THE SEVENTIETH ANNUAL REPORT OF THE CEYLON SAVINGS BANK.

Board of Directors :

The Hon. the Colonial Secretary, President.
The Hon. the Principal Collector of Customs.
The Postmaster-General.

REPORT FOR THE YEAR 1901.

IN submitting the 70th Annual Report of the working of the Ceylon Savings Bank, it is gratifying to be able to state that the progress in its business has been maintained during the past year, as shown in the appended tabular statements.

The information furnished in these statements tends to show that the facilities afforded by the Bank are appreciated and, as its advantages as a means of making small savings become better known, are more generally availed of by all classes of the community.

The Bank allows interest at the rate of 4 per cent. on all accounts under Rs. 1,000, and 3 per cent. when the total sums deposited amount to Rs. 1,000 and upwards, and it is apparent from the classification of accounts that the depositors have fully availed themselves of the opportunity of making the most of these terms by reducing their balances, thus enabling themselves to claim the higher rate of interest. This is fully borne out by the fact that the largest amount of interest which the Bank has been required to pay to depositors was in the year under review.

- (1) Accounts opened.—The largest number during the last ten years.
- (2) Accounts closed.—This number is larger than it has been for many years past, but it is due to the fact that there were a large number of deaths amongst depositors, and the money had to be withdrawn for distribution amongst the heirs; also to the fact that many depositors have left the Island temporarily or otherwise and have withdrawn their savings.
- (3) Number of Deposits has been larger than in any previous year.
- (4) Number of Withdrawals is also larger than in any previous year, and is accounted for under head of "Accounts closed."
- (5) Amount Deposited.—The amount is Rs. 216,713 less than was deposited during 1900.
- (6) Amount Withdrawn.—This is also much larger than in previous years. The reason given under items (2) and (4) is probably the cause of this increase.
- (7) Number of Depositors shows an increase of 2,147 new depositors over the previous year.
- (8) Amount to Credit of Depositors.—This item shows a decrease of Rs. 31,828, and is no doubt attributable to the same cause as stated under headings (2), (4), and (6); and also to the fact that as soon as a depositor has a fairly large sum to his credit he withdraws this amount in order to invest it at a higher rate of interest than is allowed by the Bank.

The distribution of accounts shows that the number of new accounts opened by residents during the past twelve months has been well distributed throughout all the Provinces, and that the depositors include persons of twenty-one nationalities.

The Directors have been able to invest the funds on loans on house property during 1901 to the extent of Rs. 110,525, showing an increase of Rs. 38,141 over money borrowed in 1900. This increase is however to some extent due to the fact that larger amounts due on old loans have been repaid during this period than has been the case for some years past.

A large number of applications from intending borrowers had to be refused owing to the funds available under the Savings Bank Ordinance for these investments having been fully lent.

F. W. VANE,
Secretary, Ceylon Savings Bank.
