infrastructure that we have to review," Moody added.

"It is very clear Sri Lanka cricket should reflect and review their game. With various experiences which I had here as a Head Coach of an international side as I progressed through that opportunity with a variety of different things, I am well equipped to deliver the requirement with the cricket committee to make some significant changes which will take some time," Moody explained.

"If we can get the infrastructure right with correct people in their roles through the whole process I am sure we will find ourselves back where we need to be," said Moody.

Meanwhile, Chairman, Technical Advisory Committee, Sri Lanka Cricket Aravinda de Silva said that the game would return to the glory days with the appointment of Tom Moody as Director of Cricket.

"We know that our National Team is going through a lean period but we are making all endeavours to put the game in line with a strategic plan."

"Once that's done the results will follow. We have a committee with Tom (Moody) closely working with SLC to revamp a proper system in all aspects of the game especially with the domestic cricketing structure, which is under discussion and will be implemented later with prior approvals."

"We had a few discussions with Murali (Muralitharan) along with Sanga (Sangakkara) and Mahela (Jayawardene). We have prioritised the entire programme into three areas starting with the immediate requirement of a short term plan, medium and long term plan for the betterment of the game."

"We have to do various amendments in domestic structure, starting up from the First-Class tournament structure, youth development and developing school cricket."

July 31 declared as National Sports Day

The Cabinet has approved a proposal to declare July 31 as the National Sports Day of Sri Lanka.

Accordingly, July 31 has been selected as it also marks the day when Duncan White won the Silver Medal in the 400m hurdles giving Sri Lanka global recognition at the Summer Olympics.

In July 2014, the then Government had proposed to declare April 6 as the National Sports Day but due to its close proximity to the April New Year Festive season, the imporance of the day was not recognized.

As a result, the Cabinet has now approved a proposal submitted by Sports Minister Namal Rajapaksa to allocate a new date to commemorate the National Sports Day. (D.R)

ANTIGUA: The West Indies were well placed at 83 for two in their second innings shortly before lunch on the fifth and final day of the opening Test match against Sri Lanka at the Sir Vivian Richards Stadium in Antigua yesterday.

The home side chasing a victory target of 375 runs, batted cautiously with the overnight pair of Kraigg Brathwaite and Nkrumah Bonner bringing up the 50-run second wicket stand in 146 deliveries.

Sri Lanka of course began proceedings with Suranga Lakmal and Vishwa Fernando but had no success despite troubling the batsmen on a couple of occasions.

However, Lasith Embuldeniya made the first breakthrough for Sri Lanka when he removed the dangerous Brathwaite with a beautiful delivery.

The left-arm spinner deceived the batsman with a straight delivery as the ball sneaked through the huge gap between bat and pad to crash into the stumps. - AFP

Tea export income increases to Rs 41 bn

MENAKA INDRAKUMAR

Sri Lanka Tea Board (SLTB) stated recently that it has performed well in January and February this year, earning Rs 41 billion export revenue, compared to the start of last year. The total tea production too had increased when compared to last year.

In the recent statement, tea exports of 2021, indicate Rs 41 billion, as compared to the beginning of last year of revenue of Rs 38 billion. The price of FOB (Full on Board) of tea had increased from Rs. 832 to Rs 932.

According to a Tea Board official from the period of January to February tea auction value has increased from Rs 595 to Rs 645, thus trickling down the benefit of the foreign exchange earnings and the increased export price to tea growers and manufacturers as well. Lankan Tea is performing well in more than 10 countries and is a popular demand in countries like Turkey, Iraq, Russia, Iran, Libya and Azerbaijan.

"SLTB and the government did not let Sri Lanka's Tea Industry stop operations. Therefore, tea production and the exports were done while addressing the situational issues which arose due to the pandemic. On those grounds, SLTB has played a vital role to facilitate tea producers and exporters for their operations. SLTB had to take over the export facilitation procedures of some destinations such as Turkey in collaboration with the respective embassy in Sri Lanka," the Tea Board official said.

Sri Lanka tea is targeting to export 295 - 300 mn kgs of tea this year, and more than 100 countries are importing Lankan tea. SLTB is processing to promote and artisanal teas, Ceylon green tea and organic teas to very specific markets segments.

Further, SLTB is looking to approach

African and North American regions and regain the lost markets also. The high standard of 'Ceylon Tea' quality, wellness factor associated with premium black teas offered by Sri Lankan exporters, and the global promotional campaign launched by SLTB would have contributed to these gains realised by the Sri Lankan tea industry.

An e-auction programme was initiated during the pandemic to streamline the supply chain.

Fitch affirms Abans at 'AA(Ika)'; Outlook stable

Fitch affirms Consumer-durable retailer Abans PLC's National Long-Term Rating at 'AA(Ika)'. The Outlook is stable. Fitch has simultaneously affirmed the 'AA(Ika)' rating on Abans' outstanding senior unsecured debentures and the 'F1+(Ika)' National Short-Term Rating on its commercial paper. "We expect Abans' revenue to rise by 8% in FY21, despite the challenging economic environment, amid strong demand for IT products, reduced competition from the informal sector and low interest rates. Its revenue fell 22% yoy in 1QFY21 due to an island-wide lockdown and movement restrictions, before recovering 25% yoy in the next two quarters. We do not expect similar movement restrictions amid lower infections and an ongoing vaccination drive, limiting the incremental impact on Abans' consumer-durable sales."

Hambantota Int'l Port to launch fertilizer transshipment

Nishantha Gamage, Marketing Manager of HIPG, Lance Zuo, General Manager Commercial and Marketing of HIPG, Andrey Melnichenko and Capt. Ravi Jayawickreme, CEO of Hambantota International Port Services

Russian billionaire Andrey Igorevich Melnichenko, who met PM Mahinda Rajapaksa, visited the Hambantota International Port (HIP) during his visit to Sri Lanka last week. During discussions with the port's top officials, he had shown keen interest in the potential to develop regional distribution of fertilizer via the Hambantota International Port.

"This is well in line with the port's plans as the Hambantota International Port Group (HIPG) was already investigating possibilities in this regard," said Lance Zuo, General Manager Commercial and Marketing of HIPG.

HIPG who has entered into a business venture partnership with a reputed fertilizer bagging operator, is now gearing up to launch fertilizer transshipment operations, which is another step closer to the port's vision of becoming a regional transshipment hub for fertilizer and bulk business.

Fitch Assigns Sampath Bank's Basel III Sub Debt Final Rating of 'A(Ika)'

Fitch Ratings Lanka has assigned Sampath Bank PLC's (AA-(Ika)/Stable) proposed Basel III-compliant subordinated unsecured debentures a National Long-Term Rating of 'A(Ika)'.

The final rating is the same as the expected rating assigned on February 8, 2021, and follows the receipt of documents conforming to information already received.

The proposed debentures will mature in seven years and will be listed on the Colombo Stock Exchange.

The bank expects the proposed subordinated debentures to qualify as Basel III-compliant regulatory Tier 2 capital. The proposed debentures include a non-viability clause whereby they will convert to ordinary voting shares if non-viability of the bank is determined by the Monetary Board of Sri Lanka.

The bank plans to use the proceeds from the debentures to strengthen its Tier II capital base and support the expansion of its loan book.

Sampath's proposed and outstanding Sri Lankan rupee-denominated subordinated debt is rated two notches below the National Long-Term Rating anchor. This reflects Fitch's baseline notching for loss severity for this type of debt and our expectations of poor recoveries. There is no additional notching for non-performance risks.

Green Climate Fund to support ADB's first green recovery program in Southeast Asia with US$ 300 mn

The Green Climate Fund (GCF) has allocated $300 million to support the Asian Development Bank's (ADB) efforts to help Southeast Asia shape a climate-resilient, environmentally sustainable economic recovery from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) pandemic.

The Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN) Catalytic Green Finance Facility (ACGF) Green Recovery Program aims to leverage GCF and ADB funds to catalyze financing from development partners and private capital sources to support more than $4 billion worth of green infrastructure projects across the region. All projects supported by the program will incorporate innovative green finance instruments and approaches.

"The ACGF Green Recovery Program is designed to kickstart a cycle of low-emissions investments during the first few years of a COVID-19 recovery," said ADB Vice-President Ahmed M. Saeed. "The program will help Southeast Asian countries design green stimulus packages and projects that will create climate-friendly jobs, boost economic growth, and help countries fulfill their pledges under the Paris Agreement to reduce greenhouse gas emissions."

The program aims to help Southeast Asian countries bridge

a major gap in financing green infrastructure, with the region's annual investment needs estimated to be $210 billion even before the COVID-19 pandemic hit. The gap is likely to have widened during the pandemic, as the region's economy contracted by 4.4% in 2020, according to ADB.

The Green Recovery Program will provide technical assistance and concessional loans to about 20 green infrastructure projects across Southeast Asia.

Over a 30-year period, the projects are expected to reduce carbon dioxide emissions by 119 million tons and create 340,000 green jobs in key sectors such as sustainable transport, renewable energy and energy efficiency systems, as well as low-carbon agriculture and natural resources.

BOC wins People's Banking Service Provider of the Year 2021 at SLIM

"BOC" thanks all Sri Lankans for the People's choice – a true voice of the people who elevated Bank of Ceylon as the "People's Banking Service Provider of the Year 2021" at the SLIM-Nielsen Peoples Awards 2021, the prestigious event that brings out the strength and the impression a brand has created within the people.

Organized by the Sri Lanka Institute of Marketing, the national body of marketers in Sri Lanka (SLIM) jointly with the Nielsen Company (Lanka) pvt Ltd, the event is much looked forward to by many renowned brands and brand custodians in the country.

"The achievement is evidence that our strategic thinking and investments made to project the brand "BOC" and to establish it amongst the people have been a fruitful one. I wish to take this opportunity to thank our staff for the hard work and commitment to develop "BOC" brand as an accomplished brand through the true voice of the people. Furthermore I wish to thank all Sri Lankans including our valued customers for being with us and supporting our journey towards excellence," stated the General Manager D.P.K. Gunasekera.

The Brand "BOC" has been named as the Country's No.1 Banking Brand for the twelve consecutive years by the Brand Finance Sri Lanka. Since its inception, Bank of Ceylon's motive has been the same –that is promoting social and economic development of the country and its people.

The Bank of Ceylon has been a trusted financial partner to clients for over 81 years and has reached extraordinary milestones such as being the first Sri Lankan bank to surpass an asset value of Rs. 2.8 Trillions.

This is the highest asset base owned by a single business entity in the country. Its loans and Advance portfolio exceeds Rs.1.9 Trillion and the Deposit Base exceeds Rs. 2.3 Trillion. Currently the Bank of Ceylon is the only Sri Lankan bank to own "a trillion triplet" in the balance sheet.

HNB extends CBSL's LANKAQR expansion to merchants in Katugastota

Ratnayaka the LANKAQR code, together with (L- R) HNB Executive -SOLO Activations & Promotions, Reeza Jaleel, HNB Head of Digital Services, Shankar Dharmaratne, HNB Lead-Product Management- SOLO, Harold Elanco, HNB Head of Marketing, Chammika Weerasinghe, HNB Regional Business Head-Central Region, Harsha Wickramasinghe and HNB Katugastota Customer Centre Manager, Dulanga Agalakotuwa.

Driving Sri Lanka's transformation into a vibrant cashless economy, Sri Lanka's most future ready bank, HNB PLC conducted a QR activation programme to onboard merchants in the Central Region in support of the Central Bank of Sri Lanka's 'Rata Purama LANKAQR' campaign.

The bank launched a promotional drive to create awareness and encourage the use of cashless payment options at its Katugastota Customer Centre with the attendance of CBSL Director- Payments and Settlements Department, Dharmasri Kumaratunge as Chief Guest of the event with senior management of HNB.

"The establishment of a common standard for transactions through LANKAQR is a clear signal that Sri Lanka is moving towards the cashless society that is accessible to all. We therefore express our gratitude to HNB for wholeheartedly supporting this vital national endeavour, and we look forward to working with them and the banking sector as a whole in order to encourage larger numbers of merchants and customers to adopt QR-based payments as their preferred method of transacting," CBSL Director - Payments and Settlements Dharmasri Kumaratunge said.

Following the ceremony, several merchants from the region were presented with personalized LANKAQR codes to conduct transactions.

"During the early stages of the pandemic, we witnessed many of our customers seamlessly adopt QR-based payment apps such as HNB SOLO to complete their daily transactions and continue their businesses. We believe that with our extensive customer base and merchant network, we will no doubt be a significant contributor to this innovative initiative," HNB Head of Marketing Chammika Weerasinghe stated

The two week promotional campaign was a resounding success with over 1300 merchants having signed on to receive QR-code payments through mobile payment apps like HNB SOLO.

Launched in 2019 as HNB's flagship digital payments solution, SOLO provides the convenience of digital transactions via the affordable, easy and widely-adaptable QR code, a more cost effective option when compared to alternative payment solutions available in the market.

Having already linked LANKAQR to SOLO, HNB is among the leading financial institutions and telecommunication partners driving a cashless QR-code based payments revolution that aims to make mobile phones and digital payments the standard for day-to-day transactions island-wide.

The bank has continuously bolstered the features and functionality of SOLO while refining its user interface in order to make QR-based payments intuitive, easy to use and versatile.

The Brick Lane Coffeehouse - A Cosy Haven Hidden Inside Excel World

Hints of freshly brewed coffee and the tantalising aroma of baked goodies linger in the air, and young and old alike find delight in the assortment of delicious choices on offer. Decadent chocolate cakes topped with rich ganache and cheesecakes with blueberry toppings tease all the senses. Fluffy sweet-filled doughnuts, flaky croissants with a silken gleam and yummy pies, there is a range of goodies to suit any palette. Conveniently located inside the Excel World Entertainment Park, The Brick Lane Coffeehouse serves an array of delicious cakes, bakes and coffees in a plush and tranquil setting.

The Brick Lane Coffeehouse is an ideal place to while away the hours with coffee and cakes or grab a quick snack on the go. With its service as warm as the bread rolls straight from the oven, The Brick Lane Coffeehouse promises a relaxed and delectable experience for its patrons.

Operated by Excel Restaurants Pvt. Ltd, which manages a portfolio of prestigious restaurants and pubs in Colombo, The Brick Lane Coffeehouse recently opened its doors to a world of sweet delights. The interior of the coffee shop creates a cosy and warm feel, with dark blue hued comfy wooden sofas to sink into while the chic counter top with high stools offers more seating space. Although the space is compact, COVID-19 health regulations are adhered to where the one-meter distance has been maintained in all seating arrangements.

While there is an extensive beverage menu featuring a host of coffee-based drinks—both hot and cold—the food menu changes daily: from savoury choux buns and sweet muffins to classic sandwiches and fruit tarts. The bread is made by hand with premium ingredients and packaged in biodegradable packaging. Sourdough is the speciality and you can try the takes on classic ryes too.

The Brick Lane Coffeehouse takes pride in serving some of the best cakes in town. Headed by its award-winning Pastry Chef, Janaka Dias, the patisserie delights its diners with specialty cakes from across the world, including delicious black forest cake, imposing red-velvet cake and light and simple Victoria sponge.

Commenting on the opening of the coffee shop, Janaka Dias said, "Each morning our team bakes a selection of cakes, pastries and breads; as well as prepares savoury items such as tarts and quiches. Customers can choose what's on display every day and order from our carefully curated beverage menu."

Sharing his thoughts, Eksath Wijerathne, Executive Director, Excel Restaurants said, "We are delighted to open the doors of our newest venture and sure this is going to be loved by coffee aficionados in town. Brick Lane offers the compulsory classics found in every coffee shop as well as a range of innovative beverages and nibbles too. Most importantly, freshness is at the heart of everything we do at The Brick Lane Coffeehouse."

Open from 7.00am, this is an ideal location to start your day with a wholesome breakfast and cup of coffee. As the day advanced towards evening, the coffee shop fills up with lighthearted people who look forward to enjoying an evening of camaraderie and laughter over a cup of tea. As the coffee shop is tucked inside the Excel World Entertainment Park, it is ideal to grab a quick munch after a game of bowling or a joyful evening at the Adventura Kids' Park.

While there are tongue-tingling options on offer for a quick pick-up, if you require something special or larger quantities, an order would need to be placed beforehand. The delivery service of the Brick Lane Coffeehouse is available within the city limits of Colombo and the delivery menu will leave you spoilt for choice. Since every item is made to order to retain the freshness of food, a prior notice period is required.

NSB takes 'QR to Kandy'

National Savings Bank joined with the national program of promoting QR in urban as well as rural areas by launching this service in Kandy. In parallel to this program, best customers of the Bank in the Kandy region were felicitated.

The promotional programs held under this in several Districts has clearly contributed to popularize QR among the people. The number of customers who get registered with the QR system and the number of transactions carried out through the QR System is on increase daily. During the Covid-19 pandemic, using QR Codes became essential more than ever as a measure of minimizing the usage of notes and coins, where the virus can remain for hours.

As a solution to all such problems of using cash "Cash Wade" (Hassle of Cash) Program was implemented by the QR Community and considering the positive responses received by NSB Branches, the Bank has taken the initiative in organizing the Kandy District QR Promotional Program, "QR to Kandy" ("Nuwarata QR"), held recently in the City of Kandy.

While the new inventions of the financial sector and new technological usages are popular among urban and young segments of the society, further assistance and guidance of the Ministry of Finance and CBSL is required to popularize this tendency among the rural segments as well.

Financial sector always goes hand in hand with the developments of Information Technology including Smart Technology. Present day people are quick to take the advantages of this combination and use technology to fulfill their day to day financial needs broadening the dimensions of payment systems.

The Barter System where other goods and services are exchanged for goods or services obtained was replaced by pieces of metal, called 'money' as a medium of payment and people started using physical money, i. e. notes and coins as a payment method for the goods or services obtained.

Quick Response Code or QR Code is yet another aspect of this evolution and was first used in a vehicle manufacturing and assembling factory in Japan as an online payment method.

Today, this is used around the world as a convenient and safe way of making payments. The Central Bank of Sri Lanka (CBSL), has declared the year 2020 as the Year of Digital Transactions and often strives to come out with digital solutions for financial transactions in compliance with the international standards and incorporate new technology in to the same in a timely manner.

NSB, which stands tall among the giants of the financial sector with 20.9 million accounts, an asset base surpassing Rs. one Trillion and a deposit base, which exceeds Rs. one Trillion, always kept the new technology at the forefront and provides safe internet banking services as per the global standards and the guidelines of the Central Bank of Sri Lanka.

produce through Royal Organic (Pvt) Ltd, an ISO 22000/HACCP company. They are currently supplying organic fresh produce to buyers in the UK, Japan and several Gulf countries.

"During this 25-year journey, we had to face a lot of hardships during the time to elevate the business to what its today and this ISO certification endorses the high quality we maintain during our production," said Chairman, Micro Electric International, Dhammika Samarawickrama.

Meanwhile, a subsidiary company of Micro Electric Group is gearing create local history by manufacturing the first locally made smart-phone by the end of this year via a joint venture with Lodule Korea, a leading Korean mobile and TV component manufacturer for which the Sri Lankan Embassy in South Korea too is assisting.

LNBTI team wins first place in Port City Colombo Ideathon

Port City Colombo YouthSpeak Forum 2021 was organized by AIESEC in Sri Lanka with Port City Colombo. The main objective of this event was to give a place for Sri Lankan youth to express their ideas and educate themselves on Sustainable Development.

As an internal event linked to the Port City Colombo YouthSpeak Forum the Port City Colombo Ideathon was held. Through the Ideathon the Sri Lankan youth aged 16 to 30 were given the opportunity to pitch their breakthrough ideas. The Ideathon was based on three main categories: Urban Development and Green Cities, Technological Advancements and Smart Cities, and Urban Livelihood & Social Well Being. Both individual and team applicants were encouraged to participate. Lanka Nippon BizTech Institute (LNBTI), two teams participated in this event under the category "Technological Advancements & Smart Cities". Through the participation, they gained considerable knowledge on Sustainable Development and different technological models related to the smart city concept. Further to that, they went through crash courses in technical writing, research, and presentation as part of the work they did for the Ideathon.

It is with great delight we announce that one of the LNBTI teams placed FIRST in the top three finalists at the Port City Colombo Ideathon! The teams consisted of Sadeeka Tharushi and Mishen Dilruk Perera from Batch 05 students studying ICT at LNBTI.Lanka Nippon BizTech Institute (LNBTI) is a premier higher education institute in Sri Lanka, offering Japanese quality ICT programmes. Incorporated by the dynamic collaboration between Metatechno Inc. and hSenid ventures, LNBTI is the only institute in South Asia to offer ICT degree pathways leading to Japanese universities which are UGC recognized.

We produce world-class ICT professionals with Japanese morals/ethics and business mannerism. As a higher education body that focused in ICT education imbuing Japanese quality standards, our aim is to equip the future generation with one of the refined, technologically sound ICT Programmes in Sri Lanka, and to mold the promising young minds to be competent go-getters in the future world.

Running well ahead of the pack in the sustainable tourism experience stakes, you will find Amba Estate a 130 acre organic farm only a short drive from Ella, perched in a small valley above the spectacular Ravana-Ella Waterfalls. Everywhere you walk there are stunning views of Ella Rock, Lipton Seat and the magical Sri Lankan hills of the Tea Country that borders the great plain that lies between it and the ocean 50 km away.

A place where the sun rise dances around the hills like a paint brush splashing colour across the valley, that at night time erupts into a inky black sky of sparkly stars with only the moon to light your way home. However, Amba Estate has not really gone ahead of the pack, rather it has realised that we are coming full circle and that an agrarian holistic lifestyle, centred around the local community and being truly in touch with nature and all its diversity are what humanity really thrives on. The industrial revolutions, chiefly powered by oil and gas, have disconnected huge populations from their immediate communities around the world, nature and the soil and it is this that is at the root of many of humanity's mental health problems and the terrible environmental degradation that is causing climate change.

One of the four inspirational creatives of this incredible multi layered initiative explains, "When we found Amba, through an Ayurvedic doctor who was working in the area, we immediately fell in love - with the ideal climate, the agricultural potential, the stunning views, waterfalls, natural pools, caves, and more." The fabulous four came together with their worldwide experience, in responsible tourism and local product-development to help maximise local incomes, while preserving the environment both environmentally and historically. At the moment 100 families are directly supported by Amba estate and they hope that number will increase tenfold in the not too distant future. This is achieved explains Simon by making sure that money is all spent within the local community, "Everyone who works at AMBA comes by a huge variety of tweeting birds, busy buzzing insects and happy fellow workers, picking their way through the hills, all in touch with the rhythm of the universe working harmoniously together with nature. "It is not everywhere you can see such a diverse array of wildlife such as kingfishers, hornbills, humming birds, peacocks, parakeets, woodpeckers, as well as birds of prey and the Jungle Fowl, Sri Lanka's national bird. On hikes up the mountain or down into the forest below, you are more than likely to see monkeys, deer, rabbits and mongooses, as well as occasional sightings of wild boars, porcupines, civet cats and other nocturnal creatures. Alas no elephants, but there is a wild herd near Koslanda, just a couple of valleys away from us. And we believe we have at least one leopard" explained Simon Bell who is was born in Sri Lanka and could not think of anywhere better to return to be one of the investors in this exciting community led enterprise.

Over two decades the world has spread and visitors come from everywhere in the world, from Mongolia and Uruguay and everywhere in between. But probably the core market are families and couples from Europe. So, what are they after besides the 'regenerative' experience, having a positive impact, and being responsible tourists who love eating from plot to plate? Maybe to get far from the madding crowd and enjoy agro nature in its rawest. Western industrialised society has managed to corrupt so many words into bringing about or justifying negative behaviours and one particular word stands out among them. Compete is derived from the two words, com- 'together' and -petere meaning 'seek', so seek together. This clearly illustrates how western capitalism has turned a word that means working together into something much more hideous, representing almost the opposite, where companies, and individuals, will do anything to gain superiority over or even annihilate the competition. This is how we have got to the point where wealth distribution is so appallingly skewed and so concentrated in the hands of so few. Perhaps instead of climbing the ladder we should adopt the Asian philosophy for doing well, which is to jump from one lily pad to another lily pad together, rather than get stuck atop a solitary ladder alone.

At Amba the team are always coming up with new things to sell, as their motto is 'If it grows, turn it into a product!' And this now ranges from artisanal teas, to coffees, spices and mouth watering preserves, which are in turn supporting the local community to support a variety of educational, economic and environmental initiatives. An enterprise that seeks to provide wholesome living for each other and their guests who can either sit back and un plug themselves or do a huge variety of experiences ranging from riding the waterfalls to learning the art of picking artisan teas. The Amba community you will learn on one of their seven walks grow a ever increasing range of artisanal products including jams and chutneys, herbs and spices, different teas and coffees on the farm, and they are the first estate in Sri Lanka to start hand-rolling black and green teas. Teas that are stocked around the world in places like Fortnum & Mason and Claridge's in London, to Harney's in New York, Noma in Copenhagen, and Camellia Sinensis in Montreal, "bills" in Tokyo, and many others, as well as boutique hotels and restaurants around Sri Lanka, of course. In fact people who have tried their delicious jams in other parts of the island have searched them out and come and stayed as a result of being so taken by their delicious range of recipes.

Amba Estate is not just an organic farm, a buzz of amazing social enterprises and creativity, which helps build the local community and its incomes, but also a preserver of the great things of the past, restoring some of the wonderful tea country buildings for people to stay in and enjoy the voodoo of the location. The travellers who visit the Amba Estate also have the opportunity to relax in everything from Art Deco to Line Houses and recharge in one of the most beautiful spots in Sri Lanka, surrounded by mountains you can climb, waterfalls in which to bathe, caves in which to hide or contemplate wide vistas, and forests in which to wander in wonder in. You can also immerse yourself in the stunning wildlife and tea fields in which to look forward to sitting around a table or fire with friends and enjoying a traditional cuppa from. As a team they are excited to see the place develop and think independently. Or even to conspire! Another corrupted word that has gone from meaning the wholesome act of 'breathing together' to 'planning harm to others or an unlawful act in secret'. And, as for conspiracy theorist, this has come to mean lunatic who questions mainstream and official narratives, rather than those looking from multiple angles to find the truth by weight of evidence. At Amba, all positive theories and collective breathing sessions are considered and guests have come up with some great ideas such as the installation of hydropower and renewable energy solutions. They have also provided the best promotional images of their real life experiences proving pictures often speak louder than words.

Success is inevitably about overcoming problems such as government bureaucracy, with patience, a warm smile and a good sense of humour. One method, espoused by one of the owners sums up the main focus of the team. "If I am ever feeling low, I just need to look at the photos of our smiling team on our website to feel a sense of joy and accomplishment."

It also worth remembering doing good is not easy, and has many fascinating challenges daily however as one person put it "Doing good at Amba has never tasted better and when you have so many beautiful products produced out of love and positivity you realise the journey however tricky at times is worth every part of the ride." Like the philosophy of the place there is accommodation for everyone and even something truly unique for a special occasion like staying in Clove Tree Cottage's upper suite with shared balcony, views of The Lipton's Seat.

As for the next best thing to visiting Amba, follow them on monthly zoom webinars organised by the Ceylon Artisanal Tea Association - the next one will be posted on their lively Facebook CATA Ceylon page.

The team are also regularly hosting virtual tours of AMBA for tour agencies and specialist interest-groups from Japan, New Zealand and elsewhere. Just email them at info@ambaestate.com, if you would like to set up your own private tour.

Contain antioxidants: Pineapples are rich in nutrients and antioxidants that have the ability to prevent you from diseases that your body is prone to. Your body is prone to a lot of diseases as you age and as a result, this can cause chronic inflammation and weaken your immune system. Pineapple has antioxidants that can boost your immune system and protect you from many diseases

SELECTING PINEAPPLE AS PART OF A BEAUTY TREATMENT

To tell if a pineapple is ripe, smell the base of the fruit. If it smells sweet that means the pineapple is ripe. Another way to determine if it's ready to be eaten is to look at the color of the pineapple. A yellow coloration at the stem-end of the pineapple is a sign that it's ripe. Avoid canned goods since they typically contain preservatives and added sugar.

PINEAPPLE BEAUTY TREATMENTS

Various treatments such as facials, hair mask as well as a lot of products such as cleanser exfoliators and face masks include pineapple.

SIDE EFFECTS

Of course consuming pineapples are good for your overall health, but this fruit must not be consumed in excess as it can lead to several health problems such as:

- Diarrhea
- Vomiting and nausea
- Skin Rashes
- Swelling in your cheeks and mouth

GROWING PINEAPPLE FOR BEAUTY TREATMENTS

Get a ripe pineapple and gently twist off leafy top. Remove lower 1 to 2 inches of leaves. Let crown dry for 1 to 2 days. Sit crown in jar of warm water, submerging leaf-free area. Change water every few days. When roots are at least 3 inches long, you can plant crown.

Manganese maintains good bone strength and when it is combined with zinc, copper and calcium this substance can be super healthy. Thus, pineapple has all the components and this is why this fruit can aid in stronger bones.

Good for teeth: Eating pineapple is said to strengthen your gums and keep your health strong. Your teeth and bones are made up of calcium

It's the fruit of summer, and it's time to reap all its benefits for beauty! Pineapples are a triple threat - they are chock-full of glow-boosting Vitamin C, dead skin dissolving alpha-hydroxy acids and exfoliating enzyme bromelain, which renders skin brighter and healthier on application. It works the same way for the hair, creating a healthy environment on the scalp for strands to thrive.

You can easily incorporate pineapple in your diet and DIY beauty recipes to reap its benefits. Use these tips on why and how to incorporate pineapples into your everyday beauty routine.

NUTRITIONAL INGREDIENTS

Pineapples contain high amounts of vitamin C and manganese. These tropical fruits are also a good way to get important dietary fiber and bromelain (an enzyme). As well as having high amounts of manganese, which is important for antioxidant defenses, pineapples also contain high amounts of thiamin, a B vitamin that is involved in energy production, one cup of pineapple chunks contains only 74 calories.

PINEAPPLE FOR MAINTAINING BEAUTY

Promoting healthy skin - Pineapple juice contains vitamin C and beta carotene. These antioxidants can help reduce wrinkles, improve overall skin texture, and minimize skin damage from sun and pollution exposure.

MAKE YOUR SKIN GLOW

Avoid these three skin destroyers: Tanning salons, smoking, and sunbathing.

All three will age your skin prematurely, many doctors agree.

For double protection, apply a cream containing vitamin C to your face over your sunblock. The cream helps prevent facial skin damage, dehydration, and wrinkles, says Galvez. Also try creams containing vitamin E or beta-carotene.

Use a spritzer with rose, sandalwood, or bergamot essential oils mixed with water.

These oils are great for hydrating the skin, says Melinda Minton, spa consultant and health and beauty expert in Fort Collins, Colorado. To create an herbal spritzer, mix a few drops of essential oil with water in a small spray bottle and spritz on your face whenever your skin needs a little boost. Your skin is more pliable when it's hydrated, so a spray helps stave off frown lines and general movement wrinkles. The hydrator also keeps pollutants out and keeps your skin's natural lubricants in. An added bonus: Your makeup will stay on longer and look more natural.

Make your own cleansing, moisturizing masks

Mix 1 tablespoon plain yogurt with a few dashes of sesame oil. Leave on for 15 minutes, then rinse.

Mash a banana well and mix with a little honey for an instant dry-skin fix. Leave on for 15 minutes, then rinse.

Mix 1/4 cup whipping cream, 1/2 teaspoon olive oil, 2 tablespoons ripe mashed avocado, and 1 teaspoon calendula petals. Leave on for 5 minutes, then rinse. A study completed at the Department of Food Engineering and Biotechnology, Technion-Israel Institute of Technology, found avocado oil significantly increased the collagen content in skin, maintaining its youthful look.

Not only does the oil in avocado act like an emollient, but the fruit also contains moisturizing vitamin E.

Another good avocado mix is 1 tablespoon mashed avocado, 2 egg whites, and 2 tablespoons honey blended until smooth. Leave on for 15 minutes, then rinse.

Lightly scramble an egg and apply to your face while still warm, leaving it on until it hardens. To remove the egg, place a warm, wet washcloth on your face and allow the moisture to soften it. Eggs are great for tightening wrinkles and smoothing skin. If you have oily skin, apply an egg white only; if you have normal skin, use the whole egg.

Simmer an apple covered in water just until soft. Remove from the water, mash, then add to the apple 1 teaspoon lemon juice and 1 teaspoon crushed peppermint leaves. Apply the mixture to your face, leave for five minutes, then rinse. This works great on oily skin.

Mash peeled mango flesh until it turns soft and pulpy. Then massage into skin, leave on for a few minutes, and rinse. This helps clean and tighten pores.

Add 1 tablespoon of peppermint, yarrow, sage, or hysop to 1 cup boiling water. Steep for 30 minutes, then strain and cool before dabbing it on your face. This makes a great skin toner for oily skin.

Because your hands touch so many surfaces, they are a magnet for dirt and germs. Rub your eyes, stroke your chin, cup your cheek, and you've transferred everything on your hands to your face. As an extension of this, use headphones or a headset when talking on the phone. This, too, keeps hands and germs away from your face.

Clean your face and neck with a natural cold cream and follow with a rosewater and glycerin rinse twice a day to remove skin-damaging pollutants.

Stop with one glass of wine or one alcoholic drink. Overdoing it enlarges the blood vessels near the surface of your facial skin.

De-shine your face throughout the day by periodically dabbing on loose powder to blot excess oil. Don't use pressed powder, which actually contains oil as an ingredient.

Keep your hands off your face!

Never, ever rub your eyes-apply compresses instead. The skin on your face is extremely delicate, especially under your eyes. So use a very light touch on your face at all times, says Dianne M. Daniels, image consultant and colour analyst at Image & Color Services in Norwich, Connecticut.

cut. If your eyes itch, apply a cold compress or washcloth to the area, or try a cotton pad moistened with toner or witch hazel.

Use a single family of skin-care products. If you buy and use lots of different skin-care products, there's a good chance some contain the same ingredients, thus making them redundant, says Cara DeCenso, an aesthetician at Ajune in Manhattan. And some brands just aren't very compatible with others, though you'd have no way of knowing that until you already paid for and opened them. You'll get much better results if you use products that are designed and formulated to work together, such as Clinique, Mary Kay or Neutrogena.

You may have to shell out a little more cash, but experts agree you'll get better results.

The story of Green eyes

Are you a smart pet owner? Share your 'Pet care in the time of lockdown' story with us. Email : features.dailynews@lakehouse.lk

Greenie was a shabby little female puppy just 10 months back. She was named after her green eyes. It was my sister who brought her home from a pet shelter in our area. Since the country was under lockdown many pet shelter homes owners found it difficult to find good homes for these homeless creatures. So my sister had decided to adopt one. However both my mother and father were quite angry about the new arrival. They never liked pets, plus this was the Covid 19 pandemic period. "I heard on the radio that dogs too may get covid 19," my mother said. But my sister being so smart got her friend (who is a vet) to call my mother! She dispelled my mother's ungrounded fears! So we named her Greenie and others were green with jealousy!! Since the shelter home had given her all necessary vaccinations we just had to look after her. She got so friendly with us just as any puppy would do. She was not greedy for food, was well reserved and had her table manners too!!

She waited until 6 am to come into our bedroom. But never peeped into our parents' bedroom because she knew that they would not welcome her. However during the day she behaved so well and my mother started to think good of her, started petting her and feeding her. Greenie was such a smart little girl! Soon she became my mother's best buddy. Today, ten months later she sleeps on the floor mat in my parent's room and would come out by 5 am to wake us. She has advanced the "wake-up" time by an hour because she knows that we have to go to work now!! When we are away she would play with my mother or run errands for her. Today, it is my mother who is more concerned about Greenie than any of us. I have three girls now, she would say often now! This is what love is! When you do small things with great love, life becomes so beautiful! -S.U. Silva

CAUSES FOR EXCRETA WITH MUCUS

DR GCS KURUGALA,
Veterinary Surgeon, (B.V.Sc; M.Sc Poultry Science; Master of Public Administration & Management)

Dog owners are smart enough to know what their dogs' ailments are at a very early age. Careful investigation is a must. Stools of the dog speak more things about the inside of the dog. Today let's talk about stools with mucus.

CAUSES FOR STOOLS WITH MUCUS

A thin mucous layer around stools is something normal. Mucus excreted from the intestine makes bowel movements easier.

COLON INFLAMMATION FROM DIETARY INDIGESTION

Inflammation of the intestinal wall may increase the production of mucus. Also when the gut wall is damaged and peeled off, it may end up as mucus around the stools

INTERNAL PARASITES

Sometimes parasites damage the gut wall by sucking blood. Then particles from damaged gut wall or even parts of parasites may pass with the stools as a thick layer of mucus

SIGNS

Stools are hard and there is a white colour thick mucus layer around the stools. Passing stools in pain, high frequency with little amount of stools at a time, dragging the anus on the floor often and just after passing stools are some signs of this condition.

DIAGNOSIS

The condition is serious and needs immediate medical attention. With the complete information given by the owner, the vet is able to diagnose the condition. The animal may need to undergo scanning and endoscopy for detailed diagnosis.

TREATMENT

The veterinarian may recommend giving treatment according to the ruled out condition

PREVENTION

Timely deworming is necessary to prevent this condition. Stool softeners will help to minimize further damage to the intestine.

CATS RECOGNISE THEIR OWNERS' VOICES BUT NEVER EVOLVED TO CARE

Any cat owner will tell you that although they are sometimes kept as pets, felines are beholden to no one. A new study from the University of Tokyo has confirmed this, showing that although pet cats are more than capable of recognising their owner's voice they choose to ignore them - for reasons that are perhaps rooted in the evolutionary history of the animal. Carried out by Atsuko Saito and Kazutaka Shinozuka, the study tested twenty housecats in their own homes; waiting until the owner was out of sight and then playing them recordings of three strangers calling their names, followed by their owner, followed by another stranger. The researchers then analysed the cats' responses to each call by measuring a number of factors including ear, tail and head movement, vocalization, eye dilation and 'displacement' - shifting their paws to move. When hearing their names' being called the cats displayed "orientating behaviour" (moving their heads and ears about to locate where the sound was coming from) and although they showed a greater response to their owner's voices than strangers', they declined to move when called by any of the volunteers. "These results indicate that cats do not actively respond with communicative behavior to owners who are calling them from out of sight, even though they can distinguish their owners' voices," write Saito and Shinozuka. "This cat-owner relationship is in contrast to that with dogs." The study, published by Springer in the Animal Cognition journal, suggests that the reason for cats' unresponsive behaviour might be traced back to the early domestication of the species, contrasting this with the relationship of humans to dogs. Recent genetic analysis has revealed that the common ancestor of the modern housecat was Felis silvestris, a species of wildcat that first came into contact with humans around 9,000 years ago. As early societies developed agriculture, these cats moved in to prey on the rodents that were attracted to stores of grain. In the words of the paper's authors, they effectively "domesticated themselves". "Historically speaking, cats, unlike dogs, have not been domesticated to obey humans' orders. Rather, they seem to take the initiative in human-cat interaction." This is in contrast to the history of dogs and humans, where the former has been bred over thousands of years to respond to orders and commands. Cats, it seems, never needed to learn. However, it's unlikely that this will dismay cat owners (or indeed, be of any surprise) and the paper notes that although

"dogs are perceived by their owners as being more affectionate than cats [...] dog owners and cat owners do not differ significantly in their reported attachment level to their pets". The study concludes by observing that "the behavioural aspect of cats that cause their owners to become attached to them are still undetermined." Independent

Open your heart to these pups from Kurunegala

These 15 adorable puppies, both males and females, are around one-two months old and live in an abandoned house at Isuru Pura, Boyagane, Kurunegala, which is located right in front of the new Central Expressway Exit at Kurunegala and next to DC Mills. One female dog has a litter of 10 puppies while the other has five. They are currently being cared for by the next door neighbours, but they already have three dogs of their own and cannot afford to look after the pups for a long period. They appeal to kind-hearted animal lovers, especially those in and around Kurunegala, to open their doors to these playful puppies, which will be given away free. For more information on how to adopt one or more of these bundles of joy, call 071-9364481 anytime.

Kind appeal to recover rescue bills

We are appealing again for funds to cover rescue bills of over 100,000. A very few kind souls contacted me but I'm still far behind in settling the outstanding amount. So I'm appealing again. Seedeви and Nandu were rescued and hospitalized at best care hospitals for treatment. Seedeви had a terrible cut and had injured her self at a construction site in Peliyagoda. She is a mother of five pups and had been bleeding as well. Her wounds were sutured and she was sterilized. Nandu is very old. He was rescued from Kelaniya. He was extremely malnourished and also had Tick fever, bad arthritis, hip laxation, rash, ear infection and a big wound on his leg. He is doing much better now. If you like to help with these rescue bills please contact Sahana on 0777567122. Vet receipts will be sent to the donors. If preferred, donations can be even directly made to the vet. Thank you.

Reduction of Landslide Vulnerability by Mitigation Measures Project (RLVMMP)

FUNDED BY ASIAN INFRASTRUCTURE INVESTMENT BANK (AIIB)

Loan No: L0124 A, Country: Sri Lanka

Landslide Mitigation Works at Kegalle Bypass Road - Package 4C

RFP Reference Number : RLVMP/WORKS/04C

- The Government of Sri Lanka has already obtained financing from the Asian Infrastructure Investment Bank (AIIB) towards the cost of the Reduction of Landslide Vulnerability by Mitigation Measures Project (RLVMMP), and intends to apply part of the proceeds towards payments under the contract on Landslide Mitigation Works at RHS of Kegalle bypass road in Kegalle District at an estimated total cost of LKR 353 Million (USD 1.79 Million) excluding contingencies and VAT.
- The Chairman, Project Procurement Committee on behalf of the National Building Research Organisation, now invites sealed Tenders from eligible Tenderers for above work located in Kegalle District. Construction period of this contract shall be 365 calendar days and defects liability period shall be 365 days after completion of construction works.

To be eligible for contract award, the successful Tenderer shall not have been blacklisted/debarred and shall meet the following requirements:

- Domestic Tenderers should have been registered and hold a valid registration in the Construction Industry Development Authority (CIDA/ICTAD) (previously known as ICTAD) - Grade C2 or above under Building & Civil Engineering or Grade SPI under Soil nailing & Stabilization. Any Foreign Contractor who wishes to carry out any "Construction Contract" as the main/lead party shall obtain a Temporary Registration Certificate for Foreign Contractor upon the succeeding its Tender. Please refer Gazette No.2085/19 dated 23.08.2018 "Registration of foreign contractors"- this can be downloaded from www.documents.gov.lk & visit www.cida.gov.lk for more details.
- Only eligible Tenderers with the following key qualifications should participate in this tendering:

A Financial

- The Tenderer shall demonstrate that it has access to, or has available, liquid assets, unencumbered real assets, lines of credit, and other financial means (independent of any contractual advance payment) sufficient to meet the construction cash flow requirements estimated as LKR 100 Million (USD 0.50 Million) on the subject contract(s) net of the Tenderer's other commitments;
- The Tenderers shall also demonstrate, to the satisfaction of the Employer, that it has adequate sources of finance to meet the cash flow requirements on works currently in progress and for future contract commitments;
- The audited balance sheets or, if not required by the laws of the Tenderer's country, other financial statements acceptable to the Employer, for the last 05 years (2015 - 2016 to 2019 - 2020) shall be submitted and must demonstrate the current soundness of the Tenderer's financial position and indicate its prospective long-term profitability. (As the minimum requirement, a Tenderer's net worth calculated as the difference between total assets and total liabilities should be positive. Negative trend of profitability may also cause the rejection of Tender)

- Minimum Average annual volume of construction work performed in last five years (since 1st January 2015) shall be at least LKR 606 Million (USD 3.07 Million);

B Construction Experience
General Experience

- Experience under construction contracts in the role of prime contractor, JV member, subcontractor, or management contractor for at least the last 05 years, starting from 1st January 2016;

Specific Experience

- One contract minimum value of LKR 326 Million (US D 1.65 Million) that has been satisfactorily and substantially completed as a prime contractor, joint venture member, management contractor or sub-contractor between 1st January 2011 and Tender submission deadline.
- For the above and any other contracts [substantially completed and under implementation] as prime contractor, joint venture member, or sub-contractor between 1st January 2011 and Application submission deadline, a minimum construction experience in the following key activities shall have been successfully completed, within anyone year of that period:
 - Construction of Soil nails/Soil Anchoring and associated works: 5400 m per year;
 - Construction of horizontal drains: 360 m per year;

C Key Equipment & Personnel

Proposals for the timely acquisition of essential equipment and staff listed in the items 4 & 5 of the Section III of the tender document.

- Tenders will be conducted through International Open Competitive tendering using a Request for Tender (RFT) as specified in the AIIB's Interim Operational Directive on Procurement Instructions for Recipient, June 2, 2016.
