INTRODUCTION

A BIBLIOGRAPHIC GUIDE TO BIBLIOGRAPHIES, CATALOGUES, INDEXES, BIBLIOGRAPHIES AND BIO - BIBLIOGRAPHIES IN SRI LANKA

THE Bibliographic Guide to Catalogues, Indexes, Bibliographies and Bibliographies arose from my experience in locating bibliographical information for library users. What secondary sources need to be consulted for a retrospective search? What bibliographies are available on a specific subject? Is there an index to articles of a periodical? In which library can a particular issue of a journal be located? These were some of the questions that had to be answered and the lack of a reference tool to provide answers to such questions was a felt need. This Bibliographic Guide was compiled therefore to provide a document that will provide answers to these and other questions and serve as a tool for locating bibliographical information. A secondary aim was to facilitate the identification of gaps in bibliographical coverage.

Scope

Secondary sources of information on Sri Lanka such as bibliographies, indexes and catalogues are included in this Guide. It covers the period 1832-1987, but emphasis is on the post 1948 publications. The Guide excludes accessions lists and catalogues and other inhouse material issued by libraries, and bibliographies presented for the intermediate examination of the Sri Lanka Library Association.

Method

Information for the Guide was located from several sources. Published documents were scanned for references and a very useful source for this purpose was H. A. I. Goonetilleke's 'A Bibliography of Ceylon'. The Colombo Museum Library and the Department of National Archives were the main sources for the material of the early period while the collections of other libraries were useful for the more current publications. All the entries, except those which have been taken from secondary sources and which have been acknowledged, have been examined personally.

Arrangement

The text of the Guide is arranged in four sections. The first is the subject index. The entries have been indexed using the terms of the UN Macrothesaurus for Information Processing in Economic and Social Development, 1982 edition, supplemented by additional subject descriptors where necessary.

Where the subjects of the catalogues, indexes and bibliographies did not fit into the terms of the Thesaurus, the specific subjects of the bibliographies etc. were preferred and these were selected as indexing terms. The entries have been classified under several subject headings to reflect the contents. These subject headings are arranged alphabetically and within each heading, the short title of the bibliography, catalogue, index or bio-bibliography is given in alphabetical sequence.

The second section lists catalogues and indexes. Bibliographies are included in section four. Bio-bibliographies include the writings of individuals and publications issued by corporate bodies. The arrangement in sections three, four and five is alphabetical by author/title. Thereafter multiple entries under any one author are listed by title. Entries follow the Anglo-American code as closely as possible.

These four sections are followed by a two part author index.

This monumental work, whose aim as stated in the preface “is to bring together the published literature in western languages, dealing with the land, people, history and culture of Ceylon from the earliest times to the present day, and thereby provide a convenient medium of reference for all those interested in studies and research on Ceylon”. 11,630 entries in 16 western languages, mainly English, are included in the first two volumes and a further 6445 entries in III and volume entries in volumes IV and V. “The bibliography has been systematically classified in accordance with a scheme specially devised ad hoc, since the materials collected did not fit easily into any of the existing schemes of classification... There are 30 main divisions, and these are in turn subdivided in keeping with the demands of material to provide a conspectus of the literature... Each work is fully described. An index of authors was considered sufficient, as the necessity for a subject index was to a large extent obviated by the sub - divisions of the scheme of classification... The author index is in four parts. The main sequence is confined to personal authors, editors, compilers and translators.

Authors who have concealed their real identity by means of initials or pseudonyms are given in a separate list, while corporate authors and anonymous items are listed in separate sequences. Though this is primarily an enumerative bibliography some annotation is supplied in these cases where the title was not sufficiently indicative of the subject of the work or its range...". The bibliography also provides a very useful list of libraries, both in Sri Lanka and abroad which contain Sri Lanka material. The Guide to Abbreviations used for periodicals, although the "list is not a complete record of periodicals cited in the bibliography..." enables the reader to obtain as comprehensive a list of periodicals published in Sri Lanka.
